Piedmont Pets

April 7, 2022 By Paulette Dean

News Release For Immediate Release

Because of the pandemic, we have not been able to have a pet photo with the Easter Bunny event since 2019. We are thrilled to invite you to the return of the Easter Bunny this Saturday, April 9th, from 11 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. at the shelter.

Each photo costs $5 and will be in a holiday card frame. We welcome children, too! Each child who has a picture taken will receive a small gift.

During the event, we will also offer a $10 microchip. Dr. Mary Betterton will be on-hand to insert the chips. We will also register the chips. This offer is available to residents of Danville and Pittsylvania County for their own dogs and cats; the limit is four per household. We cannot include foster homes for home-based rescue groups or other shelters.

DAHS
Danville Area Humane Society

996 South Boston Rd.,
Danville, VA 24540
Phone: (434) 799-0843

Paulette Dean, director, said, "Microchips are vital to proving ownership and to assuring the return of a lost pet. We encourage owners of all dogs and cats to have their pets vaccinated."

No reservations are required.

KOVELS Antiques & Collecting
By Terry and Kim Kovel

Splatter Ware

It is not easy to identify antique and vintage ceramics, because many were made by small local potteries and not marked. Workmen often moved to another factory but continued to make the same type of wares and decoration.

Spatter ware is a pottery decorated with paint that is actually spattered on the plate by flicking a stick dipped in the paint. Very similar decorations were made by dabbing paint on with a sponge. Many collectors think spatter and sponge are the same, so you must check any written descriptions. Both are popular vintage collectibles.

Both types of folk pottery were made in the early 1800s in Scotland, Italy, Holland, France and the United States. Similar dinnerware and other household dishes are still being made but with the help of machines, not often by hand. Tulips are often pictured either as part of a border or as a single flower in the center. Price is determined by the condition and the skill of the decorator.

Conestoga Auction Co. sold a collection of this type of pottery, with many early examples selling for hundreds of dollars. A plate with a border of green and blue spatter stripes and a center with two stylized tulips did not have a maker's mark and sold for $224.

Q. After my mother died, we found a Pairpoint lamp in a box in the attic. It looks original except for the cord. There are two stamps under the shade dated July 9, 1901. It has puffy butterflies. The base has a diamond-shaped stamp underneath. Can you tell me what this might be worth?

A. Thomas J. Pairpoint founded the Pairpoint Manufacturing Company in New Bedford, Massachusetts, in 1880. The company joined with nearby glassworks and made glass, lamps and silver-plated pieces. Reverse-painted glass shades and molded shades known as "puffies" were made until the 1930s. The company became the Pairpoint Glass Company in 1957. It moved to Sagamore, Massachusetts, in 1970 and now makes luxury glass items. Look closely at the patent date on your lamp. Are you sure it's not 1907? Pairpoint's Papillon (butterfly) boudoir lamp marked "patented July 9th — 1907" sells at auction for about $2,000.

Dinnerware was made with overall spatter or sponged decoration or with a spatter or sponged border and center design. This plate has stylized tulips with a spatter stripe border and sold for $224.

CITY LAUNCHES NEW ONLINE PERMIT PORTAL

The City of Danville today announced the launch of a new online portal that will allow citizens to apply for permits and manage permits electronically instead of making an office visit.

The portal provides real-time updates, faster processing, quicker turnaround, and the ability to print permits directly from the portal.

Use the online permit portal to:

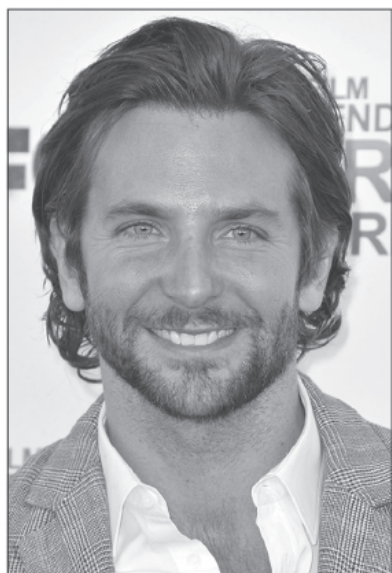

- Submit applications for permits, projects, and special events. Pay online.
- Submit files and information.
- Check the status of a permit application.
- Download plan review comments and approved plans.
- Applications for planning, engineering, fire, building and trade permits, and special events may also be submitted in-person at the appropriate office.

To create a permit application online:

Submit a completed application and upload required documents as described within the application instructions. Each division has made lists available to the public that specify in detail the information required for an application. As part of the submittal process, you may be notified with an invoice and a link to process payment. Follow the steps to make payment for the application. Payments may be made online. An application submitted is not finalized, and the plan review time frame does not start, until the City receives the required payment, and the application is approved. Staff will verify submittal of the documents and fees paid. You may receive a signed "Receipt of Documents," which only certifies that materials were submitted on a specific date and accepted by this portal. This "Receipt" is not an indication of the completeness of submitted materials, or that the documents submitted constitute a valid application. Users are required to create an account online to begin the submittal process for a permit or project. An online video tutorial is available.

HOLLYWOOD by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — At eight years old, Bradley Cooper dreamed not of acting, but of being an orchestra conductor. Now he's playing one of the best in "Maestro," a biopic about Leonard Bernstein (currently represented by the music in "West Side Story"). The "Maestro" had three children in a "marriage of convenience" to Costa Rican-American Felicia Montealegre from 1951-1978 (when she died at 56; he died in 1990 at 72). In 1976, the word was "out" about his sexuality because of his affair with a radio station manager. Carey Mulligan plays Felicia, and Matt Bomer (of "White Collar" and "Magic Mike") plays a clarinet player, one of Bernstein's lovers. Bernstein underwent psychoanalysis to cure his gay inversion, but when that failed, he finally "came out" publicly as part of the cure. Can't wait to see how they handle that!

