Moody on The Market

After 86 years, Golden Brown Bakery closing its doors

Eighty-six years in the baking, the regional institution Golden Brown Bakery is closing at the end of the year.

The announcement, like so many in the last couple of years, came as a surprise via social media. The company posted on Facebook an announcement that saddened many fans of the establishment.

As Moody on the Market reported last July, the Golden Brown Bakery closed their St. Joseph due to what the owner attributed to ongoing issues related to hiring and retaining employees.

In the posting announcing the South Haven closure, the current owners said Golden Brown Bakery has been more than a business for them – it has been their home.

“After 86 years of serving Southwest Michigan and the city of South Haven, the owners of the Golden Brown Bakery, Dave and Barrie Braschler, have decided the iconic bakery and coffee shop will close its doors for the final time at the end of 2024. Known for its freshly baked goods and pastries, classic breakfast and lunch offerings, and a friendly atmosphere, the closure marks the end of an era that made the bakery a landmark staple of downtown South Haven.

“Founded in 1938 by two sisters, Nona MacKenzie and Blanche Rosenberger, MacKenzie’s Bakery began as a small roadside bake stand between Covert and South Haven. With help from John G. MacKenzie and Dave’s father, Don Braschler, in the late 1950’s, the business continued to grow, guided by a goal of creating and delivering the finest baked goods to Southwest Michigan, with a welcoming space for neighbors to gather. Over the years, it has become a local institution, with generations of families returning for its famous chocolate fried cakes, filled long johns, cheese coffee cakes, specialty decorated cakes, English muffin bread, and your favorites.

Upcoming Events

September continues to be a whirlwind of excitement, school activities, warm weather, and is also already halfway over. Not to be outdone, October decided to start booking up as quickly as possible, so much so that between September 16th and the end of October we have 14 events planned...not including Chamber Conferences, member meetings, and another festival & event-based conference for me. WHEW! Like I've said before, I wouldn't change a thing though because this type of busy is a good thing for all of us! Let's dive into some of the events that you can enjoy coming up.

One of our members, Becky Martin with BCM Organizing LLC is hosting two FREE workshops to help you get organized. Her Organized by Design Workshops offer you the perfect opportunity to get some great and easy steps to tackle that otherwise dreadful task. Join these illuminating workshops led by professional organizer, Becky, and discover the art of home organization. In this comprehensive workshop, she will lead you through each process step, offering guidance on donations, techniques for grouping and labeling items, and invaluable tips for maintaining your freshly organized space. Don't miss this opportunity to transform your living environment and enhance your daily living experience.

Upcoming Organizing by Design Workshops include September 20th at 6:30 p.m. at the Stevensville Village Hall at 5768 St. Joseph Ave, Stevensville. This event is hosted by the Lincoln Township Public Library, which, friendly reminder, is going through a full remodel and has temporarily relocated next to Roger's Foodland on the corner of Hollywood and Glenlord in South St. Joe. After September, you can catch her next workshop on January 15th at 6:00 p.m. at the St. Joseph Maude Preston Palenske Memorial Library at 500 Market St. St. Joseph.

I've already shared the ribbon cutting and 2nd year anniversary celebration with the ladies at The Aesthetics Lounge and Spa in St. Joe on Thursday, September 26th, so be sure to make your way there. What I haven't shared with you yet is on Wednesday the 25th our NextGen Young Professionals will be gathering at the Weko Beach House in Bridgman. If you've never been inside the Beach House, or are looking for an excuse to enjoy the beach on a Wednesday night, this is one you won't want to miss. Hosted by The Swab Agency Farm Bureau Insurance from 5:00 - 7:00 p.m., this event will be one of a kind. In addition to delicious samples from Base Bowls and Company, networking with fellow professionals, and a chance to soak in the sun (and sunset) in Bridgman there will also be the FIRST EVER Rock, Paper, Scissors tournament! Now, I don't mean to brag or anything... but I've won my fair share of roshambo and am ready to come out of retirement!

