Curious Kids Museum Unveils Ambitious Expansion Plan

Nearly a year after a fire shut down the Curious Kids Museum downtown St. Joseph, its doors are getting ready to open – and possibly expand.

At the regular St. Joseph City Commission meeting on Monday, Curious Kids Museum Executive Director Lori Marciniak updated commissioners on the museum, which sits in the historic Memorial Hall at 415 Lake Boulevard on the bluff.

“The building has been repaired,” Marciniak said. “We are trying to get open still this summer. Ironically, there are issues with smoke alarms, so obviously we won’t open before that, but we’re working on it. Most of the exhibits are back in. ... We’re super excited.”

Marciniak and the museum’s board of directors also submitted an offer to purchase the building from the city for $140,000. Currently, the museum leases the building from the city, and according to Marciniak, it still has more than 22 years left on its current lease.

According to Marciniak, The Curious Kids Museum and its board intends to completely renovate the existing building and add approximately 4,000 square feet in a multi-million dollar investment into the property. The two parties have been in discussions regarding a possible purchase since last fall.

“The Curious Kids Museum would ultimately like to turn these tragic events into a moment of growth for the museum and the city of St. Joseph,” Marciniak said. “This is an opportunity to evolve the Curious Kids Museum into an even more captivating and inspiring place for children and their adults, through complete renovation edition and expansion.”

Proposed building improvements include new glass galleries, a rooftop deck, exterior renovations and a renovated exhibit area. According to Marciniak, the total cost of the project would be about $8 million – $2 mil-

Fly on the Ford Returns This Weekend!

It hardly feels like two years have passed since the “Tin Goose” made her inaugural stop in Southwest Michigan, something that one of my good friends practically vibrated with excitement when he shared the news. Vince DesJardins, Executive Director of the Southwest Michigan Regional Airport stood in front of myself, and 30ish colleagues and peers and announced that they finally had a date for the Ford Tri-Motor to land and invited each of us out to see it ourselves!

Jumping ahead to this year, that same excitement recently returned as Vince shared this massive piece of America’s aviation history returns once again this weekend! As one of America’s first mass-produced airliners, the Ford Tri-Motor, will be on display as well as offering flights and photo-ops for those interested in experiencing the energy, passion, and excitement of the Roaring '20s.

The Ford Tri-Motor, nicknamed the "Tin Goose" was designed specifically to provide another new market opportunity for Henry Ford's Ford Motor Company in the post-World War I era: airline travel. After realizing the potential for luxurious mass air transportation, Ford began to produce the first three Tri-Motors featuring an open cockpit before transitioning over to enclosed cabins.

It was a dream and personal goal of Vince's to have the Ford Tri-Motor make a stop in Southwest Michigan, creating a once-in-a-lifetime bucket list opportunity for anyone who loves history, Michigan, and aviation. So after the successful inaugural visit in August of 2021, Vince and his team began discussing its return.

Fly On The Ford is open to families, and will offer opportunities for rides on the Ford Tri-Motor Thursday from 2:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. and Friday through Sunday from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Each flight will take approximately 30 minutes, 15 of which will be spent in the air. Passengers are required to remain seated while in the air, but each seat is located next to a window providing spectacular views of the Southwest Michigan scenery. Cameras are welcome and encouraged onboard!

Those interested in taking flight inside the Ford Tri-Motor can purchase tickets in advance - $95 per adult, $65 per child 17 and under at FlyTheFord.org or by calling 877-952-5395. Walk up tickets will be available for an additional charge.

A few fun facts about this specific airplane: Of the 199 Tri-Motors that were built, this one was number 146 off the assembly line and first flew on August 21, 1929. For six years, it provided air service between Havana and Santiago de Cuba. Astronaut Neil Armstrong's very first flight in 1936 was on board this plane at the age of 5, 33 years prior to his historic walk on the moon. During the 1950's it saw time as both a crop duster and a borate bomber in aerial fire fighting. 1973 began its twelve-year restoration process before it made its debut in 1985 and headed promptly into a museum until 1991. Post 1991, it's been returned to the former and original role of delighting passengers in the sky.

