Welcome to the July Family Flyer!

July is always a busy month...

Vintage Tractor & Farm Festival, Sidewalk Sales and Car/Bike Shows. Festivals all around our communities and more, all in this month's Family Flyer.

Be sure to Thank a member of our armed forces when you see them, for FREEDOM is not FREE. Thanks for shopping local with the Family Flyer Advertisers first and using the coupons and services in this month's Family Flyer.

Watch for us again next month on Thursday, Aug. 7th and plan to attend The Lake County Fair thru the 10th.

Sincerely,
The Family Flyer Staff

"To a child's eye a lightning-bug outshines the brightest fixed star. There is no little childishness in every generation of grown-up people. The Lightning-bug never sees a second summer, the star shines on forever."

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

From A. Kueovitz from northberryfarm.com

Go to northberryfarm.com for many more recipes!

Ingredients:

- 1 ¾ cup blueberries
- 1 Tbsp. baking powder
- 1 cup milk
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 Tbsp. melted butter
- 2 eggs
- 1 stick butter
- 3 cups flour
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Wash blueberries, remove stems and set aside. Heat oven to 350 degrees and grease 24 muffin cups or use paper liners. Put flour, sugar and baking powder in a large bowl; mix well. With fingers, squeeze butter into flour and keep squeezing until mixture is in crumbs. Put 1 cup crumb mixture into small bowl and set aside. To mixture in large bowl, add eggs, milk and vanilla. Beat until smooth. Gently stir in blueberries. Fill muffin cups with batter about 2/3 to ¾ full. Dribble melted butter over mixture in small bowl and toss with fork to make crumbs. Sprinkle crumbs on top of batter. Bake until light golden brown, about 20-25 minutes or until done. These may be frozen.

"The Aisle Seat"

by Tim Fealy

One thing my family and I enjoy doing is getting together for family movie nights. This is an activity we can all enjoy together and then spend time discussing afterwards. Streaming services have made this a convenient option which also allows for bathroom breaks or a chance to grab some snacks or drinks. This summer we have watched a few classics as well as some new releases. Do you have a favorite family movie?

One classic that made our list is "Jaws," now streaming on Peacock. If you are old enough, you may remember lines outside the theater waiting to see "Jaws." If you are among the few who haven't seen it, a shark terrorizes a beachside resort in the height of tourist season. Back in the day, movies stayed in theaters much longer, which allowed fans to see a favorite film multiple times. As an impressionable child, not only did I stay away from beaches, but I was also suspicious of swimming pools! Watching the film 50 years later, the storytelling, acting, photography & use of music all still stand the test of time. My one complaint is that the final hunt for the shark drags out a bit. On my scale, "Jaws" gets $9.

Among the new films we have watched is the new live action version of "Snow White," currently streaming on Disney+. Similar to the original movie, Snow White must avoid death at the hands of the evil Queen while befriendin g dwarves in the forest. The biggest downfall for this movie is the inevitable comparisons to the original. The characters, songs and storytelling simply cannot match up to the original. But, taken on its own, it tells a fun, albeit somewhat disjointed story with some cute characters and a few memorable songs. It is still worth the watch and, on my scale, the new "Snow White" gets $6.

My family film recommendation is "Nonnas," starring Vince Vaughn and currently streaming on Netflix. Joe has always bonded with his mother & grandmother through cooking. When his mom dies, Joe uses decides to honor his mom by using his inheritance to open a restaurant, using the family recipes, and hiring nonnas (Italian grandmothers) to be the chefs. With no experience in owning a restaurant or running a business, we follow along on the journey. This is a very heart warming, feel-good inspiring film. And the best part? It is based on a true story! On my scale, "Nonnas" gets $8.

Here's what's Cookin'

By Phyllis Hays, #11 with Trixie

Queso Cheese Corn Salad

Solve Your Cookout Crunch (Family Features) If you're in a tight spot for a last-minute potluck barbecue, don't just throw together any salad. This Queso Cheese Corn Salad features a zesty homemade dressing and a salad base with a bit of heat (if you dare). Discover more cookout recipes by visiting Culinary.net.

Servings: 4-6

Dressing:

2 limes, juice only
1/4 cup mayo
1 pinch salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 cans whole corn, drained
1 cup chopped bell pepper
1/4 cup chopped red onion (optional)
1 hot pepper (optional)
1 cup shredded queso cheese
freshly chopped cilantro, for garnish

To make dressing: In bowl, mix lime juice, mayo, salt and sugar.

In separate large bowl, mix corn; bell pepper; onion, if desired; hot pepper, if desired; and queso cheese.

Pour dressing over corn mixture and mix well. Top with cilantro.

Fit & Healthy Family Guide

8 Tips for Working Out in the Heat

The heat can be a major drawback for people looking to work out in the summer. If you're not careful, you can end up suffering from a heat-related health condition such as a heat stroke, heat exhaustion or extreme dehydration, all of which can greatly derail you from your fitness goals.

Take a cold shower

Before your workout even begins you may want to take a cold shower. Once you finish your shower, ditch the blow dryer and opt for a wet head to help you to stay cool during your workout.

Stay hydrated with the RIGHT fluids

Water is your best friend on a hot day for staying hydrated; however, if you're planning to exercise for more than 60 minutes, you may also want to consider sipping on a sports drinks. Sports drinks are important when working out for prolonged periods of time, especially in the heat, because they contain potassium and electrolytes that can rehydrate and replenish your body. The high levels of sodium may actually be good for your body as well as sodium is a key ingredient for a hot day.

