Smackdab in the middle of the busiest time of year, we keep the mail system hustling and bustling daily. We wrap presents with care, nestle packages into boxes, and wish them well on their journey through the post. We triple-wrap fragile items, in an effort to protect trinkets and favors, and eagerly await the arrival of each to its destination.

The care of your package is important to you, and for FunPak in St. Joseph, what's inside your parcel is important, too. Rich Daniels, founder of Really Neat Stuff Packaging and inventor of FunPak, became fed up with the nonrecyclable styrofoam peanuts while honeymooning in 2000. The family dog had eaten the polystyrene chunks, and would require emergency surgery while he and his wife Stephanie were traveling after their wedding.

"After we got back from our honeymoon, I just kept thinking about packing peanuts," says Rich. "At that time, they were everywhere. You couldn't walk down the street and not see one blowing around. My goal was to figure out how to get people to reuse them, since there wasn't (and still isn't), a way to recycle them."

Years of research would follow Rich's initial idea. The nagging thought that there has to be a solution, morphed into many discussions as to whether creating a better packing medium was even doable. "What if we shaped them?" he thought to himself. "So I studied everything I could, and I discovered no one had ever patented shaped packing peanuts." And as an ode to Bob, the pet they almost lost, a dog bone would be the perfect shape.

Rich received his first four patents three years later, at the same time that the packing industry in its entirety started realizing that styrofoam packing peanuts may not be the best

Four Unique Ways to Stay in Southwest Michigan

This week's article comes directly from Meagan Francis and our BuyLocalBerrien.com blog.

Are family or friends coming into town for the holidays – or are you just looking for a little getaway close to home? While chain hotels have their place, Berrien County offers a wealth of less conventional lodging opportunities that can make your experience truly one-of-a-kind. From charming inns to boutique hotels to upscale condominiums, here are just a handful of the creative places you can stay and play in Southwest Michigan.

Enjoy small-town charm in sophisticated style at the Monogram Inn & Suites, downtown Bridgman. Sophisticated, spacious, and newly renovated guest rooms and suites offer an upscale experience a stone's throw from dining, breweries, wineries and more. All of this is within walking distance of Weko Beach and the small-town charm of downtown Bridgman. The Monogram Inn & Suites offers lodging for up to eight guests, with amenities like free parking in reserved spots, an elevator, full, stocked kitchens, multiple bathrooms, and laundry facilities. Add in thoughtful touches like Smart TVs, free Wi-Fi, complementary bikes for guests to use, and board games to borrow and you've got a great option for reunions, family get-togethers and girl's getaways. During the off-season, Monogram pivots to offer extended stay leases with scaled discounts for weekly, monthly, three-month and six-month lease options.

Step away from stress at a B&B nestled among wineries: Among the Vineyards Bed & Breakfast, Baroda. Tucked away in the farmland-filled countryside and located just a few miles from the Lake Michigan shoreline, Among the Vineyards B&B offers true relaxation and hospitality. Four unique wine-themed rooms offer luxury linens, fireplaces, large-screen flat-screen TVs, Wi-Fi, and more; some of the rooms also offer deluxe touches like the real cedar two-person soaking tub in the Traminette room. A multi-course breakfast made with locally sourced ingredients starts your day, after which you can visit a variety of local wineries, breweries, orchards, or quaint small towns. Vacationers who appreciate peace and quiet, take note: Among the Vineyards is an adults-only getaway unless you rent the whole house. "The world beats us up, and we are so busy we don't take enough time to connect one on one with our loved ones," says Barb Antonucci, owner and innkeeper. "Hospitality is my gift and I want to use it to give people a place to reconnect and relax."

