Twelve North Agency Ribbon Cutting in Auburn

AUBURN, ME — A ribbon cutting ceremony was held for the opening of Twelve North Agency in Auburn on Tuesday, October 26th. Auburn Mayor Jason J. Levesque was joined by the President and CEO of the LA Metro Chamber, Shanna Cox, Karen Staples of Senator Susan Collins' Office, and members of the public.

"It's an honor to build a business in my home community of Lewiston-Auburn. It's both a challenging and energizing time to take on such a big career move and enter the world of entrepreneurship. But it's such a great time to start a business that aims to help other businesses grow and thrive," said Bill David, Principal of Twelve North Agency.

Twelve North Agency is an integrated branding, communications, and marketing agency that connects their clients with their customers in strategic, and innovative ways.

"I have known Bill and Kelly for quite a while, and I've seen them develop, interact, and truly commit to this community. The fact that we are here today celebrating their opening is indicative of your commitment to the region as well as the next phase of their growth," said Shanna Cox.

Whether you're a small, ground-level startup that needs help developing your brand, or a large company looking for a solution to align and manage current marketing efforts into an integrated, effective strategy – Twelve North can build your brand, tell your story, and help you grow.

"I am thrilled to see Kelly and Bill open their agency here in Auburn. All of the 25,000 residents in this city thank you for being part of our community, in the past, now, and in the future - we look forward to watching you grow," said Mayor Levesque.

Twelve North Agency shifted their live-events marketing business to a full-service integrated marketing, branding, and communications business during the pandemic. This challenging and surprising change allowed them to grow their business and expand their client base, not only in the state of Maine but across the country.

Collins introduces bill to block IRS Snooping Proposal

Washington, D.C. – U.S. Senator Susan Collins joined a group of her colleagues in introducing the Prohibiting IRS Financial Surveillance Act, legislation that would prevent the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) from implementing Democrats' plan to give the agency access to Americans' bank transaction information.

"Allowing the IRS to monitor hard-working Americans' bank accounts is not only an invasion of privacy, but also a vast overreach by the federal government," said Senator Collins. "This intrusive measure would grant the IRS access to essentially every American's financial information. Our legislation would block the Administration from implementing this terrible proposal."

One of the proposals included in the partisan reconciliation bill currently under consideration would require financial institutions to report to the IRS every withdrawal and deposit if the total of all transactions for the year is more than $10,000. Under this reporting regime, a family whose monthly transactions total just $834 would still be reported to the IRS. The Joint Committee on Taxation has analyzed the proposal and found that it is likely to impact taxpayers in every income bracket.

The Prohibiting IRS Financial Surveillance Act would bar the IRS from instituting any new requirements that would force financial institutions to report on the account activity of Americans. It would allow individuals and small businesses to make normal financial transactions without fear of increased and unnecessary scrutiny from the federal government.

Red Cross blood donors entered to win Hawaii trip until Nov. 12

Blood and platelet donors who answer the call to help from November first through the twelfth are entered to win an incredible trip. All donors from November first through the twenty-third will receive $10 Amazon.com gift card.

With Thanksgiving and the holidays approaching, the American Red Cross urges donors to continue to make and keep appointments now and in the weeks ahead to help overcome the ongoing emergency blood and platelet shortage that has significantly impacted the nation's blood supply. In fact, the current blood supply is the lowest the Red Cross has seen this time of year in more than a decade.

Since declaring an emergency need for donors last month, thousands of people have come to Red Cross blood drives across the country to roll up a sleeve and help patients who are counting on lifesaving transfusions. The Red Cross is incredibly grateful for the kindness and generosity of these blood and platelet donors, but hospital demand remains strong. At least 10,000 more donations are needed each week in the coming weeks to meet patient needs – ahead of the upcoming holiday season, which always presents seasonal challenges to blood collection.

Donors are urged to schedule an appointment now by using the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

In honor of the new series, I Know What You Did Last Summer, those who come to give November 1 through 12, will automatically be entered to win a trip for two to Hawaii, courtesy of Amazon Prime Video. (Restrictions Apply). The trip will transport you to where the series was filmed and includes round-trip airfare for two, hotel accommodations for nine nights, meals, $1,000 gift card for expenses and on-trip transportation with four stops from Honolulu to Maui. Plus, those who come to donate Nov. 1-23 will receive a $10 Amazon.com Gift Card by email, thanks to Amazon. (Restrictions Apply).

