answer September Mystery Photo

The winner of our September Down Memory Lane print comes from Nancy Gellings. She also shared this photo.

The mystery bridge is in St Cloud WI. It was built by my great grandfather Alphonse Halter in 1903 Alphonse came to the US from Switzerland after the death of his parents. He was sponsored by the family that operated the Mt Calvary Brewery. He became a citizen in 1895. He was a Mason contractor, designing not only this rare 9 arch bridge but also several churches in Fond du lac County. He married my great grandmother, Rosalie Schaub Halter. Together they had 11 children.

Submitted by Nancy Marie Gellings

We also want to thank Chad Christianson for this submission: This is a picture of The Palm Tree Road Bridge near St. Cloud. It was built around 1901 by Alphonse Halter along with other skilled workers and is listed on the State Register of Historic Places. It has the most arches of any stone bridge in Wisconsin. Submitted by Chad Christianson

The September Mystery Photo shows the Palm Tree Road Bridge over the Sheboygan River near St. Cloud.

The old bridge was built in 1901 by local stonemason Alphonse Halter. Its fine stone construction and classic Roman profile is notable for its odd number of arches, the center of which was the largest. It is then flanked by four spans of decreasing size on each side. There are few bridges in Wisconsin that employ the Roman profile as effectively as does the Palm Tree Road Bridge. It also has the most arches of any stone bridge remaining in the state.

This picturesque landmark is an example of arched stone bridges that could be found throughout Wisconsin. Measuring 16 feet wide and 154 feet long, it contains the largest number of spans of any surviving arched stone bridge in the state and has a classical Romanesque design unique to Wisconsin.

Replacing a wooden bridge on this site, the arched stone bridge endured for over a century as a thoroughfare for local residents who have always referred to it as "The Old River Bridge." The bridge was closed to all vehicular traffic in 2012 and now serves as a walking and biking path.

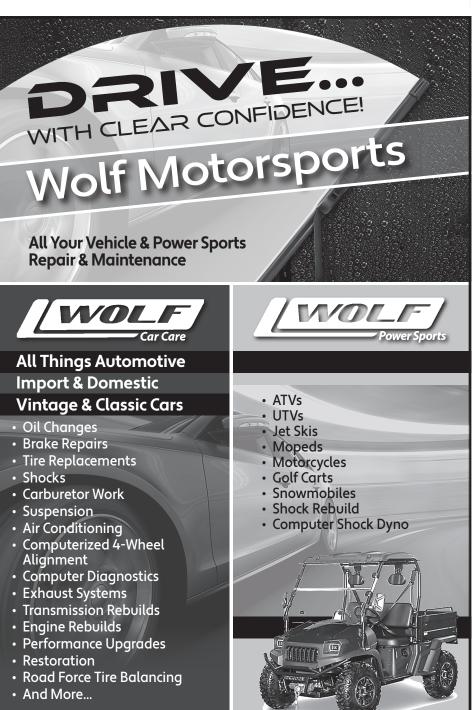

Its local intrigue has made the bridge a popular background for graduation and wedding pictures.

Keep Elkhart Blue: A Holistic Watershed Approach

From the reflections of clouds moving across the glassy surface on a calm day to the view of colorful Sunfish sails cutting through glittering waves when the wind kicks up, everyone who's experienced a day on Elkhart Lake agrees– there's no other body of water quite like it. The striking shade of blue is difficult even for lifelong residents to describe and the water clarity is stunning. All these qualities give the Village's namesake lake a legendary aura.

While Elkhart Lake appears to be nothing short of beautiful, maintaining water quality and the delicate ecosystem within the lake requires a lot of effort and care. Runoff from surrounding private land, excess amounts of phosphorus inside gullies, summer algae blooms, climate change, and invasive species are all issues that compromise the watershed's vitality. Boat usage and other recreational activities also take a toll on water quality and create human safety concerns.

