New Chicken Farmer

A life-long city man, tired of the rat race, decided he was going to give up the city life, move to the country, and become a chicken farmer. He found a nice, used chicken farm, which he bought. Turns out that his next door neighbor was also a chicken farmer. The neighbor came for a visit one day and said, "Chicken farming isn't easy. Tell you what. To help you get started, I'll give you 100 chickens."

The new chicken farmer was thrilled. Two weeks later the new neighbor stopped by to see how things were going. The new farmer said, "Not too good. All 100 chickens died."

The neighbor said, "Oh, I can't believe that. I've never had any trouble with my chickens. I'll give you 100 more."

Another two weeks went by, and the neighbor stops in again. The new farmer says, "You're not going to believe this, but the second 100 chickens died too."

Astounded, the neighbor asked, "What went wrong? What did you do to them?"

"Well," says the new farmer, "I'm not sure whether I'm planting them too deep or not far apart enough."

Piedmont Pets

April 6, 2023 By Paulette Dean

We always encourage people to have a disaster plan in place that includes every animal in their household. Spring and summer in Virginia can bring tornadoes and strong storms.

The best time to prepare is long before the first raindrop falls or the first wind gale is felt.

Individual households can benefit from having an emergency response plan in place. Any plan must include your companion animals. Your animal's best protection is to be with you. But taking a pet requires special planning. Locate a safe place for your pets before disaster strikes. Evacuation shelters generally do not accept any animal, so we suggest you call hotels and motels a reasonable distance from your home and ask if they accept pets, under what conditions, and whether there are any restrictions as to the size and number of animals.

A few simple steps can protect your pets: Keep up-to-date identification on your dog or cat at all times. Make sure the collar is properly fitted (avoid chain link collars for dogs and use breakaway collars for cats). For the best protection, have all your dogs and cats microchipped; be sure to register the chip number. Keep current color photos of your pet, showing any distinguishing marks, with your emergency supplies. If you and your pet become separated, these photos will help identify him/her. If you know a disaster is imminent, bring your pets inside immediately! (The obvious exception to this is in the case of a house fire.) Get your animals under control as soon as possible, either on a leash or inside a carrier.

Disasters often strike while you're away from home. Consider an arrangement with a neighbor who would be willing to evacuate your pet in your absence.

996 South Boston Rd., Danville, VA 24540
Phone: (434) 799-0843

The government also urges us to have at least a three day supply of food, medicine, clothes, water, etc. An emergency kit for each of your pets' needs is also essential. Include in this kit at least a three-day supply of food and water, food/water bowls, regular medications, a first aid kit, a carrier (essential for cats), leashes, and a litter box and litter for cats. Small mammals and birds must have cages.

Dogs and cats are not the only pets that should be included in your plan. Birds can be transported in a pet carrier or travel cage. When it's cold, wrap a blanket around the cage. A few slices of fresh fruit or vegetable with a high water content placed in the cage will provide fluid temporarily.

Other small mammals should be placed in secure, suitable carriers. Be prepared to provide bedding materials, food, bowls, and water bottles. Reptiles also should be evacuated.

Our pets will benefit from our wisdom of not waiting until the disaster strikes before we take any steps to prepare for the emergency.

KOVELS Antiques & Collecting

Wiener Dogs

It's a Wiener dog from a Wiener workshop! Vienna, Austria, or "Wien" in German, was a major European cultural center. The Wiener Werkstatte may be the most famous Viennese workshop of the 20th century, but it was not the only one.

This dachshund-shaped letter opener sold for $813 at a Rago auction. It was made by Werkstatte Hagenauer, which was founded in Vienna by goldsmith Charles Hagenauer in 1898. Like many studios, it was a family business. Hagenauer's sons became influential art deco designers. The workshop closed in the 1980s. Now there is a museum and shop on its former premises.

Despite their name, Wiener dogs did not originate in Vienna, but in Germany. Officially called dachshunds, the breed has plenty of nicknames based on its long, thin, sausage-like shape.

Q: I have a necklace made of clear faceted beads that I was told were crystal. Does this mean they are cut glass or rock crystal?

A: "Crystal" can be used for both rock crystal and cut glass. Some makers and collectors use the term for any colorless clear glass. To add to the confusion, both rock crystal and glass beads are found in antique and vintage jewelry.