Blood drive safety. Each Red Cross blood drive and donation center follows the highest standards of safety and infection control, and additional precautions including face masks for donors and staff, regardless of vaccination status have been implemented to help protect the health of all those in attendance. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities: November eleventh, 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., Hilton Garden Inn Auburn, 14 Great Falls Plaza. November seventeenth, 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., East Auburn Baptist Church, 560 Park Ave. November fourth, 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., Cressey Road United Methodist Church, 81 Cressey Road in Gorham. November nineteenth 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., St. Annes Church, 299 Main Street in Gorham.

Auburn, Maine resident makes Dean's List at Wentworth Institute of Technology

Jacob Willette of Auburn has made the Dean's List at Wentworth Institute of Technology for the Summer 2021 semester.

Wentworth Institute of Technology is a nationally ranked university offering career-focused education through bachelor's and graduate degree programs in areas including engineering, architecture, computer and data science, life sciences, management, and design. Its 31 acres are situated in the Fenway neighborhood of Boston, Mass., within walking distance of leading several cultural, educational, sports, and medical hubs. Wentworth is known for its emphasis on career preparation for students through its leading co-op programs, hands-on learning approach, and alignment with 21st-century workforce needs.

Safe Voices seeks donors for holiday outreach

Safe Voices, the domestic violence and sex trafficking resource center based in Lewiston, invites businesses and community members to participate in its annual holiday programs Feed-a-Family and Adopt-a-Family.

Individuals, businesses and community organizations are welcome and may choose to support one or both programs.

This annual program serves more than 100 families across Androscoggin, Oxford and Franklin counties each year. Similar to 2020, advocates anticipate greater need as survivors continue to struggle with increased risk and instability brought on by COVID-19 and social distancing. For parents and children who are struggling with isolation brought on by abuse, or who have had to flee a dangerous situation at home, donors can help provide a happy holiday in difficult times.

The Feed-a-Family program matches donors with a family to provide a complete Thanksgiving dinner. Donors purchase the supplies for a traditional dinner of turkey, sides and dessert and deliver them to Safe Voices, who will then get them to the family in need. The Adopt-a-Family program also matches donors with families to provide gifts in celebration of the December holidays.

If you would like to participate as a donor, please call or email Emily Mitchell at 207-795-6744 x222 or emitchell@safevoices.org. Donors may also complete a participation form online at www.safevoices.org.

If you or someone you know is in a domestic violence situation, please call Safe Voices' 24-hour helpline at 1-800-559-2927.

Androscoggin Retired Educators meet Nov. 10 at Marco's

Exhibits at Museum L/A on Veterans Day

The L/A Veterans council is partnering with Museum L/A to share with the public all the veterans' related exhibits at the museum right after the 10:00 a.m. ceremony in Veterans Park. Please go by the museum to see Bates employee veterans that served in WW2. Thank them for their service and the life we have today in America.

Museum L-A will be open to the public from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Thursday, November 11, following the ceremony in Veterans Park in Lewiston. Museum visitors will be able to see the "Veterans Memorial Board" created by Bates Mfg. to honor its veteran employees who served in World War II. Other veteran memorabilia will be on display that day only. The museum is in the Bates Mill at 35 Canal Street in Lewiston. Admission is free to all veterans and their family with some form of ID.

For more information contact Jerry D. 576-0376 or Denise 333-3881.

Financial Literacy: managing your debt

Tuesday, November 9 from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. there will be a budget making workshop at the Auburn Public Library in the Androscoggin Community Room. This workshop on managing your debt will include how to build a budget and how to manage your debt once you have a budget. All participants will be provided a 50/30/20 budget worksheet and will be working on their budgets during the workshop.

This program will be presented by David Palazzo, the Lewiston Branch Manager of Key Bank, and will take place at the Auburn Public Library.

For our planning purposes, registration is required. To register, visit the Events page of our website (www.auburnpubliclibrary.org), contact the Reference

Sabattus Rec continues running through the Winter

SABATTUS -- The Sabattus Rec Club running program will continue its free, weekly group runs through the winter. The Wednesday night runs start and end in the Sabattus Mini-Mall parking lot, in front of Mixer's Nightclub. The social workouts head out at 6:00 p.m. each week, and usually last 30-45 minutes.

