BBQ Restaurant Opens In Former Wheatberry Tavern Location In Buchanan

An increasingly popular food truck will soon be settling in to a new riverfront location.

Anton and Ariel Lockett, owners of St. Joseph based food truck Evelyn Mae's BBQ, announced they have purchased the former Wheatberry Tavern in Buchanan. The new restaurant is named Fifteen-2-Twelve after the building's address, 15212 N. Red Bud Trail.

Fifteen-2-Twelve will be the Lockett's first brick and mortar restaurant, and Lockett said he's both excited and nervous for the endeavor.

"There's a lot of nerves involved," he said. "But, with out history with the food truck, I'm excited to expand and see how it goes."

The Wheatberry Tavern was a popular restaurant tucked along the winding, forest-lined road along the St. Joseph River. It was known for its tavern fare, as well as its take on southern-style BBQ. The restaurant closed in April 2020, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and never re-opened.

"Wheatberry was one of my mom's favorite restaurants," said Anton Lockett. "It's kind of weird coming around full-circle and owning it. ... It's a spot we frequented, so I know the history and I know the food they put out. We're excited to re-open it and hopefully people will enjoy it just as much - or more."

After a series of unexpected life events led them to open Evelyn Mae's BBQ as a catering-only company, in November of 2019, the two expanded their business to operating out of a food truck in the summer of 2021. Since then, the food truck has popped up at events all across Southwest Michigan, including the 2022 KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship where they catered the Makers Trail 19th Hole. That event helped push their demand to a level that required yet another area of expansion.

Christmas Spirit Returns with Holiday Village

There is no denying the sheer joy that Christmas time brings to residents and visitors in Southwest Michigan. For the last few weeks, multiple communities have hosted Santa and Mrs. Claus, a few elves, and a wide variety of activities for the entire family to enjoy at their downtown businesses as we sleigh through the holiday shopping season. One that we are excited to partner with and bring back for 2022 is Holiday Village happening Saturday, December 10th in Bridgman.

The event, which is organized and orchestrated by the Greater Bridgman Area Chamber and Growth Alliance (CGA), an affiliate of the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber, is a holiday staple in the Bridgman community bringing visitors to the downtown for family fun each December. Hundreds of residents and visitors line the streets and storefronts throughout downtown Bridgman taking part in many activities that are suitable for a wide variety of ages.

The wildly popular pop-up market that debuted last year has moved to a new location for 2022, the gymnasium at Immanuel Lutheran Church and School. The market will also have extended hours from 1:00 – 5:00 p.m. All vendors will be featuring homegrown, homemade, and hand-crafted items perfect for last minute stocking stuffers, gifts, or simply as treats for yourself.

Getting around downtown will be no problem as visitors will have the opportunity to hop on the free trolley courtesy of Fruitful Vine Tours from 12:30 – 6:00 p.m. Trolley route stops include Immanuel Lutheran Church and School, Small Town Grounds, Transient Artisan Ales parking lot, Rebecca's Ceramics, and the Bridgman Public Library.

The full day of events starts at Bridgman's newest eatery, Molly's Beach Walk Café, with Grinch pancakes and hot cocoa specials and is topped off with live music and dancing at the Bridgman American Legion Post 331 with Boneafyde. This local favorite features rock music spanning the decades and will ensure everyone is up and dancing. With cash bar, pop, water, and snacks will be available for purchase.

The full list of activities planned during Holiday Village include: warm spiced wine and cider at Lazy Ballerina Winery, free holiday rumba class with Lake Side Fit at Transient Ales parking lot at 1:00 p.m., free chili samples at Tapistry Brewing Company, living nativity at Immanuel Lutheran Church yard, pet parade down Lake Street with Paws To Wash at 3:00 p.m., scavenger hunt with Accents Himalaya Textiles, cookies and storytime with Mrs. Claus at The Sandpiper and Hoof-to-Hanger Fiber Mill, free temporary tattoos at Ink About It Tattooing, photos with Santa at Small Town Grounds, axe throwing, outdoor games, fire pits with smores at Transient Artisan Ales parking lot, Christmas caroling through the downtown, The Italian Christmas Happy Hour at Emma Hearth and Market, free pet photos at Transient Artisan Ales, canned food drive and the real Christmas movie drive in at Woodland Shores Baptist Church from 5:00 - 7:00 p.m. tree lighting ceremony at 6:00 p.m., and live music with Boneafyde at the Bridgman American Legion Post 0331 at 6:15 p.m..

Special Thank You to our event sponsors: Greater Bridgman Area Chamber and Growth Alliance, City of Bridgman, Honor Credit Union, Biggby Coffee in Bridgman, United Federal Credit Union, Classic Catering and Events, Siemans in Bridgman, Fusion Gallery and Studio, Monogram Inn and Suites, Rochefort's The Next Generation, The Sandpiper/Hoof-To-Hanger, Fruitful Vine Tours, and the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber.

MailMax Heats Up Calls for BOSS Services

"While many say that people don't read newspapers anymore, MailMax is an anomaly in the print world. It is delivered to nearly 40,000 homes in Southwest Michigan every week, and based on advertising results for BOSS Services, it is evident that it's a must-read for many community members.

