Oneliners

The first Ten Commandments are the hardest.

People who are wrapped up in themselves are overdressed.

An expert is someone called in at the last minute to share the blame.

If you solved the NY Times' Saturday crossword puzzle, you probably cheated.

A word of advice... don't give it.

If we made it illegal, do you think more people would vote?

A journey of a hundred miles starts with an argument over how to load the car.

Justice is blind and in some cases... deaf and dumb.=

Poverty is a condition with but one advantage, it doesn't take much to improve your lot.

The first rule of tinkering is to save all the parts.

A pessimist is a man who looks both ways before crossing a one-way street.

Once you pass 40, your "big break" will probably be a bone.

Management's job is to keep 'em too busy to look for other jobs.

Why are lawyers not sworn to tell the truth like all the witnesses in a jury trial?

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your sense of adventure is energized by a challenge you've been hoping for. A loved one has some reservations, but can be persuaded to support your move.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your recently unsettling period has passed. Move ahead with those plans you put on hold. An offer needs careful study before you decide to accept or reject it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A career move could be in the works, but you might want to question facts that recently came to light. A Libra emerges as a likely romantic prospect.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Tense moments in relationships ease up by week's end. In the meantime, be careful not to react in a way that will aggravate the situation.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Children or other kin present problems that you need to deal with. Your strong protective nature reaches out to reassure them that all will soon be well.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You've earned the right to enjoy some fun time with friends and family. Someone from your past remembers you with fondness. Expect a call.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You might feel the urge to change your surroundings. If you're not up to a major move, you could get the same effect by redecorating your home.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Changes in your workplace could test your decision-making ability. Rely on your self-confidence to help you make the right choice at the right time.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Resist the urge to rush to judgment about friends who might appear to have let you down. You need to hear their sides of the story before you act.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) The times favor a change for the better in your private life. However, you still might have some sticky wickets to deal with on the job. Stay alert.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A friendship could suddenly move from platonic to passionate. The decision for any change in this situation is ultimately yours to make. Consider it thoroughly.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You still might be reacting to a stunning revelation from a friend, but it's time to move on. Travel offers a chance to bring someone new into your life.

BORN THIS WEEK: You're a loyal friend. You enjoy singing and love the arts, especially when you find yourself collecting beautiful things.

Piedmont Pets
May 23, 2024 By Paulette Dean

There is a cycle of violence that involves both humans and animals.

Years ago, I was flying to visit my sister and her family. I sat next to a woman who looked and acted completely broken. She told the story about how family and friends had packed her clothes in a hurry to get her away from her husband. She had to leave her small dog there and hoped that the friends would go back to the house in time to remove the dog before her husband came home for lunch. She told details about how he had tortured the dog. Even though this was in the mid-1970s, I never forgot the story. When I started employment at the animal shelter, I knew we had to help the animals who belonged to human victims of domestic violence.

The problem of cruelty to animals is not just a problem for people who respect and care for animals. People learn how to abuse, torture, and then ultimately kill humans by practicing on animals.

We received a telephone call several years ago from a woman who had witnessed a man harshly beat two puppies. When we went to his house to speak with him about it, his response was an arrogant and chilling, "I don't beat my puppies any harder than I beat my children."

Research and data support what is actually a matter of common sense; that is, if someone hurts an animal, they will also hurt a human.

In one case, we took two dogs from a man because he had just cut off their ears with box cutters. His girlfriend came to court and testified about how he was such a kind pet owner. Within a month, he had stabbed her to death.

996 South Boston Rd., Danville, VA 24540
Phone: (434) 799-0843

In another case, a young man was accused of putting a small kitten in a mail drop box. His mother defended him and told us what a sweet, gentle person he was. Several months later, the son killed his mother. Victims of domestic violence can be reluctant to leave an abusive situation because they do not want to put a pet at the mercy of the one who abused them. Because of my experience on that plane so many years ago, the City animal shelter is pleased to offer a safe haven for pets at risk when the owners leave home to enter a protection program. It is entirely confidential and free.

If you know of an animal or a human at risk of domestic violence, please let them know we will help relieve their worry for the animals. There is a very real cycle of violence that affects humans and animals.

Mechanical Banks

Mechanical banks function as both a toy and a useful, even educational, device. Deposit a coin and a figure dances or jumps into the air, an animal swallows the coin, a flag is raised or another action is performed. They entertain children and encourage them to save money.

Now, antique mechanical banks, particularly the cast-iron examples made in the 1800s, sell for impressive prices. Later mechanical banks can sell well, too.

