Two Cook Plant Refuelings Will Drive

Berrien Economy in '22

It's going to be a busy year at the Cook Plant—one of the area's largest employers.

American Electric Power—the parent company of I & M Electric-- owns the plant. Site Vice President Shane Lies—the top man at Cook—told St. Joseph Rotarians Monday there'll be two complete "Outage" refueling cycles this year. One in Spring and one in Fall in regular rotation for the two Cook nuclear generating units. Each unit must be shut down and refueled every 18 months. So, occasionally that means two shutdowns in one calendar year.

For Northern Berrien County businesses, that means anywhere from a 1,000 to 1,700 additional customers in town for varying time periods over several months. Some motels and residential rentals focus on the Cook Outage market, with its regular, well-paid and professional worker teams providing a base upon which to build other short term rentals, often to tourists in Summer. Restaurants, convenience stores and gas stations as well look forward to the influx of Cook Outage teams to boost their sales during Southwest Michigan's 'slow season'.

Shane Lies explained to Rotarians that the specialized employees who work during the refueling outages at Cook travel around the country to similar nuclear plants, doing three or four such stints a year, working 12-hour shifts, six days a week. Then, many of them enjoy several months off and repeat the cycle again.

Fun & Interesting Things to Do in Michigan's Great Southwest!

I love winter! The crunching sound of walking on newly fallen snow. The way everything looks so pristine at the end of a storm. I love it when it snows and the sun is shining brightly making it look like diamonds are falling from the sky. And I also love the variety of fun and interesting things to do this time of year.

Next weekend, February 4-6, is one of my favorites – the Magical Ice Fest in downtown St. Joseph. Get ready for some frosty fun! The 2022 Ice Fest looks to be bigger and better than ever and packed with family fun, ice competitions and even some frozen fish. The event is a great way to explore this charming lakeside town and celebrate the winter season. Whether you're a first-timer or a frequent ice fest attendee, you're going to have a winter blast!

can be summed up in a single word: FUN! Combine two sharp-witted, incredibly talented musicians with two pianos on a stage, and add in a roomful of people: The result is an evening of fast, funny, unforgettable entertainment. Get ready for a one-of-a-kind entertainment experience that will have you laughing so hard you'll be doubled over gasping for breath! Go head, request your favorite song, loudly sing along, dance on stage or just bounce up and down in your seat. There are a variety of options both with and without dinner.

The Ghostlight Theatre invites you to American Son, February 11-20 (Friday, Saturday and Sunday performances). Frantic with worry, African-American Kendra Ellis-Connor paces the waiting area of a Miami police station. Her 18-year-old son Jamal, a top student about to enter West Point, went out with friends early in the evening and has neither returned nor contacted her. As she waits for her estranged husband Scott, Kendra is interviewed by Officer Paul Larkin, who assures her that his questions about whether Jamal has priors, a street name, or gold teeth are strictly protocol and not racist. Larkin suddenly discloses new details regarding Jamal's whereabouts when Scott arrives, not initially realizing that this white FBI agent is Jamal's father. As the three hash it out in the otherwise deserted waiting area, urgent questions arise concerning the degree to which race, gender, and class play into police procedure.

There are several Valentine's celebrations. Both The Boulevard Inn and The Inn at Harbor Shores are offering packages that include overnight stays, food, drink and other amenities. In addition, Live at the Acorn is having Valentine's Open Mic Night hosted by Patti Shaffner, February 12. She performs a wide variety of musical styles including Folk, Blues, Jazz, Theater and Improvisational Singing with ease. She has studied improvisational singing with both Bobby McFerrin and Rhiannon and is skilled at leading groups of all ages in the style of spontaneous song known as 'Circle Singing.' Patti writes and performs her own music, solo as well as collaboratively.

Also, February 12 is the Valentine's weekend dinner at Tabor Hill Winery & Restaurant. Indulge in a romantic dinner at Tabor Hill Winery & Restaurant with your sweetheart or a small group of your closest friends this Valentine's weekend. Enjoy our delectable prix fixe menu by building your own three-course meal with your favorite Tabor Hill wine or cocktail!

Dinner for two includes an appetizer to share, a choice of soup or salad, and an entrée. As a special treat, guests will receive a complimentary bottle of their Sparkling Cherry to enjoy at home.

