TIFFANY HUIZENGA

Being at Sioux Center Health isn't just a job. This has been a rewarding career for me and has put me in the direction I have wanted to go. I've always been the kind of person to help others and I get to do that every day. I help patients get to the right place, get coffee or water, be supportive if they need it, and much more. I get the pleasure of talking with so many patients and staff and I love getting to know everyone better. Another thing I love about my job is the great co-workers I get to see every day and get to know.

Staff around here are always greeting you with a friendly smile when you first walk in the door. You can feel the positivity surrounding you from every department. Sioux Center Health truly cares about their employees.

Working here has taught me that every patient and staff member who walks through the door is different. I've learned I need to be a person who everyone can count on to help them in some way - even if it's small. Working for an organization that believes in strong Christian values has held me accountable to always being the kind person that someone may be looking for when we don't know it.
