Travel Thoughts By Kim

Let's go on an adventure together....to Galveston!

A main goal for my visit to Galveston was to eat some good seafood! This lunch of a shrimp cocktail and lobster bites was the perfect way to check that off the list!

Let's continue on with the next stop on my recent Texas Adventure. If you didn't get to read the first article in this series, either scroll back two weeks to find what I wrote about the Houston area OR put "Houston" in the search box to bring it up. Part Two in the series is all about Galveston, TX.

Day Three of my trip - it was a Wednesday - I left Conroe, TX after breakfast and drove about 90 miles south on I-45 to Galveston. One of my main goals for this adventure was to visit a Gulf Coast city so I could get some good seafood and I chose Galveston. It turned out to be a good choice.

The city of Galveston is situated on Galveston Island - a barrier island off the Texas Gulf Coast near the mainland. The island is oriented generally northeast-southwest, with the Gulf of Mexico on the east and south, West Bay on the west, and Galveston Bay on the north side. The island's main access point from the mainland is the Interstate Highway 45 causeway.

Something you really need to be prepared for when going to Galveston is that most of the parking is paid parking - either paid lots or metered parking on the streets. And, I don't know about off seasons, but the traffic was really heavy while I was there and I imagine during peak seasons it is even worse with everyone trying to get as close to the beaches and attractions as possible - it is a small island. Because of the traffic and parking, there weren't a lot of safe places to pull over for quick photos, which I was sad about. But, I have my memories! It really is a beautiful island and I'm sorry I only planned to spend one day/night there.

I spent most of my time driving all over the island - mostly along the Seawall Blvd so that I could check out the beaches and see as much of the island as I could. It was a gorgeous day to be near the water and to take a nice cruise on Galveston Bay.

Galveston has a lot of pirate legends and attractions, including this replica of a pirate ship docked at Pier 21 on Galveston Bay.

I had booked a Dolphin Cruise on Galveston Bay. I love water tours and tend to look for them whenever I'm in an area with an interesting shoreline, lake, river, or the like. It is always great to see the area from the water! The cruise took off from Pier 21. I got there a bit early, so I wandered around the pier and decided to have lunch at Willie G's Steaks and Seafood right on the pier. They had outdoor seating and I enjoyed an amazing lunch of shrimp cocktail and lobster bites (tempura battered chunks of lobster) and a glass of sweet tea! It was so delicious - I was in heaven - it was a great way to check off "eat some good seafood" from the list of goals for the adventure.

On the cruise, we saw several dolphins, pelicans, and other water birds. There was a pirate ship replica docked at Pier 21 as well as a tall ship. The coolest thing we saw on the cruise was the SS Selma - a WWI concrete tanker ship that was scuttled in shallow waters in Galveston Bay in 1920. The ship was made entirely of concrete and sits in the bay partially submerged and partially up out of the water. They attempted to pull it to shore, but there was too much damage to it, so they decided to just leave it there as a warning to other ships of the shallow waters in the bay. If you have your own boat, you can anchor near it and swim over to board it and explore. We also got a glimpse of the USS Texas battleship that is dry docked in Galveston Bay undergoing repairs to the floating museum. The USS Texas is the only battleship that survived both WWI and WWII and is one of the oldest surviving naval ships, having turned 100 years old in 2014.

The hotel I chose was the LaQuinta Galveston West Seawall. It was an awesome choice that I would definitely recommend if you're in Galveston. It wasn't technically "waterfront", so the price was a tad less expensive than the waterfront hotels, but it was right behind a row of waterfront ones, so it was just a short walk to the beaches across Seawall Blvd - GREAT location! The hotel was clean and comfortable, had a very good free breakfast, and an amazing shower! Great choice!

One attraction I wish I had known about sooner was Moody Gardens! It has pyramids with aquariums and a tunnel that you walk through while sharks swim all around and above you, monkeys that wander around loose, and other cool stuff to do. But, I learned about it while on the cruise - our guides talked about it. I looked it up and the tickets were very pricey - too much to make it worth it to pay for entry so late in the day. But, I think it is something to definitely look into putting on any agenda for a visit to Galveston. There are also piers that go out into the Gulf of Mexico that have rides and restaurants and shops all along them. Lots of stuff to do....if only I had allowed more time there! But --- I really just wanted to see the coast and eat seafood, so I wasn't thinking about maybe wanting to do other things, too! Hahaha But, my mind is racing with thoughts of taking a cruise ship out of Galveston sometime so that I can spend a couple days leading up to or after the cruise doing some of the things I missed on this trip. Hhhmmmm - yep, a definite possibility.

