Medina Students Inducted Into the National Honor Society

April 27th, the Medina Junior-Senior High School inducted 32 new members into the Arista Chapter of the National Honor Society. The Arista Chapter of the National Honor Society was formed in the 1920s as an exclusive club at the High School where members were selected based upon grade point average and formal recommendations. In 1964 Medina decided to charter their own National Honor Society and the district's administration decided to honor the spirit of the existing club and named it the Arista Chapter of the National Honor Society. The Keynote Speaker was 2014 Medina graduate Ben McPherson, who is the President of the Rotary Club, sits on the Finance Committee for MAP (Medina Area Partnership) and is a financial advisor for Edward Jones.

After a Candle Lighting Ceremony with the current National Honor Society Officers, new members Tatyanna Baity, Marissa Brigham, Bailey Clare, Bryson Costitch, Ella Dahlhaus, Dana Faith DeVera, Paige Dix, Kennedy Eick, Gabriella Flores-Medina, Lydia Fox, Brooklyn Garrow, Abigail Goodrich, Rachel Hill, Seagan Majchrzak, Haley Marciniak, Gabriel Mark, Brooke Moden, Jackson Moreland, Mason Moreland, Elizabeth Parker, Aidan Paul, Henry Rigerman, William Roush, Hilda Santiago Bautista, Lydia Sharlau, Sara Swart, David Vanderwalker, Jeremy Waters, Hailey Wilkins, Lillian Wilson, Kayleigh Wright and Tyrell Wright were inducted by the school's Principal, Michael Cavanagh. National Honor Society Advisors Samantha Rennie and Alissa Dunham say that it was a wonderful ceremony and they are very proud of all the new members!

THE LAW AND YOU
BY NATHAN D. PACE
ATTORNEY AT LAW

WHERE'S THE BREACH?

In legal terminology, a breach is the violation of a contractual agreement or obligation. Parties can breach a contract by reneging on a promise, failing to perform a duty or promise, or interfering with another's performance to fulfill obligations. A breach occurs when any of the agreed-upon terms and conditions of a contract are violated, such as late or non-payment or failure to deliver goods, services, or assets. Contracts are legally binding in a court of law and should be reviewed by an attorney and agreed to and accepted by all parties. When it is proven that a breach of any contract agreement or obligation has occurred, a court may order financial payments to make the wronged party whole.

If you have your own business, you will need business law representation for a wide range of cases. From proper documentation for major contracts to intellectual property cases, employee issues, and more, the Law Office of MACK & PACE can provide you with the consultation and representation you need to protect your business. We will work as hard as you do to ensure you are happy with our legal services. Please call to schedule a consultation.

Author Visit Highlights Depression and Mental Health

Medina High Jr-Sr High School recently played host to author Bree Barton. She has penned four books: Heart of Thorns, Tears of Frost, Soul of Cinder and her latest Zia Erases the World.

High School librarian Jennifer O'Toole invited Ms. Barton and Julie Berry, from the Author's Note Bookstore, to talk to 7th graders in the library on April 28th. Ms. Barton talked with the students about her experiences with depression and how she started experiencing those feelings in the 6th grade. "It came on very suddenly and in the nineties nobody was really talking about mental health. It is a very confusing situation for kids and I am hoping by sharing my story, it may be helpful to students here."

Her experience with depression inspired her book Zia Erases the World. The story centers on Zia and her challenge of finding the right words for the fear that is growing inside of her. She settles on a word of her own making: Shadoom. When she stumbles upon a family heirloom: the C. Scuro Dictionary, 13th edition, she realizes in its magical pages she has the ability to erase words that remind her of Shadoom. The consequences of her actions has some funny and heartbreaking moments, but ultimately allows her to get help and overcome her dark moments and reach for the light.

She shared with the students what her life was like in the sixth grade and the challenges she faced as a child of a single mom who moved almost every year. "I was not cool," she told the students. "We were poor and I wore hand-me-down clothing. I was depressed and very sad. I spent a lot of time in the library because books are a great way to escape. I started writing fantasy when I was 10 years old and submitting my stories to editors when I was 11. I got a lot of rejection notices. When some mean girls at school made fun of me, I quit writing for quite a while because their comments really hurt me."

