In the battle against breast cancer, early detection is a woman's most powerful weapon. In fact, according to the National Cancer Institute, when breast cancer is detected in an early, localized stage, the five-year survival rate is 98 percent. That's why it is so important for all women to make breast health awareness a regular part of their healthcare routine.

Growing Awareness to Save Lives

A mammogram can detect breast cancer in its earliest, most treatable stages, and many major health organizations recommend annual mammogram screenings for women beginning at age 40. Experts also recommend clinical breast exams and breast self-exams to check for breast abnormalities on a regular basis. Any woman noticing unusual changes in her breasts should contact her healthcare provider immediately. Women of all ages should speak to their doctor about his or her personalized recommendations for breast cancer screening.

As we recognize Breast Cancer Awareness Month, we remember the women who have lost their lives to the disease, and we voice our support for those in the fight of their lives.

Fall Home and Garden

Tips for Early Fall Home Maintenance

1. Furnace Repair

You don't want to wait until the cold winter months to turn on your furnace and find that it isn't working. That's why early fall is the best time to schedule your furnace repair. This off-peak time often costs less than it will in January, and gives you plenty of flexibility to schedule the technician at your convenience.

2. Install a Portable Generator

If you live in an area that sees severe weather during the fall and winter months, you may want to invest in a portable generator to help keep your home running in case of a power outage. Portable generators come in many sizes so you can find the right fit for your home. Install one in early fall before costs go up during the colder months, and ensure that you're ready for the first outage of the year. Once the snow begins to fly, you can expect the demand for generators to go through the roof driving up prices and limiting availability.

3. Install Gutter Guards

During the autumn months, leaves and pine needles drop from trees at a very fast rate. These can collect in your gutter, clogging them up and forcing water back onto your roof. A gutter guard can help prevent this by stopping the debris from entering your gutters. Take care of this issue in early fall when it isn't too hot to work on your gutters, but before the leaves start falling to get the best results.

Have An Ugly Stump?

Our state of the art stump grinders can turn those ugly tree stumps to a pile of sawdust without damaging your yard.

Fall Home and Garden

Fall Gardening Tips

1. Leave some leaves
Hooray! You don't have to rake all the leaves! It's OK not to rake up leaves under trees and shrubs and on sturdy ground covers (over time they become much-needed compost). However, must-rake leaves are those on perennial beds (they can cause crown rot) and grass lawns (they attract fungi and insects).
2. Protect perennials
As perennials fade away, mark their locations with small sticks, so you don't lose them in the spring. If you haven't brought in your house plants, do it before you turn on your heat to give them time to adjust, and wash them first to get rid of pests.
3. Transplant fruit plants
Rhubarb, raspberries and strawberries can quickly deplete the soil of nutrients, so find new locations for them every three or four years. Transplant them well before the first light frost so they can develop roots.
4. House the herbs
Dig up your herbs to grow inside. Keep them in a cool, sunny spot, and let the soil dry out before watering. Snip leaves whenever you need herbs in your cooking, but don't strip completely. For herbs that have grown prolifically, cut them back halfway and dry or freeze the extra, or share it with friends.
5. Hang the tomatoes
If you have unripe tomatoes still hanging on the vine, and frost is fast approaching, pull the vines out by the roots and hang them upside down in a cool, dark place to finish ripening.
6. Bring on the bulbs
Fall is "now or never" time to plant spring bulbs. Shop early for the best selection, and don't delay too much in planting them after buying. You'll want to plant them 6-8 weeks before the first hard frost in your area.
7. Try new (tasty) trees
Fall is the best season to plant fruit trees such as apples, pears, plums, cherries, peaches, apricots and figs. Young trees should be staked to prevent roots from being pulled by fall and winter winds.

Fall Home and Garden

Tips to Make Your Home Look Fresh This Fall

A freshly painted front door helps your home look better, and it can be finished in less than a day. Fall is usually the perfect time for this activity. Exterior painting should be done at a time when the temps are at least 50 degrees or so and aren't dipping below the 40s at night. This allows the paint to adhere properly and prevents it from freezing before it is fully dry.

Check the deck. If the wood is splintering, the finish faded, or the rails shaky, now's the time to repair or replace it.

A new roof can be basic or with details that enhance curb appeal, but the main idea is to protect your home. Have it checked by a professional to see what problems or potential problems there are.

One thing you can do to spruce up your home is to have it power washed. It's best to have a professional do this as they know how to do it without causing any damage.

New windows might be a great way to update your home and decrease your energy bills.

Have any dead or falling trees taken care now of by an insured professional before winter snows cause more problems.
