Do you have HEEL pain or ARCH pain?

HEEL SPUR SYNDROME/PLANTAR FASCIITIS is a common problem among people who are active. It starts as a dull intermittent pain in the heel and progresses to a sharp persistent pain. Classically, it is worse in the morning with the first few steps, after sitting, after standing or after walking.

- Plantar fasciitis often begins with irritation and tearing of the fibrous band of tissue on the bottom of the foot, which may eventually result in the formation of a heel spur.
- Contributing factors: Flat pronated feet, high arched feet, poor shoe support, increase age, sudden weight increase, increased activity level, family tendency.
- 95% of our patients' symptoms are resolved with conservative treatment, avoiding surgical intervention.
- We also offer surgical procedures with the best post op success rates using Endoscopic Plantar Fasciotomy techniques (minimal incisions and scarring; often back in a shoe in 1 week).

Obituaries

Richard N. Anderson, age 84, passed away Oct., 3, 2022. He was born Nov. 25, 1937 in Albion to the late Theodore and Jean (Turner) Anderson, Sr. Richard served in the U.S. Airforce from 1955-1963. Richard was an active member of the Albion First Presbyterian Church and influential in the reconstruction of the Oak Orchard Lighthouse. He also served on the board of the Oak Orchard Lighthouse Association and enjoyed being a docent at the lighthouse, educating people of the history of the area and the lighthouse. He worked for over 33 years as a Science Teacher at Spencerport

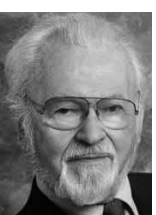

Central Schools where he was a well respected and loved educator. While there, he served as a leader of the Teachers Association, the Teachers Union, the Science Teachers Association of NYS and help establish Spencerport FCU. Richard and his friend Ron established Stony Point Studios in Spencerport, providing a variety of photographic services. Richard was a proud Democrat who ran for U.S. Congress in 1969 and actively campaigned in support of John and Robert Kennedy. When Donna and Richard would winter in Florida, he was very active as a board member of the Sugar Creek Country Club & Villas. He enjoyed playing guitar and leading his band, "The Electric Corn" and singing at his church. Living in the Oak Orchard on the Lake neighborhood, Richard would print a yearly telephone directory for all the neighbors up at the lake and was known as the unofficial historian. Richard was proud to be an Albion Alumni, to be a part of his hometown and always gave back whenever he could, whether it be his time or financially.

In addition to his parents, he was predeceased by his brother, Theodore N. Anderson, Jr., sisters-in-law, Gloria Allen and Corrinne Crocker. He restores my soul. He leads me in paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for you are with me; your rod and your staff, they comfort me. You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies; you anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of the LORD forever." Delicious Soup Perfect for the Season

Cooler weather arrives just as prime entertaining season heats up. Those who will be hosting gatherings soon can expand their recipe repertoire to feed guests and keep them satisfied. Borrowing some flavors from the season can make entertaining festive and even more flavorful.

Pumpkins and winter squashes are popular in fall, and their versatility undoubtedly contributes to that popularity. However, when chilly days require something to warm you up from the inside out, nothing can beat a soothing soup. And soup recipes can be altered to easily feed a crowd.

Cooks can step out of their chicken soup comfort zones and try this recipe for "Roasted Pumpkin Soup With Pumpkin Crisps" from "The Complete Mexican, South American & Caribbean Cookbook" (Metro Books) by Jane Milton, Jenni Fleetwood and Marina Filippeli.

Roasted Pumpkin Soup With Pumpkin Crisps

Serves 6 to 8

- 3 to 3 1/2 pounds pumpkin
- 6 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 onions, chopped
- 3 garlic cloves, chopped
- 1 3-inch piece of fresh ginger root, grated
- 1 teaspoon ground coriander
- 1/2 teaspoon ground turmeric
- Pinch of cayenne pepper
- 4 cups vegetable stock
- Salt and ground black pepper
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds
- Fresh cilantro leaves, to garnish

For the pumpkin crisps

- Wedge of fresh pumpkin, seeded
- 1/2 cup olive oil

1. Preheat the oven to 400 F. Prick the pumpkin around the top several times with a fork. Brush the pumpkin with plenty of the oil and bake for 45 minutes or until tender. Leave until cool enough to handle.
2. Take care when cutting the pumpkin, as there may still be a lot of hot steam inside. When cool enough to handle, scoop out and discard the seeds. Scoop out and chop the flesh.
3. Heat about 4 tablespoons of the remaining oil (you may not have to use all of it) in a large pan and add the onions, garlic and ginger, then cook gently for 4 to 5 minutes. Add the coriander, turmeric, and cayenne, and cook for 2 minutes. Stir in the pumpkin flesh and stock. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat, and simmer for about 20 minutes until tender.
4. Cool the soup slightly, then puree it in a food processor or blender until smooth. Return the soup to the rinsed out pan and season well.
5. Meanwhile, prepare the pumpkin crisps. Using a swivel-blade potato peeler, pare long thin strips off the wedge of pumpkin. Heat the oil in a small pan and fry the strips in batches for 2 to 3 minutes, until crisp. Drain on paper towels.
6. Reheat the soup and ladle it into bowls. Top with the pumpkin crisps and garnish each portion with sesame seeds and cilantro leaves.

