Lakeshore Taxpayers Could Be Asked to Help Improve District

As the Lakeshore Public School District prepares for a potential bond proposal, they first sought the input of the community through an online survey. On Monday, consultants Bryn Bogemann and Gary Goscenski, of Perspectives Consulting presented the survey's findings. There were mixed feelings from 1,390 potential voters.

The survey presented the respondents with four potential bond proposals. The topics included: priority school needs, energy efficiency, educational program enhancements and a combination of the three.

Option One:

The first proposal is just for priority needs, which would include completing the roof replacements, maintaining building walls and windows, replacing aging heating and cooling, updating electrical and alarm systems, bringing facilities into compliance with modern building codes and the Americans with Disabilities Act, paving parking areas, and technology infrastructure.

This option is projected to cost $19.9 million, or $60 a year for a property with a taxable value of $100,000.

For option one, 73.8% of respondents felt the plan was acceptable, while 9.1% did not find the plan acceptable; 67.7% indicated that they would vote to approve option one, and 17.9% said they would not approve option one.

Option Two:

The second proposal included priority needs, as well as energy efficiency and modernization items such as updating lighting and controls to save energy, updating lockers, updating flooring and cabinets, new classroom furniture, technology upgrades, and buses.

that is brand new this 2022 season. Inside this delicious 12 pack are four lovely ciders, two of which are mainstays and two that are seasonal for the holiday: Peach Party, American Apple Imperial Cider (year-round), Grand Cherry Imperial Cider, and Mule De Pomme (seasonal) round out this delicious pack. Wonderful idea for a cider lover as a gift or to bring to a holiday get together!

Milkshake Stout. That 12-pack variety just hit the market last week and is such a great gift for any stout lover. Here are this year's flavors: Chocolate Covered Cherry, Toasted Marshmallow, Cinnamon French Roast Sticks, Imperial Coffee, Milkshake Blonde, Red Velvet, Imperial Chocolate Cheesecake, Peanut Butter Cup, Cookies and Cream, Raspberry, Death by Chocolate, Triple Shake.

N e w Belgium brings a new holiday seasonal to the table for the first time in a long time. This year replacing Accumulation (their winter white IPA) we have New Belgium Holiday Ale. Flavors of Cranberry Spice and Everything Nice (so the gorgeous red cans state). This brew has beautiful notes of cranberry, orange, cinnamon, and spice coming in at 7.5% ABV. This is a first timer and limited edition. As always, I must let everyone know about Rochester Mills The 12 beers of Another notable holiday brew is Sierra Nevada Celebration. A long time standing seasonal (40 years) and one of the most looked forward to seasonal brews (it is one of my favorites); any IPA lover's dream.

"Once we pick fresh hops, the clock starts ticking. Each year, we visit the Pacific Northwest to hand-select the best Cascade and Centennial hops, race the harvest home, and brew immediately to capture citrus, pine, and floral notes at their absolute peak — aromas and flavors for the perfect winter beer. It's a magical time at the brewery — has been for 40 years now — when our brewers huddle around the fermentation tanks, toasting the start of a special season with a holiday beer in hand. Wrapped in red, consider Celebration IPA a true Christmas IPA, your first present of the holidays." (www.sierranevada.com)

Housing, Trail Development Announced for Downtown Bridgman

Arthur Havlicek,
President,
SMR Chamber

Plans for a transformational 25-acre housing and trail development in Downtown Bridgman were unveiled by the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber, the Lannert Group, and several passionate property owners at last Monday night's Bridgman City Council meeting.

The proposed development, located generally at the corner of Church and Lake Street, would include sixty new homes as well as a pedestrian-friendly system of trails, sidewalks, and exercise loops meant to foster a walkable, healthy community.

Housing has long been a topic of discussion between the City of Bridgman, the Greater Bridgman Area Chamber and Growth Alliance, and the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber. In many ways, Monday night's announcement was a culmination of those conversations, as well as the groundwork we've laid to make the Greater Bridgman area a business-friendly environment.

