Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A change that you hoped for is coming down the line, but you still need to be patient until more explanations are forthcoming. Continue to keep your enthusiasm in check.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your social life expands as new friends come into your life. But while you're having fun, your practical side also sees some positive business potential within your new circle.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your workplace situation continues to improve, but look for advantages you might have missed while changes were going on around you. A trusted colleague can help.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Resist the urge to hunker down in your bunker until things ease up. Instead, get rid of that woe-is-me attitude by getting up and getting out to meet old friends and make new ones.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Now that you're back enjoying the spotlight again, you should feel re-energized and ready to take on the challenge of bringing those big, bold plans of yours to completion.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A former friend would like to repair a relationship you two once enjoyed. Your positive response could have an equally positive impact on your life. Think about it.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Resist making impulsive decisions. Stay on that steady course as you continue to work out workplace problems. Be patient. All will soon be back in balance.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You might feel confident about taking a promising offer, but continue to be alert for what you're not being told about it. Don't fret. Time is on your side.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) People dear to you might be planning a way to show appreciation for all that you've done for them. Accept the honor graciously. Remember, you deserve it.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Congratulations. Your self-confidence is on the rise. This could be a good time to tackle those bothersome situations you've avoided both at home and at work.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You feel obligated to return a favor. (Of course, you do.) But heed advice from those close to you, and do nothing until you know for sure what's being asked of you.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your loving reassurance helped revive a once-moribund relationship. But be wary of someone who might try to do something negative to reverse this positive turn of events.

BORN THIS WEEK: You are a wonderful leader who can foster community and bring people together to form long-lasting relationships.

The Potty

A three year old boy is sitting on the toilet. His Mother thinks he has been in there too long, so she goes in to see what's up. The little boy is sitting on the toilet reading, but about every ten seconds or so, he puts the book down grips the toilet seat with his left hand and hits himself on top of his head with his right hand.

His Mother says, "Billy, are you all right? You've been in here quite a while."

Billy says, I'm fine mommy, I just haven't been able to go "poopie" yet.

Mother says, "OK, but why are you hitting yourself on the head."

Billy says, "WORKS FOR KETCHUP"

Any public shelter has a wide assortment of animals on any given day. Today, I would like to tell you about the animal we have at the Danville shelter now for which I feel the sorriest.

Over twelve years ago, an owner released about ten diamond doves to us. I had never heard of this bird until then. We learned about the popularity of the breed when we put a picture in the newspaper. Breeders from all around the United States offered us a great deal of money for all of them. We declined; we don't allow the breeding of any animal adopted from us. We knew then we would need to be very cautious.

Diamond doves look like miniature mourning doves and they sound like them. They intrigued us.

The largest diamond doves are only about 7 1/2 inches long, including their tails. They are not biters, but also are not to be handled much because they are fragile. In the wild, they spend time on the ground, foraging for seeds and ants.

I loved the cooing sounds they made. It is common in the bird world for birds to attack each other, and two diamond doves for whatever reason, were the ones chosen to be pecked by the others. We removed those two and put them in a large cage in my office. They recovered from their wounds and went back into the bird room, still separated from the others. I would have adopted several of the doves for my home because of their calming effect, but I was at my financial and emotional level with four cockatiels, a cat, and a dog (at that time).

They only live to be ten years old, and one by one, they have all died, except one left. He has been alone for several years. I am a huge believer in animals having friends, and I feel sorry for him.

His cage is beside our flight cage that has parakeets in it, so he does have some bird friends. Do birds of different species and breeds understand the language of others? I hope so.

It is amazing that he has lived this long. Caged animals to me are very sad. There are many good owners of caged animals, but there are also many animals who just spend their entire lives in an unnatural environment.

I know that at some time, a staff member will tell me that the last remaining diamond dove has died. I will be happy for him, and will envision him flying through heaven.

Odd Fellows

Secret societies are, by their nature, mysteries to people who aren't part of them. But other people are aware of their symbols. This carved wooden shelf is decorated with symbols of the Odd Fellows. It features three chain links, representing the society's values of friendship, love and truth.

Other symbols have more general, familiar meanings. The heart-in-hand is a symbol for benevolence that is often associated with the Odd Fellows but not used exclusively by them. The All-Seeing Eye, sun and globe carry meanings of universal spirit. And the hourglass, scythe, skull and crossbones are well-known symbols of mortality.

The Odd Fellows is believed to have originated in medieval trade guilds, with "odd fellow" meaning someone who did odd jobs for a living. They did charitable work in their communities and provided financial assistance among members.