If you're not familiar with it, the Southwest Michigan Regional Airport is home to over 75 privately owned aircraft being utilized for business and pleasure; as well as a Fortune 200 companies' fleet of international aircraft. Over 400 companies from the United States and Canada annually fly their aircraft into Southwest Michigan Regional Airport (KBEH), which the Michigan Department of Transportation estimates contributed to over $65 million to the local economy. The Airport also provides charter flights and in times of medical emergencies, transporting the critically ill or as organ donor transport. The US Coast Guard utilizes the airport during refueling operations on Lake Michigan. To learn more about the Airport visit SWMIAirport.com/

You never know what you'll discover happening here in Southwest Michigan! For more events like this visit smrchamber.com or connect with me directly: sspoonholtz@smrchamber.com or 269-932-4040. See you around Southwest Michigan this summer!

PET OF THE MONTH

Bugsy

Bugsy is an 8-month-old Lab/Springer Spaniel Mix. He is a little too playful for cats, selective with other dogs, and up to date on vaccinations. He is not neutered at this time. He is looking for a family who is active and will be patient with him and help him to learn his manners.

HOMETOWN HERO

GAYLORD ROCHEFORT

This month, we are pleased to honor Gaylord Rochefort as our Hometown Hero! Gaylord actively served as a Specialist E5 in the US Army for 2 years and now resides in Bridgman, MI with his wife. Nominated by his daughter Monica, she states her father deserves this recognition because:

“Gaylord is a veteran and has dedicated his life to helping other veterans receive the assistance they need and deserve. He is a Vietnam Vet with lasting effects not only on his body but also on his mind from his time at war.”

In 1965, Gaylord said he was drafted into the military by Uncle Sam and was a part of the first division to go and fight in Vietnam. Something he is really proud of accomplishing for his country. This courageous act of service he has since been awarded two Army Commendation Medals! When asked what his most memorable experience was while in service, Gaylord reminisced on his time on a Navy ship where they traveled around to different areas of the world, making a stop through the Panama Canal. Gaylord shared that he always felt supported by the Army and that “those that were working hard were rewarded.”

After returning home on March 31st, 1967, Gaylord found it difficult to adjust as his return home was during the time of the 1967 riots. So although he was happy to be back in the US, it wasn't a great time in our country. He decided to enroll at LMC where he joined a Veteran Group and later went on to finish his degree at Western Michigan University.

Gaylord stays involved with his community by helping at his church, collecting boxes of goods to donate to the VA, and participating in the Veteran's Day events at his granddaughter's school. At the age of 79, Gaylord also stays active in walking local 5Ks that help give back to various organizations like Lory's Place!

As a closing statement, the number one piece of advice he would give to any Vet returning home is to “sign up for the VA benefits you have earned and deserved.”

Thank you for your service to our country and our community, Gaylord Rochefort!

Plagiarizing My Mom

Every year, around this time, I write about my mom, because of Mother's Day and her birthday, which aren't far apart.

This year is different – the first Mother's Day and birthday since her passing. That means there won't be any of her "Aw, shucks, you should write about something else." Which was gen-yu-ine shucks-ing, because my mother was right at the top of the list of "People Who Would NEVER Call Attention To Themselves."

Well, tough toenails mom; because I've determined that the tradition of our annual "Let's Embarrass Mom" column shall continue!

I turn for plagiarism – I mean, inspiration – to my Mom's "Grandparent Book" – a project she did for all her grandkids, which includes her personal answers to dozens of questions about her life and times.

Let's begin at the very beginning. The path that led to my Mom's co-authorship of this column began when she met my Dad, an encounter she describes thusly in her "Grandparent Book": "I met him on a blind date in March, 1946, when my dorm at DePauw University had a dance. The dancing area was so dark (one blue light bulb in the corner) that he asked me for another date in the daytime so we could see what each other looked like."

Fortunately she liked what she saw, or I suppose I wouldn't be here.

My Mom remembers this about her wedding day: "Rev. Carl Shafer, the assistant pastor, performed the ceremony, and it was his first wedding. He was young, and was so nervous that he could hardly hold his Bible, his hands were shaking so much."

Of course, Mom was a little excited by that day too, even 50 years later, when she wrote in her "Grandparent Book" that she was also "very neervous." (As a first-grade teacher for 26 years, and an impeccable speller, Mom was never happy I mentioned this...she usually grounded me for a few weeks.)