Spearheading these concerns is the Elkhart Lake Improvement Association (ELIA). Known by many by their motto "Keep Elkhart Blue", ELIA has focused on preserving the lake's water quality and providing a safe recreational environment since 1964. Historically, the organization's efforts have focused on the lake's surface water and shoreline. In recent years, however, the volunteer-run non-profit is taking a new direction and approaching things from the larger picture, going beyond the shore and diving deeper than the lake's 119 feet depth.

Rather than considering Elkhart Lake as a solitary body of water, ELIA is now considering the more comprehensive watershed surrounding the lake. While it is common for many to consider Elkhart Lake as being connected to Crystal Lake and the Sheboygan County Marsh, there's a whole intricate Sheboygan River Basin system that Elkhart Lake is situated within. Elkhart Lake is also intimately connected to the groundwater system (70% groundwater fed) and vibrant ecosystems of surrounding land. This new broadened lens of learning about the lake's water quality is what ELIA refers to as their "holistic" watershed approach. This approach has become the organization's guiding compass as they continue expanding their knowledge and identifying the most pressing threats to the lake. ELIA is currently in the midst of a ten-year project plan as defined in the 2023 Comprehensive Lake Management Plan. The goal of their ten-year plan is to continue their commitment to what has always been at the heart of their work- to ensure a healthy, resilient watershed for future generations.

With a focus on diligent data collection, public education and habitat restoration, ELIA is currently wearing many hats as they partner with other local and state organizations to coordinate multiple projects that address water quality issues. Through the Wisconsin DNR Citizen Lake Monitoring Program, ELIA partners with a crew of trusty volunteers who help gather lake water samples of nutrient content and key analytes that make up the lake water chemistry. The ongoing sample collection helps the organization better understand the lake ecology and what decisions to make when it comes to important management decisions.

SIP & SAVOR

While understanding Elkhart Lake's water chemistry has long been integral to ELIA's work, taking it a step further with the holistic watershed approach means that lake sediment has become a priority too. Reason being, phosphorus accumulates within the watershed's sediment and is a major culprit for fueling unhealthy levels of nutrients for aquatic invasive species such as Eurasian Watermilfoil and Curly-Leaf Pondweed, and native aquatic growth in the lake.

One of the strategies ELIA is using to address this phosphorus problem is by zeroing in on a gully area along Shoreland Road. By removing phosphorus-rich sediment and restoring the gully with native Wisconsin plant species, ELIA is helping to strengthen the lake's natural filtration system. The native plants are also an excellent tool for reducing and filtering high runoff prior to entering the lake during summer downpours. targeted for harvesting and treatment.

Summer is always a busy time for the organization. One of the highlights this summer was their presentation of all the information in this article at the Annual ELIA Members Meeting at The Osthoff Resort in June. The Annual Meeting is free for Members and an excellent opportunity for locals to learn more about the issues the lake faces and how ELIA is stepping up to address those concerns. Looking beyond the summer season, ELIA is enthusiastic about building relationships with local people who are interested in preserving Elkhart Lake's wild ecosystems, natural beauty and recreational value.

Keeping Elkhart Blue is a year-round effort and the organization is always seeking new members. Those wanting to learn more about the projects outlined in this article and to learn more about

The power of native plants is also being harnessed for a local prairie project. Thanks to a partnership with the landowners, Pheasants Forever and the Natural Resources Conservation Service, 35 acres of agricultural land neighboring the lake has been converted to a native prairie ecosystem. Not only is the prairie aesthetically lovely, it serves as a nifty tool for reducing phosphorus-heavy runoff that can impact water quality.

When ELIA is not busy documenting water quality data and addressing runoff concerns, they are keeping a close eye on aquatic invasive species. At the Elkhart Lake boat launch visitors are greeted by "Clean Boats, Clean Water" signs to help educate boaters before they launch into the lake. ELIA has also partnered with Sheboygan County to install a boat wash station. In the water, weed areas are becoming a member can visit www. keepelkhartblue.org for. ELIA is a place for everyone who loves the lake.

