Piedmont Pets
 November 16, 2023 By Paulette Dean

November is a time set apart for giving thanks. We should live with gratitude every day without being reminded!

Today, I would like to share my gratitude for a lesson learned from a squirrel.

City squirrels are wonderful creatures. As they live on the fringes of human society, they eat at our bird feeders, live in our trees, and scurry around our yards. Unfortunately, they are like most wild animals, and they do not live long lives. The bodies of squirrels are frequently seen in the middle of or on the sides of streets. Until a few years ago, I had always assumed that they had become reckless and had been hit by a car while running across the street. But, on a cold, dark winter's evening, squirrels made a gospel principle come alive for me.

I was driving home from work, and to my horror, saw a squirrel fall from a telephone wire that spanned the width of the street. The squirrel's back must have been broken, because he tried in vain to get up and run. I knew I had to do something, but a car was behind me. The only thing I could do was turn onto the next street and turn around to drive back to the squirrels, praying the entire time that death would come quickly and painlessly for him. As I approached, another car hit the squirrel and killed him.

996 South Boston Rd., Danville, VA 24540
Phone: (434) 799-0843

I began to notice that squirrel bodies often lie underneath power or telephone lines.

City squirrels realize the dangers cars can pose to them. That's why they run so rapidly across the street. But, when they cross the width of streets on the wires above the streets, they believe they are above danger. They become careless, and they fall.

How like squirrels we are at times! We allow our selfish pride to control us and our decisions and actions become our downfall.

I am grateful that I am reminded of that lesson every time I drive home.

Modern Furniture

Furniture functions stay more or less the same, but styles change according to advances in technology and the whims of fashion. Even if you're not familiar with the history of furniture, you can tell that a plain Pilgrim trestle table, an ornately carved Victorian sofa and a Bauhaus tubular steel chair belong to different eras.

This flame rocking chair, which sold for $240 at a Leland Little auction, is unmistakably modern. It was made by contemporary artist Erin Stesch and was auctioned to support an organization that preserves modern residential architecture.

The modern furniture era is generally believed to have begun in the 1940s with the end of World War II and the societal changes and technological developments it brought. Customers wanted inexpensive, functional furniture for smaller living spaces. Companies had new materials to work with and new manufacturing methods. Designers created pieces that were both streamlined and organic, adding visual interest to comfort and practicality.

Stylized shapes, light wood, bold blocks of color and unusual construction are characteristics of modern furniture. This flame rocking chair shows all four.

Q: A relative gave me a ceramic vase several years ago, and I'd like to know more about it. It has raised and glossy owls and leaves. The bottom has an oval mark that reads "Amphora" in the middle and "Made in Czechoslovakia" in a border around that. Can you tell me anything about it?

A: The vase was made by Riessner, Stellmacher & Kessel Amphora. They were one of the best-known pottery makers in Teplitz, Bohemia, which is now in the Czech Republic. The mark you describe was used by the company from 1918 to 1939. The vase is earthenware with enameled owls, leaves and geometric decorations. A vase like yours recently sold for $425.

TIP: Grease stains on tablecloths or bed linens may come out if rubbed with shampoo made for oily hair.

Q. I thought Tom Brady was going to become a football commentator after he retired. Who is he working for now? — P.T.

A. The seven-time NFL-Super-bowl-winning quarterback signed a huge deal with Fox before he retired earlier this year. However, he's not expected to take the mic away from current co-analyst Greg Olsen (with Kevin Burkhardt) until the 2024 NFL season begins. Brady has stated that "decompression is important," explaining that he wants to excel at commenting and avoid jumping into the role immediately.

As for Olsen, his contract with Fox doesn't end until the 2026 season concludes, so where that will leave him once Brady joins the booth is still uncertain.

Q. I started watching cable TV again and wonder if I'll still be able to watch my favorite classic Christmas movies this season. Is "It's a Wonderful Life" on cable? What about other classics? — K.J.

A. With so much programming to choose from on network and cable TV as well as a plethora of streaming services, you could probably find holiday entertainment on your screen 24 hours a day. Fortunately, the old classics are still around.