The group runs are open to all abilities, from walkers to experienced runners. Distances can range from 2 miles to 7 miles, depending on participants' abilities. These are no-pressure, non-competitive runs, focusing on fitness improvement and support for each other's challenges and goals. There is no attendance commitment or competition requirement. Attendees should dress accordingly and wear reflective clothing or lights.

For more information go to the Sabattus Rec Club Running Program page on Facebook, or email running@sabattusrec.com.

CLT's "All Together Now!" show opens Nov. 12

Julia Groover holds up Ansley Watson during a recent rehearsal for CLT's production of "All Together Now!" This musical review opens Friday, November 12.

The L/A Community Little Theatre (CLT) will be joining thousands of theatrical organizations around the world with their production of "All Together Now! A Global Event Celebrating Local Theatre." Theatrical licensor Music Theatre International (MTI) created this revue for theatres across the globe to use as a local fundraising event performed over the same weekend of November 12.

MTI's President and CEO Drew Cohen stated that "MTI's All Together Now! is about bringing people back to the theatre, whether as audience members or cast, crew and musicians. The revue features songs from the world's most iconic musicals, so there is something for everyone to enjoy. Our goal with this worldwide event is for organizations to provide hope, inspiration and excitement to their communities through the transformative power of musical theatre."

The songs in the production are from hit Broadway musicals such as Annie, Beauty and the Beast, Fiddler on the Roof, Godspell, Guys and Dolls, High School Musical, Into The Woods, Little Shop Of Horrors, Mamma Mia, My Fair Lady, Oliver, and Rent.

Lynn O'Donnell is directing the show assisted by music director Paul G. Caron, stage manager Brandon Chaloux, and producer Dan Kane. Other crew members include Sarah Wing (assistant stage manager), Charlotte Morin and Sue Caron (costumes), Sara Caron (props), Sue Finch (light design) and Matthew Conklin (light operator).

All performances will be held at CLT at 30 Academy Street in Auburn on Friday, November 12 at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, November 13 at 2:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, November 14 at 2:00 p.m. Tickets are $20 for adults, $17 for seniors and $12 for students. They can be purchased online at www.laclt.com, by calling the Box Office at 783-0958 or at the door. All audience members will be required to wear masks inside the theater.

Crafts 'n Creations: card making basics

The Auburn Public Library is offering an in-person workshop on Friday, November 5 from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. on the basics of card making. The workshop will be in the Androscoggin Community Room at the library. In this beginner (little to no experience) class, participants will review the components that make up a card, the tools used to create basic cards, and how to design and build the cards. Then, with hands-on learning, each participant will be able to build two cards to take home. This class is being presented by Candace Dubois, who started stamping as a hobby last year and is a Stampin' Up Demonstrator. Her other hobbies include knitting, crocheting, and weaving.

For our planning purposes, registration is required. To register, visit the Events page of our website www.auburnpubliclibrary.org or email dwallace@auburnpubliclibrary.org. Contact: Donna Wallace, 333-6640, extension 4.

Bouchard exhibit at LA Arts in Lewiston Nov. 5

Renée Bouchard artwork will be in exhibit at LA Arts in Lewiston from November 5 through December 17. More photos at facebook.com/TwinCityTimes.

The LA Arts gallery at 221 Lisbon Street in Lewiston will exhibit paintings by Renée Bouchard from November 5 through December 17. The exhibition title Allegory of Prudence, is a reference to the painting of the same name by the Venetian Renaissance painter, Titian, in which the Latin inscription ex praete/rito / praesens pruden/ter agit / ni fvtrv/ actione de/tvrvpet, written above the figures in the painting, can be translated as, “from the past / the present acts prudently / lest it spoil future action.” Bouchard says of her paintings: I work in spurts on several paintings simultaneously in a journalistic manner, documenting clusters of daily life. Language, media, music, and studio detritus intertwine with memory and the present act of painting. I paint using colors without prejudice. The experience of color is one of a constant state of coming and going. I investigate the transitions between complementary colors and view them as opportunities to change the habit of language knowing one color can't exist without the other.

As a single mother who received her MFA during the pandemic while homeschooling her young child, a renewed focus to a public discourse about the relationship and responsibilities of caregiving made it more relevant than ever. I am constantly exploring human security and aim towards a gesture of repair. Since my son was in the womb, I began intersecting mothering with my home studio practice. In the studio, I am envisioning the possibilities of a common world.