This lithographed tin "Watch Me Grow" bank was made in the 1940s by General Metal in Canada and sold for $615 Canadian (about $459 U.S. currency) at a sale by Jon Dunford, Miller & Miller Auctions, LTD. It is shaped like a cylinder and decorated to look like a figure of a man in a colorful suit holding a sign saying, "Watch Me Grow TALL with Coins Large & Small." The coin slot is on top of the man's hat. The figure's "legs" are hidden inside the cylinder. A spring inside the bank causes the cylinder to rise when coins are dropped in, appearing to lengthen the "legs" and make the figure grow taller.

tion, include a clear photo, size, material, maker, any interesting history and a good title that includes keywords to attract buyers' attention. If you decide to sell the jewelry yourself, you must charge sales tax. It's a lot of work but good jewelry sells for fair prices.

Even Exchange by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

City receives $10,000 for DRIVE Outdoor Tourism Development Program

The Danville Office of Economic Development & Tourism (DOEDT) received $10,000 through Virginia Tourism Corporation's (VTC) DRIVE Outdoor program, a tourism development grant program targeting outdoor product development and entrepreneurial expansion throughout the Commonwealth.

The DOEDT will use grant funds towards the creation of a plan to enhance seating in Angler's Park to meet the consumer demand for outdoor travel. DRIVE Outdoor builds on VTC's DRIVE 2.0 Statewide Strategic Plan to enhance outdoor recreational development, assets, and entrepreneurial opportunities within Virginia. Following participation in the program, the DOEDT received the foundation for a competitive outdoor product development plan, including specific action steps, success factors, timelines, priorities, and identified partners to help with project success. "Visitors come to Virginia for its wealth of outdoor recreation experiences that millions of people every year," said Rita McClenny, President and CEO of Virginia Tourism Corporation. "The DRIVE Outdoor program will help these communities develop new projects that will attract new and returning visitors wanting an authentic outdoor recreation experience." "Participating in the DRIVE Outdoor workshop was a must for our community" said Lisa Meriwether, Tourism Manager. "It resulted in making us more competitive community by building visitor infrastructure to support and attract multi-day sporting events."

Outdoor recreation has proven to be a recession-proof industry and a driving force in the American economy. In 2022, outdoor recreation contributed $11.3 billion to the Commonwealth's economy and supported 125,000 jobs and $5.6 billion in wages and salaries in Virginia according to the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis.

Odds & Ends

Anchors away

California constables ordered Etienne Constable of Seaside, CA to build a fence to hide the fishing boat he keeps in his driveway, apparently because it was an unappealing sight. So, with the help of a neighborhood artist, he built a fence featuring a life-like, detailed painting of his vessel. Neighbors and passers-by approved his solution as did the town's City Manager, Nick Borges, who told reporters: "I thought, 'Wow, that's pretty creative.' I laughed at it. The only action I'm going to take is a high five."

But they couldn't prove it

It may seem unfair, but the gathering was so large that the Guinness World Record's judges had to pass when evaluating the attempt of Drumheller, Alberta to gather the world's biggest crowd of folks dressed as dinosaurs. Town officials said no less than 3,000 participants showed up for the event, but they couldn't prove it, saying that "we could not obtain an exact measurement to officially break the record." Notwithstanding the judges' decision, the numbers attending the Alberta event were obviously so much larger than the 252 people who showed up in costume in Los Angeles in 2019 to win the event.

You can do it if you want it

Al Blaschke won his first Guinness World Record for his skydive in 2020 when he was 103 years of age. But then a Swedish woman took the title; she was 103 and 259 days old. But when Al was approaching his 107 year old birthday recently, off he -- and his tandem partner -- went again into the wild blue yonder and took back his title. His advice for all of us as we grow older is to remember that "if you think you can't [do it, whatever it is], you're just underestimating yourself. Everyone is more capable than they think. They just need to make the decision to try."

He did it with 'gator aid'

A trapper from the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission wrestled with a nine foot long alligator that showed up at an elementary school in Wesley Chapel, FL recently. The gator won the first round when it tossed him off its back. But in the end the trapper, with help, was able to subdue the nasty critter as kids were leaving school for the day.

SENIOR NEWS LINE

by Matilda Charles

Information sources for food safety

At this writing we're being told on the news that the bird flu that's popping up across the country is being found in milk we buy. Then days later, no, it's not. It's only in raw milk, not the pasteurized we buy at the store. Except yes, there are "viral fragments" in pasteurized milk.

With conflicting information, what can we do to stay safe?

Various agencies in the government release alerts and recalls about our food safety. Sometimes they find an undeclared allergen in a food product or an item has not been inspected. Then there are the adulterants such as tiny pieces of plastic found in food.

Sometimes, however, what's found is quite serious, such as listeria, E. coli or salmonella, which can make people (especially seniors) extremely ill.

