'Rock the Boat' Cardboard Boat Races Return July 11 for United Way

What do you get when you combine a beautiful Southwest Michigan summer evening, water, a few thousand people (some in costume), and cardboard? Excitement, lots of laughs, yummy food, tough competition and probably a few sinking boats - It's the return of United Way of Southwest Michigan's ROCK THE BOAT Cardboard Boat Races, coming back to the picturesque Inn at Harbor Shores on July 11.

This unique event, which features life-size boats made entirely of cardboard - and some creative decorating - promises exhilarating entertainment for participants and spectators alike. With 75 spots available for competing teams, the races are expected to draw crowds of up to 3,000 people, building on the success of the previous event held in 2019.

"We're ecstatic to bring back the Rock The Boat Cardboard Boat Races after the hiatus," said Anna Murphy, President & CEO of United Way of Southwest Michigan. "This event is not just about fun; it's about community engagement and supporting vital programs in our region. We're looking forward to seeing the innovative boat designs and the friendly competition on the water."

United Way of Southwest Michigan has been supporting crucial programming in our communities for 82 years. Originally started by a group of dedicated local business and service leaders as The Community Chest, United Way has been the trusted organization for which thousands of individuals have seen their donations impact hundreds of thousands of families, friends and neighbors with a single gift.

In the last funding year, over 143,000 individuals received life changing supports, giving them the hand up they need, and United Way continues working to make our corner of Michigan stronger and safer,

Dave Says

The Lesser of Two Evils

Dear Dave,

My husband and I are following your plan, and we're on Baby Step 2. We just learned that the person who has done our taxes for the last three years made mistakes on all our returns. They were really nice and did our taxes for free, but now we owe back taxes in the amount of $18,000. Since we're still paying off debt, the only savings we have is the $1,000 in our beginner emergency fund. Should we take out a personal loan to take care of this, or set up payments with the IRS?

Laura

Dear Laura,

Take out a personal loan. Period.

Let this sink in for a minute. How often does Dave Ramsey tell people to borrow money? Almost never. Why am I doing it now, in this situation? Because the IRS is the worst creditor on the planet. They have almost unlimited power, which they use and abuse, and they have ridiculously high penalties and interest rates. With a personal loan from a local bank or credit union, you'll at least have more input and flexibility ty in deciding the terms of the agreement.

Now, I don't know about you, but if the person doing my taxes screwed things up to the tune of $18,000, I'd find someone else in a heartbeat. I understand you want to work with someone nice, and free is usually a great price. But in this case, free was not so free after all.

Just go to your local bank or credit union, explain the situation and see what you can work out. I always recommend small banks or credit unions over any of the mega banks. Places like Bank of America and Fifth Third just have no soul or empathy whatsoever. And the customer service at a credit union or small bank is a hundred times better than what you'll find at a big bank. Sure, they're still bankers, but there's a human element in there. You're not just a number to them like you are to the mega banks.

I hate debt, Laura, and I'm sorry you guys are in this situation. But 100% of the time, I'd rather have personal loan debt than IRS debt. In my mind, it's the lesser of two evils.

- Dave

Remember Our Fallen Heroes

A lot of veterans do not want people to say, "Happy Memorial Day" to them because it is not a happy day.

Keep in mind that for some people Memorial Day is not about BBQs and the start of summer. For some, it is a somber day that they would like to skip over. For some, it is memories they would like to forget.

Veterans Day is for the living. Memorial Day is for the dead. This simple phrase has stuck with me since the first time I heard it over fifteen years ago.

A lot of people knew someone who made the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom. Hopefully, we honor them everyday. If not, we at least should honor them on Memorial Day. On this day, we all honor the sacrifices made by family, friends, and complete strangers in our own way.

The first Saturday of May is National EOD Day. We honor our fallen EOD brothers and sisters on this day. Memorial Day comes at the end of the month. These two days have me thinking of my friends more than most others. I think of Chris Eastman, Floyd Holley, Dan Fedder, Adam Benjamin, Dave Spicer, Mark Wojciechowski, and many more.

