To drink or not to drink (the taco sauce) from Jalapeño Grill

If you have a taste for tacos served with a rich dipping broth you can sip like soup, there's now a food truck business in the area that is bringing a Mexican favorite to Southwest Michigan.

Jalapeño Grill is the concept of Berrien Springs native David Tobias. He officially opened his play-on-words-named food truck business over the Independence Day holiday, serving roasted beef tacos with a sauce that resembles a consommé. On the menu, they're called Birria tacos, a traditional food from Jalisco, Mexico. The traditional Birria is served with goat meat, but the U.S. version often uses beef, as does Jalapeño Grill.

"I basically cook it down to where it breaks down really nice and tender. Once the meat is cooked with the seasonings and the chili peppers, it all creates a broth. You have all the flavor from that meat along with the seasoning and everything that it was cooked in and that is what you're dipping."

If you're familiar with Philly Cheesesteak sandwiches, you understand the concept. The slow-roasted beef is stuffed into a taco shell, dipped in the broth, fried, and served along with a cup of the broth.

Tobias said for those who aren't certain, yes, you're supposed to dip your taco in the sauce, and you can drink the sauce when you're done with your tacos.

ning of music along with celebrated jazz guitarist Andy Brown. Called a "jazz dynamo" and "a gem in the city vocal jazz scene" by Time Out Chicago, Elaine Dame has been capturing attention at venerable jazz venues from coast to coast. The duo performs on Saturday, July 27, at 7:00 p.m. at the Box Factory for the Arts.

Tim Redmon has been playing guitar since 1964 and has been performing all over Southwest Michigan for the past 7 years. He brings a wide range of music to the table, from the Beatles to Vince Gill to Steely Dan. His eclectic jukebox repertoire keeps the audience enthralled, toes tapping and singing along, too. See him Sunday, July 28 at 2:00 p.m. at Sister Lakes Brewing Company.

Summer is in full swing as artists take over Broad Street in downtown St. Joe during Chalk the Block. The festivities begin Friday, August 2, and will continue through Sunday, August 4. Attendees can watch as both amateur and professional artists prepare their squares on Friday evening, work all day Saturday, and enjoy the completed chalk masterpieces on Sunday. This family-friendly festival showcases regional, national, and international artists, using beautiful St. Joseph as their backdrop. Attendees can vote for their favorite chalk masterpiece in the People's Choice.

The Coloma Glad Peach Festival has a weekend of activities planned for Friday, August 2 to Sunday, August 4. Indulge your taste buds as you enjoy a variety of delicious food options from local vendors. Discover unique treasures while exploring the craft vendors for one-of-a-kind items. Get your heart pumping by participating in the 5K or 10K walk/run, or cheer on the runners. Join the pickleball or cornhole tournament for friendly competition. Enjoy live performances from various artists. Watch the dazzling fireworks display. Check out the impressive vehicles at the car show. Participate in the parade and soak up the festive atmosphere. There's something for everyone.

The Heritage Museum's Lecture Series presents different perspectives on the organization's and the community's past. First up, long-time Board of Directors member Dr. Dennis Szymanski shares his perspective on changes over the years (and decades). The Heritage welcomes you on Thursday, August 1 for what is sure to be an insightful and delightful presentation. Then on Thursday, August 15 join in for our annual Emerging Historians Showcase. Public History Intern Bella Bacolor and Lighthouse Coordinator Saraina Lepley will team up to share vignettes of their adventures in public history at The Heritage. For both dates doors and bar open at 6:00 p.m. and the presentations in Shepard Hall Ballroom begin at 7:00 p.m.

Cecil Wilson of the Pokagon Band of Potawatomi Indians will present the fascinating story of this local American Indian nation, "The History of the Pokagon Band of Potawatomi Indians". The Morton House Museum will host this event on Thursday, August 8 at 7:00 p.m.

Winners Forget Quickly

I'm glad to be back and offer insight into your journey in the game of golf. Hopefully your scores are improving and overall enjoyment increasing! If you've read my column before, you know perfection is unattainable and frustration can easily set in. No one is immune to getting upset on the course, just ask my 9-year-old when he misses a 3-footer. How do you manage emotion on the course? Do you let it make or break your round?

