THE CENTRAL TEXAS BEEKEEPERS SCHOOL

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

“Out of every three bites of food that you put in your mouth, two bites were there because a bee pollinated something,” says Michael Kelling of Brenham who manages the Central Texas Beekeepers School, now in its 13th year. When he started the school it was right after a tornado and he had it in his house. Thirty-three people showed up. Since then it has grown quite a bit. “Last year we had 750 people at our one-day bee school.”

More are expected this year when it takes place April first at the high school in Brenham. The location keeps changing because the number of attendees keeps growing. “We have about 45 speakers who come in. Some 60 people in our group put it on. The classes are in the band hall and auditorium and we’ll have about 45 vendors in the gym.”

For the 85 dollar cost those attending get a book on beekeeping and a meal. “And Blue Bell Ice Cream for Dessert. We are in Brenham, after all.” The curriculum is varied. A dozen sessions are going on simultaneously. “We have a morning session that is just for beginners. Out of 750 last year 80% were brand new beekeepers. We do have classes for immediate and advanced students also. It’s more than just about honey, which is what everybody thinks about. But that’s a minor part of what they contribute.

“We will have 12 bee hives on site and provide the suit, the veil and all the protective gear. If you want to, you can suit up and go stand behind a bee hive while a beekeeper opens it up and shows you the parts of the hive, the live bees, the queen the honey, the baby bees, all kinds of things. You can get into beekeeping with a minimum about of expense.”

Michael, who has 150 bee hives, says people come to the school from all parts of Texas and other states, even from Canada. There is a big interest in bees. “Eight or nine years ago there were 13 bee clubs in the state of Texas. Now there are 65. People have become aware of their importance.”

Attendees learn that fungicides and insecticides have caused a decrease in the number of bees. The life span of a queen used to be 7 years. Now it’s 3. Bees don’t hibernate during cold weather. “They create a cluster with the queen in the middle. They vibrate their wings to create heat. The queen is laying eggs all the time and is the mother of all bees in the hive. She will lay up to 2,000 eggs every day. A worker bee gathers nectar and pollen and lasts about 6 weeks. Drone bees do nothing but mate and they mate one time in their life and die. They mate with the queen outside the hive. It’s a fascinating ongoing process.”

The school in Brenham is from 8 AM to 5 PM. Then door prizes are awarded. Last year there were so many it took some extra time.

Archie married Debbi Elaine Lauer on August 25, 1980 in Westminster, CA. They would have been married 44 years this coming August. Archie loved his family, and they always came first. All times and durations noted on this page are only representative samples and should be used for general comparison purposes only. To determine the precise start time, end time, and duration of totality for your exact location on eclipse day, use the interactive Google eclipse maps developed by Xavier Jubier

BUSINESS SERVICES

The business services industry is a very broad industry encompassing many different categories of business operations; all of them provide some sort of non-financial service to other companies. These services include advertising, marketing, consultation, logistics (including travel and facilities services), waste handling, staffing services, shipping, administration, and security services to name a few. Nearly every business in operation has need for at least one of the different kinds of service offered by the industry. Marketing companies are responsible for increasing the sales of a client company by helping the company gain new customers as well as keep current ones. Legal services are needed to deal with business transactions, as well as for litigation purposes. Logistics and shipping companies are responsible for connecting businesses to other businesses or consumers by collecting, storing, transporting, and delivering products. Staffing companies match people in need of jobs, temporary or permanent, with companies in need of qualified employees. Leasing companies fill a client's need for certain items without requiring full purchase. Security companies are responsible for keeping a company's assets secure. Consulting companies are in the business of fulfilling needs for expertise that clients cannot fulfill themselves. These companies may offer professional, scientific, or technical consulting, management or strategy consulting, or human resources consulting.