I would like to say that I don't mourn their death, and I celebrate their life. I would like to say I think about them all the time. I would like to say that I tell stories about them every chance I get. I would like to say that but I can't. Instead, I don't think about them often throughout the year because it is too painful. I don't think about the family and friends they left behind. I don't think about the kids they never got to meet.

I do try to tell their stories from time to time, when I can push through the emotions. Chris' wife Gabby was pregnant when he was killed. Floyd loved surfing when we were in Hawaii together. I bought Dan's motorcycle right before his last deployment. Adam was one of the first people I met when I got to my first duty station as an EOD Tech. Dave and I went through EOD school together. Mark and I were in Fallujah together on his first deployment as an EOD Tech.

These great men, and many other great men and women sacrificed their lives to save others. I'm sure they would do it again without hesitation. These are the people that Memorial Day is meant for. These are the people we need to honor today.

If you knew someone who made the ultimate sacrifice, honor them today. If you don't know of anyone, head over to one of the many war or military memorials, and read the names. Keeping their names alive is how we can honor them.

Remembering our fallen heroes today and always,

Jeff Street, MSgt USMC (Ret)

Squeezing In A Few More Ribbon Cuttings!

A few weeks ago I shared with you the full list of ribbon cuttings that we were hosting this month, since then we've added an additional one with Countryside Academy, and gotten a few extra details from Peat's Cider Social. I thought I'd share with you those details so you can join us in cheering both entities on!

As many schools are wrapping up their academic year and cheering the arrival of summer break, Benton Township's Countryside Academy is rejoicing in the completion of their new elementary building. To celebrate, the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber hosted a ribbon cutting on Friday, May 24th at 9:00 a.m.

The $9-million project officially kicked off in October of 2022, which saw a celebratory groundbreaking for the new facility located at the Meadowbrook campus. The new space will serve as home for nineteen (19) Young Five through Fifth grade classrooms, plus the K-12 cafeteria where breakfast and lunch will be prepared and served to all students on-site. The previous main campus, located right next door, will become home to Sixth-Twelfth grade classrooms.

Prior to the new elementary building being built, students were split between two campuses, Meadowbrook and Millburg. The new building will allow for staff and students to all be in one central location, while the Millburg facility transitions to a new Tri-County Head Start center.

"There were multiple factors that led us to building the new elementary school, but the largest one was simply that we ran out of space for additional students," says Sarah Brookshire, Countryside Academy's Lead Administrator. "Another factor was the ability for all staff and students to be at one central location versus a five (5) mile separation between them."

Located on 120-acres the Meadowbrook campus features an aviation CTE program, ponds, woods, a stream, gardens, and the Agriculture Resource Center which includes a state-of-the art barn and greenhouse.

To learn more about Countryside Academy and their F.A.R.E. (Food. Agriculture. Renewable Resource. Environmental) theme based learning visit CountrysideAcademy.org.

Southwest Michigan's vibrant art scene is set to receive a colorful addition as Peat's Cider Social unveils a striking new mural on Wednesday, May 29. The ribbon cutting ceremony hosted by the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber, slated to commence at 5:00 PM, promises to celebrate local artistry and community spirit.

Skilfully crafted by the talented duo Angela and Rich Valha, the new mural adorns the patio of Peat's Cider Social, infusing the space with nostalgic flair. Angela, renowned for her expertise in watercolor, paint, and chalk, brings her vision to life through intricate detailing. Her talent has garnered such titles as Best in Show and Viewers' Choice at past St. Joseph Today Chalk the Block competitions. Angela's artwork was also commissioned for United Way of SWMI and displayed at the Krasl Art Center. Complementing Angela's vision is Rich Valha, a seasoned creative director at Aisle Rocket, who infuses the mural with his graphic design skills honed through decades of working with local and national clients.

Angela says, "We were thrilled to be asked by Leah and Dan to take this on, and to be honest, a little intimidated, too. I couldn't have done it without Rich's expert design skills for the layout, and many hours of assistance taping, painting, and cleaning to get it done. We are very proud to have our art incorporated into this amazing outdoor space that the Peat's have created for our community."