If you're unfamiliar with The Swab Agency they are a veteran owned, Farm Bureau Insurance agency located in Bridgman, that specializes in Home, Auto, Farm, Life, and Commercial insurance. The Swab Agency is happy to provide a discount on home and auto coverage for members of several affinity groups that include, Young Professionals, Current/Former Military, Michigan Education Association, Michigan Realtors Association, Union Workers, and many more. Owner Matt Swab is a genuinely good guy, who wants to do good things in our community - if you haven't had the chance to connect with him, this is a great opportunity to do so.

Speaking of Matt, you have another chance to join us, him, their Farm Bureau team, and the crew from Haymarket Taproom in October. Matt will be hosting our next Business After Hours on October 10th from 5:00 - 7:00 pm at Haymarket. While we are still ironing out some of the details, this event will have multiple opportunities to connect with The Swab Team, other attendees, and of course enjoy some delicious Haymarket offerings!

Interested in learning more about upcoming events or how you can get involved and help business thrive, talent reside, and create a quality of life is second to none? Visit our website at smrchamber.com or reach out to me directly: sspoonholtz@smrchamber.com or 269-932-4040.

What is Tinnitus?

An estimated 10-25% of the global population is affected by what is called tinnitus. Tinnitus is a condition characterized by the perception of ringing, buzzing, humming, or other similar sounds in the ears when there is no external sound present. It can be constant or intermittent, and its intensity can range from a mild annoyance to a debilitating condition that significantly impacts a person's quality of life. Tinnitus can affect people of all ages, although it is more common in older individuals.

There are two main types of tinnitus: subjective and objective. Subjective tinnitus is the most common form and occurs when only the person experiencing it can hear the sounds. It is often linked to underlying issues such as hearing loss, exposure to loud noises, ear infections, or problems with the auditory nerves or pathways. Objective tinnitus, on the other hand, is much rarer and can be heard by both the person experiencing it and a healthcare professional using a stethoscope. It is often caused by vascular issues, muscle spasms, or other physical abnormalities in the ear.

Treatment for tinnitus varies depending on the underlying cause and severity of the symptoms. In some cases, addressing the root cause of tinnitus, such as hearing loss or an ear infection, can help reduce or eliminate the noise. Other treatment options may include sound therapy, counseling, and cognitive behavioral therapy to help individuals cope with the symptoms and manage any associated emotional distress. Numerous studies have shown that hearing devices alone have helped alleviate tinnitus, whether it is partial or total relief. The reasoning behind this might be due to the link between tinnitus and hearing loss, with tinnitus often being a symptom of an underlying hearing loss.

If you or someone you love are suffering from tinnitus, contact our office today to schedule your free consult!

Joshua Doxtator, PGA
General Manager
The Golf Club at Harbor Shores Resort

Golfers of all ages are captivated with hitting the ball as far as possible. If you're a student of the game, you might remember a favorite quote of mine from the late Harvey Penick, "the woods are full of long drivers." I'm all for distance, but accuracy and limited dispersion is much more important. Distance comes with speed, and speed can only be obtained when the body makes a reactive golf motion. I know, that sounds like a lot!

In an attempt to help you "Drive for Show," here are some things to think about next time you tee it up! Speaking of teeing it up, tee height is extremely important. Often, I see players tee the ball too low, thus creating a downward path into the ball. Outcome = sky ball or a mark on the top of your brand new $500 driver. The general rule of thumb is to allow at least half the ball sit above the crown of the club. Why? The driver is the only club in your bag that hits the ball on an upward path. This reduces spin and increases launch angle, both of which you want!

Drive for Show

Ball position is equally important; the ball position should be just inside your lead foot or out towards your toe line. This allows the club to move upward into the ball. When the ball position moves back, it becomes impossible to hit the ball on an upward path unless you fall back, which is not recommended.

Square your shoulders! When you put the ball position forward, your body will automatically try and align left (for a right-handed player) of target, make sure you align your shoulders to your hips, knees and feet. The typical shot pattern for someone aligning left is a slice; I'm sure none of you reading this are guilty of that.

Finally, remember that you hit the ball on the forward path, not the backswing. I witness countless golfers take the club back with so much rage and fury you wonder if there's other issues going on. Something I tell all my students is, "low and slow, then let it go." Keeping the club head low to the ground as it moves away from the ball allows for correct plane based on your posture. Don't worry about getting the club to move upward, that happens on its own. Once the club gets to the top position, allow rotation to take over into the ball.

