Lambrecht's will soon become Lakeside Liquor

Over the past 67 years, Lambrecht's at 2926 Niles Ave in St. Joseph has developed a strong reputation as the best place to find the widest selection of quality wine and spirits in the region. The Lambrecht family started that work in 1956. A generation-and-a-half later, they have decided to pass the torch to someone new.

Richard Lambrecht first opened the business as a grocery store in rented property just a stone's throw from where the current Lambrecht sits. After four years of success, Lambrecht bought a piece of land and built the foundation of what the store is today.

Dan Lambrecht, Richard's son and the current president of Lambrecht's Liquors, Inc. says when they first opened, there was hardly anything else around -- as far as storefronts were concerned.

"There was a drive-in theater where Verizon is now and the block of buildings south of us was there and that was it. There were grape vineyards behind us, running from the back of the store all the way over to Cleveland Avenue. Where the LECO Tech Center is, that used to be a sawmill. Then, across the street, I think it was a peach orchard."

Dan says he was practically raised in the store and has fond memories of riding in the company van, occasionally listening to his father vent about the business. When he thought about potential career options, there were no plans for Dan to go into the family business.

Dan graduated from Notre Dame with a law degree. The plan was not necessarily to become an attorney, it was supposed to be an opening to his getting an MBA and a good job. After Notre Dame Dan worked as an attorney for 12 years until he "got burned out" and decided to return home to the business.

"Well, it's just a different life, I don't know if it's necessarily better, I just knew what I was getting into. I never went to law school to become a lawyer; I just went for the

The Roots of Super Bowl Rooting

To deeply ponder the stupefying cultural phenomenon that is the Super Bowl, one has to begin by mocking its pathetic start. This is revealed in a photo of the first ever Super Bowl coin flip. It's a wide-angle shot showing the middle of the field populated by two Green Bay Packers, two Kansas City Chiefs, and the referee. A measly five people! Are you kidding me?! What kind of stupefying cultural phenomenon is that?!

Compare this to a photo I found of the coin flip from the Super Bowl played in 2018. There's a "frame" of green turf around the people clustered up for the coin toss. Within that cluster are 89 people! Now that's what Amurricans can do when they put their minds to it! We Super-Sized the coin toss!!

For years, the team that won the coin toss also won the game about half the time. Which means they also lost the game about half the time. So, in deciding which team to root for, the flip is not gonna help me.

Instead, I'm mulling it over based on these factors:

I could root for the Chiefs because their defense features the relentless George Karlaftis, who played college ball for my beloved Purdue Boilermakers.

I could root for the 49ers because their defense features former Boilermaker Jalen Graham. Well, maybe Jalen is currently more of a "future feature"...he made only one tackle this year.

I could root for the 49ers because their mascot, Sourdough Sam, was "born" on a humorously appropriate day: April 9th. Get it? - 4/9!

I could root for the Chiefs because the quarterback of the first Super Bowl Championship in the team's history (Super Bowl 4, in 1970) was Len Dawson, who played his college ball for my beloved Purdue Boilermakers, and is an NFL Immortal.

I could actually also NOT root for the 49ers because of Sourdough Sam, or at least, because of his bio writer, who says Sam's favorite book, by Dr. Seuss, is called "Sam I Am." Fifteen yard penalty and loss of down! - the book is "Green Eggs and Ham"; no such thang as the other one, and no liberties should be taken with the title of a Literary Hall of Fame Immortal!! Harrumph!!

I could root for the 49ers because the "Got Milk?" ad campaign was created by a Frisco-based agency, and what a lot of laughs "Got Milk" gave us over the years!

Speaking of laughs, I could root for the Chiefs because Kansas City was home to Laugh-O-Gram studios, where there lived an actual mouse that inspired Laugh-O-Gram's owner to create a certain stupefyingly world-famous cartoon character - I'm talkin' 'bout Walt Disney and Mickey Mouse!

Wait, wait, I suddenly realized this decision could be a LOT easier. According to the idiots who prefer using Roman numerals to designate each Super Bowl, this one is LVIII right? That could be articulated verbally as "El-vi," yes? So, I can base my rooting decision on which team has the greatest number of Elvi - that is, fans dressed as Elvis!

