Seen your provider lately? It's probably time.

By Shelby Rojas, NP, Speaks Spanish & English, Oak Orchard Health Batavia

The COVID-19 pandemic delayed important screenings and checkups. Let's fix that.

We'll help with your other healthcare needs, too.

If you've put off seeing a provider because of COVID-19, you're not alone. Even though life looks a little closer to normal now, a lot of people are still holding off seeing their medical providers, or dentist, or getting important health screenings. But it's important to make sure you're headed in the right direction with your health.

Get screened to manage your conditions.

- By checking in with your Oak Orchard Health provider, you can make sure that your medications are doing what they're supposed to do and screen you for serious diseases. In some cases, it's important to check in every three to six months, depending on your age and your challenges. For instance: Over 40? You may be overdue for cancer screenings like mammograms, pap smears, colonoscopies, or others.
- Diabetic? It's important to get blood work done more frequently so we can assess your numbers. Especially if you're on insulin. You also need to be checked on a regular basis for Diabetic Retinopathy, a condition that can affect your vision.
- That's also important for patients who have high cholesterol or thyroid disease. Know your numbers!
- If you're on blood pressure medication, it's crucial to be checked on a regular basis.
- Mental health is equally important. If you haven't checked in with your provider or therapist, don't wait any longer to make an appointment at Oak Orchard Health. We want to make sure you're doing okay.

- Get a ride to your appointments—If it's hard for you to keep appointments because of transportation, we can help. Oak Orchard Health can arrange a ride for you. Did you know we have our own van? We can help you get to appointments and to labs for bloodwork. And if you're on Medicaid, there are transportation resources for you, too.
- Connecting you to specialty providers—Your Oak Orchard primary care provider can do more than see you for a physical or sick visit. They can make sure you're getting caught up on other important care, like routine eye exams, foot care for diabetics, and mental health support. Even if we don't offer the service at one of our facilities, we can connect you to someplace that does. And if you have financial concerns, we can work with you to afford the care you need, too. Call (585) 637-3905 and ask for a facilitated enroller at your nearest OOH office.
- Connecting you to community resources—Our staff are connected to other organizations in the community that can help you in different ways, from the Office of the Aging to Social Security to Medicaid. And if you don't have health insurance, we can help you find the coverage you can afford.

Contact the Patient Engagement Services at Oak Orchard Health at (585) 589- 5613 ext. 1062.

No judgment—just encouragement.

COVID-19 has been hard on everyone. People don't always like to confide in others about their health problems. Whether it's a history of drug use, a change in your weight, or some other sensitive personal issue, there's no reason to feel embarrassed when you're getting healthcare. Providers aren't here to judge, we're here to help.

Get started today.

Call your local Oak Orchard Health office to set up an appointment to get caught up. And if you're in the Batavia area and your first language is Spanish, I'm a Spanish-speaking provider and I'm happy to communicate with you in Spanish. It can make the visit easier.

Is tea or coffee the healthier choice?

Millions of people consume coffee or tea, with some even enjoying multiple cups of these caffeinated beverages daily. Coffee is known to perk a person up in the morning, while tea is touted as a relaxing drink that can ease away stress. Some may wonder if one of these popular beverages is more beneficial for overall health than the other. Both, it turns out, have distinctive benefits.

Coffee and certain teas contain caffeine, a powerful stimulant for the central nervous system. Caffeine may improve endurance exercise outcomes and improve mental alertness. Healthline says that caffeine may reduce type 2 diabetes risk by improving insulin sensitivity. In addition, moderate caffeine intake has been linked to protective effects against dementias, metabolic syndrome and non-alcoholic fatty liver disease. Since coffee tends to have higher concentrations of caffeine than black tea (95 mg vs. 47 mg in an eight-ounce serving), it can provide more caffeine-related benefits than tea.

Both tea and coffee have high levels of antioxidants that can help people reduce their risk for certain illnesses. The National Cancer Institute reports that antioxidants in both tea and coffee have been shown to slow the growth of cancerous tumors. Tea may help lower cholesterol and the polyphenols in tea could boost good bacteria in the gut, according to Eat This, Not That! People may be more inclined to drink more coffee and tea so they can consume more antioxidants. However, excess coffee consumption can make people jittery from too much caffeine. Since tea has less caffeine, it might make for a better choice.

But tea and coffee provide similar health benefits, and one isn't necessarily better than the other.

Do you have HEEL pain or ARCH pain?

HEEL SPUR SYNDROME/PLANTAR FASCITIS is a common problem among people who are active. It starts as a dull intermittent pain in the heel which may progress to a sharp persistent pain. Classically, it is worse in the morning with the first few steps, after sitting, after standing, or after walking.

- Plantar fasciitis often begins with irritation and tearing of the fibrous band of tissue on the bottom of the foot, which may eventually result in the formation of a heel spur.

- Contributing factors: flat pronated feet, high arched feet, poor shoe support, increased age, sudden weight increase, increased activity level, family tendency.