Seeking to capitalize on this important ecosystem work, local developer Chris Lannert and passionate Bridgman resident Connie Babcock in June of this year and pitched what turned out to be a shared vision for the property. Connie's vision to create a state-of-the-art network of trails for community residents and cross-country enthusiasts fit perfectly with our desire to create a nature-inspired housing development with walkability to downtown. Chris, whose St. Joseph-based firm, The Lannert Group, has a long history of blending natural ecological systems with the built environment making them an ideal partner to bring the concept to life.

The proposed housing would be a mix of craftsman, traditional, and contemporary single-family and multi-plex architecture, offering a variety of housing types and affordability. The development would also establish an area wide trail system for the Bridgman

High School cross country team with interconnectivity that can establish circulation between the schools and community, as well as a pedestrian-friendly system of sidewalks, trails, and exercise loops which would foster walkability and healthy lifestyles for area residents.

"My vision was to give the entire community a place to enjoy natural trails, preserving as much of the forested area as possible; and to cater some portion of the residential development to empty nesters, singles, or young couples just starting out," Babcock said. "These homes will serve a variety of individual housing needs here in Bridgman, while fostering community growth and connectivity."

Before turning the floor over to Lannert, Babcock also thanked neighboring landowners for their support and involvement in the proposed development, saying: "In order to maximize the trail layout plans, we reached out to Pastor Erik Gustafson, of the Lake Michigan Christian Center, Monica Brown, the owner of the former Bethel Park Camp, and Brett Boyd, who owns five acres on the northeast corner of the undeveloped space. They are all on board with our vision, and their participation is only making the designs better."

Brett Boyd, a longtime Bridgman resident and owner of Classic Catering and Events, concurred, saying: "My wife, Melissa, and I are very excited to be part of this team of visionaries, working together to better our beloved community."

"Everyone in Bridgman has been incredibly helpful and inclusive," Lannert said. "Having the alignment of individual property owners, Bridgman City staff, the Regional Chamber, and the CGA coupled with community support for the City's Planned Unit Development ordinance and Community Trails Master Plan gives me confidence we can successfully implement this project."

In his presentation, Lannert walked the Council through the plan's various features, the potential for off-site trail linkage, as well as the various housing types and styles initially being proposed. Lannert said there would be a website created to update the community on the development's progress as well as offer input on their preferred housing types.

According to the plan, the sixty-parcel residential neighborhood would occupy fifteen of the twenty-five acre development, with the balance being preserved as wooded space for running and walking trails. Achieving enough density to fit sixty homes on fifteen acres, Lannert said, would not have been possible without the City's Planned Unit Development ordinance.

"The Bridgman City Council, working with our planning commission, approved Planned Unit Development districts to allow for greater flexibility in design," said Bridgman City Manager, Juan Ganum. "They are a great example of how, over the past several years, the City of Bridgman has deliberately created a welcoming environment for development and community investment through the reduction of regulatory barriers."

"Affordable housing is something our Council has been working on for some time and it's exciting to see things finally come to fruition," said Bridgman

Mayor, Jan Trapani. "We look forward to working with all involved to bring more housing, jobs, and growth to the City of Bridgman."

"Increasing the supply of housing in the Bridgman area has been among our organization's top priorities," said Bridgman CGA Board President, John Bonkoske. "Thanks to community champions like Connie Babcock, community-minded developers like Chris Lannert, and the business-friendly ecosystem created by the City, the CGA, and the Regional Chamber, we are one step closer to meeting that need."

"I love this community, I love Bridgman schools, and I am so very grateful that I've been able to raise my family here," Babcock said. "This development affords me the opportunity to give back to those that have supported my family and to see Bridgman grow at the same time."

CONSIDER BRINGING EVERYTHING

We have surprised many people who thought their items were not valuable enough to consider. The expert evaluators we have gathered together offer you a wealth of knowledge and experience. We are accustomed to paying thousands of dollars for valuable items. Don't miss this opportunity. Perhaps we'll help you find a real treasure in those hidden away pieces. There's never a charge for our consultation or services.

YOU MAY HAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF ITEMS GATHERING DUST

Almost everyone has something of value they no longer need or want: Inherited items, jewelry that doesn't fit your style, watches that are old or even broken, silver pieces. Several items that might be useless to YOU.. may be considered treasures by the collectors from our vast international network.