Winners forget quickly. I had the pleasure of attending a lunch with the Golden Bear, (Jack Nicklaus), in Phoenix back in 2013. He was recalling championship moments, offering thoughts on dealing with pressure and how he managed himself. He made a comment that stuck with me, he claimed to have never missed a putt when it was for the win. Now, that sounded like an absolute amazing stat, so I did what anyone else would do, I fact checked. Truth is, the Golden Bear missed quite a few putts that cost him additional Championships, but he genuinely never remembered missing when it mattered. That's what Champions do! When I think about this, all of the greats in their respective sports share like characteristics. Jordan always wanted the pressure of taking the winning shot, and yes, he missed on occasion, but nobody remembers those misses, they remember the ones he did make.

I'm no Nicklaus or Jordan, but they teach valuable skills on playing to your highest potential. How often do we let bad shots linger? Ever had a round derailed because the frustration snowballed into a full-on course rage? That might be going too far, but we've all let bad shots shape a round here or there. Being disciplined in "forgetting quickly" will shave a few strokes off your round.

Trust me, it's hard, but golf is Not a Game of Perfect (great read by the way). Remember, all it takes is one good shot to erase a few bad ones. Next time you don't get the result you were looking for, shake it off, don't dwell on it, and try again.

Groundbreakings, Ribbon Cuttings, and a 50th!

I think we can all agree that summer seems to be flying past us! As we wrap up the last few days of July, and welcome in August, I wanted to share a few more opportunities for you to connect with us while celebrating with a few of our members.

As communities across Southwest Michigan continue to grow, as does the need for reliable and dependable internet. Surf Internet and the City of Bridgman are excited to share their partnership to take steps towards closing the digital divide. A groundbreaking ceremony to celebrate this achievement will be held on Monday, June 29th at 11:00 a.m. at Bridgman's City Hall located at 9765 Maple St. Bridgman.

Surf Internet is continuing to make huge strides in building out its fiber-optic network in the Great Lakes region. The expansion into the Greater Bridgman Area is set to transform the digital landscape of the community connecting to their existing high-speed fiber-optic network, offering reliable and symmetrical speeds of 1 gig for all.

"Surf Internet is excited to bring fiber internet service to the Greater Bridgman Area. Fiber internet is a fast and reliable choice and will be transformative for the community," says Jim Morris, Regional Development Manager for Surf Internet.

The groundbreaking celebration will be hosted by the Greater Bridgman Chamber & Growth Alliance (CGA) in collaboration with the Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber, and the City of Bridgman.

Nancy Kiernan, Director of the Greater Bridgman CGA adds, "High-quality internet service can certainly bring value to residents and enhance the economic future and viability of our community. This is a much needed and welcomed step in the next chapter of the Greater Bridgman Area's growth."

Later that week, Friday, August 2nd to be exact, we are joining Mark & Karla Lemoine as they celebrate 8 years of owning the Coloma/St. Joseph KOA Holiday, and 50 years of this KOA being in Southwest Michigan!

As only the second owners of the business, the Lemoine's quickly made significant reinvestments into the property and carry on the legacy of outdoor hospitality in southwest Michigan that fulfills their mission of connecting people to the outdoors and each other.

You're invited to join the celebration from 10:00 a.m. to Noon and see why the Coloma/St. Joseph KOA Holiday continues to be a destination for outdoor lovers from near and far and wish it another 50 years of success!

The following week, we're heading to Millburg as Tri-County Head Start (TCHS) will be celebrating the grand opening of their new Early Childhood Education Center. The Southwest Michigan Regional Chamber will be hosting a ribbon cutting on Friday, August 9th at 3:00 p.m. located at 4821 North Street, Benton Harbor.

Tri-County Head Start serves communities throughout Berrien, Cass, and Van Buren counties at 21 individual school sites in addition to the new Millburg location. Of the 22 total school site locations, the Early Childhood Education Center in Millburg will become the third building that the organization owns itself. Their ownership of the Millburg center will allow TCHS to better serve students and families by creating a space that is specifically catered to the needs of the community.

Prior to Tri-County Head Start purchasing the building it served as Countryside Academy's Millburg Campus, making it a natural fit for TCHS's vision. Moving forward, it will house eight classrooms, multiple office spaces, and various areas for students to play and learn. Serving as an Early Childhood Education Center, the facility will be prepared to serve infant through preschool-aged children throughout the community.

More Sports Shorts

Did you get an "I bet there's more where that came from" vibe from last week's column? You shoulda, 'cause all this week I continued flitting around the internet for tidbits about U.S. Olympians. Let's dive into more little-known shorts about these good-at-sports sorts!