Enjoy upscale hotel amenities with plenty of space: The Condos at the Inn at Harbor Shores, Benton Harbor. If you're looking for the ambiance of an upscale hotel with the capacity of a vacation rental, The Condos at the Inn at Harbor Shores offers the best of both worlds. With luxe amenities like a full-service spa, indoor and outdoor pools, fitness center, meeting rooms and a selection of on-site dining options – not to mention the amazing harbor views – The Inn at Harbor Shores offers a best-in-class experience. And with the option to rent one of the luxury condominiums for a short length of time or an extended stay, you can experience all those amenities with the whole family. With 1280-square-foot, two-bed, two- and -a-half bath units, which sleep six, there's plenty of room to spread out.

For a retreat at a historic riverfront getaway, try The Morris Estate in Niles. With 600 private acres on the St. Joseph River, miles of walking trails, and a covered bridge, this special space delivers peace and serenity to any kind of getaway. And with a variety of lodging options from rustic and casual to modern and lavish – eight suites and two private cabins in all – accommodating your group's unique needs is no problem. Enjoy the unique history and ultimate relaxation of a getaway at The Morris Estate.

Visit this blog post on BuyLocalBerrien.com to learn more about each great location. Don't forget to join the Buy Local Berrien! Facebook group for additional holiday getaway and lodging locations, to learn more about Berrien County and Southwest Michigan businesses, ask for referrals, and show support for your favorite businesses.

As always, don't forget to shop and stay local this holiday season. I look forward to seeing you around Southwest Michigan this winter.

INVESTOR SPOTLIGHT – MATT SIMPSON

Nick Christe,
Real Estate Investor,
 Business Consultant,
 Proud St. Joe Lion

mentorship, training, and strategies to run a house painting business. He stayed connected with friends from the internship, some of whom were experiencing success in the real estate industry.

Matt began to research various real estate investment paths. After a year, he found a local team of investors with experience operating in Southwest Michigan.

"I messaged Nick Christe after reading his MailMax real estate articles. Nick agreed to meet and discuss partnership opportunities. Since meeting last February, my partnership with Nick and Sheri Lash has led to successful assignments on three deals, one of which was a portfolio of seventeen units. It took about four to five months to close my first deal, but the first three closed in simultaneous weeks and I have a fourth scheduled to close soon. With the mentorship, training, software and strategies provided to me by Nick, I've generated a 1,538% cash-on-cash return on my initial marketing investment, over an eight-month timeframe, all while maintaining a part-time sales role at Black Arsenal. I'm fortunate to have found like-minded investors who share similar goals and are willing to share their insights and experiences. I believe working with Nick and his team, and the formation of my own company, Midwest Coast Property Solutions, is the next step towards a long investment career in pursuit of the American dream."

"I'm so incredibly proud of you...proud Owner of SJBC! You did it, Chris!" - Jo choice for the environment, for pets and small children, and the future of our planet.

Stop by SJBC to wish Chris a happy 50th birthday. On Saturday, December 17th there will be cake and snacks.

"Biodegradable loose fill was starting to be produced, but the quality was poor and it didn't replace styrofoam peanuts well," Rich says. "I got on the phone and began calling manufacturers to see if we could even make it. We spent our tax return that year making prototypes, and I found the guy that was in charge of global loosefill at a large firm in Germany. He liked the idea, but said 'Can you make it?'"

After multiple formulas, designs, lots of time and effort, he finally did it. One of the equipment partners at the German company was a fellow veteran, and the two clicked instantly. "We weren't sure we could do it in the beginning, but we finally did. I still can't believe we figured out something that no one else could. It's crazy, if you think about it!" says Rich. An introduction to the right person led Rich to product success, and the guarantee of a lifelong friend.

FunPak is biodegradable, plant-based, 100% sustainable, certified compostable, veteran owned, non-toxic, unique, and adorable. There are a dozen shapes from which to choose, available in fun and fantastic colors, adding that special something to 'just because' packages, and aiding with branding for small businesses. They've gained celebrity recognition too: Cesar Milan was a big fan when the dog-bones were released, Lush in Canada uses FunPak stars, and Bath & Body Works uses FunPak Hearts. Kourtney Kardashian's company, Poosh, has included FunPak in the 2022 Holiday Mailer Gift Bundle, and touches on the importance of being mindful of waste during the gift-giving season, and always.