Until next time, tee it high and let fly: Drive for Show!

Pet Lover

The Pet Corner

The autumn season is quickly approaching, with a harvest moon shining and a few colored leaves falling this past week. Local pet rescues are gearing up to celebrate by sponsoring events to benefit the animals in need of new homes. Looking ahead, you might like to add the following events to your fall calendar.

Animal Aid will hold their annual Doggie Hayride at a new location this year; Stover's Farm Market, 7837 M-139, Berrien Springs, on Saturday, October 5, (raindate October 12) from 1-4 p.m. Enjoy a hayride with your dog for a $5.00 donation that benefits Animal Aid and Friends of the Berrien County Animal Shelter. The wagon leaves every 15 minutes. They will also have a small silent auction, refreshments—cider and treats—for purchase, and a free gift card drawing. Adoptable pets will be present. Donations of pet supplies are welcome. Questions? Call 269-200-6939.

Berrien County Animal Control Shelter will hold their annual Trunk or Treat Spooktacular on Saturday, October 26, from 9:30 a.m. to noon. Bring the kids in costume but please leave pets at home. The Shelter is located at 1400 S. Euclid, Benton Harbor. Of course, donations of pet food and other necessities are welcome, too.

BCAC invites local businesses and organizations to take part in the Trunk or Treat Event. Decorate your company vehicle and join as a station to pass out candy. They will award a prize to the most "spooktacular" candy stop. Sign up before October 21 by calling 269-927-5648 or emailing KFrancis@BerrienCounty.org. Participation is free.

Lately, we have noticed coyotes in our neighborhood. We know they are just about everywhere, but it is surprising when one lopes down your street in broad daylight. Wherever you live, please be aware of them and keep your pets, especially smaller ones, in your presence when outside. If pets eat outside, pick up their food once they are done eating, and know that if you let your cats wander, they can easily become a coyote's dinner.

Shelters and foster rescue homes are full with pets waiting for new homes. If you are thinking of adopting a new friend, now is the time to check out the many who are available. If you have recently adopted a new pet that is not yet spayed or neutered, please make sure to have that done in a timely manner so they don't add to the already full shelters. Having your pet fixed makes for a much happier and healthier animal. Don't allow your own misconceptions to prevent your dog or cat from having a better life.

Have you ever gone away for a few days or weeks without your pets? How did they react when you came home? Like you'd deserted them, right? Imagine how pets feel that are left behind by their long-time owners. Sometimes it's unavoidable, as in the case of a person's illness or death, but so often you see where someone is moving and can't take their pet. I suppose that happens, too, but to me one of the saddest sights is to see especially an older animal waiting for their owner to come back and get them. We should all have a plan for where our pets would go if we were no longer able to care for them. Don't let them be the one who sits in a shelter waiting for someone who won't return.

Dave Says Time to Make Something Happen!

Dear Dave,
My husband lost his job four months ago, and we're close to losing our home. I'm working three jobs trying to keep our heads above water, while he's "waiting for the right opportunity." I understand his feelings, but at the same time I've been encouraging him to find a job like delivering pizzas to help out. Should we continue this way, or should I quit my really hard job, and just let him take responsibility? I love my husband, and I hate the idea of losing the house, but this is driving me crazy.

Janet
Dear Janet,
Many guys are task-oriented, and if they're not careful, they can start defining themselves by what they do rather than who they are. So, when a guy, in particular, loses a job it can be a huge deal in his life and a massive blow to his ego.

When I went broke a few decades ago, I had to re-think who I was in my own mind. I'd lost my business, and in many ways, I looked at that company as who I was. My identity was suddenly gone, and lots of guys go through that very same thing with a job loss.

If he's not willing to listen to you, I think you two need to sit down with a good, objective marriage counselor, because he's confused as to why he works. There are two reasons we work. One is to provide for our families. That's our primary job. The second reason is to exercise our calling—the reason we were put on this planet. But you can't accomplish the second one when you're not doing the first one. You've got to make sure your family has a place to live and food on the table. Four months of a guy sitting on his butt like this is unacceptable. I don't want to hear about being over-qualified, or anything about a career path. Get a job and take care of your family! I don't care if it's cutting grass, shoveling snow or delivering pizza. In situations like this, you have to stand up, be a man and take care of your responsibilities.

