Landers Hardware Family to Reopen 'Scottdale True Value' in December

There will be a full-service hardware store once again at the corner of M-139 and Miners Road in Scottdale.

Scottdale True Value Hardware will open around December 1, about five months after Pater True Value closed its doors after a 15 year run at the site. The new store will be operated by Doug Landers and his family, owners of Landers Hardware in Bangor since 1980 and Wolverine Hardware in South Haven since 2007.

Landers says he couldn't be more excited about the opportunity in Scottdale. Joe Pater, who operated Pater True Value since 2007, says he could not have found a better successor to serve his customers than lifelong hardware guy Doug Landers. Both men smile and literally 'beam' about the deal they put together to write a new chapter of The Hardware Story on that busy crossroads in Scottdale.

There has been a hardware store there for at least 60 years, according to Pater. In the 1960's it was across the street and was known as Hobby-Nelson Hardware. After a big fire, the store moved west to the current spot. Over the years it was greatly expanded to 19,000 square feet and became a True Value store when the Pater family assumed ownership in 2007.

Now, Doug Landers and general manager, and son-in-law, Mark Hills will expand their operation to Scottdale. They plan to hire 12 to 15 people, a mix of full and part-time employees. Landers told us "four dedicated, knowledgeable veterans" from Pater's staff will form the nucleus of his Scottdale crew.

Landers believes passionately that success in retail begins with "customer service and relationships." He wants to "create a welcoming, friendly, fun environment" in which to shop. He says the store is "almost move-in ready" and he Fun & Interesting Things to Do in Michigan's Great Southwest!

Greetings MailMax readers! Here we are, down to our last two months of 2022. It's about to get into full holiday swing.

Start the month with a Shake & Stir Workshop at Tabor Hill Winery Thursday, November 3. You'll shake and stir three different craft cocktails made with Round Barn Spirits and leave with the knowledge to make your own at home. This event is perfect for a girl's night out, couple's night or just a fun date to enjoy something new!

Clem Snide will be appearing at The Acorn Theater Friday, November 4. They are an alt-country band featuring Eef Barzelay (guitar, vocals), Brendan Fitzpatrick (bass), and Ben Martin (drums). Named for a William S. Borroughs character, Clem Snide first emerged from Boston as a three-piece in the early 1990s, and the group would go on to become a cult and critical favorite, picking up high-profile fans from Bon Iver to Ben Folds over the course of three decades and more than a dozen studio albums.

NPR highlighted the Israeli-born Barzelay as "the most underrated songwriter in the business today, with a sneakily firm grasp on poignancy and humor," while Rolling Stone hailed his songwriting as "soulful and incisive," and The New Yorker praised his music's "soothing melodies and candid wit."

October may be on its way out, but it's not too late to take in a seasonal favorite Oktoberfest on Saturday, November 5 at Froehlich's in Three Oaks. Join in the fun for their third annual Noktoberfest to celebrate German heritage. The evening will feature the 35-piece German band, Ein Prosit, complete with an entire Alpen horn section (think Ricola commercials)! It will be fun for the whole family with authentic German fare, music and dancing. A full cash bar will feature German beer, wine, spirits and German specialty cocktails. Don't miss the fun at Froehlich's!

Emmy Award-winning actor, author, director and producer, Henry Winkler will be in Southwest Michigan Tuesday, November 8. He will be appearing at the Mendel Center at Lake Michigan College as part of the Economic Club of Southwestern Michigan Speaker Series. From his breakout role as The Fonz on Happy Days to his current role co-starring as acting coach Gene Cousineau on the hit HBO dark comedy Barry, Henry Winkler has enjoyed over four decades of success as an actor, producer, and director. His big screen credits include Night Shift, The Waterboy, and The Lords of Flatbush. On stage, Henry has appeared on Broadway in Neil Simon's

The Dinner Party and The Performers. Beyond the stage and screen, Henry is a New York Times best-selling author. His works include Niagara Falls or Does It? and Hank Zipzer the World's Greatest Underachiever. His first of 34 children's books written with co-author Lin Oliver, was inspired by his own struggles in school due to undiagnosed dyslexia. An advocate for quality children's programming, Henry has also produced countless projects for young audiences. During "An Evening with Henry Winkler," he will share humorous anecdotes and inspirational lessons based on his life and storied career.