"Our products are now sold by distributors all over North America: Amazon, Pinterest, Etsy, Walmart, and Staples Canada. We are currently designing new product offerings for several retailers that should be in stores mid-next year," Rich adds.

The FunPak retail fulfillment facility is located in St. Joseph, and Rich wouldn't have it any other way. "This is our home, and there is nowhere else I'd rather start a business," he says. "We were blessed in the beginning to have support from Todd at Kinexus and the Van Buren Economic Development Corporation, and our local SCORE chapter members Jim Brooks and Perry Ballard. It is amazing to

Online at thefunpak.com, the friendly filler is available to purchase by cubic foot, and offers tiny tokens of joy while ensuring the safety of what's inside your precisely packed parcel. Once people are introduced to this product, they love it – kids can get crafty with the squishy shapes, and it can even be used as unique decor. The rainbow hearts and pink hearts filler are the biggest sellers; with happy colors, you can't go wrong!

After years focusing on brand-building, FunPak is branching out into the local community. They sponsor men's teams at the Saint Joseph Kickers Club, St. Joseph High School 'Wind Up' and Yearbook, the Dana Farber Cancer Institute, and others.

"One of our foundational values is to give back," says Rich. "It is important to me to help our community that supported us in the beginning. We've had setbacks and I have learned some painful lessons, but these experiences are part of the journey, whether we like them or not. I try to embrace these lessons and share the experiences with companies and founders I mentor and coach. If I can help a founder not suffer some of the same experiences, I feel like I've made an impact for them, and contributed to their success."

Visit their website to make purchases, and to delve a little deeper into what makes FunPak so special. Follow FunPak on social media to stay up to date with new products! Congrats on your success, and we can't wait to see you grow!

PET OF THE MONTH

Mandy

Mandy is a 3.5 year old husky mix. She is spayed and up to date on all vaccinations. Mandy is house broken and loves to play. She enjoys walks and being outside, given the chance she will sun bath and take a few dips in a pool. Mandy would be best as the only animal in the house.

Home for the holidays. How many times have we heard that phrase? Usually, it refers to folks who are returning to their hometowns and families, or maybe finding their roots, hoping for a place to spend the Christmas/Holiday season. But there are so many pets who would love to go home for the holidays. Pets that have been surrendered, pets who were lost and never claimed, pets who were born into an unplanned litter. There are so many ways animals become homeless and must wait for another human to adopt them, but what a perfect time of the year to make a home for the holidays wish come true.

To help make this happen, the Berrien County Animal Shelter is holding their annual Christmas Party this Saturday, December 17, with the following incentive: For every pound of pet food and/or supplies donated, that percentage is taken off an adoption fee. For a donation of 50 lbs. of pet food, the adoption fee is reduced by 50%. The party runs from 8:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. at 1400 S. Euclid Ave., Benton Harbor. Any and all donations are appreciated and go directly to help the animals. There has been a large influx of lost dogs lately at that shelter, so if your pet has come up missing, please give them a call 269-927-5648. The best way to prevent your dog from getting caught up in the homeless system is to have them licensed and microchipped. It really is a small investment to keep them safe, because a license/microchip is like their phone call home should they become separated from you.

There are many, many cats wandering about, too, and it isn't hard to realize that coming into winter is not the best time for cats to be left outdoors. Illness, accidents, attacks by predators, lack of food and warm shelter are all dangers they face and will shorten their lifespan. If you have a cat, think twice about letting him/her out in the cold weather so his picture doesn't end up on a social media page with the caption, Do You Know This Cat?

