2024 'Best Places to Work' Named

Moody on the Market has unveiled the winners of the 2024 Best Places to Work awards. Awards Series Director Zack East says, "This prestigious recognition celebrates the outstanding companies in our region that excel in fostering exceptional work environments, employee satisfaction, and community involvement."

This year's awards are sponsored by the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber, Silver Beach Pizza, Parrett Company, Sturgis Bank, Autobahn Imports, and the Inn at Harbor Shores, with additional support from The Mason Jar Cafe.

The companies honored this year represent a diverse range of industries, each demonstrating a commitment to excellence, innovation, and employee well-being.

The winners of the 2024 Best Places to Work awards are:

- 1. Apothica Teas – Celebrated for its inclusive, fun, and family-oriented environment. Nominator Veronica highlights, "Everyone is friendly and does their best to help each other." Veronica describes Apothica Teas as inclusive, fun, and family-oriented. The team is passionate, and the owners genuinely care for their employees. Apothica Teas fosters a sense of community and personal growth, creating a unique and fulfilling workplace.
- 2. Berez & Associates, PLC – Recognized for its integrity, respect, and joy in the workplace. Nominator Gabriella says, "It's fun to come here every day because of the environment Deb has fostered." Gabriella sees Berez & Associates as embodying integrity, respect, and joy. Employees appreciate the supportive atmosphere and professional development opportunities. The meaningful impact their work has on families is deeply rewarding.
- 3. Berrien RESA – Praised for being caring, innovative, and respectful. Nominator Troy shares, "I am fortunate to see firsthand Mission Accomplished!

The Sixth and Final KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship at Harbor Shores was One to Remember

More than a decade ago, in 2011, Whirlpool Corp. and the PGA of America first came together to highlight Southwest Michigan through the KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship. Since then, this Championship has been played at Harbor

Shores every other year (except for 2020, due to the pandemic). It has been a wildly successful ride, bringing international attention to Harbor Shores and Benton Harbor, Michigan. This past Memorial Day weekend was the sixth and final KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship at Harbor Shores. This remarkable 13-year partnership between Whirlpool Corporation and the PGA of America has had a profound impact on the community, serving as the catalyst for the revitalization of the area and showcasing Southwest Michigan as a great place to work, live and play, attracting residents and visitors from all over the world.

Over the years, this Championship has had an average annual economic impact of $7 million. It has also resulted in $500,000 in wages for local residents over the term of the sponsorship.

Most importantly, over a million dollars have been donated to local youth non-profit organizations, including The First Tee, Boys & Girls Club, YMCA, the local children's museum and Benton Harbor Area schools. Whirlpool Corporation and the PGA of America also established the Jack and Barbara Nicklaus Champions for Change scholarship for local college students. On May 22, the two entities announced they would donate $150,000 to fund this important scholarship for the next five years.

The 84th KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship kicked off on Wednesday, May 22, with PGA WORKS Beyond the Green, a career-exploration event. Nearly 80 local students from historically under-represented backgrounds were given an exclusive opportunity aimed to educate and inspire them to explore careers in the

$102 billion golf industry. These students came from the Michigan Hospitality Foundation, Bridge Academy of Southwest Michigan, Benton Harbor Area Schools culinary program and the Boys & Girls Club. After a message from PGA of America President John Lindert, the day included tours of the Whirlpool

Innovation Center and the Corewell Health Center for Wellness, as well as a panel discussion led by Beyond the Fairway Podcast, hosts Doug Smith and Will Lowry on what it means to live a "Bold Life". Students also had the opportunity to get hands-on experience with VR gaming, golf and, of course, cooking.

Wednesday afternoon continued with a Young Professionals event in the Benton Harbor Arts District, followed by a free community concert featuring R&B legend Jeffrey Osborne and sensational jazz artists Gerald Albright and Kim Scott.