Wear light clothing

Bright colors are good since they will reflect the sun and also help to make you more visible to oncoming traffic. Cotton is a light-weight and affordable material that can help you to stay dry. If you're willing to splurge a bit more, opt for sweat-wicking shirts and shorts to keep the sweat at bay.

Don't forget the sunscreen

Nothing is worse than trying to complete a summer workout with a bad sun burn that makes it hard to move. Stop the burn before it occurs by slathering on the sunscreen. Opt for a sunscreen with an SPF of at least 50 and one that is water-proof so that it doesn't come off once you start sweating.

Timing is everything

10 a.m. to 3 p.m. is known for being the hottest time of the day in the summer. If you're planning an outdoor workout, try to do it either before or after this time slot. Many athletes prefer to work out earlier in the morning as it can help them to stay energized throughout the day and to sleep better at night.

Don't fear the water

Summer is the perfect time to make water your friend. On especially hot days, try adding a water activity to your workout such as swimming, surfing or Stand-Up-Paddle Boarding. These activities will help you to stay fit and healthy in the summer in a fun and new way while also staying cool. Who knows, you may end up finding a new favorite exercise.

8 Tips for Working Out in the Heat

Take it indoors

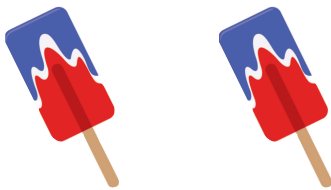

There's nothing wrong with working out indoors at your local gym or even in your home if you have equipment. On days when there is an excessive heat warning, this can be your best decision to stay cool and avoid a heat-related injury while still getting in your workout.

Know your limits

Listen to your body and if you begin to feel dizzy, nauseous, or tired, give yourself a break. Taking some time off for rest is better than overdoing your workout and getting sick or injured and having to stop working out altogether.

If the summer heat proves to be too much of a challenge for your standard high-intensity workout, break it up into multiple smaller workouts throughout the day. This will allow your body time to rest and refuel without jeopardizing your fitness and workout goals.

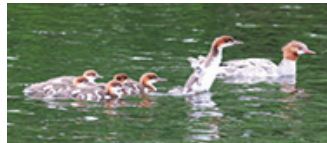

Have fun and stay cool - and safe - this summer!

Outdoor Observations

by Tom Berg

The Fish-Eating Common Merganser

Mergansers are diving ducks – not dabbling ducks like mallards, teal and pintails that feed at or near the surface of the water. Dabbling ducks dip their heads underwater to nibble on submerged plants and capture aquatic insects, while the different species of mergansers dive deeper in search of minnows and other small fish.

There are actually three species of mergansers in North America: hooded mergansers, red-breasted mergansers and common mergansers. The common mergansers are easily identified by their distinctive plumage. Adult males have a bright white body with a black back, and an unforgettable iridescent green head. Females have a dull gray body and a cinnamon-colored head. Both sexes have a reddish-orange bill.

As mentioned, common mergansers are diving ducks, and they dive underwater to catch small fish to eat. Their serrated bills help them hold onto the slippery fish. Minnows, chubs, perch and sunfish are some of their favorite foods. They also eat aquatic insects. If their lake or river has an abundant population of crayfish, they are more than happy to add those crustaceans to the menu, too.

Common mergansers spend much of the non-breeding season in the central section of the United States, all the way from one coast to the other. In the late winter or very early spring they begin migrating north to their breeding grounds in Canada and Alaska. Some populations of common mergansers spend all of their time in the mountains of the western USA and the Pacific Northwest and breed there, too.

The female of the species chooses the nest site, and it is usually a natural hole or cavity in a tree. Old woodpecker holes are perfectly acceptable to them, as long as the hole is large enough for them to enter. Once the baby mergansers hatch, they typically leave the nest within 1-2 days. They jump from the nest hole and land on the forest floor below, then follow their mother to water.

Gardening Tips

by Jackie Kubiak #12

Add Curb Appeal to your home

An inviting, well-tended landscape can add significant curb appeal to a home.

- Add a pop of color with planters. Awe-inspiring colors can make a landscape stand out from surrounding properties. Flowers, bushes and plants may be the first thing homeowners consider when trying to add color to their lawns, but planters can provide a more immediate way to give exterior grounds some color. Bold planters won't lose their color in a matter of weeks like many flowers do, and homeowners can switch planters so the colors align with the season.
- Plant perennials around the property. Well-maintained perennials grow back each year, making them ideal for homeowners who don't have the time or desire to map out new gardening arrangements each spring. Planting perennials also is a great way to add color around the property without breaking the bank.
- Plant to create privacy. Homeowners spent more time at home than ever before during the pandemic, and some might have grown tired of seeing what their neighbors are up to. Fencing might be the first solution homeowners consider but new fencing installation can be expensive. A more costly and natural solution is to plant trees around the perimeter. Creating an inviting landscape doesn't have to break the bank. Various small and relatively inexpensive projects can change the look and feel of a home's exterior. Have a great summer!!

Family Flyer Road Trip!

Jayne & Tom Kranc took their Family Flyer to The Guinness in Dublin, Ireland in May 2025

Fact: The Guinness harp is a well-known emblem that's deeply intertwined with both the Guinness brand and Irish identity. It's a left-facing harp, based on the historical "Brian Boru" harp, that Guinness trademarked in 1862.
