Gardening Tips

by Jackie Kubiak #12

Garden Check List

General landscape

- Keep newly established shrubs, trees, perennials, ground covers and grass well watered during dry spells. New plants should receive an inch of rain every seven to 10 days.
- Don't fertilize woody plants now. It stimulates green growth that will not have time to harden off before winter.
- Be on the lookout for bagworms on evergreens and deciduous trees.
- Begin seeding new lawns or bare spots in established lawns in late August or, preferably, September. Fall is the best time to repair or start a new lawn.
- Order spring-flowering bulbs for fall planting. Store in cool, dry place. Plant in late fall and early winter.
- Sow seeds for biennials or transplant seedlings for blooms next year.
- Spade or till soil for fall bulb planting; add a moderate amount of fertilizer.

Vegetables and fruits

- Complete fall vegetable planting by directly sowing seeds of carrots, beets, kohlrabi, kale and snap beans early this month. Lettuce, spinach and green onions can be planted later in August and early September. Thin seedlings as required.
- Harvest onions after tops yellow and fall. Cure them in a warm, dry, well-ventilated area. The necks should be free of moisture when fully cured, usually about a week.
- Pick beans, tomatoes, peppers and squash often to encourage more production.
- Harvest watermelon when the underside ground spot turns from whitish to creamy yellow; the tendril closest to the melon turns brown and shrivels. Please Shop Local, see ya next month!

Here's what's Cookin'

By Phyllis Hays, #11 with Trixie

Taco Salad

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 can (15 ounces) black beans
- 1 can (15 ounces) corn
- 2 cans (14 ounces each) diced tomatoes with chilies
- 1/2 cup half-and-half or milk
- 2 tablespoons onion powder
- 2 tablespoons garlic powder
- 2 tablespoons mesquite seasoning
- 1 tablespoon black pepper salt, to taste

- 1 lime, juice only
- 1 cup chopped cilantro
- romaine lettuce
- 2-3 cups shredded cheese
- 1 tub (16 ounces) sour cream
- crushed tortilla chips

Total time: 30 minutes Servings: 6

In pan over medium heat, brown beef until cooked through; drain. Add black beans and corn. Stir in tomatoes with juices and half-and-half. Add onion powder, garlic powder, mesquite seasoning and pepper. Season with salt, to taste. Bring to simmer. Add lime juice; stir. Sprinkle with cilantro. Wash and chop lettuce. Place cheese and sour cream in bowls for toppings. On plates, top crushed tortilla chips with meat sauce, lettuce, cheese and sour cream, as desired.

"The Aisle Seat"

by Tim Fealy

With the selection of JD Vance as the vice-presidential candidate on the Republican side, I thought it would be fun to revisit the film based on his life story. "Hillbilly Elegy" is a wonderful film with an all-star cast available on Netflix. JD is a Yale Law School student who feels completely out of place as he attends networking events to secure an internship. During the interview week, his sister asks him to return to Ohio to help with his mom who recently overdosed on heroin. The film tells JD's story in a series of flashbacks to JD's childhood and the experiences that shaped his life. His mom tries to make the best life for her kids while struggling with both addiction and failed relationships. JD's grandmother becomes the real hero by taking JD in and giving him a more stable home life. Despite their flaws, JD's family looks out for one another and puts family first as best as they can. For me, the big lesson from the film is that we often do not know a person's struggles and background. Perhaps if we did, we would treat each other with more compassion. While it is a film about family, do not watch it with little kids due to the language and drug use. On my scale as to what I would pay to see this film, "Hillbilly Elegy" gets $9.

Since politics is so much part of our lives, it is my hope each election cycle that the candidates will watch "Dave," This 1993 film stars Kevin Kline as Dave Kovic, a Presidential impersonator who stands in as Commander in Chief when the actual President has a stroke. If you have not seen this film, you will thoroughly enjoy it. If you have, it is well worth re-watching. A favorite scene for me is when Dave visits a homeless shelter and later finds out the bill he signed cuts the shelter's funding. He is told that he can save the shelter if he can find $650 million in the budget. Bringing in an old, trusted friend who is a CPA, they work together to find areas to cut government waste and save the shelter. With so many feel good moments, it is the perfect film for a family movie night. On my scale, "Dave" receives $10.

Outdoor Observations

by Tom Berg

The Strange Periodical Cicada

The Periodical Cicada is a fairly large insect that emerges en masse – or in huge numbers – in the eastern half of the USA in certain years. The adult insects of many of these species have black upper bodies with orange legs and orange underparts. They also have bright red eyes that are hard to forget. They are called periodical cicadas because they don’t emerge every year. They emerge from the ground “periodically”.

Of the seven species of periodical cicadas, four species have 13-year life cycles and the other three have 17-year life cycles. That means they spend almost their entire lives (13 or 17 years, respectively) living underground, feeding on fluids from tree roots.

Then during the springtime of their synchronized emergence year, they come forth in almost unbelievably large numbers. Periodical cicadas can emerge in groups of more than a million individuals per acre. It really is a spectacle of nature! This mass emergence is a good strategy for survival, too. With so many cicadas on the ground and in the trees, they easily overwhelm hungry predators with far more food than they can possibly eat. Almost everything likes to eat them, too, including birds, raccoons, opossums, skunks, squirrels, foxes, coyotes, bats and spiders. Pets like dogs and cats eat them, too.

