BHS alumna receives Minnesota women in sports award

Sherece (Shari) Lamke, Brainerd High School alumna, was named a 2023 National Girls & Women in Sports Day Minnesota award winner.

The honorees, representing some of Minnesota's most inspiring and influential individuals, groups, and organizations in girls' & women's sports, was recognized at the National Girls & Women in Sports Day - Minnesota Celebration on February 1.

Lamke will receive Kwame McDonald Media Award at the 37th Annual celebration event.

Kwame McDonald was a civil rights activist and pioneer in covering women's sports. This award is presented to members of the media or Minnesota media outlets that have consistently provided coverage that both promotes and supports girls' and women's sports.

Lamke started her career in television with Twin Cities PBS in 1982 where she worked her way from the Master Control Operator to Director of Operations and Managing Director of Production Services. While there, she helped launch the Minnesota Channel, where she worked with the U of M's Tucker Center for Research on Girls and Women in Sport. She worked with the Tucker Center to use their data in the creation of three documentaries that have all been nominated for regional Emmys, and her documentary 'Media Coverage and Female Athletes' won the Sports Documentary Emmy in 2015.

In 2021, Lamke accepted a position as the President and General Manager at Pioneer PBS in Granite Falls. PBS President Paula Kerger once commented that Pioneer

'punches above their weight' in production and Lamke is thrilled to continue that tradition. Throughout her career, Lamke has used her skills as a leader and storyteller to share the stories of women and girls in sports, and her dedication has helped raise awareness for equity in women's sports as well as the stories and accomplishments of female athletes in Minnesota and beyond.

Dinner and music at Aitkin Moose

The Aitkin Moose Lodge and United Methodist Church paired up to have some winter fun and help Aitkin County Habitat for Humanity. The groups are hosting a lasagna dinner on Friday, Feb. 24, 4:30 to 6 p.m., at the Moose Lodge, 22 Fourth St N, NE Aitkin MN 56431. After dinner, you can pop in for the light rock concert, which is free. Proceeds from pass-the-hat go to repair and build homes in Aitkin County by Aitkin County Habitat for Humanity. Shown in the Moose Kitchen from left: Moose Member Dwight Bruckhoff; Pastor Dawn Hauser of Aitkin's United Methodist Church; Kim Beneke, Moose volunteer; Alex Schwartz of Habitat for Humanity and Lyle Ward of the Moose Lodge. Come out and shake off your winter blues on Feb. 24. You can come to just the dinner or just the concert. Ann Schwartz photo

Aitkin woman dies in house fire in Nordland Township, Aitkin County

The body of a 74-year-old Aitkin woman was found by authorities after a house fire Monday, Feb. 20.

The remains of Jacquelyn Willprecht was found among charred debris in a residence in Nordland Township after the fire department was called to a reported fire at the house at 6:38 p.m. The initial report was that the fire was on the north side of the home, and it was not apparent if anybody was at the residence at the time.

The reporting party stated he did not see any fresh tracks in the snow outside, and had hollered inside the residence with no response.

The Aitkin Fire Department along with the Aitkin County Sheriff's Office and North Ambulance responded to the scene. As units arrived on scene, it was reported that the home was fully engulfed.

A neighboring residence was also evacuated for precaution. Once the fire was extinguished, responders including the State Fire Marshall began sifting through the debris and Willprecht's was discovered.

The cause of the fire remains under investigation by the Minnesota State Fire Marshall's Office.