Our last Valentine's offering is Bubbles & Babes Galentine's Day event, February 13 at the Round Barn Estate. This event includes a private Round Barn Suite to enjoy with up to 8 of your closest babes. You will receive a complimentary branded Galentine's Day champagne flute filled with bubbles, Mimosa bar, and a Brunch board with delicious food offerings.

For details on these and other events visit www.swmichigan.org. We'll be back in a couple of weeks with more fun and interesting things to do in Michigan's Great Southwest.

The Aware Lab for Movement and Creativity LLC

My quest to learn about entrepreneurs in Southwest Michigan has brought me to The Aware Lab for Movement and Creativity, located inside of The Box Factory for the Arts. Owner, Salle Huber, describes The Aware Lab as the bridge between rehab and wellness, where you use mindful movement to help keep you healthy, but to also heal.

Salle offers different one-on-one and group classes every week. Her main focuses are Pilates and MELT. Pilates has you stabilize from your core (think abdominals, hips, shoulder muscles and connective tissue) while you rotate, sideband and extend the spine. Moving in all these directions while you try to stay stable prepares you for all the other activities you like to do out in your real world. The MELT Method focuses on your connective tissues to heal and restore. This method involves rollers and is similar to physical therapy, working to heal those muscles. Salle wants to help everyone feel comfortable and confident in their ever-changing bodies and she helps to adjust to those changes.

Salle has been teaching Pilates since 2008 and was certified in MELT in 2012. She always wanted to open her own studio but wasn't sure that she knew how to handle the business aspect of owning her own company. She says that without the help of Cornerstone Alliance and Women's Business Center, she never would have been able to open. Those two organizations helped her connect with people who made opening a business easier and gave her tons of tools and tips. Salle wanted to be sure to give Cornerstone Alliance and the Women's Business Center a special shoutout and thank you, but to also inform others in our area that there are organizations and resources out there to help you turn your dream business into a reality!

The Aware Lab for Movement and Creativity is in Suite 143 of The Box Factory at 1101 Broad Street in St. Joseph. To set up a one-on-one session or join a group, call 630-542-2129, visit their website at theawarelab.com, or find them on Facebook.

Are you or someone you know a new business owner in the area? If so, shoot me an email at news@MailMaxOnline.com. I would love to learn more about other aspiring entrepreneurs in our area.

The Lunar New Year is nearly here! February 1 ushers in a Tiger year. I started researching factoids pertinent to tigers, but became hugely distracted by the wide range of taboos and faux pas' that Lunar New Year celebrants must try to avoid. Turns out that this is a holiday ripe with the possibility of getting egg foo young on your face.

Most embarrassments have to do with gifting. Many websites that appear authoritative say that Lunar New Year is traditionally a time for giving. Cash is very popular. But what should you give the person who has too much cash,?

Herewith is a sampling. But wait! - this list isn't what you should give - it's what you shouldn't give!

Don't give a necklace as a gift to a platonic friend. If the giftee is your inamorata, that's fine, but in traditional Chinese culture, items such as necklaces, ties, and belts are associated with intimate relations. What's even worse is buying a too-large belt for your intimate relation! ("Wait! What? You think I'm that fat?!")

It's said that in Chinese tradition, giving someone a wallet symbolizes giving away money. But wait! - it symbolizes giving away all YOUR money! I got a wallet for Christmas from the wife. Ancient tradition says this is okay, since we share accounts and whatnot. However, the wallet is tres gros; "Seinfeld" fans know what I mean when I say it's a George Costanza wallet. Maybe the wife has more money than I realized!

If you're looking to break things off with someone - friendship, love affair, annoying guy who always ruins your Fantasy Football season - then by all means give them a handkerchief. It's said that in China, handkerchiefs are gifted at funerals, as an expression of permanent parting.

MailMax for Michigan's Great Southwest

It is bad luck, and may suggest you want to end a relationship, if you give someone a cutting tool, such as a knife, or scissors, or the huge sharp teeth of the Killer Rabbit of Caerbannog. (You're welcome, Monty Python fans!)

Mirrors are way unpopular gifts in many Asian cultures. For one thing, they can break, and breaking things on the Lunar New Year is highly sub-optimal. Also, some believe that mirrors attract ghosts. The wife said that didn't sound altogether bad, but it turns out she wasn't imagining a spooky specter; she was fantasizing about Patrick Swayze in "Ghost."