At one point, the Odd Fellows was the largest secret society in the U.S., but membership dropped during the Great Depression. Famous members included actor Charlie Chaplin, aviator Charles Lindbergh and multiple U.S. presidents, first ladies and political figures, including Franklin D. and Eleanor Roosevelt.

Q: My mother had an old oil lamp sitting on the kitchen table. It did not have the original chimney, but she was able to find another one that fit. The top globe is also missing. The bottom globe has four raised lion heads with biblical or desert scenes between them. I saw one very similar to ours in an antique shop, and the price was $600! Could mine be this valuable?

A. Oil lamps continue to be sought by collectors. The late 19th-century lamps were renamed "Gone with the Wind" lamps when they were used as set decorations in the 1939 movie. This style of oil lamp has two shades or globes with a chimney in between. Many have been modified for use as electrical lamps. Your lamp only has the bottom globe. Complete lamps that are similar to yours have recently sold for $75 to $275.

TIP: Store vintage textiles flat or roll them. Don't fold. It makes creases.

Project Imagine honors two graduating classes

Project Imagine, a community violence intervention collaborative to steer youths away from gang activity, on Wednesday honored two graduating classes, which included the program's first female class.

The female graduates were Miriyah Barbour, Krishawana Barbour-Allen, Rynia Hedrick, and Mykeria Pritchett. The male graduating class consisted of Amonteze Cunningham, Ryan Hedrick, Jakayden McFall, Shaiquese Robinson, and Garry Warren.

"This is the first time we were able to have a class for young women and a class for young men," said Curtis Artis, assistant violence prevention manager for Project Imagine. "I am so excited about this."

Artis said separate classes became possible because the program now has two female outreach workers.

"When I talk with older people, they tell me, 'When I grew up, I had a village raising me. I couldn't do anything in my neighborhood without someone telling my momma and disciplining me,'" Artis said. "The village now is Project Imagine. We are the village for these young people. We are going to be in their lives for as long as they let us."

The program steers youths away from gang activity by developing and maintaining relationships with mentors, and by focusing on goals such as having no contact with law enforcement, improving their grades, completing school, and becoming employed.

Danville Office of Economic Development & Tourism Releases Regional Tourism Master Plan

(DANVILLE, Va.) – The Danville Office of Economic Development & Tourism has released its first-ever regional Tourism Master Plan, a 118-page document that provides a strategic roadmap to help city leaders plan for and support a thriving regional tourism industry.

Paid for through American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding, the Tourism Master Plan was authored by the City's Tourism Marketing Agency, Eddy Alexander, and based on extensive quantitative research, industry best practices, and extensive community input gathered through multiple visioning exercises. In addition to providing quantitative data and analysis, the plan also includes the input, ideas, and contributions of more than 2,000 local citizens and business owners who participated in multiple surveys, interviews, and focus groups across the region over the last twelve months.

The Tourism Master Plan illustrates the transformational power of tourism to contribute to a high quality of life in Southside Virginia and lays out a long-term vision that will help stakeholders align resources and work together effectively to reach the region's full potential.

"We live in a beautiful area with a lot to offer our residents and visitors and now we have a plan for how to most effectively tell our story," Danville City Manager Ken Larking said. "This master plan will serve as a guide for marketing the tourism assets in our region to visitors and residents. It will also help us to identify and help encourage new tourism assets that will drive additional visitation and increase quality of life."

"Tourism is often said to be the front door of economic development, raising quality of life and helping to support both talent and business attraction in an area," Danville Economic Development Director Corrie Bobe said. "Everyone at city hall is excited about the increased business and job opportunities that this industry is already starting to provide. This new plan will help our team support the diversification of our economy, nourish our one-of-a-kind small businesses, support our local schools, and help fund many other important public services, beautification projects, and smart regional development efforts."

Danville Kiwanis Club Speaker

On July 20th, Kiwanis Club speaker Lisa Meriwether from Danville's Office of Economic Development & Tourism, defined a tourist as someone who is 50 miles away from home. In her role as Tourism Manager, Lisa stresses the importance of attracting visitors to Danville to promote local economic development. Kiwanis members were provided with a Visitor Guide called Visit SoSi, and a map with attractions in the Danville & Chatham locales. During the Q & A session, Ms. Meriwether pointed to a recently published Tourism Master Plan that addresses the importance of research & data that assists in promoting the theme of "It All Starts with a Visit". Pictured to the right of Lisa is Carolyn Smith who serves as the Kiwanis Club Program Committee Chairperson.