Some good news to share is that the November adoption list at the Southwestern Michigan Humane Society shows 40 cats and 23 dogs did go home for the holidays. If you would like to help Santa fill the stockings for those still residing at the shelter, some of their needs include: Purina One wet food, large Milkbones, wet and dry kitten food, cat treats, Purina or Iams Indoor dry cat food, Dawn dish soap, Tide pods, and 33-gallon trash bags. Donations may be left at Paw Mart in St. Joseph, any Forte Coffee shop, or at the shelter. Maybe a few cat and dog toys will also find their way into the stockings to help pass the time for those still waiting to go home.

The Reindog Parade and Animal Aid Open House earlier this month were both a success and well attended. Elliot joined the parade for the first time and was a very good boy wearing his Santa gear. He was happy to bring good cheer to the Open House but would really have liked some of that cake! It's also time to wish happy birthday to Ace the Tenacious Terrier, who turns seven this month. Ace is still tenacious as ever but according to the pet food bags, he will be entering his "vibrant maturity" years. Where does the time go?

Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays to all!

The Same Attitude as Jesus

May the God who gives endurance and encouragement give you the same attitude of mind toward each other that Christ Jesus had. ~ Romans 15:5

During World War I, the fighting was fierce and deadly. But something amazing happened on the night of Christmas Eve 1914. Along parts of the battle line, an impromptu truce developed. British soldiers heard the Germans singing Christmas carols. Cautiously, the two sides emerged from their trenches. The next day they shared rations, exchanged gifts, and even played a soccer game. They shared peace and unity on Christmas.

What is it about Christmas that causes even soldiers to put down their weapons? On the battlefield there is no tinsel or twinkling lights. No loudspeakers blaring cheesy holiday music. On the battlefield, there is the constant reminder of death.

But Christmas is all about God's plan to conquer death and its cause, namely, our sin. The baby Jesus would grow to be a Savior who viewed each of us as lost sinners in desperate need of someone to take care of our sin problem. That's why Jesus came, to deal with our sin and win for us eternal life. Thank God that Jesus viewed each of us with such love!

Until Jesus comes again, we pray for that same mindset towards our fellow human beings. They are sinners that Jesus loved and died for, just like us. We have the opportunity to serve them and point them to their Savior. That's a mindset not just for Christmas; but all the time.

Prayer: Dear Jesus, help me to love the people you died for, and thank you for dying for me. Amen.

Celebrate Safely this New Year's Eve

Fun might be the top priority on New Year's Eve, but safety must be in the mix as well. As you make plans for a night out this New Year's Eve, it can help to keep these safety tips in mind.

- Utilize a car service. Whether it's a ride-sharing service like Uber, a friend, or even a private limousine for large parties, leave the New Year's Eve driving to the professionals. This ensures that no one will drive after having too much to drink.
- Go out for dinner first. (See ads on these pages) Experts at the University of Notre Dame's McDonald Center for Student Well-Being note that having food, especially foods that are high in protein, in your stomach prior to consuming alcohol will help slow the processing of that alcohol.
- Make a plan. Overconsumption of alcohol is not the only potential danger lurking on New Year's Eve. Large crowds can make it easier for friends to become separated, especially if they plan to visit more than one establishment before or after the clock strikes 12. When going out with a group on New Year's Eve, create an itinerary, complete with meet-up spots, for the entire night.

The average cost of a DUI is more than $10,000 and there is no price that can be placed on a life that is lost. So for 2023... arrive alive, don't drink and drive.

Ramsey

Wait Until the Time is Right

Dear Dave,
Is it even worth it to buy a house these days? I've always been told buying a house is the adult thing to do and that it's a great investment, but I can't find anything decent and livable in my area for less than $350,000. My wife and I are debt-free, and we're expecting our first baby in January. I was hoping to get your advice.

Craig

Dear Craig,

I can understand how things might feel a little hopeless in your current situation. You're probably feeling the weight of the responsibility a new life brings to the picture. Things are getting real really fast, aren't they? Believe me, I get it.