Dan and Leah Peat, co-founders of Peat's Original Cider, believe in the importance of supporting small businesses and local artisans. Leah says, "Since opening in March of 2020, we've embraced the idea of using our space to provide a platform for talented artists and community members. It's why we host Maker Mondays once a month and our Annual Halloween Makers Market."

All members of the press and community are invited to attend the Mural Ribbon Cutting Celebration at Peat's Cider Social on Wednesday, May 29, at 5:00 PM. Dixie Old-Fashioned Hot Dog Cart will be onsite serving up tasty food! Join us as we embark on a journey of artistic discovery and community celebration.

Humorist

ic walk on the moon, Gomez commented, "NASA scientists were puzzled by a white object Armstrong saw. I know what it was. It was that homer Jimmie Foxx hit off me in 1937."

I'm not sure whether this one is wit or wisdom? Both, maybe? Lum Harris of the Braves said of a hard-throwing pitched named Wayne Simpson, "If he ever starts getting control of that fastball, it'll be all over -- they can throw water on the fire and call the dogs." What the heck does that mean?

Pitcher Chris Short was pretty darn good sometimes, but other times, uhhh, not so much. His inconsistency drove his manager, Gene Mauch, crazy. Mauch even told reporters once that he would gladly trade Short "for a bale of hay."

George Thomas was on a lot of major league teams, and balanced his frustration at not getting to play very much with his self-deprecating sense of humor. Once, he had a chance to talk to the great catcher Johnny Bench; pointing to Bench's name on the back of his jersey Thomas joked, "Hey, we both play the same position! But you have it written on your uniform!"

Some pitchers discovered ways to drive hitters mad. John Wyatt was often accused of cheating by throwing spitballs -- in other words, putting foreign substances on balls to make them behave erratically, and harder to hit. New York Yankee Joe Pepitone once complained, "Wyatt has so much Vaseline on him that if he slid into second base he'd keep right on going until he hit the outfield fence."

Lew Burdette had a reputation as a spitballer, and during games would try to get into batters' head with a bunch of suspicious mannerisms: Twitchily touching his jersey and hat over and over, rubbing his forehead, wiping his lips, and even muttering to himself. One of his managers defended him by saying Burdette was just high-strung: "Heck, he makes coffee nervous."

Bon Mots and Brickbats from Baseball Byrons

I hesitated to include the word "Baseball" in this week's headline, because there isn't much of it, or about it, in this column. However, the sources for the enormously fascinating wit and wisdom to follow are all folks who played that sport -- and when you've finished the column, maybe you'll have a little greater appreciation for the near-poetic eloquence (thus the headline reference to Byron) of the practitioners of the grand old game. (I'm hoping you will not have any lesser appreciation for me for cribbing their words.)

Let us begin with a taste of the tanginess filling this column!:

The legendary manager Casey Stengel once pointed out a young prospect named Greg Goossen to reporters, and said, "Goossen's only 20. In ten years he has a chance to be 30."

A pitcher named Tom Hall was notable for his physique; he was around 6' tall but weighed less than 150 pounds. His teammate Ted Uhlaender once said, "Tom wouldn't sink if he walked on quicksand."

Lefty Gomez crafted a Hall of Fame career as a pitcher. But apparently not by the way he pitched to the powerful slugger and fellow Hall-of-Famer Jimmie Foxx. Gomez said Foxx was so strong "Even his hair has muscles." After Neil Armstrong took his histor-

God's Way To Love

*We love because he first loved us. Whoever claims to love God yet hates a brother or sister is a liar. For whoever does not love their brother and sister, whom they have seen, cannot love God, whom they have not seen. And he has given us this command: Anyone who loves God must also love their brother and sister.
1 John 4:19-21*

Most people would tell you love is an emotion. Sometimes love is there; sometimes it is gone. People think they can only show love when they feel like it. Before long, the feeling goes away. Love is gone, and so are any expressions of love.

The kind of love God talks about is much more stable and consistent than this human love. Christian love gives—it shows kindness, consideration, and patience. Through loving actions, we reflect that we are children of God. We follow God's pattern.

