ENNIS HAS KOLACHE, BLUEBONNETS AND POLKA

Tumbleweed Smith

Ennis has had a Bluebonnet Festival 70 years. "We have bluebonnet trails that go through some of the rural towns east of here," says Jean Paul Beebe, an active resident of Ennis. "Some of those towns are Bristol, Alsdorf, Crisp, Telico and others you've never heard of." Country music legend Ernest Tubb was born at Crisp. The famous outlaw Clyde Barrow was born at Telico.

A lot of descendants of Czech immigrants live in Ennis. "When those early settlers got to this area it reminded them of their homeland with this rich, blackland soil they could farm. That was a way of life they could take on and start a new life. Czech is a culture that at one point was the third highest populated culture in the state of Texas."

Stores in Ennis sell lots of a popular food item. "The kolache is not a pig in a blanket that has the little sausage rolled up in dough. A kolache is a fruit pastry. In Czech the word kolache is already plural. Kolach singular, kolache plural. The savory version which has a sausage rolled up in dough is klobasnik. Some people say klobasniki, the plural version."

Downtown Ennis is undergoing revitalization, restoring some historic buildings.

"Our Ennis Theater has just re-opened. It does live theater performances. We have a farmers market downtown that brings in thousands of people from Dallas, and Fort Worth and cities all around Ennis."

The major attraction in Ennis is the 3-day National Polka Festival held every Memorial Day weekend. This year marked the 55th anniversary of the event.

"We've had numbers ranging from 30,00 to 50,000 people who have attended. Our population dramatically increases over the Memorial Day weekend." It's all about music, food, dancing and fun. Jean Paul is director of the festival and says planning for it takes about 9 months.

"It's first class music. These musicians are playing somewhere at least 40 weeks a year at different locations across the state. We have 15 different polka bands playing in three separate venues plus we have a band downtown and you get to hear that music all over the downtown area. Since it is a national festival, we have bands from other states. Every year we have different bands."

High-ranking officials and entertainers from the Czech Republic attend every year. Since a lot of the dancers' costumes are historically traditional, some of the younger people from the Czech Republic have never seen them. They come over here to see some of their history. The major sponsor of the festival is Corona Premier Beer. A big pivo pavilion is downtown. Pivo is the Czech word for beer.