ELIA is currently seeking two candidates who are interested in converting 350 sq. feet of their shoreline property into native garden areas that will help reduce erosion and runoff. Each garden project will receive up to $1,000 through the WDNR Healthy Lakes Grant. Please contact contact@keepelkhartblue.org for more information.

HELP US REDUCE CHLORIDE LEVELS – SOFTENERS, SALT, AND YOU

BACKGROUND

It is estimated that most of the groundwater in the United Sates has some degree of hardness. Basic hardness is produced by the presence of calcium and magnesium dissolved in water. These minerals, if not removed from your water, may build up as scale on pipes and porcelain or metal fixtures. They coat waterheater elements. They may cause increased laundry detergent usage. This is way most people have water softeners.

THE PROBLEM

The chlorides discharged from the home water softeners end up at the wastewater treatment plant. The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (WDNR) is asking the Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP) to reduce these chloride levels.

WHAT CAN OUR CUSTOMERS DO ABOUT OUR CHLORIDE PROBLEM?

They can have their water softening equipment inspected and adjusted to make them more efficient reducing the chlorides going to the wastewater treatment plant. When replacing or upgrading old water softeners use a high efficiency softener that is metered demand. Our goal is to reduce the chlorides entering the environment by reducing the rate of salt used by our water softener, while still delivering continued quality water. This in turn, will simply help keep long-term sewer rates down. You may also see some reduction in your water and salt usage, thus saving you money!

BUILDING PERMIT REQUIRED

If you are planning a construction project on your home or business, you must apply for a building permit. Permits must be obtained prior to commencement of work. We have had a few people looking to install patios and doing some work and then finding out they cannot have one. We want to prevent this from happening. It is best if you call the Clerk's Office at 920-876-2122 to find out if your project will require a permit. Failure to do so will result in double the permit fees, potentially tearing out of what has been done, and could even result in a fine of up to $1,000.

Get into the Spooky Spirit this Halloween

Come October 31, there is extra mischief in the air, and who knows what might be lurking around those dim corners? Halloween is a time when the line between having fun and being scared is easily blurred.

While trick-or-treating and attending parties are ways to enjoy the final day of October, there are plenty of other ways to make Halloween more fun.

• Read some scary stories. There's something to be said about reading scary stories or poems on Halloween. Readers' imaginations take over on Halloween as they envision scary characters and scenarios. Edgar Allen Poe, author of many notably macabre works, is a popular read come Halloween.

• Go pumpkin picking. Most people already make pumpkin picking an annual treat. Don't overlook mishappen pumpkins that can be carved into spooky jack-o'-lanterns. Also, enhance Halloween decor with pitted and warty gourds that lend that scary appeal.

• Create a haunted house. Instead of going elsewhere to get chills and thrills, transform your house or yard into a spooktacular vision and invite neighbors to explore.

• Make creepy crafts. Children can get a kick out of crafting Halloween decorations. Drape a piece of muslin over a beverage bottle and spray it with laundry starch. Let sit and the muslin will stiffen when it dries. Paint on black circles for eyes and hang your "ghost" from a string.

• Whip up Halloween treats. Candied apples, extra-rich brownies and mini hot dogs wrapped in crescent rolls to look like mummies are just some of the ways to create a scary Halloween feast.

• Have a costume theme. Everyone in the household can get in on the fun by planning costumes to fit a theme. For example, everyone can dress like the Addams family.

• Host a Halloween book club. Those who love to read can ensure the October gathering of a book club is one that features a discussion of a scary book. Those looking for a scare can explore horror authors like Stephen King, Anne Rice, Dean Koontz, Clive Barker, Shirley Jackson, and Tananarive Due.

• Host an outdoor movie. Projectors can now be hooked up to smartphones and tablets, so it's easier than ever to watch movies outside. Simply project a device onto a screen, white fence or even exchange with others.

a bedsheet. Since it gets dark somewhat early in October, the movie doesn't have to start very late. Depending on the audience, choose a movie that is very scary or only mildly so if children will be viewing.