Starting on Thursday, the highly anticipated showing of celebrity chefs got underway at the KitchenAid Fairway Club, including famed chefs Alex Guarnaschelli and Carla Hall, HGTV Designer Jasmine Roth and resident chefs Chris Covelli and Brett Wagner. This year also featured more Michigan-based talent than ever before, including Brian Maynard (Forté Coffee), Elton Mann (Plank's Tavern), Nate Brown (local celebrity from Flint), Justin Paruszkiewicz (Sister Lakes Brewery), Cheyenne Galbraith (Houndstooth), Deb Sailor (The Cheese Lady) and Abra Berens (Granor Farm). Just a Little Little Little Baseball Column

Okay, I get it if some of you are saying, "What the heck? When is Stuart gonna stop with all this baseball-adjacent drivel?" At least, that's what my wife's been saying.

But here's the deal: As I write this column, my beloved Chicago Cubs are contending for first place in their division. And their rise in the standings coincided with the first of my hard-ball-heavy columns! I'm obviously influencing the outcome of major league baseball results! I don't know if they'll still be doing as well when this column publishes - but I'm not about to let anyone blame me for any regression!

So onward, with more tales from around and sometimes on the diamond.

Let's start with an observation, which demonstrates how LITTLE baseball is in this column: It seems no matter what game you might be tuned into, all announcers will eventually describe some action with the adjective "little." A couple of weeks ago, listening to a radio-cast of my beloved Chicago Cubs, color man Ron Coomer described a play as follows: "He threw 'im a little inside slider and got a little jam shot, a little three-hopper to short." This set a new personal record for me for "Most 'Littles' Worked Into One Play Call"! Please let me know if you ever hear, or have heard, of one with a little more!!

Joe Cunningham and Don Blasingame were teammates who once made a deal that whichever of them got married first would have to pay the other $50. Blasingame was the first to get hitched. He made good on his commitment: He presented Cunningham a bucket of 5000 pennies. Smothered in oil. And molasses.

Pedro Ramos was a young pitcher in the 1950s with the Washington Senators. One day, against the Red Sox, he struck out the immortal Ted Williams. Ramos saved the strikeout ball, and after the game, asked Williams to autograph it. Williams got testy at first, but relented and signed it. A couple weeks later, facing each other again, Williams got revenge by blasting a home run off Ramos. As he ran the bases, Williams is said to have shouted at Ramos, "I'll sign that #*%& ball too! -- if you can ever find it!"

The Hawaii Islanders, a minor league team based on Oahu, played for decades in a ballpark just brimming with, ahem, venerability (i.e., age). Players nicknamed Honolulu Stadium "The Ter-

mite Palace." There was a long-standing joke that went "All the termites are holding hands. But if they ever let go, the whole thing will fall apart."

I still have all the baseball cards I collected when I was a kid, for several reasons, including that I hope staying interested in them would help me to stay young. Heck, it worked for Chicago Cub Carmen Fanzone. His baseball cards for 1973, '74, and '75 show three different birth years. In an effort to appear younger - and thus more desirable - to baseball executives, he managed to coax Topps, the baseball card producer, to "correct" his birth year in 1974. And did it AGAIN in 1975. So, for three seasons, at least according to his baseball card, Carmen Fanzone stayed the same age.

That's my goal too! Which is why after all these years, I still like sitting in the Carmen Fan-zone!

Southwest Michigan Steelheaders to host annual Trolling with the Troops June 21st and 22nd

Every year, the Southwest Michigan Steelheaders brings together local charter boat Captains and veterans for a day of fishing and camaraderie on Lake Michigan, known as Trolling with the Troops.

The event kicks off with a special Veteran's Dinner on June 21st, featuring prizes, hats, t-shirts, and delicious food. On Saturday the 22nd, they set sail from the St. Joseph River to Lake Michigan, each boat stocked with snacks and smiles.

CALLING ALL CAPTAINS: While veteran slots are filled this year, the group seeks more Captains. Registration is available at www.trollingwiththetroops.com.

CALLING ALL PATRIOTS: If you're not a Captain but want to support veterans, join

The Buck in downtown St. Joseph on June 6th for a Give-Back Day, donating 20% of the day's sales. Owner Ken Kozminski says, "We're also offering an All-You-Can-Eat Fish Basket for only $20, but 20% of the entire day's sales will benefit the cause regardless of what you order."

If unable to attend, monetary or gift donations can be made by emailing to twttswmi@gmail.com.

The Southwest Michigan Steelheaders is part of the Michigan Steelheaders & Salmon Fisherman's Association, dedicated to conserving and promoting the sportfishery of the Great Lakes and inland waters.