Rock crystal is a clear, colorless quartz stone fashionable in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Some 19th-century cut glass was made to resemble rock crystal until about 1860, when colored glass became popular. "Paste" stones, or glass stones that imitate precious gems, were invented around 1730 and have been used in costume jewelry since then.

Glass jewelry was especially popular in the early 1900s. From about 1918 to the 1930s, Czechoslovakia (now the Czech Republic and Slovakia) exported glass beads, faceted glass stones and finished jewelry all over the world. The necklaces are often marked "Czechoslovakia" on the clasp.

To tell whether your beads are stone or glass, hold them in your hand. Glass feels about room temperature and will grow warmer as you hold it. Stone is colder to the touch and takes longer to warm up. Natural rock crystal is more valuable than cut glass.

TIP: Your diamond or precious-stone jewelry — antique or modern — should be reappraised every other year for insurance value.

Tom Sandoval ("Vanderpump Rules")

remains — who and how many?

Q.Has Tom Sandoval from the reality show "Vanderpump Rules" done any acting? I could swear that I saw him in one of those Lifetime movies recently. It was about a nurse who takes a pregnant woman's baby. — K.L.

A.Some people would argue that all reality stars are actors essentially. In the case of the cast of Bravo's "Vanderpump Rules," several of them have moonlighted on scripted dramas, including Sandoval in the 2019 TV movie you referred to, "Dying for a Baby." He followed that up with another role in the 2021 Lifetime thriller, "The Wrong Real Estate Agent," which starred Vivica A. Fox.

Tom Sandoval is about to find out if the proverbial saying, "Any publicity is good publicity," is true, as he was just outed in the tabloids for cheating on his girlfriend, Ariana Madix, with another one of their "Vanderpump Rules" castmates. Madix, too, has an acting resume outside of Bravo, but nothing of note. That could change with the project she's currently filming, the Lifetime movie "Buying Back My Daughter," where she'll play a police officer with a personal connection to the story.

Q.I heard that "Blue Bloods" might get canceled. How many years has it been on TV? Tom Selleck is my mom's favorite actor. I hope I don't have to break any bad news to her. — I.W.

A."Blue Bloods" has been a solid success for CBS during most of its 14-season run, but when it wasn't on the list of shows already renewed for next season, viewers began to panic. Apparently, negotiations have reached an "impasse," according to Deadline.com, and budget cuts might be the only way to save the show. Unfortunately, this usually means trimming the cast, and for your mother's sake, I hope it isn't Tom Selleck who is let go.

According to TVLine.com, "the show boasts seven full-time series regulars, plus five heavily recurring players who appear in every episode." Cutting some of those salaries might ensure the show's return for a 15th season, but the question

Q.I've been watching "You" ever since it began, first on the Lifetime channel and now on Netflix. Even though I've enjoyed every season, I figure Joe has to get caught sometime. Does the show have a plan for how it will all end? — H.G.

A."You" is one of those shows that had the good fortune of finding a huge audience on Netflix after a lukewarm response on cable television. Now that it's done with its fourth season, Sera Gamble, the woman who ran the show since the beginning, is stepping down and leaving it in the capable hands of Michael Foley and Justin W. Lo, who are currently executive producers.

Netflix recently announced that its upcoming fifth season will be its last. Serial killer Joe Goldberg, played by Penn Badgley, will be returning to his roots in New York City. How it will all end is unknown, but hopefully Gamble and her remaining creative team have a satisfying conclusion in store.

Laidback Golf Tour holds 2nd Tournament of 2023 Season at Lynrock

Fourteen Tour members participated in the Tours second tournament of the season Wednesday morning despite the 40 degree cloudy conditions. As the sun burnt through the clouds it quickly turned into a nice 60 degree day; although the scores never seemed to heat up much. Only one round was recorded in the seventies and only two birdies were made all day. The par 70 course once again proved itself to be quite a challenge.

Last season's Tour Champion ; Mike Asbury is off and heading toward another good year as he won his second tournament in a row this season. Asbury turned in the only round in the seventies with a 79 to win the A Flight by 3 strokes. Asbury also shot 79 here at Lynrock to win in B Flight last season.