• Organize a Halloween treat exchange. Similar to a Christmas "Secret Santa," participants put together a wrapped gift of homemade or store-bought foods and

Paint the Towns in Fall Color, Plein Air Competition & Exhibition

The Plymouth Arts Center invites Midwest Artists to register for its annual Paint the Towns in Fall Color, en Plein Air (outdoor painting) competition and exhibition. The painting days are Oct 2 - Oct 9 in the greater Plymouth area within the boundary map provided. Artists are encouraged to register in advance as the first 45 artists to register will be accepted. The fee is $45 if the registration form is received before September 23rd. After September 23rd the fee is $50. The prospectus/guidelines and registration form are available on the PAC website. A public reception, awards ceremony, and silent auction will be held at the Plymouth Arts Center on Friday, October 11th. Cash awards totaling $3000 along with noncash merit awards will be presented at the awards ceremony. This year's judge is Michelle Richeson. The event is graciously coordinated by artist Dan Rizzi of Plymouth.

About the Judge Michelle Richeson:

"Art has been a special part of my life from an early age growing up in Appleton, Wisconsin. After graduation from Cardinal Stritch University in Milwaukee with a degree in Graphic Communications, I was fortunate to study with a number of well-known artists including: Ramon Kelley; Steve Quiller;

Daniel Greene; and Urania Christy Tarbet. I obtained inspiration and guidance from each of these internationally known artists, which allowed me to hone my own style of painting. From these artists, I enjoyed the opportunity to work in a variety of media: oil, watercolor, casein, pastel and sculpture."

"I had the honor to serve as the Creative Director for Jack Richeson and Company, creating magazine ads and designs for the company's wide array of art supplies, instructional materials and artist's furniture. I also assisted in the production of videos for Jack Richeson's, "Famous Painter Films". This broad experience in the commercial art world augmented my career, enabling me to observe and experiment in a wide variety of styles and methods. To complete my art adventures, during my employment with the Richeson Company, I was fortunate to be able to visit and paint in many foreign countries. It allowed me to continue the development of my own technique and distinctive style executed in oil. Art was my life! The larger the canvas, the more joy I experience."

The public is invited to view and bid on the "Paint the Towns" paintings at a festive reception and silent auction on Friday, October 11 from 6pm to 9pm. This is a free admission reception with live music by Zach Holzer and complimentary appetizers and desserts. It is a great opportunity to meet the participating artists and to bid on a favorite piece until 9:00pm. After the reception and silent auction, the unsold works will remain in the Arts Center's Gallery 110 North through November 15, 2024 and be for sale at a "Buy it Now" retail price. All proceeds of this event benefit the Plymouth Arts Center, a charitable 501c3 non-profit organization.

The event is sponsored by the Sartori Company, Sargento, and Van Horn Auto.

To help people who lack reliable internet, the Friends support two mobile hotspots that can be checked out for a week.

Without the Friends, the Summer Library Program would look very different. This year, the Friends paid for the performers at the Wednesday programs (Magician, Musician, Shipwreck Detectives, and the New Zoo). These programs are always a HUGE hit with kids and families.

Additionally, the Friends paid for many of the level 1 prizes that were raffled off at the end of the summer.

New Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin Center for Health Care Excellence Celebrates Opening at Lakeshore College

Capacity doubles for training in-demand health care and emergency services students.

Lakeshore College hosted a ribbon-cutting celebration marking the opening of its new Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin Center for Health Care Excellence on Friday, Sept. 6. The 26,000 square foot health care instructional facility doubles Lakeshore's potential annual training capacity to 1,500 indemand health care and emergency services students. Over 250 guests attended the event.