- Approximately 2-3 times your body weight of force is exerted on each foot with walking. Flexible, non-custom molded arch support found at those advertised shoe stores cannot support these forces and usually do not provide long-lasting relief, do not come with a lifetime warranty, and are typically more expensive than custom-molded ones made by our office.

- 95 percent of our patients symptoms are resolved with conservative treatment, avoiding surgical intervention.

- We also offer surgical procedures with the best post-op success rates using Endoscopic Plantar Fasciotomy techniques and EPF resulting in minimal incisions and scarring, immediate ambulation and often back in a shoe in one week.

If you can't remember when your feet didn't hurt, now is the time to give us a call!

Travel Thoughts By Kim

Let's go on an adventure together....to San Antonio!

Taking one of the river cruises is a great way to see the River Walk in San Antonio.

Part three of my recent Texas Adventure covers day four and five in San Antonio. On day four, I left Galveston about 7:30 am to take the approximately four hour drive to San Antonio. The trip was all interstates, so I didn't get to see much of the countryside on the way. I was disappointed that I didn't get to see any pastures with long horn steer or ranches, but guess they were well hidden off the highway or maybe it wasn't the best part of Texas for that sort of thing. At any rate - it was a long, but pleasant drive.

I had booked a 48 hour Hop-on-Hop-off bus and River Walk cruise combo tour. So, I drove straight there. I highly recommend if going to downtown San Antonio that you contact your destination and ask about the best place to park. I found that the parking is all paid lots or metered street parking. Your destination can help you save some money and long walks - it could mean the difference between $25-30 per day and $6 per day or having to keep feeding the meter throughout the day. Also, when I called the Alamo, they gave me the GPS address for a nearby hotel because if I plugged the address for the Alamo in my GPS, it would have taken me to an inaccessible location due to construction. Call ahead and ask - you'll be glad you did!

I took the double decker open top bus to some of the stops and got off at the River Walk. WOW - I absolutely LOVED the River Walk - do yourself a favor and do NOT miss it if you're ever in San Antonio. It is a peaceful and beautiful oasis in the middle of the city with wonderful shops and restaurants and lots of gardens, statues, and other cool things to see and do along the way. I am very glad I had a ticket for the river cruise. It was a great way to see the entire River Walk from the water on about a 30 minute ride with a wonderful guide who talked all about the history of everything we saw. It is a long stretch, so I'm sure I wouldn't have gotten to see it all if I tried to walk the whole way down one side and back the other. I did stroll around a bit after the cruise before I went back to the bus stop to finish the city tour.

After the tour, I went to the hotel. I chose the La Quinta at the airport. It was a nice hotel, but the location wasn't ideal. The write up made it sound like it was close to the downtown area, but it was actually about a 15 minute drive to downtown in very congested traffic. The upside was that I was only about two minutes from the airport the morning I had to fly out to head home! So, it was fine, but if I had it to do again, I'd pay a little more for something right downtown where I could have left my car parked and walked to most of what I planned to do.

The River Walk in San Antonio is a must see with lots of shops and restaurants and beautiful settings.

You can't go to San Antonio without a visit to The Alamo - it doesn't disappoint!

For day 5, I had booked tickets for the Alamo. Now - you need to know something very important about The Alamo. It is FREE to get into most of the park, but they do require you to reserve an entry time in advance to go in the church and you can only do that on their website - www.thealamo.org (this is also a great link for tons of information about The Alamo). Apparently, they only allow about 100 people inside at any given time, so they control that with the reserved entry time tickets. But, you can stay as long as you want to get the full experience and if it isn't one of their peak tourist seasons, you likely won't encounter a lot of people - that was the case for me, so that was nice. While it is free to enter the park, you are able to purchase either a headset that narrates a self-guided tour or you can pay a little more for a tour guide that takes you through with a small group of people. Also, the museum on site is a small extra charge, if that interests you. Be sure to visit the website to read all about what to expect so you can decide what, if anything, extra you may want to pay for. I paid for the headset and entry to the museum, so the entire visit ended up costing me about $20. I didn't really use the headset, though - most everything had visual aids to explain what I was looking at and, personally, I found the headset to be a distraction. However, the small fees help support the upkeep of the park, so it was well worth it.

I very much enjoyed The Alamo. I spent several hours wandering around the park, looking at all the buildings and exhibits, and just sitting in the peaceful and beautiful gardens. I was struck by the fact that this nearly 300 year old historic site is smack dab in the center of a large, modern city. It's like walking back in time when you stroll through the gates and reality sinks in when you get glimpses of the city when looking out over the walls of the property. Really cool. I can say that I will definitely "remember the Alamo" and my time there. Don't miss the chance to embrace a little history when you visit San Antonio.

After I finished with the Alamo, I drove to Austin for the late afternoon and evening.....but, I'll leave my stories about Austin for my next article in two weeks.....watch for it!

The Long Barrack at the Alamo is the oldest building on the Alamo historic site, dating back almost 300 years to the site's origins as Mission San Antonio de Valero. It served as the quarters and offices of the Spanish missionaries.