Troops return with a great catch and a greeting from spectators along the river.

lenged fans to guess, "Is it real or is it cake?". His team's cake version of the KitchenAid Stand Mixer was not only impressive - it was delicious!

At the Makers Trail 19th Hole, a record number of local vendors served thirsty fans, including Watermark Brewery Silver Harbor Brewery, Sister Lakes Brewing, North Pier Brewing, Round Barn | Tabor Hill Winery, Dablon Vineyards, Iron Shoe Distillery, Peat's Cider Social, Lazy Ballerina Winery, River Saint Joe and Evelyn Mae's BBQ Food Truck.

Of course, one of the most exciting moments was crowning Richard Bland as the 2024 KitchenAid Senior PGA Champion. Bland made an eagle and eight birdies to shoot the week's low round, an 8-under 63, that ended his final round at 17-under 267 and a three-shot victory over Australia's Richard Green. Green made two eagles in a closing 65, finishing at 14-under 270 to clinch his runner-up spot over Australian Greg Chalmers, who took third.

This fantastic event would not have been possible without the more than 1,000 volunteers who came from all over the world to support it - from making sure everything went smoothly on the course, to staffing on-site fan experiences and more.

The 84th KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship was a true celebration of success in so many ways. From community involvement to on-course action, the event showcased cooking and golf in a special way that can never be duplicated. Reflecting on the purpose of Harbor Shores in revitalizing the area and the incredible growth throughout the community since then, there are two words that sum up this 13-year partnership - mission accomplished.

*President,
SMR Chamber*

Thank You, Whirlpool Corporation and KitchenAid. So long, SPGA.

I am deeply grateful and proud as we look back on our community's remarkable thirteen-year journey of hosting six incredible KitchenAid Senior PGA Championships at Harbor Shores Golf Club. This extraordinary achievement was made possible by the steadfast support and vision of past and present leaders Whirlpool Corporation and KitchenAid. Their contributions will leave a lasting legacy in our community - one that will be cherished and remembered for years to come.

The KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship brought world-class golf to our doorstep, while simultaneously showcasing Southwest Michigan to a global audience. Each year it was held, the event was broadcast to over 150 million households across 70 countries, creating exposure that has led to a fourfold increase in hotel rooms since the beginning of the collaboration. It also generated over $7 million in economic impact each year it was held, creating 600 temporary jobs and bringing in thousands of visitors who contributed to our local economy.

Additionally, millions of dollars have been donated to local youth organizations, including First Tee of Benton Harbor, Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Southwest Michigan, Benton Harbor Area Schools, and the Jack and Barbara Nicklaus Scholarship Fund for local college students which has been extended to 2029.

The success of these championships required the dedication of over 1,000 volunteers, with an extraordinary 250 individuals volunteering at all six events. This collective spirit of volunteerism reflects the heart and soul of our community, further demonstrated by us stepping up a sixth and final time to give this event the beautiful conclusion it deserved. This display of poise, purpose, and hospitality makes me proud to call this community my home.

Alongside these dedicated volunteers was a small but mighty team of full-time SPGA staff, including 2024 Championship Director Brandon Haney; Corporate Hospitality Sales Manager Brent Curtis, Volunteer Operations Manager Kelsey

Cheyne, Operations Manager Chelsea Boretti, Operations Coordinator Ben Kester, Sales and Services Marketing Coordinator Claire Fetters, and Office Coordinator Amy Greenlay. Their tireless efforts and enthusiasm, as well as any who held their roles before them, were instrumental in ensuring the smooth operation and success of each tournament. We owe each of them a debt of gratitude.

But again, none of this would have happened without the remarkable vision and generosity of Whirlpool Corporation and KitchenAid. Special thanks to Whirlpool Director of Corporate Reputation and Community Relations, Deb O'Conner, 2024 General Chair Pam Klyn, and the countless others who helped create what was considered by many as the best and most unique brand activation program of any golf championship.

Though it is bittersweet that this year marks the final time we will host the championship in Southwest Michigan, we can all take pride in the profound impact it had on our community. Less than 20 years ago, the site of Harbor Shores Golf Course was a 500+ acre industrial wasteland.