Mom had her five kids in slightly less than nine years, starting in a year I can't mention because it would reveal my big sister's age, and ending in a year I can't mention because it would reveal my little sister's age. And if I reveal them, they would both ground me for life.

Regardless, what happened from that first unmentionable year on became Mom's answer to the "Grandparent Book" question "What was your most important learning experience?" Mom answers, "Raising a family. We tried to be honest and decent parents. We wanted a healthy family, where we would like each other and have fun with each other. Even with disagreements and struggles and pain and frustrations, we could forgive and smile and love each other.

"We found much happiness, even though there were struggles and sacrifices and responsibilities along the way. There was joy and happiness in the course of our family life."

To appreciate what kind of person my Mom is, simply update these last few sentences to the present tense. Though her flesh is weak, her spirit still strives to reflect joy and happiness. She shows us her best effort to accept life gracefully and gratefully, reflecting one of her favorite sayings: "Good examples have more value than good advice."

Thanks, Mom, for your life of good examples. I love you.

Destination Restoration

And the God of all grace, who called you to his eternal glory in Christ, after you have suffered a little while, will himself restore you and make you strong, firm and steadfast. To him be the power for ever and ever. Amen. ~ 1 Peter 5:10,11

Many of us can look back and laugh at family road trips we took as children or with our children. They were torturous for children and parents alike. The frequent bathroom breaks. The incessant questions. "Honey, do you know where you are going?" "Do I need to pull this car over?" "Are we there yet?" The road seemed to stretch on forever and the destination forever out of reach. But once you arrived, the glory of the destination often outweighed and outshined the frustration of the journey.

Suffering during our journey through this life as we head toward heaven can be just as torturous, indeed, more so. We do not tend to look back on tough times with humor. The road of suffering seems to go on forever. The end, forever out of reach. We break down frequently. We question God incessantly. "Lord, how is this good for me? Have you forgotten about me? Can you even put a stop to this?"

The apostle Peter assures us that God can. He is still in control. His ability to act on our behalf has not run dry. He will always have the power to deliver us. Therefore, we have no right or reason to squabble with God. Regardless of how much of our life is marked with suffering (even if it is every single day of our lives), God is always the same. He is always full of grace. Always giving all his mercy to all his children. He holds nothing back.

If you doubt it, look to Jesus. Because of Jesus, you have a share in God's eternal glory. Your days of suffering will end. And when they do, God will be there to greet you. The end of that road will reveal a destination that is extraordinary and unending in its splendor. Compared to the glories of eternal life, the sufferings of earthly life will seem little and light.

Are we there yet?

Prayer: Lord Jesus, restore to me the joy of your salvation and grant me a willing spirit to sustain me. Amen.

SW Michigan Farmer Asks Congress For A More Balanced Approach

The next time you're in the produce section of the grocery store, family farmers want you choosing locally grown fruits and vegetables.

Fred Leitz, one of the owners and operators of Leitz Farms in Sodus was headed to Washington, DC again this week, telling lawmakers it's getting harder to compete with the fruit and vegetable prices countries like Mexico can offer. Consequently, consumers sometimes avoid local produce in favor of cheaper, foreign alternatives.

It's the fourth time this year he's been to the nation's capital, to meet with lawmakers about changing federal agriculture policy.

Leitz said the difference between Mexico and the US for the cost to produce fresh fruits and vegetables is stark.

"They're paying workers $10 a day to my $21 an hour. And they're shipping produce at the same time I am, into the same markets," said Leitz. "It's having a devastating effect on family farming."

Leitz said one problem is the Adverse Effect Wage Rate - a federal policy that's being administered by the US Department of Labor.

Leitz said there's too much discretion left to the Labor Department and they're driving up farm worker wages.

He added that's having a devastating impact on family farms. He's asking Congress to rework the legislation, so it works as intended and keeps US farmers in business.