The Tours next scheduled tournament is at Danville Golf Club, Thursday April 6th beginning at 10am. Entry fee for Tour Members will be $75 with memberships still available for $40 per year. Registration deadline for this event is noon Saturday April 1st. Enter by emailing golftripman@yahoo.com. Please bring cash only for all payments. Information and Tour stats may be found on our webpage: TeamPages - Laid-Back Golfers

There was no Honey Hole winner today so $60 will carry over to Danville tournament. Also there was no A Flight Skins winners so $30 will carry over to A Flight Skins pool at Danville. The C&D Flights had no closest to the pin or skins winners today so $30 will carry over on pins and $50 will carry over to C&D Flight skins pool.

Even Exchange by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

* I purchase rotisserie chickens and use the meat for different things -- soup, casseroles, etc. I have a trick to getting the skin off. My hand strength isn't what it used to be, and those birds are slippery. I use a paper towel to grip the skin, and pull the meat and bone right out. It works well on a raw bird too. -- L.A. in Florida

* To re-whiten socks or washcloths, try boiling a pot of water and adding a sliced, juiced lemon. Soak the items for at least an hour, and then pick out the lemon and add the pot -- water and all -- to a load of wash.

* If there are crushed cookies in a pack I purchase, I set them aside in a plastic baggie in the freezer to use on ice cream. Yummy! -- R.L. in Alberta, Canada

* If you have been cooking in the oven and have a pan that's got cooked-on food, you can get it clean without all the scrubbing. Immediately after cooking, while the oven is still hot, add enough water to cover the bottom of the pan and a little dish-soap. Put it in the oven until the oven is cool. The residual heat will work on the stuck-on food while you are dining, and it'll wipe right out. -- W.O. in Minnesota

* When washing out stockings, add a tablespoon of vinegar to the rinse water, and they will retain their elasticity better.

* Wintergreen oil makes a lovely room freshener. Put two drops on a cotton ball and tuck it into the cushions of your couch, or hide it under a lamp pedestal ... anywhere out of the way. The scent drifts over a week or so. -- G.T. in Delaware

Rising Cost of Home Insurance

When I got my home insurance bill and it showed a massive payment for my policy renewal, I actually laughed. I flipped the page over, believing I'd received someone else's mail by mistake ... probably a neighbor down the street. But when I saw my own name, I wasn't laughing anymore when I grabbed my calculator and discovered that the new amount was a 45% increase over last year.

Still, ever hopeful, I called my insurance company, wondering if someone else's home had been plugged into my account. No, it hadn't. The amount listed was indeed for my home, as were the numbers for out buildings, personal property and temporary living expenses.

I called several neighbors: Has your insurance gone up? No, they all said. I discovered the likely reason for that during a call to a friendly local insurance agent. They're no doubt in the middle of a policy period, he said. Their bad surprise will come when it's time to renew that policy and all the price increases hit them.

There are several reasons why a policy can increase, such as material and labor (which is the big one right now), additions to the house, number of prior claims, your deductible, your credit score and the breed of dog you own.

After several calls to different insurance companies, it's not looking good. What I get so far is that if I decide to gamble and lower my coverage level, I run a risk that something will happen and I'll be stuck for mammoth amounts of money that insurance won't cover.

The only thing that's going to save a few dollars is to pay the whole year upfront and not have to pay the monthly budget fees with every payment.

Take a deep breath before you open your next policy renewal envelope. Good luck.

Mini Banana Rice Pancakes

Prep time: 15 minutes
Cook time: 20 minutes
Servings: 2

- 1 cup Minute Brown Rice & Quinoa
- 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 teaspoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 2 bananas, divided
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 cup pure maple syrup, divided
- 4 teaspoons butter, melted
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided
- 1/8 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Heat rice and quinoa according to package directions. In large bowl, whisk flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. In medium bowl, whisk milk and lemon juice. Let stand 5 minutes. Mash 1/2 banana. Transfer to milk mixture. Add egg and 1 teaspoon maple syrup; stir to combine. Stir in melted butter. Pour milk mixture over flour mixture. Whisk just until combined; do not overmix. Fold in rice and quinoa. Let batter rest 10-15 minutes. Preheat large nonstick skillet over medium heat; brush with 1 teaspoon oil. Once skillet is hot, reduce heat to medium-low. In batches, adding oil as necessary, scoop 1 tablespoon batter per pancake into skillet and cook 3-4 minutes, or until bubbles start to form. Flip and cook 1-2 minutes until golden on bottom. Slice remaining half and full bananas. Serve pancakes with remaining maple syrup, banana slices and cinnamon.