- REASONS TO SELL
1. Midwest Gold Buyers specializes in evaluation and buying New and Antique jewelry. Our generations of experience qualify us to evaluate everything from small pieces to the finest and most valuable estate jewelry.
 2. Midwest Gold Buyers has an undisputed reputation. We work in compliance with your Local and State Government.
 3. This is an ideal opportunity to have your valuables evaluated (especially if you inherited them) by experts right here in this area. Come in for a free appraisal and cash offer - NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY.
 4. If you are not wearing or enjoying the items that you have, then this is a great chance for you to convert them to CASH. This is much better than just holding hard to sell diamonds, jewelry & coins.

This option would cost $39 million, or $150 per year on property with a taxable value of $100,000.

For Option two, 63.4% felt the plan was acceptable, while 15.5% of respondents did not find the plan acceptable; 50.8% indicated that they would vote to approve option two, and 27.3% said they would not approve option two.

Option Three:

The third proposal included priority needs as well as educational enhancements such as updating student technology, expanding cafeteria space at all three elementary schools, adding a new band classroom, practice rooms, and storage at the middle school, and adding a CAD classroom, robotics arena, and tennis courts to the high school.

This option would cost $46.5 million, or $185 per year for property owners with a taxable value of $100,000.

For Option three, 54.8% found the plan acceptable 20.5% did not; 44.6% indicated that they would vote to approve option three, and 32.2% said they would not approve option three.

Option Four:

The final proposal would combine the first three proposals for a total of $65.7 million – a $273 increase in property taxes annually to property with a taxable value of $100,000.

The plan was acceptable found acceptable by 50.5%, while 21.9% did not find the plan acceptable; 37.6% indicated that they would vote to approve option four, while nearly the same number of respondents, 37.4%, said they would not approve option four.

After the presentation, board trustee Kevin Bushu thanked the consultants and the community. "This is a tremendous amount of insight and feedback from the community that we may not have completely had in prior bond issues," Bushu said. "So, from that standpoint, this is very, very helpful."

Superintendent Greg Eding also offered his thoughts. "The board and administrative team need to come together and kind of make some decisions as to what we want to do with the feedback that we received," he said. "I do think the information that that was provided through the survey definitely gives us a path forward. ... I think there's just a question of what that path is."

Eding added he would like to have a plan in place by the December school board meeting for the proposal to be on the ballot in May 2023.

properties in the region has purchased the real estate which had been on the market since Santaniello's closed in February. We are told the buyer plans to open a new restaurant and bar there; no timetable was immediately known.

Bhola Singh of Granger, Indiana owns about 35 MEGA Liquor and Smoke retail stores around Northern Indiana and Southwest Michigan, including one in Scottsdale and several in Bridgman, Dowagiac and Niles. Singh's stores range in size from a superstore on Grape Road to small convenience-store size establishments. A call to Singh regarding his plans at the Santaniello site was not immediately returned.

Realtor Anne Gain of @Properties in St. Joseph confirmed the deal was closed this week and said that she understands Singh plans to open a bar and restaurant. Another source speculated to MoodyOnTheMarket.com that the property is large enough and laid out in such a way that both a bar-restaurant and a liquor store could be accommodated. However, that possibility has not been confirmed. There is a large former banquet hall area, with a separate entrance from the bar and restaurant, which forms the basis for the speculation about multiple uses.

The 10,000 square foot Santaniello facility, plus an included residential duplex, was listed for sale by a Kalamazoo realtor early this year for $890,000 but there were no takers. In the spring, the ownership of the property transferred to the bank holding the loan, United Federal Credit Union, and realtor Gain took over the listing. The price at that time was listed at $790,000. Another source in the real estate field told us this week that the selling price was "considerably less", but would not divulge—or speculate—on the exact figure.

Ain't This a Kick! Soccer + The Beatles!

When the wife asked what this column was about, and I said "Football," she rolled her eyes and said something like, "NO ONE wants to hear you complain about your crummy fantasy teams!"

Actually, that's exactly what she said.

But she didn't get me. I'm writing about football, as in "soccer."

Look, it's the most popular sport EVER, and we're in the midst of the World Cup tournament, the biggest sporting event EVER. By writing about it, it stands to reason I will become the most popular dopey weekly columnist EVER!

