MUSIC AT THE BREWERY

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

“When the weather is warm, our musicians perform on our John Deere Stage. We converted an old John Deere cotton trailer into a stage,” says KD Hill, who along with her husband started Barrow Brewing in Salado six years ago. “Barrow is an old family name on my husband’s side. We had 4 beers at first and now we have 12 beers on tap all the time. We’re the first microbrewery in Bell County. We also get to serve some local wines and ciders that our friends make. It’s just such a joy to be able to serve people and get to be a part of Salado’s local flavor.”

Before moving to Salado 20 years ago, KD was an Arabic linguist for the US Government. “Getting to study the Arab culture really taught me a lot about hospitality and welcoming people, treating everyone like they’re your best friend.”

Her husband was an airline pilot. “He was a home brewer and read everything he could get his hands on and did an internship with a brewer in Colorado. That attention to detail that pilots must have comes into play with recipes and keeping everything pristine and perfect. You have to be very precise in your measurements and temperatures and controls.”

The brewery is on two acres along Salado Creek. It has a beer garden and a taproom. The brewery started a music festival in 2017 and just about the time it started drawing big crowds, Covid hit and the event took a two-year hiatus. But it’s back this year.

“It’s March 11 thru the 13th,” says KD. “March 11th is a free night and features Josh Labove and Lilly and The Implements. On Saturday, it goes from noon to 10 PM with Mad Stone, Shimmer Island, The Naggins, Nik Parr and the Selfless Lovers, Denver Williams and Jay Wood. Sunday is from 1 PM to 8 PM when Caftan, LadyFang, RiSi and The Living Hour are on stage.”

The festival is titled NORTHBOUND AND DOWN and features musicians from Texas and Canada. The festival is a fundraiser for the Montessori School in Salado. “Tickets are very affordable, like 7 to 10 dollars per person and the music is pretty eclectic with lots of different genres represented, something that Central Texans don’t get to experience every day. It’s definitely a unique event and the Temple newspaper recently named our festival the best musical venue in Bell County. During the event we’ll have food trucks vendors and a farmers market”

KD says she and her husband are active in the community and are concerned more with being good neighbors than serving great craft beer. “One of our goals is to support local musicians and we do that by providing a wholesome family-style and dog friendly place where friends can visit and feel comfortable. Our taproom can seat 100 people with plenty of room between them and it’s so much fun to see it full of happy people having a good time. We have belly dancing, movie nights, live music on weekends, all kinds of different events at our brewery.”