Thanks to the visionary leadership of Whirlpool's former CEO's Dave Whitwam and Jeff Fettig, along with other key Whirlpool and community leaders, it has been transformed into one of the top 90 golf courses in the nation and is today surrounded by five thriving housing developments.

To me, that's what the KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship was always about - community revitalization. The revitalization of Benton Harbor, of Berrien County, and of Southwest Michigan. Hosting an event of this size and international significance proved we could do anything and, while the event itself may be gone, those who made it possible remain. We still have an incredible corporate citizen in Whirlpool and an incredible community full of dedicated businesses and volunteers who believe in all that Southwest Michigan has to offer.

Together, we have shown that our collective efforts can lead to extraordinary achievements. As we look to the future, I am eager to continue collaborating with these community leaders to build on this legacy of success. Our journey of community revitalization is far from over, and I'm confident the best is yet to come.

The Danger

Dear friends, let us love one another, for love comes from God.

1 John 4:7

In the world of 21st Century philosophy, Charles Taylor is a pretty big name. According to thebestschools.org website, Taylor "has been influential in defining how we conceive of ourselves in the modern world." In a book entitled, "Dilemmas and Connections," Taylor makes a compelling observation about the secular mind and what motivates the secular mind to do good for other people.

A paraphrase of Taylor's observation is as follows: People with a secular mindset do good for others because, among other things, it makes them feel good about themselves. However, cautions Taylor, the danger with this kind of motivation is that it can easily slip into feelings of superiority and even contempt for the very people you are trying to help. This can especially happen, says Taylor, when the people you are trying to help are not as responsive or grateful as you think they should be.

Let's take the observation of Charles Taylor and turn it on ourselves. As you work to do good for others, how do you react when the people you are trying to help are not as responsive or as grateful as you think they should be? Does your attitude harden, even just a bit, into an attitude of superiority? Does it even darken into an attitude of contempt? Are there times when a bitter voice within you says, "After all I've done for them, this is the thanks I get?"

That's why we need Jesus. Out of a kind of selfless love we will never fully comprehend, the Son of God lived a life of perfect service on our behalf. Then he took upon himself the guilt of all of our self-serving motives, our hidden agendas, our false humilities, and he paid the price in full at the cross. And now, as our living Savior, he comes to us in his Word, calling us to repentance, washing us clean, renewing our hearts, empowering us to love others as he has loved us.

What drives real love is not self-serving pride. What drives real love is Jesus' love for us.

Dave Says

Which Comes First?

Dear Dave,
My wife and I have three young daughters. Is there a Baby Step for weddings? We didn't see one in your plan, but I was wondering if it was included in any of the other Baby Steps.

Cedric
Dear Cedric,
This is a really good question. I'm glad you're thinking about the future and planning accordingly.

I don't have a specific Baby Step for weddings. If I did, it would probably come after Baby Step 5, which is setting aside a college—or trade school fund—for your kids. Maybe you could look at it as Baby Step 5b. Once you have retirement, education savings and extra house payments underway, you could start putting aside a little something for weddings.

Don't get me wrong, weddings are special. You absolutely should mark these kinds of milestones with a celebration. But a wedding is only a one-day event. And to be blunt, a good education is more important than a fancy wedding. This idea may not make me popular with some folks, but it's the truth.

Maybe this is the dad in me coming out, but if I had to choose between paying for more education and paying for big weddings, I'm going to pay for school every time. Besides, there's no correlation whatsoever between the size and/or cost of a wedding, and the happiness and success of the marriage.

Good luck, Cedric!
—Dave

Not Much to Worry About

Dear Dave,
My husband and I have our emergency fund account in the same bank as our checking and savings accounts. Do you think we should move the emergency fund to a different bank? A friend suggested doing this, but I wasn't clear on why he thought this.

Shari
Dear Shari,
Honestly, I wouldn't worry about it too much if I were you. The only exception to that might be if you had loans you owed to that same bank.

Some commercial loan documents give banks the right to take money out of your accounts—without your permission—to pay the loan. This isn't a common practice, and it usually doesn't happen unless someone gets way behind on a loan. If you had a car loan with a particular bank, for instance, I wouldn't keep a lot of money in that bank.

But in your situation, Shari, I think everything's fine.

—Dave
