SCRMC annual Community Health Fair

By Linda Cranford

SCRMC held their annual Community Health Fair, Thursday, January 21, giving community members in the area an opportunity to receive education and health screenings for free.

Those attending the health fair were able to be screened for Anxiety and Depression, Balance Testing, Blood Pressure, Body Mass Index, Bone Mineral Density, Carbon Monoxide, Confidential STD Assessment, Non-fasting Cholesterol, Non-fasting Glucose, Medication Review, Vision, and more.

South Central Wellness Center Physical Therapist Kourtney Murphy invited those interested in learning more about the new Parkinson's Disease Wellness Recovery Program, "PWR 4 Life," to attend a special education session at the Wellness Center on February 1, at 11 a.m. This program will help those with Parkinson's Disease improve their day-to-day function and decrease their risk of falls. The program will also provide a Parkinson's Disease Support Group so those with Parkinson's disease can get to know others who have the same condition.

"This is the only program of its kind in the State of Mississippi," exclaimed Meg Moore, who was recently diagnosed with the disease. Moore's sister, who is a physical therapist, began doing research on the disease when she learned her sister was diagnosed with Parkinson's disease. Her sister brought the program to Tampa, Florida and the South Central Wellness Center sent Murphy to Florida to be trained and certified to offer the "PWR 4

Life” program. “Some people don’t want to admit they have the disease,” exclaimed Moore, who was helping Murphy hand out information on the new program. “But, once you admit it, that’s a big part of the battle. It’s not a death sentence, and that’s what my neurologist stressed to me when he looked at my face, and saw a tear running down my cheek. It’s not a death sentence; there are a lot worse diseases than this.”

“The exercises in the program are movements geared specifically toward the disease,” said Murphy. “The program will be able to improve the quality of life and reduce the fall risk associated with the disease. In some cases, it helps to reduce the amount of medications being taken.”

For more information on the “PWR 4 Life” program, and to make reservations to attend the special educational session February 1, call 601-399-0530.

Southern Eye Center of Hattiesburg was on hand giving free glaucoma testing. Dr. Abumere Akinwale, who specializes in retina, vitreous, and diabetes, said that by the end of the year, Southern Eye Center will open a clinic and surgery center in Laurel. “We see a lot of patients from Laurel in Hattiesburg,” said Akinwale, “and, patients in Laurel want to stay in Laurel. So, we are building a clinic and surgery center in Laurel, and will hopefully be here by the end of 2016, so that people that have eye issues can get their eyes taken care of here. If it’s surgery they need, then they can stay here in Laurel. If it’s just eye care, they can stay here in Laurel and get the best care. We have every subspecialty there is except pediatrics.”

Dr. Akinwale said that she is a retinal specialist, and that she and another retinal specialist with Southern Eye Center, Dr. Jaime Jiménez, will be coming to Laurel.

To cut or not to cut

By Kay Scarborough

That is my current dilemma. When the weather warms up a little, I'll get back to work outside. First on the list, trim back the crape myrtles, remove the old seed pods and any branches that are weak or cross over other branches. Also, I enjoy the trunks of crape myrtles and like to keep them free of low growing branches. Most of my shrubs have "legs", the Victorians would not approve.

When you get around to the ornamental grasses - cut shorter grasses down to 4 to 6 inches in height and taller grass, such as pampas, to 6 to 12 inches. Wear gloves, this stuff will cut you.

We took advantage of the milder weather this week and started cleaning up the flower beds. First we cut back the brown perennials and removed debris from summer annuals. Next chore, raked up and replaced the old mulch, or just freshened it up with a new layer on top. You only want about 4" of mulch, any more can smother the plant roots. I like the look of pine straw; but wood mulch - cedar, cypress or eucalyptus, is a natural pest deterrent. So, we use cypress near the house and pine straw farther out in the yard. We buy mulch by the pickup load from a local nursery.

Look around for free mulch, some people actually still have pine trees and may want to clean up the straw. You can use the mulch to lay out new flower beds. Big beds under and around trees can make mowing easier, you don't need to get around each individual tree. Do remember that trees take up lots of water and the plants in your beds can suffer because of this. Don't till the soil under trees, this can damage the shallow roots and may harm the tree. At planting time, pull back the mulch and dig individual holes for your plants. This technique is recommended for shrubs, ground covers and perennials.

After cutting back large lantana, plant daffodils in the bare spot, 6" spacing is good. The daffodils will add color while you wait for the lantana to come back out. A bonus, the new lantana growth will cover the daffodil leaves when they get ugly. Do not remove the daffodil leaves, this is where they get the energy to bloom again for you next year.

The finches were avoiding the new tube feeder we hung out for them this week; so I tied a bright ribbon on it to get their attention and they swooped right in and started feeding. This is not scientific, but it worked for us.

Have a great week and keep planning ahead, spring is coming.

Oak Park hosts MLK Celebration

Oak Park Elementary School recently hosted a celebration honoring the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. With assistance from the Laurel Fire and Laurel Police departments, the celebration began with a parade around the neighborhood, followed by a special program in the auditorium. The celebration was sponsored by America Reads Mississippi Tutors with a Mission. Pictured: Oak Park Elementary School Speech and Debate team members Cameron Malone, Ry'Kia Amos and Malachi Crosby wrote and performed their own version of the "I Have a Dream" speech by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Submitted