Shoes are a bad idea for a Lunar New Year present because the word for "shoes" sounds exactly like a word for "bad luck" or "evil." Plus, because shoes are stepped on all the time, they are considered much too lowly for gifting. (The wife brought misfortune on our family by giving me slippers for Christmas; okay, they aren't shoes exactly, but they're blue suede, and everyone in the family feels pretty unlucky when I look down at them and then randomly belt out "Don't you step on my blue suede shoes!")

Anything in multiples of four. This is another "sound-alike" taboo. In Chinese, the number four sounds similar to the word for death. Therefore, anything displaying a "4," or that contains four units or items, is considered unnnnnlucky. Oops, I put four n's in that last word! Sorry sorry! It won't happennnn againnnn!! Oh nnnno!! It must be Patrick Swayze messing with my keyboard!!!

New Travel Restrictions to Impact Ag Industry

Arthur Havlicek,
President,
SMR Chamber

Just one week after the Supreme Court of the United States moved to block the proposed federal vaccine mandate on companies with 100 or more employees, DHS announced it will be requiring all non-U.S. individuals seeking to enter the U.S. via land ports of entry and ferry terminals at the U.S.-Mexico and U.S.-Canada borders to be fully vaccinated for COVID-19 and provide related proof of vaccinations starting January 22.

While travel restrictions governing the admission of non-citizens to the United States have been around since the beginning of the pandemic, they have - up to this point - been targeted largely by visa category and by country. Additionally, "essential" workers, including H-2A seasonal guest workers and truck drivers, were always exempt from these restrictions due to the critical role they play in our nation's farming operations and food-related supply chain. Exempt until now, that is.

Unfortunately, and unlike previous travel restrictions, this new DHS requirement does not provide any exemptions for essential workers. If left unchanged, this could severely restrict the travel of an estimated 12,000 H-2A seasonal guest workers coming to Michigan in 2022.

Not only is this unprecedented, it also marks an abrupt reversal within the Biden administration. As recently as January 6, DHS lifted travel restrictions on 7,000 seasonal H-2A workers from South Africa to supplement labor shortages on American farms.

Now, however, non-U.S. individuals traveling to the United States via land ports of entry or ferry terminals, whether for essential or non-essential reasons, must:

- verbally attest to their COVID-19 vaccination status;
- provide proof of a CDC-approved COVID-19 vaccination, as outlined on the CDC website;
- present a valid Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative (WHTI)-compliant document, such as a valid passport, Trusted Traveler Program card, or Enhanced Tribal Card; and,
- be prepared to present any other relevant documents requested by a U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) officer during a border inspection.

If a non-U.S. individual cannot provide proof of vaccination, they will be denied entry into the U.S.

Sarah Black, general manager of Great Lakes Ag Labor Services (GLALS) which focuses on H-2A visas, said even the seasonal workers who choose to comply could still face a number of difficulties and delays.

"Unfortunately, the vaccines on the [CDC] approved list are not readily available throughout Mexico," said Black. "It's not as easy to get them because the Mexican government administers the COVID vaccinations in that country."

Even in a best-case scenario, Black said, CDC-accepted vaccination protocols require a minimum of two weeks after the single- or two-dose vaccination for entry. This means an additional four-week delay for guest workers once they receive a CDC-approved vaccine. Several farm operations in Michigan have workers scheduled to begin arriving within the next two weeks, leaving them scrambling for help amid an already tight labor market. Given the two-day window between this mandate's announcement and its effective date, they were left with little choice.

"DHS failed to provide proper notice of the mandate, which gives farmers, ranchers, and agriculture suppliers no time to prepare," said American Farm Bureau Federation President Zippy Duvall. "Farmworkers and truck drivers provide critical skills and have [already] been designated as essential by the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency. Further limiting the available workforce will exacerbate existing supply chain issues as families face rising prices and fewer options at the grocery store."

Negative ramifications are expected, in part, because our national dependence on H-2A workers has grown significantly in recent years. Fiscal year 2021, for example, saw a record 317,619 total positions certified by the Department of Labor — a 15.3% increase relative to 2020. Michigan ranked seventh in overall H-2A positions certified in FY 2021 with 11,376 — a 3.6% increase from previous year figures.

"The continued growth in the use of the H-2A program just illustrates that a lack of available, reliable and qualified labor continues to be the number one concern for many farms today," Black said. "It also demonstrates how this DHS requirement will severely exacerbate an already extremely short labor situation in the entire food supply chain. The impact to consumers at the grocery store will be significant."