I'm sorry if that sounds harsh, but it's the truth. Believe me, I get it. Sometimes people go through problems, and they need a break of some kind to work through the pain. I did a little of that when I went broke. But at the end of the day, we didn't lose our home because I was sitting around doing nothing. Even when I'd lost all my self-confidence, I still went out and tried to get things started again.

It's time for your husband to stand up, brush himself off and make something happen!

— Dave

A Heart Transformed

Christ is the culmination of the law so that there may be righteousness for everyone who believes.

Romans 10:4

We all set goals in life. We might set goals in stages to make them more realistic. We want to transform our health and habits. We want to grow in our abilities. Yet, we struggle to meet the goals that we set for ourselves. How much more have we struggled to meet the goals God has set?

The goal of God's law is summed up in this way: Love the Lord and love your neighbor. God's law set the bar as high as it can go—perfection! Be perfect and follow God's law of love perfectly. God sets the goal he wants us to aim for, but we've missed the mark. God's goal is for us to live righteous and perfect lives, free from sin, but we haven't. That's the law.

Here's the gospel, the good news: Jesus Christ has met God's righteous goal as our Savior and substitute! Jesus met the goal that we never could. Jesus hit the mark that we've so often missed. Jesus loved the Lord with all his heart. As true God and also true man, he placed himself under his own law

September 21, 2024 MailMax Page 7 and did what his Father asked him to do—to keep the law perfectly and then to die for us who haven't perfectly kept it. In this, Jesus met the goal of the law and loved God and us. Perfectly.

This good news transforms our hearts. In Jesus, we are finally declared righteous (right with God). It's as though we'd never sinned because Jesus kept the law and died in our place. Our hearts are transformed, so we no longer have to hide from God in fear. Instead, we can run to him in confidence, knowing that he loves and accepts us through faith in his Son.

We follow Jesus not because he's like some life coach who helps us set more realistic goals and achieve them. He doesn't simply show us the way. We follow him because he is the way, the truth, and the life. We follow him with a heart transformed by his love.

Prayer: Lord, continue to transform my heart with your gospel so that I may follow you eagerly from the heart. Amen.

“Our bakery has been more than just a business. It’s been my home, a community gathering place, and a source of pride,” said Dave Braschler, who has owned and operated the bakery for the last 41 years. “We are grateful for the incredible support and loyalty from our customers over the decades. While it’s bittersweet to come to this realization and say goodbye, we feel blessed to have been a part of this town’s story.”

The post concluded with a simple thank you from the family.

“The Braschler family and staff extend their gratitude, appreciation, and thanks to all who have supported them throughout the decades.”

No word exactly when the operation will close but the business is still baking bread, making cakes, and taking orders.

Aldi to take over current Shelton Farms location

The owners of Shelton Farms have announced the business is changing hands. The well-known, family-established business posted on social media that they will be closing by 2025 and the location will become an Aldi Foods.

www.MailMaxOnline.com
 Located at 1832 South 11th Street in Niles, the business made the announcement that after 77 years of serving the area, they made the difficult decision to transition.

“This decision comes with a mix of emotions: a deep sense of gratitude and accomplishment for the successes we’ve enjoyed, sincere pride and appreciation for our incredible team of employees and friends who have been instrumental in our growth, and heartfelt thanks to the wonderful customers we have had the honor of serving for generations. We are proud to be concluding our journey on our corner on our own terms, and at the peak of our achievements.”

In response to what they indicated were growing social media rumors, the statement from Shelton’s said there’s a silver lining to the news.

“The good news for the community is that we believe we have found the right successor—a major retailer committed to providing continued value to our community. When Aldi Foods approached us, it made the difficult decision to move on a bit more bearable. They will replace our well-worn building with a brand-new facility, promising to deliver great food at great prices, and new employment opportunities, from this location.”