Demand continues growing among area hospitals and clinics for thoroughly trained health care professionals in the fields of nursing, radiography, medical assistant, medical coding, ophthalmic assistant, and emergency services. Education and training was defined in the Governor's Task Force on the Healthcare Workforce Report, released in August, as one of three strategies to focus on to address workforce shortages. "Our new state-of-the-art facility provides opportunities for increased hands-on training experiences through the use of experiential learning, which is what our simulation labs offer, and is precisely what the Governor's Task Force on the Healthcare Workforce Report is recommending," said Lakeshore College President Dr. Paul Carlsen.

According to the task force's report, the Department of Workforce Development estimates Wisconsin will need an additional 19,000 registered nurses by 2040, but lacks the capacity to train that many new nurses. Carlsen said Lakeshore's expanded facility helps address that concern.

"The number one challenge in health care today is having a well-trained workforce coming into health care," said Dr. Imran Andrabi, MD, FAAFM, president and CEO of Froedtert ThedaCare Health, Inc. Speaking directly to students, Andrabi told them they can learn through their mistakes, and the simulation labs are where mistakes can be made.

The new facility supports a multidisciplinary model of instruction for collaboration among students, providing them additional opportunities for more realistic, experiential training. Public safety students can begin training exercises in Lakeshore's emergency services training complex and then move to dedicated emergency rooms in the new facility, where health science students engage in advanced care exercises.

The Lakeshore College Foundation raised $3 million for the project, including $1 million – the largest donation in the college's history – from Froedtert Health and Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity.

Elite Builds, Inc. was the general contractor for the project. Somerville, Inc. was the architect.

2024-25 Season A Balance Of Classic and Contemporary

The Sheboygan Symphony Orchestra (SSO) announces its 2024-25 season under the direction of Maestro Ernesto Estigarribia. The season's concerts will include a mix of classical works by renowned composers of the past and contemporary pieces by leading composers of today.

"This season will celebrate our connection to nature, our vibrant city, and the rich tapestry of our community through the transformative power of music," said Estigarribia.

The first concert on October 12 features the world premiere of The Healing Machine, inspired by treasured art installations at John Michael Kohler Arts Center and the Art Preserve. Illinois composer Jacob Bancks, whose work has been featured on previous SSO programs, wrote the piece earlier this year as a commissioned work for the SSO.

Also on the October concert is Beethoven's Pastorale Symphony, which evokes a joyful stroll through the countryside.

Remaining Concerts include:

December 14: The SSO and the SSO Chorus, which is celebrating its 30th season this year, will perform Handel's Messiah. This timeless masterpiece and holiday favorite will engage the audience with opportunities to participate in song and celebration.

March 8, 2025: Two classical works are covered by Mozart's Symphony No. 41 - Jupiter and Tchaikovsky's Variations on a Roccoco Theme. The first of two contemporary pieces is Overture by GRAMMY-award winning composer Jessie Montgomery. The second, Fate Now Conquers, is by GRAMMY-nominated composer Carlos Simon.

May 17, 2025: The concert pairs contemporary composer Ingrid Stolzel's City Beautiful with these masterworks: Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 3 with returning pianist Fanya Lin, and Sibelius' Symphony No. 2.

All concerts will be held at the Weill Center for the Performing Arts in Sheboygan. Individual tickets are available for $20-60, depending on seating tier. Student rush (day of performance) tickets are $10. To purchase tickets, call The Weill Center at 920.208.3243 or go to sheboygansymphony.org.

About the SSO

The Sheboygan Symphony Orchestra, founded in 1918, is the longest continually active orchestra in the state of Wisconsin. Over the span of more than a century, extraordinary musical experiences have evolved into a legacy of old and new traditions. As a communitybased professional orchestra, many SSO musicians call Sheboygan County home, but the ensemble brings together musicians from all over Wisconsin. The SSO holds multiple regular season performances, a yearly holiday concert, and an annual children's concert for grade school students. For more information, go to https://sheboygansymphony.org

Community Prepares to Vote on School Capital Referendum

In just a few weeks, voters in the Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah School District will head to the polls to decide on a capital referendum that will impact the current school buildings. The referendum seeks approval for a new middle school building to be connected to the high school, and to refurbish the existing middle school to become the elementary school. This move would create operational efficiencies with shared staff at the middle school level, and replace the aging elementary school, which no longer adequately meets the growing needs of students and staff.