We couldn't agree more and will be coordinating our efforts with allied associations and regulatory stakeholders to advocate for change. Specifically, we are calling on DHS to amend their rule and grant "National Interest Exceptions" to essential workers, like H-2A workers and truck drivers, who are coming into our country to work our farms and put food on our table.

With Michigan home to 47,000 farms and a $104.7 billion agri-business industry, inaction is not an option.

Good News for the Poor

The Spirit of the Sovereign LORD is on me, because the LORD has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. ~ Isaiah 61:1

Why do rich people often have a hard time listening to the good news of salvation through faith in Jesus? One theory is that they think they have everything they need already, so they don't realize their need for a Savior.

Seven hundred years before Jesus was born, the prophet Isaiah said that he was chosen to proclaim good news to the poor—people who realized that they needed good news! When Jesus began his preaching ministry, he said that those words were written about him. He told people the good news that they were spiritually poor enough to need a Savior and that he was their man.

Jesus is your man too. Whether you live in a mansion or under a bridge, whether what you drive is shiny and new or old and rusted, whether your bank account is full or nearly empty, you were born spiritually poor. So poor, in fact, that you had nothing in your spiritual account. But that is why Jesus came. He came to fill your account with his perfect life. He came to pay your spiritual debt by dying on the cross.

That is good news! It's the best of news, really. It means you are all paid up with God. It means that through faith in Jesus, you will inherit heaven one day. You who were once poor are now wealthy beyond measure in Jesus.

Prayer: Dear Jesus, thank you for making me who was poor, rich. Amen.

Lies also commented on the challenges of keeping the Cook Plant operating during the COVID pandemic. He said initially only about half of Cook's employees were vaccinated. That number has increased to closer to 75% recently. However, Lies said, if the Federal government had required full vaccination for nuclear plant workers, Cook might have faced a challenge to continued fulltime operation, due to staff availability. Unvaccinated workers would not have been allowed in the plant. He is confident that other precautions AEP has taken during the pandemic have created a healthy and safe work environment for all—whether vaccinated or not.

A questioner in the Rotary audience recalled that until about 20 years ago, Cook hosted a fulltime "Energy Information Center"—a visitors center adjacent to the plant that welcomed the public, including thousands of students every year. Lies said the combination of security measures following '9-11', coupled with anti-terrorism restrictions and now COVID measures would almost certainly ensure that no Visitor Center would ever again be possible at the Cook Plant.

How much dirt, and how much house?

Dear Dave,

My wife and I own a small catering business. We have a few big corporations as clients, and our company has been very successful over the last two or three years. Now, we are planning to build a house. I was wondering what you think about how much should be spent on the land itself versus the construction of the actual house.

Lee

Dear Lee,

When the whole thing is done, the payment you end up with shouldn't be more than 25% of your take-home pay on a 15-year, fixed-rate loan. The ratio of land to house can vary, and that part's up to you. If you're buying a big piece of land, you're probably going to have a higher ratio of land cost to home cost than if you bought a simple lot and put a really nice home there.

Generally, a standard subdivision lot is going to be around 20% of the total price. If you spend $100,000 on the lot, you'll end up with a total project cost of about a half-million. Now, keep in mind that's just a fairly standard ratio. It's not a rule.

The only rule here is my rule about mortgage payments. Again, no more than 25% of your take-home pay on a fixed-rate, 15-year note. Otherwise, you can end up house poor. And when you're house poor, it takes away your ability to save, build wealth, and give.

Having a big house and a lot of land is cool if you can afford it, Lee. But it's not worth it if it's financially stressful and prevents you from living your best life!

— Dave

Rock N Roll Winter Party to Benefit Abused Children

Dart Board Compromise

Along with the three acts, the night will feature amazing food provided by Grillin' and Chillin' and sponsored by local businesses. Your $10 door admission includes your meal and helps to cover band costs. You'll also want to bring some extra green or your checkbook for the silent auction and the 50/50 raffle with all proceeds going to the cause. Beverages will also be available for purchase. This is a cash only event. No credit cards can be accepted.

Any local businesses or private individuals who feel compelled to donate an item(s) to the silent auction please feel free to text or email Victoria Dumke at 269-519-0616 or dumkevictoria@gmail.com

Rounding out the line-up is the classic rock and metal energy of Def Mojo, who cranks it at 10:00 and rocks until who knows when. (Start times subject to change.)