Sessions will be held on new housing developments, available rental properties, lending programs, tips for renters, fair housing, and financial literacy.

1. Which artist released "Come and Stay With Me"?
2. "Believe It or Not" was the theme song on which television program?
3. Name the singer-songwriter who wrote and released "In the Midnight Hour."
4. Who wrote and released "Lay Down Beside Me"?
5. Name the song that contains these lyrics: "Looks like it's over, you knew I couldn't stay, She's comin' home today."

Answers

1. Marianne Faithfull, in 1965. The song was also covered by Cher on her own debut solo album the same year.
2. "The Greatest American Hero," from 1981 to 1983. Sung by Joey Scarbury, the song climbed to No. 2 on the Billboard charts. Scarbury never did find major success as a singer (although he deserved it); instead, making a name for himself writing music for other artists.
3. Wilson Pickett, in 1965. The song has been widely covered by artists around the globe, including by Bruce Springsteen, The Grateful Dead and Tina Turner.
4. Don Williams, in 1979.
5. "Sad Eyes," by Robert John, in 1979. While most songs to reach the top of pop charts at that time were disco, "Sad Eyes" was the non-disco song that helped fuel a turn against disco. It deserves a listen if only for that reason.

celebrity extra by Dana Jackson

Margot Robbie stars as the title character in "Barbie" (2023).

the ceremony is expected to air on Fox this September.

Q. Whatever happened to the older woman who was chosen as "The Bachelorette" and left early in the season because she found "the one"? Are they still together? — J.K.

A. Only in Hollywood is 39 considered old, but that's how old Clare Crawley was when she was chosen by ABC to be their "Bachelorette" for season 16 of the show. She surprised viewers by quitting after just 12 days of filming because she said she already found her man — 31-year-old contestant Dale Moss. Alas, Crawley didn't find her happily ever after with him.

The couple did get engaged, but had a rocky on- and off-again relationship, finally breaking up for good in September 2021. After getting her heart broken, Crawley found love the following year with Mascot Sports CEO Ryan Dawkins. She told People magazine, "He's not after fame and ... he is so consistent and so vocal about how much he loves me."

Crawley won't be competing on any reality dating shows anymore, since she happily said "I do" to Dawkins earlier this year and is expecting her first child, via surrogate, in January 2024.

Q. I'm really surprised Carol Burnett didn't get nominated for an Emmy for "Better Call Saul." Isn't there a special category for guest-star parts? I thought she'd be a shoo-in. — G.M.

A. Comedy legend Carol Burnett did a spectacular job in her impactful role on the final season of "Better Call Saul." However, according to Rolling Stone, she wasn't eligible for the Outstanding Guest Actress category because she appeared in "one episode too many" and was thus submitted for consideration in the Supporting Actress category instead. Alas, that category was highly competitive and saturated with actresses from "The White Lotus," leaving Burnett off the nominations list.

"Better Call Saul" aired its series finale right after voting ended for last year's Emmys, putting it at a disadvantage for this year's nominations. Bob Odenkirk and Rhea Seehorn are contenders in their respective acting categories, and

Q. I just read that Margot Robbie has been married for several years. I've never seen her husband walking the red carpet with her at award shows. Who is he? — O.T.

A. The twice-Oscar-nominated actress and star of the upcoming film "Barbie" has been quietly married since 2016 to film producer Tom Ackerley. They met a decade ago on the set of Robbie's movie "Suite Francaise" where he was the assistant director. The two now own a production company and have produced several of Robbie's films, including "I, Tonya."

As for red carpet appearances, the couple did appear before photographers on the pink carpet at the world premiere event for "Barbie" at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles. They'll also be producing partners for her upcoming film, a yet-to-be-titled "Ocean's Eleven" sequel. At only 33 years old each, the couple will hopefully have many more years together conquering Hollywood.

Life is always changing

Dr. Glenn Mollette

No doubt life is always changing. If you don't like the weather it will change, eventually. It's been hot most all over but cooler weather will come. In most of the country, cooler weather will be welcomed sooner rather than later.

An Arizona friend told me last week, "One hundred degrees is actually nice in our area. One hundred and twenty degrees is unbearable." Across our country, Europe and Asia record temperatures have been recorded and for the longest periods of time.

When it's icy cold weather we hope and wish for warm weather. The problem in many of our areas is that we don't have much moderately cool weather or moderately warm. It seems to either be blazing hot or freezing cold.

It's hard to be satisfied. We get too hot and then we get too cold. Triple digit heat is insane and so is below zero. No one wants either one.