"They are constantly coming up with ways to make MailMax a community-focused newspaper. They make it a goal to notify readers about what is happening in the area by giving valuable content from local contributors, restaurant coupons, and plenty of reasons to keep them coming back to open the paper week after week.

"We have been advertising weekly with MailMax for the past several years, and month after month, it continues to be one of our top call generators and one of our top returns on ad spend. So for those who say newspapers are dead, it's very much alive for our local community who reads MailMax every week."

Dave Says Are Debit Cards Safe for Online Purchases?

Dear Dave,
I use a debit card for all my regular, day-to-day purchases. However, I use a credit card for plane tickets, big ticket items, or when I shop online because someone told me it's easier to dispute purchases when they're made with a credit card. Are you putting your checking account at risk by using a debit card for these types of purchases?

Wendy
Dear Wendy,
I don't know who this "someone" is, but they're a lousy financial advisor. The firm of Someone, They Said, and I Heard? That's a financial planning company you don't want to work with.

A debit card has the exact same protections for fraud that a credit card has. It does come out of your checking account, but the bank has to put it back once you dispute the charge and prove your dispute. It may take a day or two, but they'll get it done.

I've used a debit card for decades, and I haven't owned a credit card since way back in my dumb-with-money days. I've never had any problems using a debit card, and

I'm not going to make the mistake of playing around with debt ever again.

I hope you won't either!
— Dave

After one location fell through, the Lockett's discovered the potential of the Wheatberry location. Anton said it's a perfect location between several southwest Michigan towns, and its natural beauty and proximity to the Red Bud motorcycle track will serve them well.

"I just think with the scenery and the things that are happening around this area, that it was the perfect location." Anton said. "Hopefully, if we do it the right way and get people talking about it, we'll be able to reach a long way. ... It's a big plus that barbeque was on the menu when it was Wheatberry, I think it's equal parts fate and luck."

Anton says the restaurant has plans for an expanded menu of appetizers, entrees and meatless options in addition to their BBQ offerings, as well as a full bar with smoked cocktails and local craft beer on tap. As for the BBQ, he describes his style as a mix of different BBQ types.

"The brisket is pretty Texas-style ... the rest of our meats are more Midwest-style," he said. "We don't use a lot of sugar - we let the meat speak for itself. We have a vinegar-based BBQ sauce, as well as a mustard-based sauce. We also have blueberry-habanero sauce we make with local blueberries."

The couple closed on the purchase of the Wheatberry Tavern building on Oct. 31, and have tentative plans to open mid-December. Anton said they are bringing in TV's, offering lifetime memberships, and generally want to make the restaurant an inviting space for the community.

Curious Kids Museum Seeking to Acquire Downtown Building

The Curious Kids Museum is seeking to acquire ownership of its building in downtown St. Joseph. Speaking to St. Joseph City Commissioners this past month, museum director Lori Marciniak said that as the museum looks at repairs needed from a July fire, the idea of buying the building from the city makes sense. She said ownership would help with making improvements.

"Donors have come to us and said, 'We really want to support this project, but we would prefer that you own the building,'" Marciniak said. "The donation then goes to the Curious Kids Museum, and in the long run, we get the value of that money for many years."

So, what kind of improvements is the museum hoping to make to its facility?

"We're hoping to increase the size of the museum by about 30%, update and renovate the entire building, change pretty much every surface of it to modernize it, to update it. You know, it's a Civil War era building, and so we love it, customers love it, but it looks tired some days. We need to make it shiny and bright."

Marciniak says the idea of acquiring the building from the city has been around for a while, but it became clear, somewhat recently, that would be the preferred course of action.

"We have a lot on our plate trying to raise money to get new exhibits and things, and so did we want to add that? Well, once we talked to a couple of donors, we realized we really need to pursue that."

The city owns the Civil War era building and leases it to the museum. City Manager John Hodgson said Monday due to insurance rules, the city will need to remain the building's owner while some repairs are made. However, Marciniak told us beyond that, the museum is interested in expanding and modernizing exhibit space. Commissioners said they're not opposed to the idea of selling the building to the museum, necessarily, but they need more information, and the first step will be getting the building appraised.

Some of his disciples were remarking about how the temple was adorned with beautiful stones and with gifts dedicated to God. But Jesus said, "As for what you see here, the time will come when not one stone will be left on another; every one of them will be thrown down."

Luke 21:5,6

The Jerusalem temple in Jesus' day took decades to construct and was one of the most expensive building projects in the Roman world. It was six times larger than the famous Colosseum and was paid for by some of the heaviest taxes in the world. The stones used in construction could be as large as forty feet by twelve feet by twelve feet and weighed as much as five-hundred tons. Faithful Jewish people journeyed to this impressive structure multiple times every year.

And so, it would seem that there was nothing more permanent in their lives than this temple. Between its large size and all that the people had invested and its importance in day-to-day life, it seemed that it would have been impossible for the temple to ever be destroyed.