Shopkeepers offer special activities and cheer as they present their finest in holiday merchandise during Christmas Open House Weekend, November 11-12. Ascension Borgess-Lee Hospital and the Chamber are proud to host the Dowagiac Christmas Celebration. Enjoy the relaxed pace of holiday shopping, the way it used to be, as this favorite two-day event opens on Friday. Yuletide classics trumpet the crisp air, welcoming families to holiday activities held downtown Dowagiac on Open House Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. A true-to-life Old-World Santa and European-styled Mrs. Claus greet children downtown. Enjoy vocal, instrumental and dance performances at Beckwith Park, tour our grand city by horse-drawn carriage and meet local artisans, when you visit the Theta Mu Sorority Craft Show, held at Dowagiac Middle School from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

If you would like more information on these and many more events and activities in the area, please visit our website at swmichigan.org.

We Have Only Done Our Duty

"So you also, when you have done everything you were told to do, should say, 'We are unworthy servants; we have only done our duty.'"

Luke 17:10

A firefighter runs out of a burning building carrying a little dog. He hands that dog to its owner. The owner cries with joy and says to the firefighter, "Thank you so much for going back in to save my dog. You're a hero!" The firefighter simply says, "You're welcome, ma'am. But no thanks is necessary. I have only done my duty."

A story like that would have a strange twist if that firefighter had said, "Alright ma'am, I got your dog out, but if you want little Fluffy back, I'll be expecting a reward!" No firefighter would say that. Their job is to protect people, their pets, and their property from fire. A firefighter doesn't expect a reward for correctly doing their job.

When we perform a good work prompted by faith in Jesus, we don't say to God, "All right God, did you see that nice thing I did for my spouse? I'll be needing some kind of reward now for making that little sacrifice."

A Christian's loving actions aren't prompted by getting things in return for their service. A Christian's acts of love are simply part of being a follower of Jesus. A Christian does not look for any special praise or commendation in return for a loving action. When being thanked for an act of love, a Christian can say the same thing as that firefighter. "I have only done my duty."

Faith delights in duty because faith grasps what Jesus has already done for me. So, when I do the things that God has commanded me to do, I can say, "I have only done what my Savior has already done for me one million times over. I delight to serve him. What an amazing duty I get to carry out, being like Christ to others."

Prayer: Dear loving Lord, you have saved and served me not because it was your duty but because you loved me. Let me love and serve others as you have loved and served me. Amen.

2022 AKA Celebrates 50TH Anniversary with Community Service Projects and Quilt Donations

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.® Iota Iota Omega Chapter celebrated 50 years of service in the Benton Harbor-Saint Joseph community.

During the month of October, the Iota Iota Omega Chapter planned several service projects to celebrate 50 years of service in Southwest Michigan. "Service" and "Sisterhood" are the cornerstones of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.®

The chapter the momentous occasion by incorporating the following initiatives:

- Uplifting the local community by recognizing education with an Adopt -a- School project, at Fair Plain East Elementary in Benton Harbor. Members read books to students by local author, Kelly Baptist and played games with the students. Kelly surprised the students with a visit, and the chapter gave some lucky students copies of her books, Isaiah Dunn Saves the Day, and Isaiah Dunn is My Hero.
- Donating fifty quilts to hospice patients in the community, to Caring Circle under the direction of Melinda Gruber.

• Making a financial donation to Strong Women of Faith Breast Cancer Support Group as they continue their work in Southwest Michigan.

• Enhancing the environment by planting a tree to commemorate its 50th Anniversary.

The sorority would like to thank the generosity of the community for fifty years of support as it fulfills its motto to "Soar Greater Together."

Just Me and My Shadow Ninja

Stuart

My neighbor's kids were busy checking out The Old Farmer's Almanac frost reports this past week, wondering what elements they'd have to prepare for on Halloween. Not that frosty conditions would keep them from their rounds. They didn't bat an eye when I told them about these bizarre late-October weather extremes, from the Almanac's archives:

- Bismarck, North Dakota, 1919: Temperatures dropped to minus-10 degrees.

- Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 1878: Hit by a hurricane.

- New York, New York, 1971: Halloween Day temperatures topped out at 95 degrees.

After hearing all this, my neighbor's kids just shrugged and said "Bring it on!" proving conclusively that no matter the climactic and environmental hazards, homosapiens is hard-wired to spend late October nights stalking, subduing and consuming chocolate covered nougat.

