News From The Cullman County Revenue Commissioner's Office

The Alabama State Legislature passed Act 2015-362, effective October 1, 2015, which requires all motor vehicles to be titled in their owners' legal names. This means if an owner's legal name has changed because of marriage, divorce, adoption, or personal choice, the name on his or her title must be changed to match the new legal name. This law applies even if an owner has a lienholder through which his or her car (or other motor vehicle) is financed. Local Revenue Commission or Licensing Official offices will have documentation owners may use to request their titles from their lienholders. The Cullman County Revenue Commissioner's Tag Department will be happy to help owners in completing the process to apply for corrected titles. For more information, call the office at (256) 775-4902 or visit the Courthouse or one of the satellite offices in Baileyton, Dodge City, or Hanceville.

Peinhardt Farm Day 2014 - Elizabeth Hughes from Vestavia Hills handles a wooden peg while farm volunteer Ronnie Hart looks on.

Fall Farm Festival Set For October 24

The pig, sheep, baby chickens, and bunnies are getting used to school kids petting them every day. The mules are pulling the covered wagon of school kids singing "Old MacDonald Had a Farm". The sweet potatoes, cotton, and sorghum are going home with school kids. Peinhardt Living History Farm in Cullman, Alabama is hosting its fall school tours for third graders. This hands-on field trip teaches students what farm life was like in the 1930s and 1940s in North Alabama.

This time in history was chosen because of all the monumental changes occurring in agriculture - shifting from animal drawn power to tractor and engine power. Electricity was being installed in homes in north Alabama. Many changes were occurring and the dedicated volunteers and Peinhardt family use their own experiences to teach these lucky kids using the beautiful working farm of Carl and Irene Peinhardt.

Around 2,000 school kids visit Peinhardt Farm throughout the month of October, and the family owned farm will host its annual public day this year on October 24. This festival showcases the educational stations from the school field trips, and much more! Hands-on activities are demonstrated over forty acres of the farm. Families come away with armloads of remembrances including pumpkins, cotton, sweet potatoes, blue bird houses, apple pigs, cotton boll ornaments, wooden pegs, crosscut saw rounds, and much more!

Both old and young eye seeing and reminiscing all of the antique farm and home items in the well stocked museums. Attendees will learn how to make quilt samplers, how turpentine is made, watch cotton being ginned, hear old time music, walk through the one room school house, plow a muck, compete in a sack race, and much more!

Don't miss out on this slice of history on Saturday, October 24, 2015 from 9:00-3:00pm at Peinhardt Living History Farm. It is free for 4 and under, $5 for kids 5 to 11; $7 for 13 and up. 1711 Talley Ho Street, Cullman, AL. www.peinhardtfarm.org FB Peinhardt Living History Farm

Many so called Christian churches say they worship The Almighty Holy Father "G-D" and do His will by believing on The Holy Son. They teach The Holy Father changed His covenant of times and laws and gave them liberty and claim that "G-D" is their "Father", and Jesus is their Lord and saved by His Name, yet His Words are meaningless to them! Testifying of the Truth and honoring themselves, yet they do not love the Truth (Jn 5:39-44, 14:6,15,24)! Christ said a tree is known by its fruit! So Be It!

Ethoxzolamide, a sulfa-based compound used in many prescription glaucoma drugs, could also be used to treat tuberculosis, even the drug-resistant variety, because it turns off the bacterium's ability to invade the immune system, according to a report in Antimicrobial Agents and Chemotherapy.

 Although some previous studies have suggested an increased risk of bladder cancer with use of the diabetes drug pioglitazone, analyses that included nearly 200,000 patients found no statistically significant increased risk, however a small increased risk could not be excluded, according to a study in JAMA. Additional analyses with another large group found that use of pioglitazone was associated with an increase in the risk of prostate and pancreatic cancer, although further investigation is needed to assess whether the associations are causal or due to other factor.

 Antidepressants are associated with better rates of treatment response and remission for women with postnatal depression, when compared to a placebo, according to a new systematic review by the Institute of Psychiatry, UK and Neuroscience (IoPPN) at King's College London. Reports often focus on the risks of using antidepressants during pregnancy and the postnatal period, but this paper, published in the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA), highlights the benefits that antidepressants can have for women with postnatal depression. Postnatal depression occurs in more than 10 per cent of mothers over the first year post-delivery.