The proposed building and refurbishment project, estimated to cost no more than $39.6 million, would update classrooms, improve necessary school systems including electrical, plumbing, and ventilation systems, and modernize facilities for science, arts, and athletics.

What is the need for a new building?

The need for the new the project stems from the results of the facility study performed in 2022

Plunkett Raysich Architects, LLP (PRA) and Jos. Schmitt Construction conducted a thorough facility conditions and educational space adequacy assessment to determine the most critical issues that exist within and around District buildings. Of the six examined categories, the Elementary/ Middle School scored in the "fair-to-poor" condition in five categories, and "fair" condition in one category. It is certainly important for the school district to address focus areas which are at or beyond their expected I New athletic service life. For access to the complete facility study, please scan the following QR code:

in operational and maintenance costs, safety concerns, and outdated systems are key reasons for the facility updates. The current elementary school, built in 1957 and 1958, is no longer equipped to handle the current educational space needed to provide best instructional practices in the classrooms.

Did you know it has been 36 years since the Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah School District presented a capital referendum to voters? The last capital referendum occurred in 1988 and attached the middle school onto the elementary school. As shown in the chart below, other school districts in our area have gone for capital referenda between 2016 through 2022.

Parents and teachers have raised concerns over the state of the current facility, pointing out issues such as insufficient classroom space, inefficient heating and cooling systems, and worn, outdated building and classroom finishes.

"All children deserve a place that's safe and conducive to learning," said parent Kristin Schneider, whose children attend the elementary school, "We're at a point where patching things just isn't enough anymore."

What's Included in the Proposal?

The new school would be designed with flexibility and future growth in mind, featuring:

Larger, collaborative learning spaces for group work and hands-on projects.

Energy-efficient systems to reduce longterm operational costs.

Enhanced security measures, including a single point of entry and modern surveillance technology.

facilities, including a gymnasium, locker rooms, and wrestling room.

Update existing high school locker rooms.

A new main office, a music room, and storage.

■ Update select finishes:

Select flooring, ceiling, paint, lighting, lockers, casework, and door / frame repair

Update traffic / safety patterns.

Refurbishment of the current middle school to become the elementary school would include:

Update ventilation, climate, and access control systems.

Update select finishes:

Select flooring, ceilings, paint, lighting, lockers / cubbies, casework

Removing the elementary wing.

These projects would allow the staff to create a learning environment that better supports today's educational practices.

Community Response:

Two surveys took place in December 2023 and May 2024 to solicit community input on the plans the School Board reviewed to address the areas of focus and update the facilities. The first survey focused on the direction for updating the facilities. An average of 74% of survey respondents preferred building new facilities attached to the existing high school, compared to 10% of survey respondents preferring to refurbish the existing buildings. After months of planning, another community survey was sent to solicit community feedback as to the scope of a new building project. 53.4% of survey respondents supported consolidating the District under one roof in stages, by building a middle school onto the high school first.

As the referendum approaches, there are many opinions about the plan within the community. Many facility

"The quality of our schools is directly tied to the strength of our community. Strong schools build strong communities,' said parent and community leader Melissa Koehler. "Better schools mean higher property values, a stronger local economy, and most importantly, better opportunities for our children."

Referendum Finances:

As of April 1st, this year, our district is DEBT FREE. This allows us the financial opportunity to invest, pursue and providing our communities' students, a high-quality education, in facilities they deserve.

The long-term benefits far outweigh the short-term financial burden. "This is about making sure our kids have the tools they need to succeed," said Michael Meeusen, School Board President. "A new building isn't just about bricks and mortar; it's about creating opportunities for learning and growth."

The $39.6 million bond would be repaid over a 21-year period. According to the District's financial projections, if approved, the referendum would result in an estimated property tax increase of $2.37 per $1,000 of property value.