She eventually began writing again in high school. "I had a tough time, but eventually I found a way back to myself and I had my mom and other adults that I could talk to about what I was feeling and they helped me. I took up dancing and getting healthier physically helped me to get healthier mentally. She read a chapter from Zia and also discussed with the students what it is like to be an author and her journey as a writer. She also answered questions from the students. Mrs. O'Toole says this about Ms. Barton's talk, "It was a pleasure to host Bree and to learn more about her background and the inspiration for her work. I think her honesty and life story was relatable and truly resonated with our students. I am thrilled to be working with Julie Berry & the Author's Note Bookstore to bring authors in-person to speak with Medina students. It's such a valuable, worthwhile, and fun learning experience for students to take part in."

Julie Berry, Bree Barton and Jennifer O'Toole.

REAL ESTATE GUIDE

How to pick the right trees for your property

Trees benefit a landscape by serving both aesthetic and utilitarian functions. A home surrounded by healthy green trees can be a sight to behold, and those same trees can benefit surrounding plants and wildlife at the same time.

As appealing as trees are, not all trees and landscapes make for the perfect match. The Arbor Day Foundation notes the importance of planning when designing a landscape. Planning ensures the trees homeowners ultimately choose for their properties will grow well in the soil and moisture present in their yards.

Careful consideration of a handful of variables can help homeowners determine which trees will make the best fit for their properties.

- Height: Homeowners must consider the projected height of a tree before planting it. Avoid trees that will bump into anything when fully grown, as that can adversely affect surrounding greenery and pose a safety hazard. The ADF's tree sizing guide can be accessed at <https://www.arborday.org/trees/rightTreeAndPlace/size.cfm> and serves as an invaluable resource for homeowners who want to plant new trees around their properties.

- Canopy spread: Trees grow out as well as up, so it's important to consider their potential width at maturity as well. The ADF sizing guide can help homeowners get an idea of how wide a tree is likely to be at maturity. Trees that spread out quite a bit don't necessarily need to be avoided, but it's important that they're planted far enough apart so they don't adversely affect surrounding plants. In addition, wide trees that are planted too close together can make the landscape appear crowded, taking something away from its aesthetic appeal.

- Growth rate: Growth rate is an important variable because it can affect how quickly homeowners will see changes in their landscapes. Homeowners who want to plant for privacy can consider trees with quick growth rates or purchase more mature trees that are already near full growth. Those who are not in need of instant transformation can try trees with slower growth rates, which the ADF notes typically live longer than fast-growing species.

- Requirements: Different trees require different amounts of sun and moisture and different soil components to thrive. Homeowners can have their soil tested to determine which trees will thrive in it. Local garden centers can be a great resource for homeowners who want insight as to which trees will thrive in their local climates.

ingredients and serve various purposes. This recipe for a "Ginger Papaya Smoothie" from "Super Smoothies" (Crestline) by Ellen Brown employs ginger, which can help overcome nausea and other stomach issues.

Ginger Papaya Smoothie
Yields 4 1-cup servings

- 1 cup chilled papaya nectar
- 1 container (8 ounces) peach low-fat yogurt
- ½ cup silken tofu
- ¼ cup whey protein powder
- 3 tablespoons crystallized ginger
- 2 cups papaya cubes, frozen
- 4 papaya spears for garnish (optional)

Combine papaya nectar, yogurt, tofu, whey protein powder, and crystallized ginger in a blender or smoothie maker. Blend on high speed for 45 seconds or until mixture is puréed and smooth. Add papaya cubes and blend on high speed again until mixture is smooth. Serve immediately garnished with papaya spears, if desired.

Smoothies are often associated with breakfast, but they actually can be enjoyed all day long. Smoothies have been around since the 1920s, when the first blender was invented by Stephen Poplawski. Tip: Crystallized ginger is fresh ginger that has been cooked in sugar syrup to render it both sweet and tender. It is usually then coated with sugar to prevent the slices from sticking together. To find crystallized ginger, look in the baking section of your supermarket rather than the produce aisle.