I find it interesting that painting is considered a “high art.” I am constantly playing with this idea by allowing non-traditional materials like natural and human made objects into my paintings. Aiming to transcend the materials, I walk over them to flatten them, staple and glue them on the surface. During a collaborative series, I invited other women in my community in a tracing project out in my backyard. We took turns tracing each other on large sheets of Arches paper while lying in resting poses. Their participation served as an act of resistance, and a symbol of becoming. For me, the images once hung on a wall became a representation of a life-force growing from the ground up. I see collaboration as a means to interrupt my own gaze on the work and widen my visual vocabulary. On many occasions, my young child has participated in the paintings.

Born in 1976 to French Canadian parents, Renée has lived throughout New England most of her life. She studied at the Cleveland Institute of Art and graduated from the Maine College of Art in 1999. She received her MFA in visual art from the Vermont College of Fine Arts in 2021 when she was nominated for fellowships from the Dedalus Foundation and the College Art Association. Renée has received grants, awards, and residencies from institutions including the Maine College of Art, the Vermont Arts Council, the Robert Rauschenberg Foundation, the Cooper Union, the Kate Millett Art Colony for women, and the Vermont Studio Center.

Since 1973, LA Arts, the arts agency for the cities of Lewiston and Auburn Maine, has pursued a mission to engage and inspire a vibrant community through arts and culture. The agency works with governments, businesses, schools and local arts and cultural organizations to create opportunities for community members across the generations to experience, learn, and participate in the arts. LA Arts organizes arts programs and initiatives, supports the work of local artists and arts organizations, and highlights the essential role the arts play in shaping an economically vital, socially integrated, and forward-looking future for its community. Optimist Club announced October Student of the Month

UME offers online holiday recipes with pressure cooker Nov. 18

Adalyn Martin from Poland Community School was recognized as the Tri-Town Optimist Club of Mechanic Falls, Minot and Polands' Student of the Month for October. Adalyn is described by her teacher as a student who consistently demonstrates leadership, respect, and optimism – even on days that are tough, as well as a steadfast willingness to advocate for herself and others through mature dialogue. Adalyn has proven herself to be not only an academic powerhouse but, in many ways, more importantly she has proven herself to be mindful, focused, respectful, and a leader through her actions and words. A perfect example of good character.

Cooking for the Holidays with an Electric Pressure Cooker is a cook-along webinar that will feature bread stuffing and pumpkin pie

University of Maine Cooperative Extension will offer an online class using an electric pressure cooker for winter holiday dishes on November 18 from 6:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Cooking for the Holidays with an Electric Pressure Cooker is a cookalong webinar that will feature bread stuffing and pumpkin pie. Participants can select a recipe to make, shop for and prepare the ingredients beforehand, then cook along with instructor Lisa Fishman, UMaine Extension nutrition education professional.

VIP offers car care tips

Fall is officially here in Maine—and before we know it, falling leaves will soon become falling snow. As Mainers prep for another winter season ahead, there's more that needs to be done besides breaking out the shovels and ice salt.

October was Fall Car Care month, which means now is the perfect time for Mainers to give their cars some special attention before the harsh winter weather sets in. To help make this seasonal transition a little easier, VIP Tires & Services is fully stocked with winter tires, and even put together a car care winter checklist outlining what exact steps Maine car owners should be taking so they can stay safe on the roads this winter. VIP's 10 tips for safe winter driving are as follows.

Check your fluids. Your vehicle is a finely tuned machine, much like the human body, that needs fluids to run. You should check all fluids, including your oil, power steering fluid, brake, and transmission fluid. It's not a bad idea to check your windshield washer fluid to keep your windshield clear and your antifreeze/coolant to keep your engine from freezing up.

Hoses and belts. These are vital to keeping your vehicle running smoothly. Summer heat can do a number on belts. Be sure that they won't fail you when you need them most by checking for leaks and tightening them, or inspecting belts for signs of excessive wear, cracks, brittleness, fraying, or looseness.

Check your battery. Excessive heat from the summer can sap your car battery's charge, and you won't know until it's too cold to do anything about it. If your battery isn't charging and discharging correctly, replace it. Make sure your connections are clean, tight, and free from corrosion.