Decision, decisions! The wife was no help - she just said make up your (word that starts with "stup-") mind and don't make as big a mess in the family room as you did last year!

Cleveland Ave. St. Joseph. Facilitator Mark Szabo from Eclectic Well-Being will be sharing 100 things that you could be doing to swing health in your favor, that you might not think about or are currently doing.

Many of us are guilty of not thinking of our health as the summation of all the little things we do over the course of the day, week, or throughout our life. What we get when we add all those little moments up is up to us - will it string together and create something that promotes good or bad health?

This event is FREE, but pre-registration is required at tinyurl.com/CultivusEclectic

Next up, we are excited to welcome back the 2024 KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship with Business After Hours at The Mason Jar Cafe inside the Arts District in Benton Harbor on Thursday, February 22nd!

Be the first to know the participants of the Makers Trail 19th Hole and sample their products, learn how you can get involved with the 2024 KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship including special discounts on tickets, win fun door prizes, and connect with fellow businesses.

of thousands of attendees and making an estimated $8 million economic impact to Southwest Michigan. For more information, please visit SrPGA.com.

Next, we head to Berrien Springs and the stunning Andreasen Center for Wellness at Andrews University for their inaugural Indoor Triathlon on Sunday, February 25 at 9:00 a.m.! This timed event can be done individually or as a team and promises to be equally fun and challenging. Racers will do a 10-minute swim in the pool, a 20-minute cycle on a stationary bike, and finish with a 15-minute run on a treadmill - all with 10-minute transitions. All racers will receive a t-shirt and participation medal, with top finishers receiving special awards.

To get signed up visit: <https://andrews.dserec.com/online/eventsr>, MUST BE 16 OR OLDER TO SIGN UP! Questions? Email thewellnessclub@andrews.edu

Same, Same

For if we have been united with him in a death like his, we will certainly also be united with him in a resurrection like his. For we know that our old self was crucified with him so that the body ruled by sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves to sin—because anyone who has died has been set free from sin. Romans 6:5-7

A dad and his young son had busy schedules, but Saturday was their day together. With rare exceptions, the day always started the same way—dad and son would get matching bowls and fill them with identical cereal, and dad would say, “Same?” and the son would echo, “Same.” After breakfast, it was time to get dressed, and both dad and son put on a pair of blue jeans and a faded red shirt and the dad would say, “Same?” and the son would say, “Same.” Tackling the day’s to-do list, dad got out his toolbox to fix a few things around the house, and son got out his smaller toy toolbox to help. Dad would say, “Same?” and son would echo, “Same.”

In today’s Bible reading, the apostle Paul tells us that, like the son was united to his father on their special day, every follower of Jesus is united to him. But, unlike that little boy, Christians are not kind of like Jesus. Paul tells us that we are genuinely united to his death and resurrection.

This means the Christian’s sins were nailed to his cross and are no longer counted against them. This means the sinful soul with which every person is born no longer rules over the Christian. They are set free from bondage and are now able to live a life pleasing to God. It’s a whole new way of life! And all because the Christian is connected to what Jesus has done.

Prayer: Everlasting Lord, I praise you for uniting me with Christ. Make me confident that I am forgiven, that I will be raised to eternal life, and am free to serve you. Amen.

degree. My purpose was to get a law degree and then go to work for a Fortune 500 company and have them pay for my MBA. But when I was in law school, I fell in love with trial advocacy and decided I wanted to become a trial attorney, and that's what I did."

After returning to the family store, Dan made arrangements with his father to buy the company. Unexpectedly, Richard Lambrecht died in 2003. Three years later, Dan closed on the purchase of the business from his mother. He has operated the establishment ever since.

The beginning of the end of Lambrecht's began when COVID hit.

Lambrecht says it was not a difficult decision to sell the business. COVID made it extremely hard to find employees. During the pandemic, his three elderly staff members opted not to risk working at the store and Dan ended up working 85-hour weeks.

"That doesn't leave a lot of time to do other stuff."