The truth is you may not be ready to buy a house today. And that's okay. Having a new baby on the horizon doesn't mean you have to run out and buy a home. That little boy or girl isn't going to know the difference between a house and an apartment for a long time. Right now, giving your child a safe, loving environment is the most important thing.

Now, looking down the road, is owning a house worth it? Yes. But it's not worth doing it at the wrong time or in a stupid way. You first need to make sure the income is there. Then, you need an emergency fund of three to six months of expenses in place along with a strong down payment. So, what if you don't buy a home for another two or three years? Home buying should always be done with patience and wisdom.

There are two or three things that make buying a home a great long-term investment versus renting your whole life:

Rents go up every year. If you lock in a good, fixed-rate mortgage, that payment will stay the same.

The value of your home will increase. When you rent, you don't own your residence, and you won't benefit from the value of it going up.

Our study of 10,000 millionaires showed that most say two things were integral parts of their ability to build wealth: Good retirement investments and a paid-off home.

A house is a great wealth-building tool, and it can also stabilize the biggest line item in your budget—housing.

God bless you guys, Craig!
— Dave

We didn't visit my wife's Buffalo, NY- area family this Thanksgiving, for fear we'd experience an overabundance of something we don't get much in Nawth Caylina: snow! They had LOTS of it a few weeks ago. I heard it was the easy-packing kind too. This reminded me of a time No. 5 son (then age 12) coaxed me into helping him build a snowman. My role was gathering, packing and shaping the snow into a man. His role was making a comfy snow recliner in which he relaxed while critiquing my work.

As usual, there was much to critique, because I wasn't - and still am not - much of a snowman maker. Mine never have that classic, greeting-card look. It's not that I don't understand the basic physiognomy of a snowman; at the risk of sounding like a seventh grade biology text about insects, it's basically a head, thorax and abdomen. But I always wind up with asymmetrical parts. My snowmen do, that is. They're always super-bulky in the bottom third; you might call them abdominal snowmen.

Of course, I don't fret if my snowmen turn out lumpy and distorted. I'm no fussy perfectionist like the folks at allaboutlawns.com. They once wrote a column entitled "Build a Perfect Snowman." It included a bibliography, indicating that they couldn't explain how to build a snowman without relying on other, more authoritative sources.

One source was eHow.com which, sure 'nuff, had a page describing a six-step, snowman-making process. But lemme tell ya, if you ever decide to seek advice from eHow, you might want to take it with a chunk of road salt; it might be a little bit "out there." For example, eHow had another snowman-related article called "How to Search for the Abominable Snowman." Really. This was also broken down into a no-nonsense six-step process.

One step called for gathering gear, such as "evidence collection materials." I think this was a polite way of saying pooper-scoopers, since the ideal way to determine if you're hot on an abominable's tail is to find and evaluate, you know, what comes out hot from its tail.

I realize this column is careening into scatological territory, but unfortunately, I have far too little willpower to resist telling you about just one more eHow article, entitled, I kid you not, "How to Make Snowman Poop."

This article was attributed to eHow's "Culture and Society Editors," revealing, I think, just how cultured the eHow staff was.

There were only four steps involved in "How to Make Snowman Poop," and none required any proctological exams, for you or the snowman. The toughest step was probably Number Two. (Ha-ha! "Number Two" . . . get it?): "Gather poop type materials." They recommended Tootsie Rolls, or Drake's Ring Dings, which perhaps you'll eat far fewer of this holiday season, since your brain will now firmly associate them with snowman droppings.

Step Number Three was also not for the faint of heart: "Stick your desired poop substance into your snowman's. . ."—whoa! Enough! I can't believe I've taken this so far! Time to nip this in the butt. Uh, bud. Especially since I've just discovered that eHow's "Culture and Society Editors" when this article was written were actually a 12 year old and his buddies from seventh grade biology.