Travel Thoughts By Kim

Let's go on an adventure together...to Tuscany

We got to see views overlooking Florence from a high end neighborhood and a lot more of the beautiful Tuscan countryside.

This is the fourth in a series of articles from a Mediterranean Adventure I took in August. This post will focus on the second part of the Mediterranean cruise portion of the trip - The Tuscan Region of Italy.

I have wanted to visit Tuscany in Italy for as long as I could remember. Then, along came the movie "Under The Tuscan Sun" and it became an obsession...a major life goal...one of my top bucket list items! So, our second port on the cruise was the one I was most looking forward to and it did not disappoint!

The second port on our cruise was Livorno - a port city on the Tyrrhenian Sea on the western coast of Tuscany, Italy. The main areas of focus for shore excursions were Pisa and Florence - a few others, but most of the excursions involved one or the other, both, or in some combination with other stops. The excursion I chose was a 10 hour tour called "Florence and Pisa on Your Own". For those that read my post about Pompeii, you're thinking - wait, she said "on your own" tours weren't always the best way to go. Well, I did three of them on this trip and, yes - you definitely need to do your research to make sure you know what you're getting and how long you'll have to explore! The Pisa and Florence excursion was ten hours and gave us plenty of time at both stops to leisurely see all we wanted to see - a great choice. The only downfall that I wish I had been aware of was that busses are not allowed anywhere near the main attractions. It was more than a 20 minute walk both ways at both stops. However, the guide noticed there were five of us ladies of a certain age that struggled with the walk in Pisa and ordered us a taxi that was waiting for us when we arrived in Florence. We had to pay for it, but for three euros a piece, we were driven to the primary spot in Florence and another three euros a piece took us back to the bus. What a wonderful thing that was...the guide was our hero and we all tipped her very well! Hahaha Things always work out the way they should!!!

Our first stop was Pisa to see the famous Leaning Tower. From photos I'd seen, it looked like it was a stand-alone tower. But, as part of the Piazza del Duomo, it is actually the bell tower (campanile) of a medieval cathedral (Duomo) constructed in 1064 in the distinctive Pisan Romanesque style of architecture. The other main structure in the piazza is the Baptistery - a round Romanesque style building built in the mid-12th century and dedicated to St. John the Baptist. The Baptistery is separate from the cathedral because at the time the buildings were constructed, people had to be baptized before they could enter the cathedral. It is the largest baptistery in Italy and stands a few centimeters taller than the cathedral's bell tower (the leaning tower). The piazza had other buildings, as well, but I took my time gazing at the three main ones - all incredible examples of Italian architecture.

We spent the bulk of our day in Florence - the capital of the Tuscan region. We were taken to a central location and given a map of how to get to some of the more common places to visit. I was interested in seeing Michelangelo's original David, but we were told that the museum requires advance reservations to get in. Since I didn't have one, there was no reason to go there. So, I decided to spend my time shopping, wandering around, sitting in the sun, and enjoying lunch and a gelato. It was the most perfect day and such a thrill to just relax and be there in Tuscany. And, of course, I loved just knowing I was sitting "under the Tuscan sun".

While in Florence, I had the BEST MEAL of my LIFE!!! It sounded so simple - and it was - the appetizer was bruschetta and the entrée was rigatoni with sausage! But, the flavor created an experience in my mouth that I will never forget and will likely never duplicate! And, I don't know if it was just because it was so very hot and the water was so icy cold, but everywhere I went in Italy, I especially loved the bottled still mineral water - it tasted so much better than any bottled water I've ever had! Amazing! Later I stopped for a gelato - nut cream flavor that tasted like hazelnut with swirls of chocolate and bit of nuts - awesome! The group returned to the bus right on time, so the guide and driver treated us to some bonus sights as they had time to take us on a little detour going back to the ship. We got to see views overlooking Florence from a high end neighborhood and a lot more of the beautiful Tuscan countryside. So gorgeous!

I am so glad I chose to do the "on your own" excursion. I couldn't have enjoyed the day any more than I did... it was PERFECT! If I ever get back to the Tuscan region, I will do more of the same over several days - just leisurely experiencing the essence of Tuscany.