Lambrecht's Liquors is set to change hands later this month. He says the owner and management of Lakeside Liquors have experience in the liquor store business and they've already proven themselves with their other operations. As part of the agreement, Dan will stay on for a brief period to serve as consultant. After that, Dan says he's going to relax.

"I'm not going to do anything for about six months. I've got a lot of projects, I'll do some traveling, and eventually some part time work. I might wade back into the legal world. I'd like to do some research and writing."

Asked what he will miss most about the establishment that has played such a significant role in his entire life, Dan quickly answered with a chuckle that he will mostly miss the people.

"I like most of my customers. I won't miss all my customers, but I'll miss most of them."

Dan says he and his family are incredibly grateful and appreciate the community support they've received over run. He says the business has been good for his family and he feels his family has given a lot back to the community.

Lakeside Liquor and A Desire for Community

It's not easy to take over a landmark establishment and make longtime customers happy, but the leaders of Lakeside Liquor are ready to try.

When Lambrecht decided it was time for the business to transition to someone new. That's exactly the opportunity Jaspinder "Jazz" Singh was looking for.

Jazz is the manager of the Lakeside Liquor stores in Stevensville, Riverside, and soon St. Joseph. His father, Harbhajan Singh or "Mr. Singh" as he is known, owns those locations plus two area gas stations. Jazz said he's been looking for opportunities to continue growing the brand in Southwest Michigan and becoming a larger part of the community. He said Lambrecht's fit their growth plan and that's why they are making the purchase.

"It's just, this is a community I want to be a part of. I love this region. My dad has been in the gas station business, and we opened up our first liquor store in Stevensville. Then we moved on to Riverside and I really want to expand in this (St. Joseph) community. I'm selling liquor, but I want to serve this community."

Singh said the closing date for the sale is within the next two weeks. Shortly after they will make some minor changes in the layout of the store and expand some beverage options.

"We will be changing the layout of the business. They already have a focus on wine and craft beer and domestic beer. We won't shift away from that, but we will be adding more to the bourbon side of things and more to the spirits (selection). We will still be maintaining the cigar collection and everything. I actually hope to learn from and bring that over to my other businesses as well."

Singh takes pride in operating professional, customer-focused, fun establishments.

"We are gentle and kind to everyone. We also like to have fun, as you can see from our Facebook. We believe in fair pricing and treating everyone fairly. You know, from the customer that's spending a dollar to the customer who has a bigger bank balance and is spending a lot of money. I just want people to know that we're here to serve them."

It's that customer service aspect Singh said is a differentiator.

"We really believe in a few things when it comes to customer service. Service for us, it means that we go above and beyond customers, our family."

Dave Says
Celebrate and Give
With a Plan in Place

Dear Dave,
My wife and I have always accepted the fact that we'd have a mountain of debt to pay off after the holidays. Having to deal with it all seemed more frustrating this year than ever before. Can you tell us how to make it through the next Thanksgiving and Christmas without having to pay off so much debt?

Brady
Dear Brady,
Giving is a wonderful thing if your intentions, and your finances, are in the right place. But generosity isn't meant to be stressful to you or your bank account. It's all too easy to try to justify overspending during the holiday season, because so many things you do are for family and friends. Still, you shouldn't let yourself become trapped by the shopping craze or overspending just because everyone else is doing it.

Give with the right intentions, and give with a financial plan in place ahead of time that doesn't include debt. Thanksgiving is always on the fourth Thursday of November, right? And Christmas always falls on December 25th. The holidays don't come as a surprise to anyone, so don't wait until November, then act shocked that it's all just around the corner. Jump on things right now, and start setting aside a little in your budget each month throughout the year for the holiday season.

Sit down with your wife, and decide together how much you can put aside each month for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Once you agree on an amount, make a list, check it twice and stick to it. It's easy to find something in the mall you just have to buy for someone. And that's where problems start. So, include amounts you're going to spend on each person, each charity, or each event. It's all just common sense. But it's up to you and your wife—together—to decide to live on a budget and give every single dollar a job.

You can do this, Brady. Make it happen!
—Dave