Dave Ramsey

Financial Expert
The Ramsey Show

Dave Says Your Financial Life Depends on It

Dear Dave,
I've been struggling for about a year, ever since I made a stupid new-college-graduate decision to finance a car. It's a 2018 Jeep Compass, and I owe $21,000 on it. The trade-in value is about $11,000, so I really got stung on the sticker price and everything else. I also have $85,000 in student loan debt and around $7,500 on credit cards. The good news is, I make $63,000 at my job, and that should increase to $75,000 by January of next year. My girlfriend and I are renting an apartment and engaged to be married in 2025. How do I clean all this up before then?

Austin
Dear Austin,
Well, the good news is, you have the rest of your life to never make this kind of mistake again. I'm really sorry you're going through all this, son. What a horrible thing to experience right after college.

So, you're $10,000 upside down on a vehicle you owe $21,000 on, right? The truth is, you're kind of stuck. If you're serious about getting out of this mess and not repeating the same mistakes twice, you're going to be working like a dog for the next year or two. Right now, you need a serious side job nights and weekends—maybe two. And I'm talking bare-bones living. No vacations, and no eating out for a while. You don't need to see the inside of a restaurant unless you're working there. Get what I'm saying? No unnecessary spending. Period. On top of all this, you've got to start living on a strict, written monthly budget.

Now, about your fiancée. I get the desire to fix things before you get married. But married people work together on this kind of stuff all the time. Believe it or not, there's no perfect time to get married. I mean, it sounds like you two have already decided to go there and figured out neither one of you are perfect. That's just called being human. So, there's really no reason to wait on tying the knot at this point. And the truth is, the two of you can whip your finances into shape faster and much more efficiently working on it together—as a married couple.

Austin, I want you tear into this debt like your life depends on it. Because guess what, dude? It does!

— Dave

The Pet Corner

Kittens, kittens everywhere and each one cuter than the last. So many kittens that foster homes are overflowing. Rescues are always looking for more folks who are able to foster, so if you think this is something you would like to do, contact Animal Aid or Paws of Hope and they'll be happy to tell you what fostering entails. Donations to the rescues are always appreciated and the easiest way to do it is to check out their Facebook pages and also for the Humane Society of Southwest Michigan. Some immediate needs for the HSSM include Purina One wet dog food, Milkbones, wet and dry kitten and cat food, cat treats, toilet bowl cleaner, hand soap, 33-gallon trash bags, and Tide laundry pods. Amazon wish lists are also an easy way to see what is needed and have items sent right to the foster home. Check out the Facebook pages for links to those lists.

We all sure need a laugh nowadays, and I thought these quotes were funny but also gave cause for thought. Thank you to the Carroll County Veterinary Clinic's Instagram page for the following.

"I don't care what anyone thinks of me, except for dogs. I want dogs to like me."

"I don't think it's fair that only roosters are allowed to start the day screaming. (But if a dog barks, look out.)"

"If you love someone let them nap. (Especially if it's a cat.)"

"If a black cat crosses your path, he probably has some important cat stuff to do. (And will not bring you bad luck.)"

"Dogs are living proof that good still exists in this world."

"Running feels great, unless you compare it to not running. (But a Labrador retriever will tell you differently.)"

"Cats can memorize 120 commands. But they don't want to."

"Whoever said diamonds are a girl's best friend never owned a dog."

"My dog will eat anything until you put a pill in it. (Ha-ha, yep.)"

"Dog is such a small word for something that takes up so much room in your heart."

"She believed she could but her cat was in her lap, so she didn't. (Yep to this too. So much doesn't get done due to a cat in my lap.)"

"Home is where the dog hair sticks to everything but the dog."

"The inventor of the doorbell did not own a dog."

"We're sorry, said no cat ever."

"I told my cat you are not the boss of me. He disagreed."

Speaking of cats, we recently went through a bout of illness with Zombie. He stopped eating and just wanted to lay on my bed. He'd done this before, when his allergies got the better of him and he developed an upper respiratory infection. Respiratory infections can move quickly in cats and take them down, so I scheduled a vet visit to try and ward off whatever was ailing him. Come to find out, he had an unhappy liver. No clue why. Maybe just age, as he and his brother are now twelve. After several weeks of treatment, he's back to eating pretty much whatever you put in front of him and up to his usual shenanigans. In fact, when he once again started jumping up on tables and doing other irritating things, we were like, oh look, he's doing that! He must be feeling better! Which all goes to prove our pets really are the boss of us.