Check out my blog post with more photos of Galveston here: <https://thoughtsbykim.com/2023/04/30/2023-texas-adventure-galveston/>. My next article in two weeks will focus on San Antonio.

How to pick the perfect wedding dress

Planning a wedding requires making many different decisions. The choice of wedding attire is among the most crucial decisions that couples must make. Whether the wedding is traditional or customized to suit couples' personalities, brides and grooms want to look their best when they say, "I do."

Many brides-to-be spend a significant amount of time looking for their ideal wedding dresses. What defines the right gown depends on personal preference and is unique to the person doing the search. For example, a dress that sets a fairy tale scene for one bride may not necessarily align with the tastes of another. According to Bridal Atelier, the average bride-to-be tries on try three to seven dresses before finding the right one. The following tips can help those shopping for dresses find a look that makes their big day even more special.

1. Don't get hung up on perfection

Many brides get caught up as they search for the one dress they consider perfect. No dress is likely to check every box. Getting hung up on a desire to find a dress that has it all may make it hard to see the beauty in other dresses. Remember, with the talents of an experienced tailor or seamstress, most dresses can be tweaked to suit your vision of the ideal gown.

2. Consider the season

Getting married during the hazy and humid days of summer is an entirely different experience than tying the knot during the heart of winter. The fabric of the wedding dress should complement the season, whether it's lightweight and breezy for a warm day, or more substantial and cozy when darting to the ceremony in snowfall.

3. Flatter your figure

Chances are brides-to-be know which cuts and styles are most flattering. Mimic those style choices in the wedding dress. If you want to take focus off of full hips, choose a basque or asymmetrical waistline. Gowns with substantial straps or higher necklines may be better if you have a larger chest. Sheath and mermaid style gowns are options if you are confident with your figure and want to show off your curves.

4. Try a bit of this and that

Don't go into a wedding dress appointment with firm parameters. Although you may have a ball gown style in mind, after trying on other options something with a less voluminous silhouette may actually catch your eye. Many brides also automatically defer to strapless gowns, when various straps and sleeves can be very appealing.

5. Arrive with a firm budget

Weddings can be costly. It's important to set a budget for the wedding dress just as you will with other expenses. There are plenty of dress designers across a wide spectrum of price points. A willingness to consider and ultimately purchase a less costly dress can help you stay on budget.

Browsing through magazines and looking online can provide wedding dress inspiration as well. Also, when in doubt, defer to the experts at bridal shops who have experience choosing dresses that brides are inclined to love.

Do you have HEEL pain or ARCH pain?

HEEL SPUR SYNDROME/PLANTAR FASCIITIS is a common problem among people who are active. It starts as a dull intermittent pain in the heel and progresses to a sharp persistent pain. Classically, it is worse in the morning with the first few steps, after sitting, after standing or after walking.

- Plantar fasciitis often begins with irritation and tearing of the fibrous band of tissue on the bottom of the foot, which may eventually result in the formation of a heel spur.
- Contributing factors: Flat pronated feet, high arched feet, poor shoe support, increase age, sudden weight increase, increased activity level, family tendency.
- 95% of our patients' symptoms are resolved with conservative treatment, avoiding surgical intervention.
- We also offer surgical procedures with the best post op success rates using Endoscopic Plantar Fasciotomy techniques (minimal incisions and scarring; often back in a shoe in 1 week).

Royalton-Hartland's Music Education Program Receives National Recognition for the 5th year in a row

Middleport, NY - 5/8/23 - The Royalton-Hartland Central School District has been honored with the Best Communities for Music Education designation from The NAMM Foundation for its outstanding commitment to music education. Now in its 24th year, the Best Communities for Music Education designation is awarded to districts that demonstrate outstanding achievement in efforts to provide music access and education to all students.

To qualify for the Best Communities designation, Royalton-Hartland answered detailed questions about funding, graduation requirements, music class participation, instruction time, facilities, support for the music program and community music-making programs. Responses were verified by school officials and reviewed by The Music Research Institute at the University of Kansas.

"At Roy-Hart we highly value all of the opportunities provided to our students, making them well-rounded and prepared for their college and career choices," said Jill Heck, Superintendent. "Maintaining our Best Communities for Music Education represents our commitment to teaching students the love and joy of music, as well as the discipline of rehearsal, the dedication to performances, and fully embracing the RAMS Way. This distinction is one more way that shows we are Respectful, Accountable, Motivated and Successful in our music program!"

