SERIOUS STUFF FROM A FUNNY LADY

Tumbleweed Smith

A woman in Crowley calls herself Z, the first letter of her first name.

"My first name is Zandra," she says. "When I was born, my mother went to see a Tarzan movie, TARZAN AND THE AMAZON WOMAN. The head Amazon honcho woman, the big strong girl who ran all these women on this island, was named Zandra and that's where my name comes from."

She's a writer and goes by the name Z. Mink Fuller. Her father was named Oscar Mink.

"My daddy was an old country preacher from Appalachia and he used to say "I am what every woman desires. Everybody would love to win an Oscar and they would love to have a mink and with me they get them both."

"She had fun growing up.

"I was just a tom boy and such a hippie kid running around you know, had my hands in paint or mud or something, always doing something crazy."

When she was a young woman she did clown work.

"When you put on that grease paint and make-up, you can become someone else."

Z and her dog Peaches are all over social media.

"I've got a little bit that I do called RUBY PEARL AND PEACHES SOUTHERN WIT AND WISDOM."

She presents short little glimpses of every day life. Here's an example: "Hey there my lovelies, it's Ruby Pearl here. It's 98 degrees and I swan I've got the vapors. I tried to find a cool place to day to write, just didn't happen. Peaches is takin' a nap, so I'm goin' to grab some sweet tea, sit on the veranda 'til big daddy gets home."

Her poetry, essays and other writings have been published nationally. She's working on an anthology of her work. She wrote a hard back children's book titled HOPE AND HOLLYHOCKS.

"It's about imagination and fantasy and in the middle of it I have pages where they can color and draw their own stories and draw the characters the way they want to create them. It's sold at Wal-Mart, Barnes and Noble and Half Price Books"

All profits from the book go to help abused children and adults through missions, such as Rapha International based in Missouri.

"Feed, clothe, educate them, you know, give them a better life."

Patriot Day is a United States national observance that honors the memory of those who were killed in the September 11 attacks. It was first observed in 2002, after the proclamation by President George W. Bush.

On September 11, 2001 al-Qaeda launched a series of coordinated terrorist attacks upon the United States, killing almost 3,000 people. In the immediate aftermath of the tragic events, President proclaimed September 14, 2001 as a National Day of Prayer and Remembrance for the Victims of the Terrorist Attacks on September 11, 2001. A year later, September 11 was made a national day of mourning referred to as Patriot Day. This observance has been proclaimed annually since 2002.

A moment of silence is traditionally observed at 8:46 AM. Many organizations and establishments hold memorial ceremonies to honor the victims of 9/11.

BUSINESS SERVICES

The business services industry is a very broad industry encompassing many different categories of business operations; all of them provide some sort of non-financial service to other companies. These services include advertising, marketing, consultation, logistics (including travel and facilities services), waste handling, staffing services, shipping, administration, and security services to name a few. Nearly every business in operation has need for at least one of the different kinds of service offered by the industry. Marketing companies are responsible for increasing the sales of a client company by helping the company gain new customers as well as keep current ones. Legal services are needed to deal with business transactions, as well as for litigation purposes. Logistics and shipping companies are responsible for connecting businesses to other businesses or consumers by collecting, storing, transporting, and delivering products. Staffing companies match people in need of jobs, temporary or permanent, with companies in need of qualified employees. Leasing companies fill a client's need for certain items without requiring full purchase. Security companies are responsible for keeping a company's assets secure. Consulting companies are in the business of fulfilling needs for expertise that clients cannot fulfill themselves. These companies may offer professional, scientific, or technical consulting, management or strategy consulting, or human resources consulting.