Receiving alerts and warnings about these can help us avoid foods that can make us sick. There are several alert/recall sources, but the one with the best information is at www.foodsafety.gov. You can either check the site on your computer or phone, or have the alerts sent to you. The website also has information on safe food storage and food poisoning.

The CDC has information on alerts as well at www.cdc.gov/foodsafety/outbreaks/index.html. One recent recall warned of metal fragments in ice cream.

The FDA has a wider selection of alerts, covering shellfish, baby food products, beverages and dietary supplements. See www.fda.gov/food/recalls-outbreaks-emergencies/alerts-advisories-safety-information. One recent alert concerned elevated levels of lead in several cinnamon products.

The Food Safety and Inspection Service (www.fsis.usda.gov/recalls) recently recalled ham products that made it into the country without being inspected and ground beef with E. coli.

Sign up for as many (or as few) alerts as you need to feel safe about your food. If you sign up for more than one, you may get duplicate information, as they often share between agencies.

These free obituaries are sponsored by Swicegood-Barker Funeral Services as a service to their clients/families and Piedmont Shopper readers. Please let them know we appreciate their continued support.

Fighting back against the drug companies

You have to love it when a drug company gets nailed for their role in the opioid drug crisis.

In this case, our favorite government department, Office of Inspector General for the VA, was involved in bringing down a huge drug manufacturer for distributing a misbranded opioid. The result: The drug company was hit with the second largest penalty ever against a pharmaceutical manufacturer: $1.536 billion (that's billion, not million) in fines and forfeiture.

The manufacturer's list of crimes and deceptive business practices is long. Among other things, they declared that the drug was tamper- and crush-resistant. Sales reps went so far as to hit pills (although not the drug in question) with hammers to prove they were crush-proof and therefore did not have an abuse potential. (Being crush-proof is key when prescribing opioids because there is a risk of misuse such as snorting crushed pills.) They hid the effects of their drug and the fact that it was highly addictive. Additionally, the label that went out with the drugs didn't give correct directions for usage.

To make it even worse, the manufacturer targeted medical providers they knew were prescribing the drug off label (for non-medically accepted reasons), thereby adding to the opioid drug crisis, all in the name of greed. They even held sales contests so the sales reps would be sure to target for sales those who were prescribing the highest level of opioids.

Part of that $1.5 billion includes $450 million that will go to state, municipal and Tribal groups to fund drug programs. On top of that is a fine of $475.6 million for civil liabilities.

Now the VA will be able to recoup some of its expenses ($8.5 million) for all the drug interventions and treatment they had to do over the years because of that drug -- and the OIG was right there in the middle of it.

HOLLYWOOD — Jennifer Aniston must've loved "9 to 5" so much that she plans to produce a reimagining of the classic 1980 comedy. Jane Fonda confirmed in 2018 that a "9 to 5" sequel was in the works with her, Lily Tomlin and Dolly Parton set to reprise their roles. It's taken six years to make it happen. Aniston has enlisted Oscar-winning screenwriter Diablo Cody ("Juno") to create the screenplay.

Aniston's last two films were "Murder Mystery" and "Murder Mystery 2," and her series "The Morning Show" is renewed for season four.

Jerry Seinfeld, whose film "Unfrosted" dropped on May 4 on Netflix, recently confessed that he hadn't planned who would play the Frosted Flakes spokesman Tony the Tiger. Then he got an iPhone video from Hugh Grant, who pitched himself as Tony while holding a glass of wine and sitting on a couch.

Seinfeld's writing partner, Spike Feresten, explained, "We were just stunned on how homemade his audition was — and how good it was. Here's Hugh Grant at 8 o'clock at night before he goes to bed, crushing the lines." After Grant signed up, a lot of other people started falling in: Melissa McCarthy, Amy Schumer, Max Greenfield, Christian Slater, James Marsden, Jack McBrayer, and Jim Gaffigan as Kellogg.

This is surprising when you remember Grant trashed his role as the Oompa Loompa in "Wonka," complaining, "I couldn't have hated the whole thing more." He was inconvenienced by the motion capture technology that he had to endure to play a little Oompa Loompa. He also had to wear a special suit to catch his movements, which he said "was like a crown of thorns." Then why did he do it?

"I have lots of children, and I need the money," he confessed. (Grant has five children with two women out of wedlock.)

In addition to playing Tony in "Unfrosted," Grant's got "Bridget Jones: Mad About the Boy" and the horror thriller "Heretic" coming soon.