Those days of shepherding them from house to house and taking careful notes of which candy to steal after they went to bed are over. However, No. 5 son (age 21) isn't trick-or-treating, but he does have Halloween plans. He's going to a couple of parties, and people are supposed to wear "little-kid" costumes. So, he's going to squeeze into his childhood fave, and be a ninja warrior. Specifically, the Ice Wolf Ninja, from the Shadow Ninjas of Japan.

He wore this costume for about five years straight. When he first got it, I'd never heard of the Shadow Ninjas, so I Googled it, and was served up 21 million results. The very first one, shadowninja.com, told the detailed story of the legendary Shadow Ninja Society and how it evolved from a Robin Hood-like desire to bring high profit margins to Disguise, Inc., the Poway, California-based company that fabricated both No. 5's costume and the entire detailed story of the legendary Shadow Ninja Society.

Unfortunately for Disguise, Inc., No. 5 son never became a continuing source of revenue generation for the legendary Shadow Ninja Society. Although he wore – and re-wore, year after year – the Ice Wolf Ninja costume, it wasn't because he was enthralled with the back-story of stalwart knights fighting political corruption in ancient Japan; it's just because of the six ninja costumes available at the time, Ice Wolf was the only one that had a mask with an opening big enough to let him wear his glasses.

At least the Ice Wolf Ninja costume showed No. 5 had the holiday spirit. Unlike No. 4 son, who beginning around age 10 wore -- for something like five years in a row -- a bright orange t-shirt with a black-lettered slogan that read "This IS my costume."

No. 3 son always preferred not to discuss his costume choice with me. But I concocted a plan for learning what his outfit was. I'd give No. 5 son a cell phone and tell him to capture a picture and text it to my phone.

You might wonder how No. 5 accomplished this, considering No. 3 forbade any member of the family – especially a "pesky little brother" – to come within 11 meters of him when he was trick-or-treating with his friends. But No. 3 never read Disguise, Inc.'s Ice Wolf packaging, which I never forgot – it read: "The Shadow Ninjas send out a warning. . . YOU CAN'T OUTFRUN YOUR SHADOW!"

people are working on projects today, and they need parts or assistance that they just can't get online. "Tomorrow or the next day, or just watching a video, won't cut it," says Landers.

As another example of what sets a local hardware store apart from its competitors, Landers points to 'Nuts & Bolts.' The Scottsdale location has had one of the largest and most complete selections of almost every variety of nuts and bolts. Customers have come from considerable distances for the 'perfect match' for their needs, according to Pater. Landers says he'll continue that specialty, and actually expand and highlight it by moving those products closer to the front of the store. He also discussed continuing the store's extensive selection of backyard grills—charcoal, gas, and other variations, which have been an annual feature under the Pater banner.

Landers has been in the hardware business literally since high school when he began working in the Bangor store. He started full-time in 1979 and a year later was a partner in a family company that bought the store. He speaks fondly of his grandmother, Katherine Landers, who continued to work in the business until she was 95.

Landers has high praise for Pater's hard work and determination in putting their deal together over many months. And he says the True Value chain took a strong interest in reopening the store and keeping it under the TV brand. "This is an important store to them, and they went the extra mile to help us make it possible," he told us.

Landers says the next few weeks will be taken up by minor cosmetic changes in the store and by fully restocking the shelves and creating displays. He expects a 'soft opening' around December 1. He says there will not be an effort to gear up for the Christmas season, which seems to start earlier every year. Landers says a big promotional Grand Opening event will likely take place in the spring, after all operational details have been ironed out.

He summed up our discussion this way: "We're just thrilled to be a part of Scottsdale and the St. Joe/Benton Harbor community. It's all about the people!"

SPEAKER SERIES
Tuesday, Nov. 8, 7:30 p.m.

From his breakout role as The Fonz on "Happy Days" to his current Emmy Award-winning co-starring role as acting coach Gene Cousineau on the hit HBO dark comedy "Barry," Henry Winkler has enjoyed more than four decades of success as an actor, producer, and director. Beyond this Emmy Award-winning actor's success on stage and screen, Winkler is a New York Times best-selling author with 37 children's books co-authored with Lin Oliver to his credit. During "An Evening with Henry Winkler," he will share humorous anecdotes and inspirational lessons based on his life and storied career.

Thursday - Saturday, Nov. 17 - 19, 7 p.m.
Sunday, Nov. 20, 3 p.m.

"Antigonick" adapts one of the earliest tragedies in theatre in Anne Carson's playful, bittersweet, and profoundly poetic translation. When King Kreon forbids the burial of Antigone's brother, announcing a sentence of death on anybody who touches his body, her decision to defy his ruling unravels families and the ruling order. This adaptation breaks the play open, breaks down the fourth wall, and revels in its messiness and complications.