"It's a Wonderful Life," which was first released in 1946 and stars James Stewart and Donna Reed, will air on NBC on Dec. 24 at 8 p.m. ET. Prime Video, Roku, FuboTV and DirecTV Stream will also carry the movie in December, if not sooner. Two versions of "A Christmas Carol" (1984 with George C. Scott and 1999 with Patrick Stewart) are also available. Scott's will air on TCM on Dec. 18, as well as on Starz, Tubi and Roku, while Stewart's will air on TNT on Dec. 14 and on DirecTV Stream.

TNT is also continuing its tradition of airing "A Christmas Story" marathon-style on Dec. 24 at 8 p.m. for 24 hours straight. It'll also be available on that same channel during other times in November and December, so be sure to check your cable guides.

TVLine.com has a wonderful comprehensive guide online of over 100 old and new holiday films and specials. Search for your favorites and discover new ones

Q. How is Marcia Cross doing since her cancer diagnosis a few years ago? I haven't seen her since "Desperate Housewives," so I hope she's doing well. — C.D.

A. Marcia Cross, who first made a name for herself in the 1990s as Dr. Kimberly Shaw on "Melrose Place," became even more of a household name as Bree Van De Kamp on another hit show, "Desperate Housewives." Unfortunately, five years after that show concluded, Cross faced a battle she didn't expect — a cancer diagnosis. During a routine exam, her doctor discovered an abnormality that, after further testing, was discovered to be anal cancer. Cross underwent chemotherapy and radiation, and has since been in remission.

She's also still acting, most recently in the Netflix series "You" and the Fox series "Monarch," the latter of which was unfortunately canceled. However, once the SAG-AFTRA actors' strike is over, I'm sure that Cross will be back on our screens posthaste.

Laidback Golf Tour has 2023 Season Finale at Caswell Pines Golf Club

On Monday November 6th nineteen members of the Laidback Golf Tour participated in their final event of the 2023 season at Caswell Pines Golf Club in Yanceyville, NC. Just like in their previous events held here in prior seasons the Gene Hamm designed course with bent grass greens and bermuda fairways proved to be quite a challenge. Once again nobody in the group was able to score in the seventies. There was only five rounds in the eighties and eight total birdies carded. Two players were tied for low round of the day at 83; with last season's winner Fran Hensley this time losing out the top spot to Tim Shelton on a card match of the number one handicap hole by a single stroke. It was Shelton's fourth win of the season. The B-Flight winner also had to be determined by a card match as both Rick Myers and Randy Ely finished tied at 90. Myers won the match with a bogie on the hole that Ely triple bogied. The win gave Myers his third season victory. Tony Burttt claimed his first win of the season in C-Flight with his round of 88. Burttt narrowly missed winning the honey hole on #13 as he drove the green only to lip out his birdie putt and settle for par. In a drawing for the prize since there were no winners for the hole today Burttt's name was pulled thus still giving him the prize.

The Tour followed play with a hot dog meal and season awards ceremony. Two players, Willard Vicks and Allen Revis were awarded 2024 Tour memberships for their perfect attendance this season. Jody Myers was the season's leading money winner with $749 in total winnings. Mark Dill, Fran Hensley, and Tim Shelton all finished with the Tours lowest average gross handicaps. In the season points championship race where points are awarded each round according to what you score on each hole John Horton topped the D-Flight with 417 points. Allen Revis won C-Flight with 877 points, Robbie Revis topped B-Flight with 892 points and Mike Asbury claimed the A-Flight with 925 points. For the second season in a row Mike Asbury claimed the Tours overall Season Championship Trophy with the 925 point total edging out Robbie Revis by thirty-three points.

The Tour is scheduled to begin its 11th season on Wednesday April 17, 2024 at Lynrock Golf Club in Eden, NC beginning at 10am. Tour memberships are on sale now through December 31, 2023 for only $30. After January 1, 2024 they will be $40 per year. The 15 tournament projected schedule for 2024 can be seen on our Tour web page: TeamPages - Laid-Back Golfers For more information contact by email : golftripman@yahoo.com or call Kenny Powell at 434-792-3728 8am-5pm.

1. Who wrote and released "Desolation Row"? How long was the song?
2. Which group released "Our Day Will Come"?
3. "If I Fell," "Tell Me Why" and "Can't Buy Me Love" were released from which movie?
4. Who released "Come Softly To Me" and when?
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "How can people be so heartless? How can people be so cruel?"

