NO ONE CAN TAKE YOUR PLACE

SEPTEMBER 17-23, 2023

Self-care for farm workers

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the agriculture sector is the most dangerous industry in America, with the highest frequency of accidents and fatalities during the harvest. If you work in agriculture, a little self-care can go a long way toward keeping you safe and healthy, both on and off the job.

CARE FOR THE BODY

Self-care on the farm starts with protective clothing and hydration. If your work involves repetitive tasks like planting or harvesting, regular stretching exercises can help prevent injury and strain.

CARE FOR THE MIND

Farm work is fraught with stressors, from unpredictable growing seasons to the urgency of harvest time. Attending to your mental health can help you cope with the uncontrollable aspects of your work. Practices like mindfulness can help you maintain focus on the job, helping you avoid errors that lead to accidents.

In 2023, National Farm Safety and Health Week takes place from September 17 to 23. This year's theme, No one can take your place, is an excellent motto to help you remember the importance of taking care of your body and mind.