Both Julie Andrews and Anne Hathaway have been saying for a while that they wanted to revisit "The Princess Diaries." The first film (released in 2001) grossed $165.3 million, and the second (released in 2004) grossed $134.7 million. (Both were directed by the late, great "Happy Days" producer Garry Marshall.)

Andrews said, "It's quite a long time since the two "Diaries" were done ... but sometimes it's best to leave a good thing alone. ... There was dialogue about it. Nothing was ever realized. ... I'd be very happy if we did do another one, but I don't expect to."

Dame Julie Andrews, who turns 89 on Oct. 1, has, of late, done the voice of Lady Whistledown in "Bridgeton," and Marlena in "Minions: The Rise of Gru." She and daughter Emma Walton Hamilton have written 35 children's books, for which they've also recorded the audiobooks. At this stage, I'd rather read Julie Andrews' uncensored diaries. You know that everything hasn't always been supercalifragilisticexpialidocious!

* Want to pump up a dying fire? Never use lighter fluid. Even if the coals look really gray, they could be hot on the inside. The stream of fluid CAN catch fire. It's too dangerous. Put new briquettes in with the old, and light those up using a long-stick match.

* "Keep flareups from unintentional blackening: Keep a clean spray bottle filled with plain water next to the grill. Long after you're done cooking and you're ready to clean up those ashes from briquettes, mist the ashes first, and it will keep them from making a dust cloud." -- U.L. in Georgia

* From charcoal grilling expert Kingsford, here's a great tip to use when grilling chicken: "When applying a dry rub to chicken pieces, it's often hard to keep the rub affixed and it's even more difficult to keep the chicken's original, golden color. Try painting chicken pieces with yellow mustard prior to applying the rub. Not only will the rub stay in place, your final product will be visually appealing -- without any trace of mustard flavor."

* When wrapping vegetables in foil packets to grill, make the seams on the sides. This way, the veggie packets can be turned over for even cooking and to avoid burning on one side. You can even label the outside of the foil in permanent marker. It won't affect the taste of the food.

* To cover a picnic table in windy conditions, choose a fitted bed sheet. An alternative that is kid-friendly is to cover a table entirely with white butcher paper, taped at the seams and secured underneath with strong tape such as duct tape. The kids can busy themselves drawing placemats and decorations for everyone in crayon while the adults do the grilling.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

* Australian bushranger Joseph Johns escaped from prison so many times that the government finally had to build a special cell to hold him, after which an overly (if understandably) confident governor said to him, "If you get out again, I'll forgive you." You guessed it: Johns escaped that as well.

* A high school basketball coach was fired after his team won 100-0 because the Catholic school he worked for thought that such a wide-margin victory failed to display a "Christ-like and honorable approach to competition."

* Two Chinese bank employees stole over $6.6 million and spent it all on lottery tickets. Unfortunately, crime didn't pay when they only recovered about $13,000.

* Don Rickles died before he could record dialogue for "Toy Story 4." Rather than replacing him, Disney reviewed 25 years of material from the first three films, video games and other media, and assembled enough to cover the entire film.

* A study has found that second-born children are more likely to be troublemakers.

* In Japan, male students can confess their love to another person by giving them the second button -- the one closest to the heart -- from the top of their school uniform.

* Laser removal doesn't actually remove a tattoo. It just helps break it down so the body's white blood cells can carry it away. Eventually, you poop out your tattoo.

* A bloodhound in Alabama went outside to relieve itself and accidentally joined a half marathon, then ended up in seventh place. The race was redubbed the "Hound Dog Half," and those who end up in seventh place earn a special award.

Skillet Apple Pie Biscuits

Ingredients

8 frozen buttermilk biscuits thawed or Easy Cream Biscuits

1 21 oz can premium apple pie filling

1/2 cup butter melted

1/2 cup light brown sugar

1 Tbsp ground cinnamon

1 tsp pure vanilla extract

1/8 tsp nutmeg

cup walnut or pecan pieces [optional]

Glaze: [May double if desired]

1/2 cup powdered sugar

2-3 Tbsp cream or half & half

Instructions

Preheat the oven to 375°F. Melt the butter, and brush on all sides of a 10-inch cast iron skillet. In a bowl, mix together the brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg until blended. Dip each biscuit in the butter, and sprinkle all sides with the cinnamon sugar mixture. Arrange side by side in the skillet. Cut the apples in the pie filling into smaller pieces, and mix in 1 teaspoon of pure vanilla. Arrange over the biscuits. Pour the remaining butter over all and sprinkle the remaining cinnamon-sugar on top. Bake for 30-35 minutes, until golden and puffy.

Mix together the powdered sugar and cream until smooth. May double, if desired. Drizzle on top. Serve immediately.

PRO TIP:
To drain all the oil, squeeze the car real good.