Diver Tyler Downs says his favorite meal is "anything at Chick-fil-A because it's the best place ever and I could eat it all day." The only concern, as I understand it, is this would turn Tyler's springboard physique into one pretty much only suited for cannonballs.

Another gastronomic tidbit: Water polo athlete Ben Hallock says pancakes are his favorite food and that he eats over 1,000 every year. He lives much of the year in Italy, where pancake is spelled "pancake" – but pronounced "pancake-uh." He plays professional water polo there, and an article at teamusa.com says this experience helps him "fine-tune" his game, referring to his fork technique while eating pancake-uhs.

There are 3-on-3 Olympic basketball events on the Olympic slate, and the U.S. men's team will feature a player named Canyon Barry. I dearly hope that the parents of his parents call him their Grand Canyon.

Nina Castagna is a coxswain on the women's rowing squad. I like the way this anecdote concludes: She went out for rowing in high school, hoping the sport would build some muscle. On her first day, the coach sized up 4'10", 78-pound Nina, and immediately talked to her about being a coxswain (always the smallest person, by far, in the boat). Nina listened patiently but was far more interested in actually pulling oars, so she asked the coach when she would get to row. She looked Nina up and down and said, "Okay, I'll check on that." And never brought it up again.

Lauren Doyle is a rugby player from an unincorporated place in Illinois, called Boody. Wikipedia entries for cities and towns routinely list the most notable people from the place. Boody's "Notable People" list reads "Lauren Doyle, rugby player" . . . and that's it.

Water polo athlete Quinn Woodhead is 6'4" tall and weighs 216 pounds. But his teammates call him "Little Wood." Because one of his teammates, at 6'7" tall, and 235 pounds, is his brother, Dylan.

Women's rowing trivia: Margaret Hedeman's favorite animal is the brachiosaurus. Followed by cows. Olivia Coffey may have one of the most appropriate hobbies I've ever stumbled upon: "Finding new coffee places." Kelsey Reelick says she enjoys listening to Celine Dion and Pitbull, but not at the same time.

The U.S. sailing teams spent last summer training at the Olympic sailing venue in – poor things! – Marseille, France. I haven't come across any evidence that they're complaining about this. Sailor Daniela Moroz acknowledges that "Most people's jobs don't involve spending the summer in the south of France, beginning each day at a small cafe for coffee and a fresh croissant. It's such a vibe." Wait, wait – could "It's such a vibe" be slang for some kind of complaint?!

Now I'll start a big row, with a final rower factoid: Nick Rusher's favorite band of all time is The Eagles. Nick hosted a radio show in college dedicated to disco, funk, and house music. He did not play ANY Eagles songs. But he did play Celine Dion and Pitbull. At the same time.

Born in the United States and of Mexican heritage, Tobias said he first felt the inspiration to take his cooking public three years ago. He was raised in Berrien Springs, moved away, and then returned shortly after COVID hit. He noted a lull in food offerings and wanted to bring something fun and tasty to the community.

"I grew up in Berrien Springs but moved away for a few years. I came back shortly after COVID and... with people either not going back to work or not being able to (staff) establishments, it threw the light bulb into my head."

Why Birria tacos? Tobias said the idea came to him when he was helping his daughter's workplace with a customer appreciation event.

"Over Memorial Day weekend of 2021, I said, 'Let's make some tacos and we'll kind of put them out there for the customers.' So, I did and thought at the end of that day I would have a lot of inventory to pick up. I found they were actually out. My daughter told me the next day they were getting phone calls (asking), 'Hey, where do we get any more of those tacos?' That was the push I needed."

The idea of opening a food truck did not immediately materialize, but he was expanding his network of taco fans. Tobias said during the summer of 2021, he would set up in his driveway, cooking for family and friends and word of mouth spread.

"I remember my wife and I were sitting outside on a Saturday afternoon and I had two people walking by real slow. I asked if I could help them with something and they looked at me and said, 'Is this where we get tacos?'"

Three years later, Tobias has gone from being the neighborhood's taco guy to pulling a trailer and setting up at popular events. Most recently, the Berrien Springs Pickle Festival.

Asked about the play on words for the business name, Tobias said it's something popular with the younger generations, "Basically it's Jalapeño Grill, or 'I'm all up in your grill.' Like, get-out-of-my-face-type-thing. I guess it would be targeted more towards like the younger generation, whereas older people are like, 'Well, what does that mean?'"

