THE LAW AND YOU

BY NATHAN D. PACE
ATTORNEY AT LAW

YOU MAY NEED A LAWYER IF...

The first indication that you may need legal counsel is when you consider speaking to a lawyer. There are numerous reasons people avoid retaining attorneys, mostly due to the expense; however, initial consultations are often free or inexpensive. Legal expenses are also affected by the possibility of losing the case, incurring exuberant court costs or the opposition's legal fees, and the overall value of your time. Depending on the legal matter, many lawyers work on a contingency basis, meaning they do not get paid unless their clients prevail. Criminal defense law differs, but criminal defense attorneys' expertise is invaluable. Retaining legal counsel also prevents the opposition from contacting, harassing, or intimidating clients, because all communications must be through legal counsel.

Lawyers can help with legal problems after they come up -- after a car accident, for example -- but in other instances, consulting a lawyer before a legal issue arises can help you anticipate and prevent serious legal problems. A lawyer will assess your legal issue and can tell you at the outset whether it is worth your while to obtain legal assistance and/or pursue legal action. To schedule an appointment, please call. The Law Office of MACK & PACE also emphasizes estate planning, family law, and criminal law.

The Right Way to Leave a Job

A new year often sparks change. Many people aspire to change jobs at the dawn of a new year, and such changes are more frequent than one might think.

According to a 2018 report from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average person changes jobs between 10 and 15 times during his or her career. In addition, many workers spend five years or less in each job.

When leaving a job, it is important that professionals exhibit a certain measure of grace and etiquette. Leaving a job with dignity and mutual respect can benefit professionals in the short- and long-term.

• Speak with a supervisor first.

Make sure your boss or immediate supervisor learns of your plans to leave the job first. Do not gossip or suggest to coworkers that you're ready to leave. It's unprofessional if a supervisor hears of your impending departure from others.

• Provide ample notice.

Even if it is time to move on, ensure that your current employer has plenty of time to interview potential replacements and train someone to take your place. This ensures an easy transition for all involved, and can show your employer that you have the company's best interests in mind. While two weeks' notice is the standard, if you have held a professional position for some time, extend the courtesy to three.

• Check company policy.

The employment firm AG Careers suggests reviewing company policy if you will be leaving to work for a direct competitor. There may be strict rules in place and protocol to follow.

• Don't shirk responsibilities.

It can be tempting to slack off when another job awaits. The popular job-hunting site Monster.com says it can be human nature to do less when long-term accountability is removed. However, you never know when you might need a referral or even a new job. Leaving a bitter taste in the mouth of your employer at the end of your work history can put a black mark on your employee record.

• Take coworkers' feelings into consideration.

Be open and honest with coworkers, but do not gloat that you are leaving the company and they are not. And if anyone has strong feelings about your departure, accept their point of view and do not react outwardly. Take things in stride as much as possible.

When leaving a job, professionals should always be courteous and considerate toward their current employers. ■

Enhance game night with outstanding apps

Families and friends will soon be gathering to cheer on their favorite teams in the season's pinnacle match-ups. To ensure guests have enough energy to ride out the drama, hosts should provide plenty of food.

Finger foods are preferential on game days because they are easy to grab and eat by hand, especially when clamoring for space in a crowd. Sliders or cheese sticks are go-to options, but for a more gourmet offering, think about crab cakes. These "Best Crab Cakes Ever," as they are billed in "BBQ Revolution" (Harvard Common Press) by Mitch Benjamin, are a tasty change of pace.

Best Crab Cakes Ever

Makes 6 servings

- 1/2 cup unsalted butter, plus 1 tablespoon
- 2 celery ribs, minced
- 1/2 yellow onion, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, preferably toasted, plus more as needed
- 1 teaspoon plus 1 tablespoon Old Bay Seasoning
- 1 tablespoon hot sauce
- 2 pounds smoked jumbo lump crabmeat
- 6 tablespoons heavy whipping cream
- 3 large eggs
- 26 Ritz crackers, crushed
- Vegetable oil, for pan-frying
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh flat-leaf parsley
- 2 lemons, cut into wedges for garnish

Heat a stick of butter in a small pot over low heat until the solids separate. Skim off the white foam that rises to the top with a little ladle and pour the clear butter aside to cool.

In another small pot, melt the remaining 1 tablespoon of butter and add the minced celery and onion as well as the 1/2 teaspoon of black pepper and the 1 teaspoon of Old Bay Seasoning. Cover and sweat this over medium-low heat for about 10 minutes or until the vegetables are nice and soft. It's going to smell amazing, but don't start eating now!

Remove the veggies from the heat and let them cool down. Transfer the veggies plus the clarified butter and the hot sauce into a large mixing bowl. Add the crab and heavy whipping cream and mix gently. The worst thing you could do here is overmix the crab and break up the fat lumps you just paid a premium for.

Cover and place this mixture in the freezer for 30 minutes or so. Remove and form the mix into 5-ounce balls (the size of a snowball) in your hands. Again, be gentle; you aren't packing these snowballs for war. You should be able to get six good ones out of the mix. Cover in plastic wrap and then return to the freezer for at least 4 hours or up to overnight. You need to get these nice and cold since you aren't using any filler/binder in these crab cakes.

While the mix is chilling, whip your eggs in a small mixing bowl with a crack of freshly ground black pepper. Add the crushed Ritz crackers to another bowl with the remaining 1 tablespoon of Old Bay Seasoning. Go ahead and preheat the oven to 350 F for later.

Remove the frozen crab cakes from the freezer and dunk them in the egg and then into the seasoned Ritz crumble mix. Cover completely. Repeat with all the crab cakes and set aside. Get about 1/8 inch of your vegetable oil ripping hot in a cast iron pan over coals on the grill. I like to cook these crab cakes outside in order to keep the oil smell from taking over the kitchen. There's nothing better than a cast iron skillet over hot coals. If you must, place over your gas stove at home. Get it hot. I like to drip water droplets in to see when the oil is hot enough. The droplets will sizzle and pop, and that's how you know it's ready.

Carefully drop the crab cakes in the pan and press down on them lightly just to slightly flatten them so they appear a little more cake-like and lay nicely on your plate. Fry for 4 to 5 minutes on each side until you have made a perfect golden crust (don't burn the outside). Then, put the entire cast iron skillet in the oven for 20 minutes. If desired, you can use a fish spatula or slotted spoon to transfer the cakes to a baking sheet — and leave the oil smell outside.

After 20 minutes, remove from the oven and plate up! ■

TILLMAN'S HISTORIC VILLAGE INN

EST. 1824

In 1951, our parents and grandparents traveled from their homes in Rochester, to a small farming hamlet in the center of Orleans County to chase a dream. You, our customers and staff made that dream a reality in helping establish a WNY institution in hospitality.

There is never a good time to say goodbye to a successful business where many of you, your parents, grandparents and beyond celebrated "LIFE." However, this IS the time, to both say goodbye and thank you. You made the Tillman family and the Village Inn family shine for over 70 years. We will miss you and never forget you.

*With many thanks,
Mark and Tom Tillman and Families*