For the Christian, love is not just an emotion that grows when it receives something in return. Rather, Christian love rests on the boundless love of God for us. John tells us that merely saying we love one another is not enough to demonstrate adequately what Jesus has done for us and that he is at work in us. We must show our love in tangible ways.

How do we do this? In our Bible reading today, John explains that we cannot see God. So we cannot go to him and give him some food, clothing, or other tangible, temporal goods. So what do we do? We show our love to those we can see. They give us tangible opportunities to show our love to God. If we withhold our love from them and refuse to share it—how can we claim to love God?

In other words John says, love the one who is right there with you, and you will be showing love to God. True, our brothers and sisters in Christ aren't as kind and loving as God has been to us. But remember, God loves us and sent his Son to die for us, even when we were his enemies. Not having our love returned is all the more reason to show love, for then it is unconditional, just like the love Jesus has for us.

Prayer: Lord, help me show love to those around me just as you have loved me, not just in words, but in action. Amen.

The building blocks we all need for the opportunity to live our best life – Health, Education, Financial Stability and Basic Needs – are the cornerstone of the work of United Way. Whether ensuring families have nutritious food to eat, access to early childhood educational programs and post-secondary services, classes to improve financial health and knowledge, getting job training skills, or supporting overall health, United Way of Southwest Michigan knows that by working together, everyone has the opportunity to succeed.

So how does a cardboard boat race make a difference you ask? Simple – every dollar raised from boat registrations to voting for your favorite boat will stay in Southwest Michigan, a community that is near and dear to us all. For the cost of a boat registration ($500) – 2 individuals or families will receive six months of financial coaching. OR 16 individuals will receive nutritious meals for a year. OR a student will receive four months of mentoring/tutoring services. Every single day, these important services are delivered thanks to United Way funding, perhaps to someone you know and love.

“Rock The Boat isn't just a fantastic team-building activity; it's also an opportunity for businesses to align with a cause that makes a real difference in our community,” added Murphy. “We encourage local businesses to seize this chance to showcase their commitment to Southwest Michigan while enjoying a memorable evening of cardboard boat racing.”

And now back to those wild and crazy cardboard boats...

You're intrigued, right? You are fairly confident in your boat building skills. You think you can paddle faster than most people. You look pretty darn good in a sailor outfit or maybe even a Bluey costume. Then head straight to uwsm.org to sign up your team and boat. Registration is open now, offering participants the chance to showcase their creativity and craftsmanship, and paddle a cardboard boat that will brave the waters of the St. Joseph River.

United Way has also provided all of the information anyone could need on their website: a full detail of boat building rules and suggestions, locations to secure cardboard (Boss Services and United Container, and you can also use your own), how to raise money and secure votes for the Captain's Bounty and People's Choice Awards, and a map of the site, showing the boat route, entry and exit points.

Erin Glaske, one of United Way's Employee Campaign Managers, has been working with Little Red Fern, TPC Technologies, and The Inn at Harbor Shores to make this year's event the best event ever. According to Glaske "There is something for everyone this year at Rock The Boat. Two food trucks (Ben's Pretzels and The Brick House) will be on hand, and The Inn at Harbor Shores is doing a 10% give back on all drink sales at the Tiki Bar to United Way. There will also be a large screen (thanks to TPC) showing all the heats and status of the boats. And of course, everyone will be cheering for their favorites to make it all the way or their competitors to sink."

The races will commence at 5 p.m. on July 11, promising an evening of excitement and nail biting finishes. And of course – safety of all participants is the number one priority. Safety Patrol will be on hand and in the water to ensure the safety of all boaters.

In addition to the thrill of the races, Rock The Boat offers valuable sponsorship opportunities for businesses and organizations. Sponsorship not only supports United Way's mission but also provides excellent exposure and community goodwill. Several sponsorship opportunities include top level perks: boat fees waived, social media and press release coverage, logo inclusion and more.

The current list of sponsors includes Midwest Family, Silver Beach Pizza, Honor Credit Union, North Pier Brewing, Boss Services, and CuriRMB Capital, with additional support from Pepsi and United Container Corporation.

For more information about sponsorship opportunities, volunteer opportunities or to register a team for the Rock The Boat Cardboard Boat Races, please visit: uwsm.org