Yet in 70 A.D., destruction is exactly what happened. The Romans came in and destroyed everything, and the temple was no more.

While the temple and destruction were very real, it was an illustration of what is to come. Life is full of many things that seem impressive. Things that are "too big to fail" and seem to be so permanent that nothing will destroy them. Things that are daily parts of our lives and so it is impossible to imagine life without them. Buildings, organizations, knowledge, and culture will one day all come to an end, Jesus said. They will all be replaced with a new heaven and a new earth.

Jesus gives us these warnings not to frighten us but so that we might have confidence even as the world seems to be falling apart around us. Jesus tells us beforehand that what seems permanent in this world will eventually be gone so that we do not find our confidence in anything here and now. Instead, we look forward to the perfect world to come—the world Jesus won for us with his perfect life and innocent death, the world that will never end

Prayer: Heavenly Father, remind me that this life will soon be gone. Give me hope and confidence in the life to come. Amen.

BOSS Services is excited to announce the launch of their annual Heartwarming Holiday Giveaway. Once again this year, the local home services company will be giving away two brand new, fully-installed furnaces to two deserving people in Southwest Michigan!

Now until December 12th, BOSS is encouraging community members to pay it forward and nominate someone special in their life to win a new furnace. BOSS owners and managers will anonymously choose both furnace winners based on need and the nominator's reasons why their nominee truly deserves to win.

Every year since the inception of the company nearly 7 years ago, BOSS Services has given away up to two furnaces per year to local community members for their Heartwarming Holiday Giveaway. Owner Jerry Street says,

"From the very beginning of the company, it was a priority to give back to the communities we serve. This is one of our favorite things we do all year because we love the spirit of paying it forward to someone who truly deserves it. It's incredibly difficult to read all the nominations and choose only two winners because so many people in the community are doing amazing things helping others but, at the same time, could use some help themselves."

To make your nomination for BOSS Services' Heartwarming Holiday Giveaway, visit their website <https://thebosservices.com/heartwarming-holiday-giveaway/> and tell them about someone special who could use the warmth of a new furnace by Monday, December 12, 2022! BOSS Services will communicate with both nominators to help surprise the two winners with the news right before Christmas.

Don You Can't Beat Baseball – But You Can Beatle It!!

Stuart

For some time, I've been aware of one reader of this column who pores over each one so exhaustively that she or he immediately "gets it" when I reference something from an earlier column as a weak excuse to segue into a new one – even if the columns are written weeks and weeks apart! It's pretty impressive, I must say. Oh, I suppose I should mention that person is me.

Thus, this column, connecting the Great American Pastime, baseball, with the Greatest Rock 'n Roll Band of All Time, The Beatles, represents a credulity-stretching "follow-up" to my sort-of-baseball-focused column a couple of weeks back. Because in that column, I used the word "Something," with a capital S, in a sentence. And of course, "Something" was a Big Hit Record – with a capital B-H-R – for The Beatles!

While I think the baseball season is just about over, we give it one final "extra inning" with these Beatles n' Baseball tidbits!

Tidbit: In summer 1964, the Fab Four played Kansas City, at the ballpark of the Kansas City Athletics. At a pre-show press conference, someone asked, "Do you like baseball?" John Lennon said, "No." Ringo Starr elaborated: "You throw the ball, and then another 10 minutes, you have a cigarette, and throw another ball."

Tidbit: The Moptops weren't supposed to play in K.C. – it was supposed to be a rare day off on their tour, so they kept declining the invitation to play there. But the owner of the Athletics, Charles O. Finley, whacked a clutch three-base hit; that is, he offered triple their regular rate for them to perform. (BTW, this "triple rate" was $150,000. Which today is equivalent to a WHOLE LOT MORE than that.)

Tidbit: As you can imagine, Finley wanted the band to add songs to their standard tour set list. But The Beatles stood firm. It's said that John gave Finley this "Yer out!" call: "Chuck, we only do 11. That's it." (Finley should've counted himself lucky, right, Spinal Tap fans? – "It goes to 11.")

Tidbit: In 1965, while filming the movie Help! The Beatles were photographed playing a little baseball! The photos I've found show, Ringo winding up to throw a pitch, John wearing a baseball mitt, and Paul McCartney in the midst of a swing – he must've got wood on the ball because his eyes are looking off in the distance as if following its flight.

Tidbit: Someone, even more Beatles-obsessed than I, once posted a complete transcription of a radio interview The Beatles did prior to performing at New York's Shea Stadium, home of the New York Mets.

During the interview, Paul said, "We'll be doing a couple of rounds of baseball before we go on, just to limber-up, you know. Is that what you call it? 'Rounds' of baseball? Maybe not."

Whereupon Ringo offered, "Squares of baseball."

Tidbit: The Shea concert would NOT have delighted serious audiophiles: 55,000 fans "heard" the tunes amplified through the ballpark's public address system. It wasn't ideal, Paul has admitted, while adding, "But, that was handy in that if we were a bit out of tune or didn't play the right note, nobody noticed."

Which is why the surviving scorecards from this concert show this Beatles line score: 55,000 runs, 11 hits, 0 errors.
