

Nora Davis enhances performing arts offerings

By Lacey Slay, Laurel Schools

The Laurel School District has plans underway to enhance the performing arts offerings at Nora Davis Magnet School. Beginning in August, the arts focused school will take performing arts to a new level. Long known as a Model School for the Arts, Nora Davis Magnet School has a unique focus of using the arts as a tool to provide high-quality instruction that reaches all learning styles. The new offerings will enhance the school's ability to meet the artistic needs of Laurel's creative and talented students.

Beginning the upcoming school year, Nora Davis will create a speech and debate team, a competition show choir, a dance troupe, a strings ensemble with an emphasis on violin, and will produce two Broadway-style musicals.

"Our goal is for Nora Davis to become the premier performing arts magnet school in the country," said Superintendent Dr. Chuck Benigno. "Nora Davis has always had a strong arts focus and it has played a huge role in the school's academic success. We now want to take the performing arts to a whole new level. By adding a fall and spring Broadway-style musical production and performance teams in the areas of speech and debate, show choir, dance, and violin, Nora Davis will now be able to offer an educational experience that is second to none."

The district will also form the Laurel Speech and Debate League that will focus on developing the oral, written and critical thinking skills of fourth and fifth grade students. Teams will be formed at all four elementary schools, providing students the opportunity for competition and skills development. The league will perform inter-district meets as well as explore competitive avenues outside of Laurel and the state.

"I am especially excited about the creation of the Speech and Debate League. The league will consist of teams from Mason, Maddox, Oak Park and Nora Davis who will compete among each other and travel to competitions both locally and nationally. The world of speech and debate is truly the training ground for the future leaders of our nation. I can't wait to see our talented young people showcase their skills in this important educational arena," Benigno said.

In other enhancements, Nora Davis will now feature two Broadway-style musicals each school year increasing the audition and performance opportunities for students. One will be held in the fall and one in the spring. In addition to the music and dance classes students participate in during the regular school day, Nora Davis will also enrich the music and dance programs by offering jazz, ballet, modern dance, and other performance-based classes after school.

To lead the charge of organizing and facilitating the enhanced arts offerings, the district has asked Nora Davis Magnet School Teacher Shelley Rivers to take on the responsibilities of coordinating these performing arts initiatives. Rivers will oversee the implementation of the enhanced arts programs and the Laurel Speech and Debate League. In addition, she will teach show choir at Laurel Middle School.

"As we continue to strive to teach the whole child, offering speech and debate in elementary school makes sense," Rivers said. "The skills obtained such as public speaking and citing evidence to support a position will improve student academic achievement and will provide life-long skills for success. This strong speech and arts foundation will allow students to excel in a variety of areas. I am excited about these opportunities our students will have to access amazing instruction and quality after-school enrichment programs."

All of the new programs will begin when students return for the 2015-16 school year.

"The Laurel School District believes that academics, arts and athletics all play a role in helping students reach their fullest potential. The tremendous talent of our young people and the passion of our teachers and coaches make this a fabulous time to be a Tornado," Benigno said.

Are you ready for hurricane season?

By Lydia Walters

Believe or not, it has been 10 years since Hurricane Katrina forever changed the way we think about the severity of hurricanes. Although, we certainly remember the pain and frustration brought by this devastating storm, we often forget the importance of preparing for hurricane season each year.

At Dixie Electric, we are currently updating our Emergency Response Plan, continually clearing the trees and underbrush from around our power lines and adapting new technologies that allow us to respond more quickly during power outages.

Just as we are preparing for hurricane season, we encourage you to be prepared in the event of one of these dangerous storms heads our direction. Keep your family safe with these handy tips.

Before the Storm:

- Put together an emergency kit and plan. Communicate the plan with your family.
- Know the elevation level of your property and whether the land is flood-prone.

- Secure your home: cover all windows with either storm shutters or boards, clear loose and clogged rain gutters, and bring all outdoor furniture indoors.

- Learn your community hurricane evacuation routes.

During the Storm:

- Listen to the radio or TV for information, if possible.
- Avoid using the phone, unless there is an emergency.
- Turn off utilities if instructed to do so. Otherwise, keep the refrigerator thermostat on the coldest setting and keep the doors closed.

After the Storm:

- Keep away from loose or dangling power lines and report them immediately to Dixie Electric or your power company.

- Drive only if necessary and avoid flooded roads. Watch out for fallen objects, downed power lines, and weakened walls, bridges, or sidewalks.

- Drive slowly and cautiously around utility line crews and other emergency personnel as they work to make repairs after the storm.

- NEVER use a generator inside homes, garages, crawlspaces, sheds, or similar areas. Deadly levels of carbon monoxide can quickly build up in these areas.

Hurricane Season is here Be Prepared

- NEVER plug a generator directly into your meter. Instead, connect it directly to the electronic or appliance you want to use.

- Dixie Electric offers a website, prepared.dixieepa.com, which provides tips on planning before, during or after the storm and provides an up-to-date outage map for Dixie Electric member.

Lydia Walters is the communication and human resource manager at Dixie Electric Power Association.

First grade or senior: Which is more exciting

By Mitchell Williams

The summer ends in a few weeks, and our children will be headed back to school. Backpacks, notebooks, pencils, school uniforms, all back in full swing in just a matter of days. I was out walking a few days ago, and while enjoying a late night stroll, we just thought about what group of youngsters would be the most excited to see the new school year. Who couldn't wait to get off the bus to get to class? Got any thoughts?

To be honest, we believe it's a tight race between the oldest and the youngest group of students. Think about it. The seniors of our area can't wait to begin their last year of high school. Do you know one who isn't? If you have a rising senior at your house, let them remain happy about going back to school. Keep them pumped up! Just don't tell them that light bills, phone bills, car notes, the rent, and insurance premiums could be just months away. Don't tell them that not having enough "gas money," may be a way of life for a little bit. And don't tell them that groceries are not free at the supermarket. Don't tell them.

For the youngest group of students, you better know they will be excited! First ever ride on a bus, first classroom desk, first ever teacher, first trip to the cafeteria, first time to hear the bell for recess, first time to ask, "Do you want your cornbread?"

Oh yeah, our six-year-old babies will be ready to go in just a little while. Just don't tell them . . . there is something called homework. Don't tell them their first year of school will last past Christmas. Don't tell them they have eleven more years left of school. And don't dare tell them that "Barney" might not be cool by the time they get to junior high. Please don't tell them.

Got any thoughts? Would you rather be a first grader or a senior in the coming days? I know this one thing: All of us could sometimes use the excitement of the first grader, couldn't we? And the anticipation of finally finishing something by this year's senior class can be terribly motivating, can't it? Excitement and anticipation could be good things . . . for all of us.

See you at a game soon.