The statement also left hope that Shelton Farms will reappear in the future. “...while our future plans are still taking shape, we are optimistic about the possibility of continuing the legacy of Shelton Farms—a new location, a new look, and better values than ever. Our commitment to providing quality products and unsurpassed customer service remains strong, and we look forward to sharing more details as they become available.”

Breeze Airways announces new route from SBN to IAD

Starting November 8 this year, travelers can fly directly from South Bend International Airport to Washington Dulles International. Breeze Airways made the announcement Tuesday. Earlier this year, the self-described "premium leisure low-cost carrier" announced additional service from from South Bend to Orlando (starting November 7) and Fort Myers, Florida (starting February 2025). In a statement from Breeze Airways, the company's CEO said the route to the nation's capital region is a first.

"South Bend has never seen service to Washington Dulles and connecting the city with the nation's capital will no doubt be a positive impact for the community," said David Neeleman, Breeze Airways' Founder and CEO. "This new route will allow the community to more affordably and conveniently travel right from their own backyard."

The Breeze Airways announcement states service starting in November will offer one-way fares to Dulles from $49.

"Washington D.C. has been one of our targeted destinations as there is considerable demand from our region," said South Bend International Airport CEO and Executive Director Mike Daigle. "We are thrilled that Breeze, the newest airline to serve SBN, is adding a third destination from our region."

Don
Stuart

Humorist

News for the 1949 newlyweds

Some people tell me they think my columns are entirely too much about me, to which I reply, "Do something trivial or goofy, and I'll write about you!"

Today I'm writing about two people who, 65 years ago, did something neither trivial nor goofy: 75 years ago, my mom married my dad.

Seventy-five years, 60 of those spent together before dad passed on. That's richly deserving of huzzahs, prosits, slaintes, and other assorted encomiums that are way more fun to say than "encomium." Mazeltov mom and dad!

My mom went from being Mary Louise Giles to being Mary Louise Stuart. And the way my dad used to tell it, he went from being Thomas Ilett Stuart to being Thomas One REALLY Lucky Guy Stuart.

Because mom and dad were a little preoccupied on their wedding day in 1949, I decided to just wander back to then, and share some other stuff that happened on or about that day, stuff that - 75 years later - might be news to them if they were still with us. (I'm certain my dad wasn't following this kind of "news" back then!).

• A singer named Jimmy Witherspoon had a smash song on the Billboard charts called "Ain't Nobody's Business," and about a week later, scored another hit with "In the Evening When the Sun Goes Down."

I believe my parents were aware, if only at some subliminal level, of Jimmy's prominence at this special moment in their lives; otherwise, how do you explain the name they gave my oldest older brother: Witherspoon Stuart. (Kidding! His real name is entirely about me: "Don's Oldest Older Brother.")

• People with TV sets might have spent the evening of my parents' wedding day watching a show called "Cavalcade of Stars" on the Dumont Network. Hosted by Jack Carter, the show featured actress and singer Vivian Blaine, singer Georgia Gibbs, comic Phil Foster and (talent unspecified) The Trenier Twins.

Naturally, the fact that The Trenier Twins' talent went unspecified isn't the sort of stone I can leave unturned. Upon investigation, I learned The Trenier Twins were an identical pair of musicians, Claude and Cliff, who performed with other players who for some reason didn't get incorporated into the name of the act, not even as a collective, like "The Pips" or "The Surf-Tones" or "The Cumberbunds."

According to a 1997 story in a magazine called "Roctober," the Treniers were "unquestionably one of the first REAL ROCK AND ROLL groups, ever" (Roctober's capital letters, not mine). The article then said this: "They are also probably the greatest living entertainers in showbiz today."

Now that's one lavish encomium, but I finally figured out the impetus behind it: the article was written by two guys named "Edualc and Ffilc Reinert."

• My parents didn't watch the Treniers on "Cavalcade of Stars" that night. They took off on their honeymoon trip to Chicago, where the highlight was a visit to Brookfield Zoo. They say this excursion - specifically the visit to the chimpanzee exhibit - unwittingly gave them a preview of their future lives with five bump-tious kids.

Hey, there's an idea for a future column: My parents' fond reflections on their offspring. Starting with - and focusing entirely too much on - me!