ANTIGONICK is presented by special arrangement with United Talent Agency

Dave Says

Honesty is a necessity

Dear Dave,

After hearing you talk about financial infidelity, I have to admit that I hide money from my husband. I have been setting aside money for emergencies without his knowledge. He is not terrible with money, but he always seems to find something to spend it on. Before I started doing this, we never managed to save much money at all. But now I feel like I have been doing something wrong. What should I do?

Lana

Dear Lana,

I believe in saving up for emergencies. I mean, I'm the guy who tells people to have three to six months of expenses saved in an emergency fund, right? But deception is never a positive thing in a relationship—especially a marriage. You need to talk to your husband about this.

I know it won't be easy for you, so you have to make sure you tell him in the right way. Playing the blame game won't help. Basically, you've been deceiving him about this. Sure, it sounds like he has been immature when it comes to your household finances, but you made the decision to hide things. You chose to do this instead of talking to him about your concerns.

Let's start here. Tell your husband you need to talk to him about something important, and sit down together with no distractions. Explain what's been going on, and that you're sorry for not being honest about things, but you also need to speak up and tell him why you were doing this secretly. If you were afraid to disagree with him, tell him that. Tell him why, too, and let him know you just want the two of you to have a successful financial future, and that you're committed to never hiding things again.

Managing money in a marriage isn't a "his" or "hers" thing. It's a "we" thing. You can fix this, but it's going to take some honesty, understanding and making an effort to work together toward the same goals—like saving or living on a written, monthly budget.

You each have a vote, but it also means you have to stand up and vote no, Lana, if he wants to blow money on silly stuff when you guys don't have your finances in order.

— Dave

Proposal 2

On Tuesday, November 8, Michigan voters will be asked to weigh in on numerous federal, state, and local races. As in many election years, citizens will also be asked to vote on a series of statewide ballot proposals seeking to implement policy changes via constitutional amendment.

While ballot proposals are typically listed last on an already lengthy ballot, they often have the largest impact on policy due to their relative permanence. Once an amendment to the Michigan Constitution is approved, any future changes to the language would require a three-fourths majority vote of the legislature. Three-fourths is a difficult threshold to surpass, a fact that should be kept in mind when voting 'yes' on any of the proposals - regardless of issue or intent.

To help inform voters, I decided to share the exact text of this year's three proposals over three columns leading up to Election Day - without any commentary other than what was stated above.

Last week's column covered Proposal 1 (Term Limits For State Legislators And Financial Disclosure Reports Of State Elected Officials). If you missed that column, or would like to read the House Fiscal Agency's non-partisan analysis of its potential implications, please visit:

<https://tinyurl.com/Proposal2022-1>.

This week, I was hoping to publish the exact language of Proposal 2 (Promote the Vote) in its entirety as well. Unfortunately, the length of the proposed amendment far exceeded what could fit into a column so I've opted to share the official 100 word summary as it appears on the November 2022 ballot instead.

Proposal 2022-2:

A proposal to amend the state constitution to add provisions regarding elections.

This proposed constitutional amendment would:

- Recognize fundamental right to vote without harassing conduct;
- Require military or overseas ballots be counted if postmarked by election day;
- Provide voter right to verify identity with photo ID or signed statement;
- Provide voter right to single application to vote absentee in all elections;
- Require state-funded absentee-ballot drop boxes, and postage for absentee applications and ballots;
- Provide that only election officials may conduct post-election audits;
- Require nine days of early in-person voting;
- Allow donations to fund elections, which must be disclosed;
- Require canvass boards certify election results based only on the official records of votes cast.

Should this proposal be adopted?
[] YES [] NO

As mentioned above, the actual language of Proposal 2 is much longer than the summary you'll find on the ballot. Those who wish to read its exact verbiage or, better yet, read the House Fiscal Agency's non-partisan analysis of its contents may visit

<https://tinyurl.com/Proposal2022-2>.

I'll be back next week with the language for Proposal 3.

"She differentiates herself from the pack by a great combination of professionalism, helpfulness, and responsiveness. In the modern world of real estate transactions, my wife and I needed an agent that would be able to quickly answer questions about properties and/or know who to contact to get the fastest responses. She was willing to meet us on our schedule to view properties, and she and her husband I think went above and beyond at every step of our purchasing process."