When these cicadas emerge from the ground, they molt into their adult form and fly up into the treetops to find a mate. The males sing up in the tree branches with a loud, high-pitched ticking or buzzing call in an attempt to attract a female. Their life as an adult is very short; usually only a few weeks. After they mate, the females lay eggs in the bark of those tree branches and both males and females die.

Fit & Healthy Family Guide

Osteoarthritis & Rheumatoid Arthritis

There is no single test for osteoarthritis. Diagnosing the condition may include the following:

- Providing to a doctor a medical history that includes your symptoms, any other medical problems you and your close family members have, and any medications you are taking.
- Having a physical exam to check your general health, reflexes, and problem joints.
- Having images taken of your joint using:
  - X-rays, which can show loss of joint space, bone damage, bone remodeling, and bone spurs. Early joint damage does not usually appear on x-rays.
  - Magnetic resonance imaging (MRI), which can show damage to soft tissues in and around the joint. Generally, MRI helps health care providers evaluate a joint that is locking or giving out.
  - Having blood tests to rule out other causes for symptoms.
  - Taking joint fluid samples to look for other causes of joint pain, such as infection or gout.

Treatment of Osteoarthritis

The goals of your treatment for osteoarthritis include:

- Reducing pain and other symptoms.
- Improving joint function.
- Stopping the disease from progressing.

•Maintaining a health-related quality of life to help prevent disability.

Treating osteoarthritis usually begins with:

- Learning about osteoarthritis. Your doctor may recommend classes that you can attend or online programs you can join.
- Exercising, which can reduce joint pain and stiffness and increase flexibility, muscle strength, and endurance. Remember to start any exercise program slowly and take the time to adjust to the new level of activity. You should speak to your doctor or physical therapist about a safe, well-rounded exercise program, which may include:
  - Range-of-motion and stretching activities to keep your joints limber.
  - Strengthening exercises performed with weights or exercise bands to strengthen muscles that support joints affected by arthritis.
  - Exercises in the water to help lower the stress on the joints while exercising.
  - Balance and agility exercises to help you maintain daily living skills.
  - Low-impact activities that give you a moderate level of activity without putting stress on the joints. These may include walking, cycling, swimming, tai chi, water aerobics, or a low-impact aerobics class.
  - Managing your weight can help reduce the stress on joints. In addition, if you are overweight or obese, losing weight can help to reduce pain, prevent more injury, and increase mobility in the joints. This can be especially helpful for weight-bearing joints such as your knees or hips.

Osteoarthritis & Rheumatoid Arthritis

Rheumatoid Arthritis

Rheumatoid arthritis is a type of arthritis where your immune system attacks the tissue lining the joints on both sides of your body. It may affect other parts of your body too. The exact cause is unknown. Treatment options include lifestyle changes, physical therapy, occupational therapy, nutritional therapy, medication and surgery.

What is rheumatoid arthritis?

Rheumatoid arthritis (RA) is an autoimmune disease that is chronic (ongoing). It occurs in the joints on both sides of your body, which makes it different from other types of arthritis. You may have symptoms of pain and inflammation in your:

Fingers.
Hands.
Wrists
Knees

Ankles.
Feet.
Toes.

Uncontrolled inflammation damages cartilage, which normally acts as a “shock absorber” in your joints. In time, this can deform your joints. Eventually, your bone itself erodes. This can lead to the fusion of your joint (an effort of your body to protect itself from constant irritation).

Specific cells in your immune system (your body’s infection-fighting system) aid this process. These substances are produced in your joints but also circulate and cause symptoms throughout your body. In addition to affecting your joints, rheumatoid arthritis sometimes affects other parts of your body.

The exact cause of rheumatoid arthritis is unknown. Researchers think it’s caused by a combination of genetics, hormones and environmental factors. Normally, your immune system protects your body from disease. With rheumatoid arthritis, something triggers your immune system to attack your joints. An infection, smoking or physical or emotional stress may be triggering. RA usually starts to develop between the ages of 30 and 60. But anyone can develop rheumatoid arthritis.

HARMONY HANDBELLS

Lake County: Harmony Handbells, Inc. is forming an intermediate handbell choir. We will meet at Hillside Community Church in Crown Point on Monday evenings from 6:30-8:00 beginning Sept 9, 2024. Anyone 10 years old or up who has at least 1 year of experience ringing bells is welcome to join us. We will learn basic music theory, handbell techniques and group music skills through the use of games and team-building. There is no charge for the class; the joy of teaching is our reward! Contact Linda at handbellover@gmail.com to register or ask questions.

Porter County: Harmony Handbells, Inc. would like to invite anyone 8 years old or older to join us learn to make music with handbells at Portage United Methodist Church. Join us at 2637 McCool Road from 6:30-8:00 every Thursday evening beginning September 12, 2024. Everyone is welcome to learn the basics of music, handbell ringing, and group music skills through the use of games and team-building. There is no charge for the class; the joy of teaching is our reward! Contact Linda at handbellover@gmail.com to register or ask questions.

Here’s How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes.

The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
