A PIGEON GETS A MILITARY MEDAL

Tumbleweed Smith

The pigeon was really the first email. It was the first form of fast communication.” Dennis Graham of Brownwood spoke those words. He gives speeches about pigeons, something he’s been involved with since he was a boy. When his dad went on business trips, he took one of Dennis’s pigeons with him and released it to fly back home.

Tumbleweed Smith

Recently Dennis attended a national racing pigeon convention in Florida.

“Out of several thousand birds one of my pigeons finished in the top ten percent,” says Dennis. “Winning birds are calculated by yards per minute. My birds flew about 1,700 yards per minute. The winner flew about 1,800 yards per minute. Pigeons are fascinating. When I tell people I have racing pigeons, they always ask how do you race a pigeon. Then I explain it to them, how the field has changed with the new technology that makes it easy to determine the speed of these unique birds.”

Homing pigeons were used in World Wars One and Two for communication and reconnaissance missions. Dennis knows about GI Joe, the pigeon that saved some British troops during World War Two.

“British soldiers were going into this small town in Italy, Calvi Vecchia and they were going to move the Germans out. They accomplished their mission ahead of schedule. So now they’re in this village, knowing that the allies, the US, were getting ready to bomb the city, unaware that the Germans had already been pushed out. The British troops released a US Army homing pigeon called GI Joe carrying a message that said ‘don’t bomb us.’ GI Joe flew 20 miles in 20 minutes to carry the message, avoiding German bullets and falcons the Germans turned loose to get the pigeons and landed safely at the air force base with the message just as planes were getting ready to take off and bomb the city.”

More than one hundred British troops were saved, along with the village itself. The pigeon was flown to London and at a presentation at the Tower of London was given The Dickin Medal of Gallantry. The citation credits him with “the most outstanding flight made by a US Army homing pigeon during World War Two.”

The award is also known as the equivalent to the Victoria Cross or Medal of Honor for animals. GI Joe was the first non-British recipient of the medal. In 2019 he was posthumously awarded the Animals in War and Peace Medal of Bravery.

GI Joe died at the age of 18 and died in 1961. He was mounted and is displayed at the museum at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, home of the US Army Pigeon Service where pigeons are trained for combat. GI Joe’s nametag was Pigeon USA 43SC6390.

Dennis says pigeons have done a lot thru history; Romans used them years ago for communication.

Rosella Faye Green was born on July 25th, 1940 to Henry Paul Ward and Tiney Maggie (Owens) Ward. She was the youngest of two children and adored her brother Kenneth Harvey Ward who was 10 years her senior.

She met the love of her life, James Thomas Green, while working as a Property Clerk for the Dallas Fire Department. They were married Jan 8, 1961. They had one child, Scarlett Faye Green.

Rose loved her family and rarely missed a ballgame or any other event that involved her daughter Scarlett. Scarlett considered her Mom, not only her best friend, but also the very best role model that she could have ever hoped to have.

Rosie, as her family called her, was always there to lend a hand if someone needed help. Her house was always open and welcoming.

Rose was one of the founding members of the LPBT (Ladies Pro Bowling Tour). She bowled for many years.

Rose was an avid hunter and fisherman. She could spot a deer or bird or catch a fish when no one else could. Lucky for Scarlett, her Mom's skills in these areas were passed on to her.

Rose and James celebrated 63 years of marriage this year. These two are the absolute gold standard for love and teamwork. James spent every night of the entire 4 month stay at the hospital with her. This is just one example of the love and devotion that they shared.

Rose passed away on Dec 7th, 2024. She had fought and beaten several hard bouts with cancer in the last 45 years of her life.

Rose is survived by her husband James T. Green, her daughter Scarlett Faye Green and partner, Jamie Sue Mazzella, her "adopted" son Wayne Travis. She is also survived by her great niece, Brandee Tobias, and great great niece, Jasmine Jordan, along with many other wonderful friends and family members.

BUSINESS SERVICES

The business services industry is a very broad industry encompassing many different categories of business operations; all of them provide some sort of non-financial service to other companies. These services include advertising, marketing, consultation, logistics (including travel and facilities services), waste handling, staffing services, shipping, administration, and security services to name a few. Nearly every business in operation has need for at least one of the different kinds of service offered by the industry. Marketing companies are responsible for increasing the sales of a client company by helping the company gain new customers as well as keep current ones. Legal services are needed to deal with business transactions, as well as for litigation purposes. Logistics and shipping companies are responsible for connecting businesses to other businesses or consumers by collecting, storing, transporting, and delivering products. Staffing companies match people in need of jobs, temporary or permanent, with companies in need of qualified employees. Leasing companies fill a client's need for certain items without requiring full purchase. Security companies are responsible for keeping a company's assets secure. Consulting companies are in the business of fulfilling needs for expertise that clients cannot fulfill themselves. These companies may offer professional, scientific, or technical consulting, management or strategy consulting, or human resources consulting.