Bradley Cooper

Sandra Bullock and Brad Pitt share the same hairdresser, Janice Thompson, and she convinced Brad to do Sandra's film "The Lost City" and suggested he do Sandra's film "Bullet Train" (out July 15). Sandra admitted, "He was our first choice, but we didn't go after him." Did their hairdresser get a commission from either?

As Mike Hopkins, senior VP of Prime Video and Amazon Studios, points out, "The real financial value behind this deal is the treasure trove of MGM's catalog, which we plan to reimagine and develop with MGM's talented team." MGM owns EPIX and produces "The Handmaid's Tale" and " Fargo," etc. It produced the James Bond franchise with United Artists, which generated $16.8 billion, and claims MGM's catalog has more than 4,000 films, including "Moonstruck," "Legally Blonde," "Silence of the Lambs" and "Poltergeist," as well as 17,000 TV shows. But what it doesn't contain is movies you see on TCM, such as "The Wizard of Oz," "Singin' in the Rain" and "Gone With the Wind," which were sold to Ted Turner in a 1986 package that he in turn sold to Warner Brothers (in a co-ownership deal). Can't believe MGM's Leo the Lion now roars for Jeff Bezos.

Is this the beginning of the end of The Golden Age of Hollywood? It all began in 1989 when Sony bought Columbia Pictures for $3.4 billion and then MGM's famous Culver City sound stages in 1990. In 2019, Disney bought 20th Century Fox for a mere $71 billion, which included their Century City studio. At least they were studios gobbling each other up, but now Amazon is acquiring MGM for $8.5 billion. MGM was founded in 1924 by Marcus Lowe (of Metro Pictures), Samuel Goldwyn and Louis B. Mayer, and they ruled Hollywood film making.

Even Exchange by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

SWIM PARTY! A missing figure is needed to complete this swim scene. To complete picture, simply draw dot to dot.

WEIGH FARE! It seems that if Lorna weighs less than Fran, and Hazel weighs as much as Lorna, and Sue weighs more than Fran, then Hazel weighs less than Sue. True or false?
Statement is true.

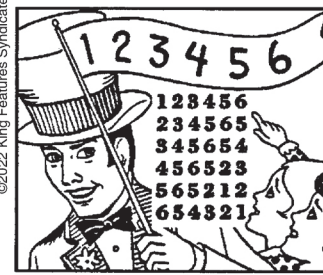

PAIR GAME! A dozen words shown in the diagram at right are to be paired to form just six words (of varying lengths) having two syllables each. Words at left are to precede words at right in the new words formed.

A way to avoid confusion in solving this poser is to start with first word in the first column, find a compatible word in the second column and draw a connecting line to the second word. Do the same with next word, etc.

Word combos: Standstill, sparring, sky/lark, sidewall, banlam and attract. Will comply.

1-TO-6 SEQUENCE COUNTDOWN

LOOK over the systematic arrangement of numbers 1 to 6 at left. Then see if you can determine in how many different ways you can find 1 to 6 in order, moving up or down, to right or left, but not diagonally.

Each 1-6 run must differ. That is to say, each six-some must be traced out in a varying path to include at least one new number.

Perhaps you lack the patience to make an actual count. If so, take a guess instead.

Black Eyed Pea Salad

INGREDIENTS

- For the Vinaigrette:
1/2 cup extra virgin olive oil
1/4 cup white distilled Vinegar
1/4 cup malt vinegar
1 teaspoon fresh thyme minced
1 teaspoon fresh parsley minced
2 teaspoons ground black pepper
2 teaspoons kosher salt
1 red bell pepper diced
2 jalapeno peppers stems and seeds removed, and diced
2 scallions finely chopped
1 garlic clove minced
- For the Black Eyed Peas:
2 cups dried Blackeye peas
1 Tablespoon smoked paprika
6 cups water or stock

DIRECTIONS

Create the vinaigrette
Create the vinaigrette by combining extra virgin olive oil, white vinegar, malt vinegar, thyme, parsley, black pepper, and salt in a large bowl and whisk to combine. Stir in red bell pepper, jalapeno peppers, scallions, and garlic clove. Cover and place in the refrigerator.

Cook the blackeye peas
Place peas, smoked paprika, and water in a large pot and bring to a boil over high heat. Allow the peas to rigorously boil for 2 minutes. Then remove from heat and cover the pot. Allow it to sit for 1 hour.

When ready to cook, place the pot over medium-heat and bring the pot of beans water to a simmer and cover. Cook covered for 20-45 minutes, stirring occasionally until the beans are tender, but not mushy. Remove from heat and drain the liquid from the beans. Place beans in a large bowl.

Combine
Pour the vinaigrette over the hot beans and stir to combine. You can serve as is or allow to cool in the fridge before serving. Add additional salt and pepper to taste if needed. Serve and enjoy.

* A honey badger named Stoffel, resident of a wildlife center in South Africa, was noted not just for repeated escapes from his enclosure, but his stubborn penchant for pursuing much larger animals than himself. * Sorry, Honey Nut Cheerios fans, your cereal doesn't contain any nuts. While ground almonds used to be included, since 2006 just "natural almond flavor" has been used, and that is typically derived from apricot and peach pits.
