Fall Family Festival raises community spirit

San Jose Councilmember Domingo Candelas keeps the tradition alive!

By Kevin Larsen Special to the Times n a sunny Saturday, October 28, the local community enjoyed a restful get together at the annual Fall Family Festival at Lake Cunningham in Evergreen Valley.

Food, information booths and activities were everywhere, and the kids ran free.

District 8 San Jose Councilmember Domingo Candelas stated, "Our Fall Family Festival was a resounding success. These events are about building stronger neighborhoods through fun. I hope families had unforgettable moments to cherish. We can't wait to bring it back even bigger and better next year."

The annual pumpkin patch, full of hay bales, did not disappoint along with the numerous kid's games set out on a clean well-kept field. One parent asked how much they cost and was kindly informed it's free for the kids!

Enormous Bounce Houses were there to lift spirits along with uplifting music played that enchanted both young and old.

Hundreds of people turned out to celebrate at the Fall Family Festival at Lake Cunningham on October 28.

Melenie Richardson, Assistant CEO, Valley Water, District 8 San Jose City Councilmember Domingo Candelas, and Valley Water Director Barbara Keagon discuss the importance of staying informed about predicted increased precipitation in the upcoming December, January, and February.

Valley Water and Emergency Operations Managers urge County residents to prepare for potential winter flooding alley Water, the County of Santa Clara, and the City of San Jose are preparing for a strong El Niño and the possibility of extreme winter storms.

Valley Water held a news conference during last week's Flood Preparedness Week to feature a winter outlook forecast discussion by the National Weather Service and outline our joint flood emergency preparedness efforts.

The news conference was held at Lower Silver Creek in Evergreen Valley, one of 50 sites where Valley Water has been removing sediment following the past winter's significant storm events as part of our efforts to reduce flood risk.

District 8 San Jose City Councilmember Domingo Candelas, said that last winter, Valley Water partnered with the County of Santa Clara and local cities to help residents stay safe during storms by operating an around-the-clock distributing 97,000 sandbags.

"The City of San Jose values its productive working relationship with Valley Water in making strides in upgrading our infrastructure for flood preparedness. The City has a duty to ensure that the safety and well-being of our residents is paramount.

Valley Water stream maintenance crews helped protect our community from flooding by clearing blockages, repairing levees, and removing sediment before, during and after storms. We are committed to working with local agencies and the community to help everyone be prepared and safe during the upcoming winter.

Valley Water urges residents to prepare for an uncertain winter by finding out if their home or business is at high risk of flooding, signing up for Santa Clara County's emergency alert system and locating free sandbag distribution centers.

Evergreen Valley College and Arizona State University partner to offer college students transfer pathways with MyPath2ASU collaboration vergreen Valley College announced a new alliance with Arizona State University to provide students a seamless transfer experience with the MyPath2 ASU® program.

MyPath2ASU allows students to successfully plan their transfer to ASU by taking the necessary steps at the start of their college experience, thus ensuring a smooth transition process and student success.

MyPath2ASU is a set of customized tools available to transfer students from accredited. U.S. regional institutions. These tools ensure a seamless transfer experience to ASU after earning credits or an associate degree from a U.S. community college or university and shortening the time to degree completion.

"We know that the longer it takes a student to complete their degree or certificate program, the less likely they are to persist and graduate,' said Dr. Tammeil Gilkerson, EVC president. "Anything we can do to shorten the time to completion and decrease the total cost of earning a degree will benefit our students. This partnership with ASU accomplishes both."

Through this partnership, EVC students using MyPath2ASU will find their transfer experience simplified. They will have access to personalized benefits to help them navigate the transfer experience, including:

• ensure course applicability by assisting students with taking courses that apply to both their associate and bachelor's degree

• guaranteed general admission to ASU and admission into MyPath2ASU major choice if all requirements are satisfied; some majors have additional or higher admission requirements

• more than 400 course-bycourse guided pathways into immersion and online ASU degree programs

• self-service, degree progress tracking through My Transfer Guide to minimize loss of credit

ASU and Evergreen Valley College will work collaboratively to promote educational degree pathways containing ground and online course offerings. These pathways will ensure each student's courses are applicable toward their degree in their chosen major while minimizing credit loss.

ongressman Jimmy Panetta has awarded San Jose resident Shreyas Kapavarapu The Congressional Award, an honor celebrating America's young people's initiative, service, and accomplishments.

Kapavarapu, a senior at Basis Independent Silicon Valley High School and a representative of Cyber-Knights, was recognized for its work enhancing cybersecurity awareness among seniors in San lose in just 20 months' time.

Through strategic collaborations and extensive outreach, the organization educates seniors on crucial cyber safety topics.

Reacting to the alarming rise in cybercrimes driven by personal experiences, local advocates shifted their focus from debate forums to real-world problems.

Last year, a local resident's grandmother became a victim of a cyber scam, losing her private banking information. Sadly, her ordeal was not unique.

The 2022 FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center Report disclosed alarming statistics: a sharp 84 percent increase in cyber threats targeting seniors from the previous Recognizing the acute vulnerability of seniors in an increasingly digital society, they took upon the mission of cybersecurity education for the elderly. Preliminary research indicated that awareness programs might slash the susceptibility of seniors to cyberattacks by a notable 45 percent.

Backed by a tech caregiver certification from the distinguished American Air Force Association's cybersecurity division, the Cyber-Knights initiative was born. What began as a small-scale neighborhood awareness campaign swiftly morphed into a community-wide movement.