And for good measure, I'll achieve this gooooooaaaaaalllllll by weaving every item around The Beatles, the greatest rock 'n roll band EVER!

Item: The Beatles never really showed intense enthusiasm for soccer (yes, I'm Americanizing the sport with the term that most of my readers are accustomed to; apologies to loyal readers Ringo Starr and Paul McCartney.) Some people think their manager, Brian Epstein, urged them to keep their "favourite" clubs a secret, to avoid alienating fans with opposing rooting interests.

Item: Nevertheless, The Beatles did make room for a Liverpool soccer player in the crowd that populates the cover of the Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band album.

His name is Albert Stubbins. To Geo-locate him on the cover: He's the smiling bloke over Marlene Dietrich's right shoulder. Marlene (famous actress of years gone by, for you whippersnapper readers) is between George Harrison and Marilyn Monroe, wearing the yellow pants suit.

Item: Ummm, why Albert Stubbins? He played for Liverpool when the Beatles were just kids, and while he was an excellent goal-scorer, that wasn't why he earned his cover spot. The story goes that John Lennon just loved the "phonetic qualities" of his name. Kind of like the college football player names that I collect each bowl season!

Item: Stubbins was long retired when Sgt. Pepper was released, and he hadn't the foggiest notion he would be on the cover. He learned about it when a copy of the record was delivered to his home. It was autographed by the Fab Four: "Well done, Albert, for all those glorious years of football. Long may you bob and weave."

Item: Another former Liverpool footballer is actually a lyric in a Beatles song. The album "Let It Be" features a 50-second-long bit called "Dig It." (It's been called "musical horseplay," that "anyone who's ever jammed with friends must think, 'gee, I can do as well as this.'" However, I give "Dig It" its due: It has its own Wikipedia page).

The song concludes with John delivering a jumble of names unified by their three-syllable syncopation: FBI, CIA, BBC, B.B. King, Doris Day. And the last of these is Matt Busby. He played for Liverpool, but his playing career ended in 1945, when John was five years old. Nowhere can I find a reason why John name-checked this guy. But, you know, Busby, Stubbins, Busbins, Stubby, it just had "phonetic quality"!

Item: Let's finish by trying to truly nail down The Beatles' rooting interests. Beatles fanatics (much more fanatical than me, believe me!) consider George as the least sports-minded Beatle. But he was the only one to ever declare a clear preference for a team!: "There are three teams in Liverpool, and I prefer the other one."

Forgive and Forget

"For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more."

Jeremiah 31:34

Rosenbaum

The Bible makes it extremely clear that God knows everything. For example: "Nothing in all creation is hidden from God's sight. Everything is uncovered and laid bare before the eyes of him to whom we must give account" (Hebrews 4:13). This means that nothing has ever happened or ever will happen without his knowledge.

Do you understand that? God knows your every thought, word, and action. He knows everything in your past, he knows all about your present, and he even knows your future. He knows everything there is to know about everything.

That kind of knowledge is terrifying. Imagine how uncomfortable you would be if you had to interact with someone who knew all your secrets. Remember, on judgment day, you will have to stand in front of the all-knowing God. You can't hide anything from him—he knows all your wickedness and your sins.

That is why this verse from Jeremiah chapter 31 is one of the most comforting passages in the entire Bible. You have a God who doesn't just forgive; he forgets. He promises that the wicked things you are ashamed of and the secret sins that weigh you down have been so forgiven that he doesn't even remember them anymore.

Yet how can the all-knowing God not only forgive your sins; but also forget them? It is not because he is forgetful, but because he remembered them all on his Son instead of you. When Jesus was on the cross, he endured all of God's wrath for all of the sins of all of humanity.

So now the all-knowing God who knows all of your sins chooses to not remember them. What should God be angry about when he looks at your life? He doesn't remember. Because Christ died for sin, that promise is kept.

And since God has forgotten your sin, you can too. Jesus has freed you from the burden of a guilty conscience. God buried your sins in the one place he never will look for them—in Jesus' empty tomb.

Prayer: God the Father, thank you for forgetting my sins. God the Son, thank you for dying for them. God the Spirit, give me faith to remember that I am free from guilt. Amen.