Answers

1. Bob Dylan wrote and released the song in 1965. When asked, Dylan claimed the Desolation Row location was in Mexico, but others in the know said it was in Manhattan along Eighth Avenue. The song was over 11 minutes long.
2. Ruby & the Romantics, in 1963. The songwriters weren't pleased, hoping instead to aim for easy listening. But the Ruby version topped the charts, and nobody could argue with that.
3. "A Hard Day's Night," the first Beatles film, released in 1964. The film did well and received a nom for Best Original Screenplay.
4. The Fleetwoods, in 1959.
5. "Easy To Be Hard," by Lynn Kellogg, playing the character Sheila in the rock musical "Hair" in 1967. Two years later the song was covered by Three Dog Night, climbing to No. 4 on the Billboard chart.

* OK, I'll say it: I love tradition, but sometimes I want to mix it up for Thanksgiving dinner. I keep the main dishes the same as they always are, but I add my drama in the details. For instance, mix your choice of herbs into a stick of softened butter. Using a plastic baggie with the corner cut off or a decorating bag, pipe the herbed butter onto a butter dish. Refrigerate and enjoy the oohs and ahs. -- JoAnn

* "In the week before Thanksgiving, have a leftovers day and get all those bits and pieces out of the refrigerator. It will make it easier to clean so you'll have room for the turkey and the sides." -- S.T. in South Carolina

* "For easier cooking, when making large holiday meals, simply choose two side dishes that can be oven cooked in the same amount of time at an average temperature. I like one or two that can be cooked in the microwave as well." -- E.U. in Texas

* "For a delightful twist on cranberry jelly, slice and sprinkle with orange zest. Dress up your mashed potatoes with a sprinkling of chopped fresh chives." -- via email

* The night before serving your large sit-down dinner, put all the serving pieces on the table, and all the dinnerware in the dining room. You don't want to have one person trying to get plates and spoons when you are getting dinner on the table. -- JoAnn

* "You know what works really well to keep hot casseroles hot when waiting for other sides to finish? A cooler. Line it with a towel and set your casseroles inside. Then, when they are on the table, stick the cooler back in the kitchen. You can throw the casserole dishes back in dirty after you pack away leftovers. Add some warm soapy water and they can even wait until the next day to get cleaned." -- M.B. in Georgia

Fried Apple Pies

Ingredients

- 4 (6 oz.) bags dried apples
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 4 cups self-rising flour, heaping
- ¾ cup Crisco shortening
- ¼ cup unsalted butter
- 1 ½ - 2 cups ice water
- Additional flour for mixing dough
- 2 cups Crisco shortening
- 4 tablespoons butter

Instructions

For apples:

Put apples in a large pot or Dutch oven and add enough water to almost cover. Stir in two cups sugar.

Turn heat to medium-high and bring to a boil.

Turn heat down just a little so apples continue to simmer, breaking up apples with spoon as they cook. Cook until apples are tender and juicy, stirring frequently. You may need to add more water as they cook. Do not allow the apples to get dry. Remove apples from heat and allow to cool.

For dough:

Start with 4 heaping cups of self-rising flour and cut in ¾ cup Crisco shortening and ¼ cup butter with a fork or your fingers. Mix well until shortening/butter is incorporated into the flour.

Add 1 1/2 cups of ice water to flour, and add additional ice water as needed to get all the dry flour mixed in. Mix with a fork until dough is sticky.

Dip hands in flour and sprinkle additional flour onto dough so that you can knead it. Use additional flour as needed to be able to knead the dough until smooth and non-sticky.

Pinch off pieces of dough to make balls slightly smaller than ping pong balls. You should get about 30 balls.

Roll each ball out until thin.

Add a spoonful or two of apples to one side of rolled dough. After the first couple, you will learn exactly how much apples to place on the dough. If you put too much, the dough will not cover without tearing.

Dip your finger in water and rub around the edges of the dough where the apples are. This will help seal the pies.

Carefully fold the dough over and press the edges together lightly to seal. Using a fork, crimp the edges to fully seal.

Once all the pies are ready, add about 1/2 cup Crisco shortening and 2 tablespoons butter to a large skillet and heat on medium-high or 375°F.

Once the grease is hot enough to sizzle from a drop of water, carefully lay two or three pies in the skillet.

Cook about a minute to a minute and half on each side until they are golden brown. (Set a timer for 01:15.)

Lay pies on a large platter lined with paper towels and serve immediately.