Brake system. In the cold and snowy months to come, you'll be relying on your brakes in a variety of driving conditions. Be confident that they are up to the task. You should have them inspected before heading into the icy months of winter, but you should also have the brake linings, rotors, and drums inspected at each oil change.

Exhaust system. If your vehicle has an exhaust leak, it could be potentially dangerous to drive as exhaust contains carbon monoxide. Have your exhaust system inspected for rust, holes, leaks, or other damage. Signs you may have an exhaust problem include unusual noises, poor fuel mileage, strange fumes or smells, a vibrating gas pedal, and rumbling when idle.

Check the HVAC. It might not seem necessary to have a working AC when the temperature is below zero, but the HVAC system cools, heats, cleans, ventilates, and dehumidifies the interior of your vehicle. Not only is it essential for the comfort of you and your passengers, but it's critical for defrosting and keeping your windows clear of ice, fog, and snow.

Steering and suspension. The back roads of Maine can be harsh on your suspension and steering systems. Get them checked annually including shock absorbers, struts and chassis parts like ball joints, tie rod ends, and other related components.

Check the tires. Before the first snow is the time to check your tires to be sure they're ready for harsh winter driving conditions. Your tires should have adequate tread for traction. If you need new tires, VIP guarantees the lowest price every day. Be sure to check your tire pressure regularly. Tire pressure drops 1-2 pounds for every 10 degrees in temperature. You should inspect your tires for any bulges and bald spots. Signs of uneven wear usually means there's a need for a wheel alignment.

Check wipers and lights. When the weather turns bad, you'll want to be able to see and be seen.

Check to make sure that all interior and exterior lights are working because the days are only getting shorter. If your wipers are squeaking or leaving streaks, it's time to replace them. Consider investing in a pair of winter wipers made for the snow, ice, and colder temperatures of a Maine winter.

Wax on, wax off. While not as crucial as some of the other tips on this list, giving your vehicle a good wash and wax will clear away the summer grime and prepare it for the extreme conditions to come. Waxing is the best way to protect your vehicle's exterior from the harshness of snow, ice, and salt. Remember to occasionally rinse the undercarriage of your car during the winter to remove harmful chemicals that can rust or damage brake lines and the frame of your vehicle.

Make sure to follow this road map, and you'll be ready for winter in no time! Need some extra assistance? Turn to VIP for everything from tires to timing belts and everything in between.

UMCE offers edible gifts webinar on November 9

Is the worry about what comes after this life weighing you down? Whatever your faith, or if it is absent, you're a child of God – and ultimately Heaven is your home.

A new work by Lewiston playwright and Children's book author, Paul Baribault

"At its center, this book is about the soul's climb toward Enlightenment, and how the Earth is a Schoolroom, not a courtroom, in our journey."

Available on Amazon and @ www.Ourbrillianteternity.com

"The prose is inspired – and inspiring – glowing with inner radiance and kindness." "I felt such a sense of hope when I finished this book." From Amazon reviews.

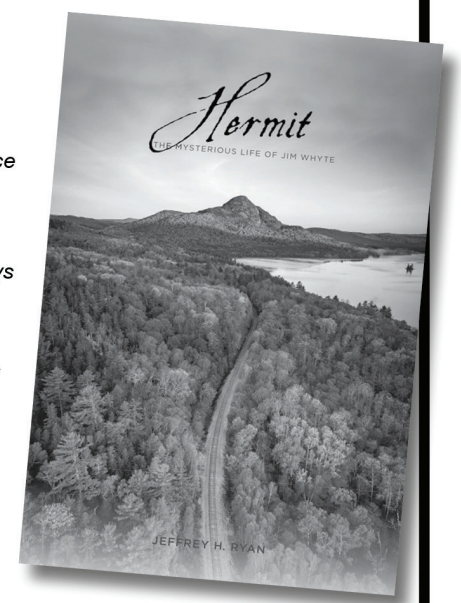

Cabin fever got you down?

Escape with Maine's most intriguing Hermit.

"Ryan is an excellent storyteller, and this tale is as good as any novel, especially since it's based on real people and real events." — Bill Bushnell, Bushnell on Books

"I can tell you it will not take you many days to read, because you won't be able to put it down. I wasn't surprised when Hermit was named a top pick for 2019 on a December Maine Calling show on Maine Public Radio." — George Smith, Bangor Daily News