For more info and photos about my day in Tuscany, check out my Blog Post: <https://thoughtsbykim.com/2022/08/27/2022-mediterranean-adventure-pisa-and-florence/>

Happy Adventuring,
Kim Pritt

We spent the bulk of our day in Florence - the capital of the Tuscan region.

Building Trades and Electricity Programs Get Lesson in Safety

Orleans Career and Technical Education Center students in Matt Anastasi's Building Trades program and Bill Leggett's Electricity/Electronics program recently got a lesson on the job safety.

Building Trades students Max Raines (Lyndonville) and Ben Olson (Lockport) with Jim Drzewicki (PRO Operations Manager - Lehigh Construction Group) and Matt Stoklosa (Safety Director - Lehigh Construction Group).

Mr. Anastasi reached out to Nick Denofrio, a Compliance Assistance Specialist with OSHA, about coming in to speak to the classes. He brought along Jim Drzewicki, PRO Operations Manager of Lehigh Construction Group and Matt Stoklosa, Safety Director of Lehigh Construction Group, who Mr. Denofrio often collaborates with when talking to career and technical education schools.

Mr. Anastasi added, "Having a mix of viewpoints from the OSHA inspector to the Safety Director and the field supervisors the classes really had a great way of receiving examples of fall protection. The speakers explained the various types of safety equipment and let the students try them on to understand the differences."

Mr. Anastasi asked them to specifically talk about falls on the jobsite. "Since falls account for most accidents, they focused on specific areas that will help our students to better understand the rights workers have as well as the rights their employers have supplying fall protection, training and implementation."

The students all enjoyed the talk and seeing the different equipment. It was a valuable lesson to learn the various techniques these pieces of equipment play depending on the type of construction they would be working on.

Get Vaccinated and Boosted!

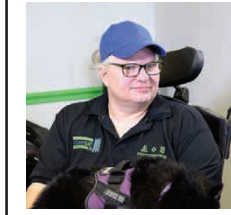

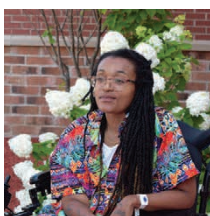

Unfortunately, many people now feel that COVID isn't a deadly threat anymore, but if you're an older adult or a person with chronic or disabling conditions, getting COVID can still kill you. Getting Vaccinated was definitely the right decision for me."

David Wantuck - Amherst, NY

"Everyone is different. If you catch COVID, there's no way to predict how severe it might be. It can kill you or you can have no symptoms at all. That's why I got Vaccinated."

Krystle Babbs - Buffalo, NY

If you are listening to all the misinformation out there, listen to this. The COVID vaccine is still the safest and most effective way of reducing risk of a serious illness or death. Just ask your doctor, I did."

Valerie Swarts - Holland, NY

How employers benefit from engaging employees more effectively

The COVID-19 pandemic prompted millions of people to reconsider their careers. That reflection has had a profound effect on the labor market. Data from the U.S. Department of Labor indicates that 4.5 million people quit their jobs in the United States in November 2021, which led to a near record-high number of job openings around the end of 2021 and the beginning of 2022.

Though the pandemic may have led millions of people who were previously dissatisfied with their careers to make positive changes, employers forced to confront staff shortages may be wondering what they can do to attract qualified and talented candidates. Finding ways to engage workers more completely could benefit companies in various ways. A recent poll from Gallup found that companies suffer some pretty significant consequences when their employees are disengaged. Gallup reports that such companies suffer from 16 percent lower profitability, 18 percent lower productivity and 37 percent lower job growth.

No two workers are the same, so there's no magic wand employers can wave that will ensure everyone is suddenly engaged and satisfied with their jobs and career prospects. However, recognition of what employees value most could help businesses retain workers longer and keep those workers engaged. A recent survey of 540 full-time employees from the market insight firm Clutch found that the most important workplace values for full-time employees are fair pay and fair treatment. It's no surprise that compensation bears such significance, as pandemic-related inflation and global conflicts have led to rising costs on everything from food to fuel. However, a survey from the risk management experts at Willis Towers Watson found that there's a disconnect between employees and employers in regard to the importance of fair pay and its relation to workplace stress. Employees consider low pay to be the second greatest source of workplace stress, while employers indicated that eight other factors are greater sources of such stress for their employees. Employers concerned about staff dissatisfaction, and the effects that disengaged employees can have on their bottom lines, can make a concerted effort to revisit their compensation policies. An overhaul of such policies could be just what companies need to reengage employees and improve employee retention, giving businesses a significant advantage in an era marked by significant turnover in the labor force.