School Board Treasurer, Grant Stecker, emphasizes that the district has worked hard to balance the need for improved facilities with the community's economic realities. "We understand that any tax increase is a burden, but we believe this investment is essential for the future of our schools and our students," Stecker said. "We carefully examined the community feedback on the survey, and crafted a plan we believe addressed our most pressing needs, while minimizing the financial impact on our residents."

What Happens Next?

As the November 5th vote approaches, the district is hosting a series of informational sessions to ensure that residents have all the facts they need to make an informed decision. The sessions will provide details on the proposed plans, financial implications, and answer questions from the public. "Whether the referendum is approved or not, the challenges facing the district will remain. The vote is an opportunity for the community to come together and determine the best path forward for its students, staff, and buildings," said Dr. Adam Englebretson, District Administrator.

For more information, voter registration deadlines, and polling locations, please visit: myvote.wi.gov. Polling hours are 7:00am – 8:00pm.

The outcome will determine whether the district moves forward with the project that could shape the educational landscape for years to come.

systems and components are at or past their service life, and investing in our educational facilities will benefit the entire community.

Diamond Vu Joins Chamber

"There is no better place to learn about agriculture than on a farm," states the website of a new member of the Elkhart Lake Chamber of Commerce, Diamond Vu Agricultural Center.

According to their website, Diamond Vu Agricultural Center is a non-profit organization located at N5480 STH 32 in Sheboygan Falls. Their mission is to provide academic and field-based agricultural opportunities through handson learning that fosters mental health, vocational and life skills instruction.

During an interview with co-owner Mike Butler, he said there are kids that do not know where their food comes from, and it is always a sight to see when the children's eyes light up during their experience at the agricultural center.

On the organization's website, the education center is created for students, families and individuals that want to learn about farming practices and the science behind it to provide food in a fun way. The farm can be experienced through open houses, field trips, featured programs and corporate events. Through their experiences in the fields, individuals are able to experience animal agriculture by getting up close and personal with the animals at the center, learn what it takes to till, sow and harvest crops, walk through flower fields and take a bouquet of fresh-cut flowers home and other benefits.

Diamond Vu Agricultural Center will also be hosting the 5th annual Sundae on the Farm on Oct. 6 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Community members are invited to bring the entire family for a fun filled day with hands-on experience for everyone. According to Mike, they are prepared for a busy day of visitors that are interested in learning where their food comes from.

According to the event information, there will be over 25 learning stations about Wisconsin agriculture. There will also be entertainment featuring Brent Bel and the Boys and an old-fashioned hog roast.

Admission is $10 per car, which also includes free ice cream and milk at the event.

Those interested in learning more about Diamond Vu and what the agriculture center has to offer can contact Mike and Nicole Butler at diamondvufloral@gmail. com or at 920-728-2906 and can check out their website at www.diamondvu.com

Make a Difference this Holiday Season with ElkhartCares

The holidays should be a time of joy, but for many in our community, they can also bring added stress and hardship. You can bring warmth and cheer to local families by making a donation to ElkhartCares, your local charitable organization.

This holiday season, ElkhartCares is offering vital support to struggling families, and we need your help! Your tax-deductible donation will go directly to providing:

• Warm winter clothing for children and family members, including scarves, boots, coats, and mittens.

• Utility support to help cover the rising cost of heating bills.

• Holiday gifts to ensure every child experiences the magic of the season.

• Thanksgiving and winter holiday hot meals for families in need.

• Free holiday cheer programs, promoting literacy and bringing our community together.

Join Us in Spreading Holiday Cheer!

Your contribution also supports special holiday events, including our partnership in the annual Christmas in The Square & Community Tree Lighting Ceremony, where Santa is under The Depot, handing out hundreds of books to children.

Whether you donate as a family or partner with a corporation, your generosity will directly impact the lives of local families.

Donate Today and Make the Holidays Magical for All!