Have you ever been satisfied with your life? When were you satisfied? Were you happy when your parent was telling you what to do and how to live? Do you still have them telling you what to do? The day comes when they are no longer around. Most likely you didn't take as much advice from them as you should have.

We don't pay much attention to old people when we are young but we wish we had. They knew more than us but we thought we knew everything. We now know how smart they were. We learn the hard way and by the time we figure it out life has greatly changed.

Life is always changing. Children grow into adults. Our bodies change. We get old if we are very fortunate and blessed.

If possible, try to be happy and content today with what you have, where you are and what you are doing. Life changes and while it may get better and better, it can always become worse.

Enjoy the sunshine and enjoy the rain. Enjoy the car ride or sitting in your swing. Enjoy whatever labor you have to do. The time is coming when all will be through. Live your life the best you can and there will be times you don't understand. So, make your schedule, make your plans and always do the best you can. After all is said and done, it's all in God's hands.

* Assorted hardware seems to collect in big, random piles in our tiny workshop. Nails, screws and bolts of all sizes are mixed together, tossed on the bench when a project is complete. * Here's a great way to get your lawn tools organized and off the floor: If you have any PVC pipe, you can cut some 4- or 5-inch sections and screw them into the wall vertically a foot or two from the floor in your garage. Slip the handle of your rake, garden hoe, broom, etc., down into the pipe, and it will stay stable against the wall. Make sure the pipe is wide enough.

Lemon Zucchini Bread

This easy zucchini bread recipe has a lemon bread twist to it, making it the perfect quick bread for spring and summer! Seriously, lemon zucchini bread is going to be your newest summer dessert obsession!

Ingredients

- Bread
- 1 cup canola or vegetable oil
 - 6 oz Greek Yogurt, lemon or vanilla
 - 1 Tbsp lemon juice
 - 3 eggs
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 3 cups all purpose flour
 - 1 tsp baking soda
 - 1/4 tsp baking powder
 - 2 tsp lemon zest
 - 1 tsp salt
 - 2 cups grated zucchini, about 1 large zucchini
 - 1 tsp vanilla extract

Lemon Glaze

- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 1-2 Tbsp lemon
- Topping (Optional)
- 2 Tbsp lemon zest

Instructions

Preheat oven to 350 degrees and coat two 8 1/2" x 4 1/2" bread pans with baking spray. In a large bowl, cream together oil, Greek yogurt, lemon juice and sugar. Once combined, add in eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. In a separate bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt. Add in lemon zest, and stir together. Add dry ingredients into wet ingredients, and mix just until combined. Add in zucchini and vanilla extract, and stir. Once combined, divide batter evenly between the two bread pans. Bake for 55-60 minutes, or until a cake tester comes out clean. Allow to cool at least 10-20 minutes before removing from the pan and placing on a cooling rack.

Glaze

Mix lemon juice and powdered sugar together until well combined. With the bread on the cooling rack, pour glaze over the bread.
Topping
Sprinkle zest over the top of the glaze.
Enjoy!

A New Drug for Alzheimer's Disease

The FDA recently approved a new drug that is supposed to slow the progression of Alzheimer's.

Earlier this year, the FDA gave conditional approval to Leqembi, pending more safety and efficacy trials. Now, with "accelerated approval," the drug has full approval.

Another drug, Aduhelm, launched in June 2021, still only has conditional approval and is waiting results from more trials.

Both drugs work in a similar way, targeting the proteins in the brain. There are differences, however.

One difference between Leqembi and Aduhelm is the way it's delivered. Aduhelm is given by spinal infusion and Leqembi is given intravenously every two weeks (although other means are being studied in trials that are still going on).

Another difference is in what the drugs do: Aduhelm targets the plaques in the brain, while Leqembi targets the proteins that create the plaques.

The other is the cost. Leqembi will likely cost $26,500 per year, although that can vary by patient weight and what schedule of maintenance dosing the patient is to get. Medicare will likely cover the majority of patients if they have a supplemental drug plan. The rest will likely pay the 20% coinsurance not covered by Medicare.

Aduhelm had much different pricing when it first came out -- $56,000 per year. Our Medicare Part B went up by $21.60 in 2022, up to $170 per month, likely due to the cost of Aduhelm, which Medicare initially expected to cost close to $3,000. Some insurers said they wouldn't cover the drug unless prices came down. The cost of the drug eventually did come down, to $28,200.

The caveat about Leqembi, however, is that the experts point to the very small degree of slowing of early Alzheimer's in the patients in the trial. In many, the result could be quite subtle. Still, some researchers say it does buy patients time and could delay the coming of the later stages of dementia.