Asked if it was hard to make the transition from cooking for friends and family to starting a street-legal food truck, Tobias said it was difficult.

"I would say it was very hard. Obviously monetarily you have to save and do things like that, but little by little I was able to. I started out with a Blackstone grill and I was doing things from home."

"The Health Department's been a big help with providing me information. Going into 2023 is when I purchased a trailer. I took a bare bones trailer and little by little just started building it by myself, putting in the hours to make sure the equipment fit and contacting an electrician and plumber to help with certain things."

Asked where he sees his business in 10 years, Tobias said the goal is to leave his day job (a job he loves) and operate Jalapeño Grill full time.

"That's my end goal. But I have to work towards it. This is the beginning stage, which I guess is the hardest part, just getting the name out there, being known, having visibility is important to me. And just making sure that we're taking care of people and that they just keep coming back."

You can find the locations and schedule of the Jalapeño Grill on their Facebook and Instagram social media. Tobias also has a website at <https://jalapenogrill.net>. In addition to the food truck, Tobias said they also do private events and catering.

Every Morning

Because of the LORD'S great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail. They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness.

Lamentations 3:22,23

What's your morning ritual? When does the blaring of the alarm clock burst your pleasant sleep? What can you "check off" your list before leaving the house for the day? Is receiving compassion one of those things?

You might not notice it, but God has already been busy before your alarm clock stirs you to action. God tells you that his love and compassion protect and greet you every morning.

Why would you and I need God's love and compassion every morning? God tells us that we are sinners. There are so many times we have done, said, or thought things that God hates. Not only do we commit sins, but God also tells us that we have a sinful nature that hates what God loves and loves what God hates. Because of what we do and who we are by nature, we deserve to "be consumed"—punished by God.

But God promises to treat us differently than we deserve. In love, God decided to treat his Son differently than he deserved, too. Jesus was punished in our place and for all of our sins. He suffered in our place on the cross and died. In love, God let his Son, Jesus, be consumed because of our sins.

Now, God greets you each day with his love and compassion. For the sake of Jesus, God forgives your sins. You produce new sins every day. So, God gives you love and compassion every day—new every morning.

May God bless you with sleep that leaves you feeling "new" every morning. Whether or not your physical rest brings you into the new day feeling refreshed, God faithfully greets you each morning with his love and compassion through Jesus. May

God's great love and unfailing compassion refresh you every morning and propel you through each day.

Prayer: Heavenly Father, I daily sin and deserve only your wrath and punishment. Thank you for your love and compassion—new every morning! In the peace and power of forgiveness, lead me to thank you with all that I do. Amen.

Dave Says

Right heart, wrong actions

Dear Dave,
I'm beginning to feel some bitterness and resentment towards my parents for their recent decisions and financial irresponsibility. Fifteen years ago, while I was still in school, they left good-paying jobs to enter the ministry. They both took pay cuts when they made this decision, and they've been regularly asking for money for living expenses from my husband and I ever since. Sometimes, they even try to make us feel guilty if we can't give them the amount they ask for. My mom, especially, constantly brings up their call to the ministry, adding that we should want to help them. We believe in their calling, but we also feel they knew they would have to live on less money, and they're being irresponsible with the money they make. What should we do?

Abigail
Dear Abigail,
What I'm hearing is giving money to your parents isn't necessarily a financial hardship for you and your husband, but that by consistently giving or loaning your parents money you're losing respect for them. This is not a healthy situation. Your relationship has become strained, and that's a tough thing for anyone to deal with—especially in a parent-child scenario.

Make no mistake, going into the ministry with the right heart is an admirable thing. However, in the Bible, Paul made tents while he conducted his ministry. I'm paraphrasing, of course, but his line was to the effect of, "If you don't work, you don't eat." He had a job. So, I don't think suggesting your folks think about working outside the ministry while trying to do God's work is unfair in a situation like this.

I'm sure your mom is a good person, but no one should do this to their child. On top of it all, she sounds like a travel agent for guilt trips—like she's working you over while implying it's all really for God. That's not only toxic, it's just plain wrong.

It's going to be hard to unravel it all and turn this into a respectable situation where they're not constantly asking for money, and you're not feeling pressure and falling victim to the guilty feelings that enable this behavior. I hope all of you will consider sitting down with a reasonable, objective third party and talking things through. I also hope you'll take some time to read a book called Boundaries by Dr. Henry Cloud. It will open your eyes to a few things.

God bless you and your family, Abigail.