Since the passage of the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) in 2015 and a stated emphasis on a well-rounded education, many school districts have re-committed to music and arts education programs. During the pandemic, music and arts programs were a vital component to keeping students engaged in school. ESSA provides designated funding for well-rounded educational opportunities through Title IV Part A Student Academic Success and Achievement grants. NAMM Foundation research has revealed that these grants are being widely used by school districts to address instructional gaps in access to music and arts education.

"The music department at Royalton-Hartland has been an integral part of my life in all aspects, and what I have experienced will carry with me throughout my entire life," said Amelia Konstanty, a 12th grade student musician at Roy-Hart. "Since elementary school I have been a part of the Orchestra, I recently joined the Chorus as a senior, and had the amazing opportunity to take Music Theory to expand upon my knowledge of music. I am so grateful for the teachers as part of the musical staff at Roy-Hart as they have been nothing but welcoming and knowledgeable, providing me with utmost opportunities such as participating in All-Counties, All-States, String Festivals, and side-by-side orchestras. Not only did I find an education at Roy-Hart in music, but a close-knit community where I feel safe and I'm allowed to truly be myself, and have developed some of my closest lifelong friendships. I will never forget what I have learned as a part of the Royalton-Hartland music department, as it has opened up the doors to musical opportunities I would have never otherwise had. Music has shaped me to be the person I am today and has had such a positive impact on my life and character."

Research into music education continues to demonstrate educational/cognitive and social skill benefits for children who make music: After two years of music education, researchers found that participants showed more substantial improvements in how the brain processes speech and reading scores than their less-involved peers and that students who are involved in music are not only more likely to graduate high school but also to attend college as well. In addition, everyday listening skills are stronger in musically trained children than in those without music training. Significantly, listening skills are closely tied to the ability to: perceive speech in a noisy background, pay attention, and keep sounds in memory. Later in life, individuals who took music lessons as children show stronger neural processing of sound: young adults and even older adults who have not played an instrument for up to 50 years show enhanced neural processing compared to their peers. Not to mention, social benefits include conflict resolution, teamwork skills, and how to give and receive constructive criticism. Royalton-Hartland is a rural public school district in Upstate New York. Although a small school district (student population: 1179), Royalton-Hartland has a vibrant arts program that is fully supported by both the community, the school administration and the Board of Education.

About The NAMM Foundation

The NAMM Foundation is a nonprofit supported in part by the National Association of Music Merchants and its 15,000 member companies and individual professionals. The foundation advances active participation in music making across the lifespan by supporting scientific research, philanthropic giving, and public service programs. ## Cool off with a Refreshing Cocktail

Few things beat sitting outdoors in the summer listening to the water lap the sides of the pool or ocean waves crash onto the shore. A tasty cocktail can help one cool off and make such evenings even more relaxing.

Rosé is tailor-made for warm evenings. With its pretty pink hue and delicate flavor, rosé can feel as if the essence of summer has been bottled. Recently, a frozen rosé drink dubbed "frosé" emerged and made rosé even more popular. Summertime refreshment has never been the same.

There are different variations of frosé. Some concoctions pour rosé over sherbet while others mix the wine with various liqueurs before freezing. This "Best Frosé Recipe," from husband and wife home cooking experts Sonja and Alex Overhiser, is frosé at its most basic — without skimping on flavor. Keep in mind that this mixture takes six hours to freeze, so prepare accordingly if you will be serving guests.

Best Frosé Recipe Serves 6

- 1 750 ml bottle of favorite rosé wine (one you like to drink)
- 8 large strawberries (about 1 1/2 cups ripe strawberries, halved), plus more for garnish
- 1 tablespoon honey (or maple syrup for vegan)

1. Open the rosé and pour 2/3 cup into a glass measuring cup; set aside for when serving.
2. Remove the tops of the strawberries and cut them in half.
3. In a blender, blend the remaining rosé, strawberries and honey until smooth and fully combined. Then pour the mixture through a strainer and into a covered baking dish.
4. Transfer the baking dish to the freezer and freeze at least 6 hours, or overnight. The alcohol in the mixture will keep it a slushy texture instead of freezing solid. Blend the mixture again until it comes to a fluffy texture.
5. To serve, place the blended mixture into a glass. Then pour a splash of rosé into each glass (this step is important: it gives the final texture and brings in the character of the rosé). If desired, garnish with strawberries and serve.
