*FEB. 26-MAR. 15: The Genesee Valley Council on the Arts announces Helen Bishop-Santelli's exhibition, "Nature's Gifts," at 4 Murray Hill Drive, Mount Morris. Drawing from years of dedicated exploration and creative discovery, the show offers a blend of sculptural and painted works for an immersive gallery experience. Each piece in the exhibition reflects a desire to protect, preserve, and highlight the beauty of the natural world. The artwork Santelli presents in this exhibition highlights their individual mission to become a visual activist. By presenting a range of sculptures, along with landscapes and floral paintings, Santelli is highlighting the current political and physical climate changes, which invites viewers to feel empathy for the world and fellow human beings while presenting the beauty of nature. Her work also has a didactic undertone, which implores all visitors to learn from nature and our social surroundings to enact change. Open to the public. ## Dear Mount Morris Community,

Lily, a spirited 6th grade girl, has Cerebral Palsy, a condition that requires ongoing medical attention and support. Her family, consisting of her devoted parents, Jason and Barbara, and her sister Madalyn, are an integral part of our community. Jason, a hardworking farmer, and Barbara, a dedicated Teacher's Aide at MMCS, have been tirelessly balancing their responsibilities while providing unwavering care and love to Lily.

Lily's journey involves upcoming surgeries, extended hospital stays, and frequent travel to both Shriner's Hospital in Pennsylvania and Oishei Children's Hospital in Buffalo, where she receives extremely specialized care. These medical procedures are not only emotionally taxing but also come with significant financial burdens, including a minimum of six weeks off from work, travel expenses, accommodations, and medical bills.

We invite you to join us for a pulled chicken dinner on March 16th, 2024 from 11:00-5:00pm to show your support for Lily and her family. Your presence and contributions will make a meaningful impact, helping to ensure that Lily receives the care she needs while allowing her family to navigate these challenges with a little less burden.