VTA plan will make 200 homeless people safer

By Matt Mahan

fter 3.5 hours of debate at the Valley Transportation Authority (VTA) board meeting, we took an important step in the long road to ending homelessness.

We voted to move forward with a plan to move 200 homeless neighbors off our streets and into a safer place.

Because we didn't back down, in October VTA staff and the City of San Jose will bring back a draft agreement to place 200 tiny homes from the State just hieves hoping to snatch items off the shelves of San Jose retailers may have a tougher time this holiday season. City policymakers this week launched a new police team to stop retail theft after the city saw a 25% spike in the crime from 2021 to 2022.

The San Jose City Council unanimously approved creating the Organized Retail Theft Detail, an investigative team within the San Jose Police Department to gather intelligence and track crime statistics and patterns to identify hotspots, catch criminals and reduce the rate of retail crimes. The team will include one full time and four part-time investigators.

Some shop owners say the timing is perfect with holiday shopping already underway. Jack Meir, manager of Yeti in Santana Row, said the store has lost almost $1,000 worth of merchandise after being open only two months.

Theft

Continued from previous page personnel on the floor and have more look outs," Meir told San José Spotlight. "Safety is the most important thing that we value." In San Jose, 5,756 retail theft crimes were reported last year. And it's a national trend.

Retail theft across the country has cost $125.7 billion in economic losses and $39.2 billion in lost wages, according to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. In California, $19 billion in economic losses were reported. The state created the Organized Retail Theft Prevention Grant Program in 2022 through Senate Bill 154 to prevent and respond to organized retail theft.

San Jose's police department received nearly $8.5 million from the state to launch a three-year program. It was one of 38 law enforcement agencies in California to receive the funding. More than half the funds will pay for analyst salaries and overtime for sworn officers to proactively patrol shopping centers to deter crime. Officers will partner with the district attorney to support prosecutions and work with retailers to arrest criminals.

"One of the big aspects is sharing knowledge and best practices," SJPD Lt. Brent McKim said during Tuesday's council meeting. "So if somebody hits Walmart, and we know that, then we can and we will alert the Target down the street that they might be hit as well."

Nearly $3.5 million will fund technology including fingerprint scanners, forensic software and additional cars and radios. SJPD is also purchasing 300 license plate readers to help catch thieves at hotspots. San Jose uses 72 license plate readers currently that councilmembers approved in 2021 in response to the spike in retail crimes.

"It's a two prong approach: prevention and then investigation," McKim said. "I think the money in this grant will help us attack from both sides."

Councilmember Peter Ortiz urged police to focus on smaller, family-owned businesses in East San Jose – and not just major retailers like Westfield's Oakridge and Valley Fair malls. He said theft at momand-pop shops often goes unreported and forces business owners to lock their stores during the day or move to other parts of the city.

'They're starting to lock their doors to protect them from potential robberies or shoplifting, which gives the impression to the public that the business is not open," Ortiz said. "But it also creates an unwelcoming shopping experience."

McKim said the police department will scope out hotspots at smaller businesses.

Mayor Matt Mahan and Councilmember Bien Doan applauded efforts to work with prosecutors to ensure thieves are held accountable.

"We want to let people know that the city of San Jose is a safe place to visit, to shop, to live," Doan said. "And to let the criminals know we are going to prosecute."

great event. Some of the quotes from families were;

"I think it is very great fun when the community has a family friendly event. You see, my 4-year-old daughter has been asking me for a pumpkin and I just didn't have the chance to buy her one but then this event came along and she could choose one from the pumpkin patch, what could be better!" "Domingo is very involved and cares about his community."

"Wonderful, we're thankful for the jumpers!"

"Nice for the high school kids to learn about junior college resources."

"Families getting to go on the weekend is important not just with their family but with the children of other families that come for that is healthy fun."

Softly the event came to a close

On a Saturday well spent, the community visited and meandered. Parking was no charge and snacks were offered along with handmade tortillas on a specialty food truck.

The face painting went on by a dedicated artist for four full hours and balloon animals were made and sometimes lost rolling on the grass. It's good to get out to these events. Sylvia Arenas' booth had a free 360 degrees photo spin, and a camera spun around as people stood capturing photos to send to their phone.

Friends are made and adults need to nurture new acquaintances. The entire event was full of sunshine and calmness then like clockwork Mother Nature came to visit with gusty winds at 2 p.m. Fond farewells were given by all.

As one family walked to their car a young child refused to go and jumped up and down as the family entered the car saying, "I don't want to go, I want bouncy (referring to the jumper house)."

This event seemed to have nourished everyone in the community.

SAN JOSE GURDWARA 3636 Gurdwara Ave. San Jose, CA 95148 The word Sikh (see-kh) means "disciple" or "student." A Sikh is a practitioner of the faith founded in the 15th century by Guru Nanak in Punjab of old British India. A Guru who is a "teacher" or "enlightener" completes the relationship of teaching and learning. Sikhism is monotheistic and stresses the equality of all men and women. Sikhs believe in three basic principles: meditating on the name of God (praying), earning a living by honest means and sharing the fruits of one's labor with others. Currently there are close to one million Sikhs living in the USA and Canada and 25 million Sikhs living around the world. Sikhism is the 5th largest religion in the world. At the Gurdwara (House of God) in San Jose we welcome all. We pray daily for peace and prosperity for everybody in the world. Come to visit and enjoy Langer (food) in our kitchen which is open 365 davs of the year and serves complementary vegetarian meals. We also encourage you to enter our history room
