Carbon Monoxide Poisoning Prevention

Every year, hundreds of people die and thousands are injured from unsuspected exposure to an odorless, colorless gas—carbon monoxide (CO). Studies by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention indicate that, while people recognize CO gas is poisonous, they perceive CO as less dangerous than other household hazards. CO poisoning is most prevalent when furnaces are turned back on to fight cold winter temperatures, but also commonly occur after summer and winter storms and accompanying power outages, when people tend to rely on portable generators for electricity.

Here are some simple steps to protect yourselves and your family:

- ✓ Install battery-operated CO detectors near every sleeping area in your home.
- ✓ Check CO detectors regularly to be sure they are functioning properly.
- ✓ Have gas or oil furnaces inspected by a qualified professional every year.
- ✓ Never use a generator inside the home or garage, even if doors and windows are open.
- ✓ Only use generators and power washers outside, more than 20 feet away from the home, doors, and windows.
- ✓ Never use a charcoal grill inside the home.

For more information about Carbon Monoxide Poisoning and how to prevent it, call the Livingston County Department of Health, Center for Environmental Health at 243-7280.

SPEAK OUT

Dear "Speak Out",

This week's article is entitled "The Preservation of American Government". I thought it timely to provide an article in a positive manner of the contingency plans which are currently in place to preserve the government of our country in the event of a nuclear war. There are four locations which would become command centers in the event of a nuclear disaster.

The Presidential Emergency Operations Center is a bunker under the White House in Washington, D. C.; The Mount Weather Emergency Operations Center is in Bluemont, Virginia; The Raven Rock Mountain Complex is a military installation near Blue Ridge Summit, Pennsylvania. It is called the "Underground Pentagon" where the top military leaders would be evacuated; The Cheyenne Mountain Complex is located near Colorado Springs, Colorado, and is the home of NORAD.

A Boeing E4 Advanced Command Post, also called "Air Force One When It Matters", would be used along with Air Force One to maintain a command center in the sky. It could be refueled in the air by tankers and remain airborne as long as supplies of food and water remain.

The Declaration of Independence, United States Constitution and Bill of Rights would be evacuated from Washington, D. C., to the Mount Weather Emergency Operations Center. Irreplaceable artifacts and paintings would be evacuated from Washington, D. C.

The DEFCON System has five levels of status: 1 – 2 – 3 – 4 – 5. Our country is usually at Level 5 which is called "FADEOUT" and is our lowest state of readiness. DEFCON 4 is called "DOUBLE TAKE" and is an increased intelligence watch with strengthened security measures. DEFCON 3 is called "ROUND HOUSE" and is increased readiness above that required for normal readiness and the United States Air Forces would be placed on alert to be ready to mobilize within fifteen minutes. DEFCON 2 is called "FAST PACE" in which the United States Air Forces are ready to deploy and engage in less than six hours. DEFCON 1 is called "COCKED PISTOL" and is maximum readiness with immediate response and is the status in which nuclear war is imminent or has already begun.

Let us pray that we never approach this status. COGCON are readiness levels, roughly analogous to the DEFCON alert state system, tracking the readiness of the government in the event of an emergency. Continuity of Government, COG by definition, is the provision of the full range of governmental services of the three branches of government: judicial, legislative, and executive at all levels: federal, state, and local. COGCON 4 is normal peacetime operations. COGCON 3 is a state of heightened readiness with some government officials required to notify a Watch Office as to their location. During the United States "State of the Union" address, the COGCON is raised to this level and a cabinet member is the "Designated Survivor". COGCON 2 calls for a deployment to a relocation facility with four hours-notice. COGCON 1 calls for the United States government to be relocated to secure, fully staffed bunkers such as the Mount Weather Emergency Operations Center.

Lord willing, I will submit an article again next week and I look forward to any and all your comments.

Positively Livingston

New Purchasing Director/Administrative Assistant

The Livingston County Board of Supervisors has named Ashley Scutt as the new Purchasing Director/Administrative Assistant to the County Administrator, effective April 4, 2022. She succeeds Lisa Grosse, who recently retired after more than 30 years of public service to the County.

Scutt will oversee the process of acquiring goods and services across all County departments and operations. In addition to her purchasing responsibilities, she will be responsible for a multitude of other administrative tasks, including overseeing the County's annual insurance needs, assisting County Departments with processing insurance claims, and monitoring all insurance company reimbursements for vehicle accidents and property damage. Over the past decade, she worked for the Livingston County Board of Supervisors as the Confidential Secretary to the Clerk of the Board and as the Secretary to County Administrator Ian M. Coyle.

"I am very excited to transition into this new role and look forward to working with fellow Department Heads and Board Members," stated Scutt. "This new position will allow me to learn more about the needs and operations of various departments. My goal is to help them properly procure their desired products and services while keeping the taxpayer top of mind."

"Ashley is the perfect choice to fill this position and lead Livingston County into the future," said David L. LeFeber, Chairman of the Livingston County Board of Supervisors. "She is a hard-working, dependable team player who is always willing to lend a hand and share a smile."

County Administrator Ian M. Coyle stated, "Ashley's previous roles with Livingston County have allowed her to gain a comprehensive understanding of county government operations. Her unique perspective will serve her well as she focuses on improved processes, new technologies, and increased efficiencies related to our purchasing policies and procedures. I look forward to seeing her continued growth at Livingston County."

Scutt lives in Conesus with her husband and two children. When not in the office, she enjoys camping and spending time outdoors with her family.