The winter party will be hosted by the Secret Garden at the Harbor, a newly restored event center at 209 W Main Street in Benton Harbor. Located in the Art's District, it can accommodate up to 300 guests. The rustic brick building, ornate garden and handmade wooden doors add to the retro chic vibe of the venue.

The public is invited to join in for a rocking night of music, food, drinks, and dancing...all for a great cause.

The Secret Garden At The Harbor Presents... Rock N Roll Winter Party to benefit abused children on Saturday, February 26th, 2022 starting at 4:00 PM.

The Secret Garden at the Harbor is presenting a triple header rock and roll concert to help children affected by domestic abuse. The three-band line-up includes Dart Board Compromise, Seven Reasons and Def Mojo.

Net proceeds from this event will benefit B.A.C.A. (Bikers Against Child Abuse) to raise funds to help abused children. The regional chapter of B.A.C.A is based in Ottawa County but serves all of Southwest Michigan. Representatives from B.A.C.A. will be at the event to provide more information about the organization and privately meet with individuals who may know a child that could benefit from their empowerment.

"We feel strongly about helping to raise awareness in our community of the amazing resources that B.A.C.A. offers to empower abused children," stated event organizers Marc Van Patten and Chris Collins. As a past member of the organization, Collins is proud to emphasize that every penny collected goes directly to help abused children.

OWNER LICENSED & INSURED
JOE MASHAK (269) 266-7331

Nick Christe,
*Real Estate Investor,
Business Consultant,
Proud St. Joe Lion*

When my fitness company, Images Personal Training, grew to be the largest of its kind within 2 years, there was no way I could've done so alone. In order to grow, I had to quickly hire and train my staff. There simply weren't enough fitness professionals in the area to pull from. I duplicated myself over and over, establishing personal trainers, fitness directors and regional managers. Images PT earned 2 consecutive Platinum Stake Awards (best business in 2013 & 2014) from the Cornerstone Chamber of Commerce, now known as the Southwest Michigan Chamber. My company existed within 25% of all Anytime Fitness Centers within the state of Michigan at that time.

I got into management soon after becoming a personal trainer. It was expressed to me by a mentor that if I were really serious about saving lives, it would take a person who could lead a team of professionals, aiding them in achieving client goals collectively for the company. What would have been 30-40 clients max if I were to remain a trainer, I was able to touch hundreds at a time through the hierarchy and chain of command these large establishments were set up to accommodate.

Being a real estate agent has its similarities to being a personal trainer. As a Realtor, we have a huge support system within our brokerages to help new aspiring agents rise to their full potential. Brokers provide legal forms, trainings, negotiation assistance and ongoing support until a new agent can traverse the intricacies of the profession.

As an investment real estate professional, I use buying and selling tactics that don't require a license in real estate. You may have heard the term "wholesale." It's dirty word amongst real estate professionals, largely due to the fact anyone can be a wholesaler. We're seeing a huge uptick in wholesaling in larger cities and now rural areas. In general, Realtors don't appreciate wholesalers because to them, they undermine aspects of the real estate process. I understand why these aspiring entrepreneurs are met with such hostility. Most don't have a support system. Because of this, they wing it at the expense and time of the professionals they ultimately work alongside. Title companies end up having to fumble through odd assignment contracts while Realtors are forced to read through non-association contracts. It's a pain in the rear for the status quo.

The market speaks loudly if you listen. The rise of wholesalers isn't stopping because the people demand additional options to buy and sell real estate. That's why I'm partnering with prospective wholesalers to help guide them. Like a fitness business owner, I'm now helping non-licensed real estate professionals to get into the game, but more so, to maintain the integrity and professionalism of the real estate industry.

If you're an aspiring wholesaler or want to get into the game as a novice, give me a call. I provide all forms, documents and legal contracts. I communicate with title companies, attorneys and mortgage lenders. I will assist you by teaching the concepts of real estate, and I will be happy to negotiate your deals on your behalf. I also provide disposition assistance, or the allocation of your deal to the end buyer. The best part, you're an independent contractor. You don't work for me. You work for yourself. I become a mentor and partner for as long as our relationship flourishes by helping the people that need us most. Join Michigan's Home-Team Wholesalers, today!
