Triangle serves last sweet treats as a signal to summer’s final swirl-down

Emma and Chris of Brainerd with baby Cami are regular Triangle customers. Ann Schwartz photos

By ANN SCHWARTZ
Although boats still putt around area lakes, sumac

and some hardwood trees are showing some color and nights are cool as summer draws to an end.

The Triangle ice cream store, on Mill Avenue in Brainerd for 60 years, often has a line of folks waiting to get soft and hard serve treats.
Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 1, was the last day the popular ice cream shop was open this year.
Emma and Chris of Brainerd, with their baby Cami, were enjoying some treats. “We come here a lot, probably five times this year,” said Chris.
Tony Grant, the owner, had no idea how many customers he served this summer. “Thousands upon thousands is all I can tell you.”

Workers Willow and Skye had smiles on their faces as they served a steady stream of customers and looked forward to their next adventure.

School has started everywhere now and families are getting back to their routines — but without the enticement of Triangle ice cream for a reward.

Tony was in his usual spot – sitting in front of the ordering window.

Willow and Skye are ready for summer to end and to move on.

Long Lake Conservation Center to host “Starapalooza” stargazing event

The stars will shine a little brighter at Long Lake Conservation Center on Saturday, Sept. 20, as it hosts Starapalooza, a free, family-friendly stargazing event held in conjunction with the University of Minnesota’s Bell Museum 6th Annual State-wide Star Party.
This year’s theme, “Aurora Voyage: Chasing the Northern Lights,” invites Minnesotans to celebrate the beauty and wonder of the night sky—especially the magical auroras that occasionally dance above the northern horizon.
Long Lake is one of just 24 locations across the state selected to host this special evening under the stars, thanks in part to its strong astronomy education programs and partnership with the Minnesota Astronomical Society (MAS).

Starapalooza kicks off at 5 p.m. at the North Star Lodge with hands-on activities and engaging presentations about the Northern Lights and other celestial wonders. Attendees can warm up with s’mores by the campfire before heading into the field around 8 p.m. for guided stargazing.
And this isn’t your average backyard stargazing—guests will have the rare opportunity to peer into the cosmos through massive 25- and 30-inch Dobsonian telescopes, among the largest in the state.

Long Lake staff and MAS volunteers will be on hand to help guests navigate the night sky and answer questions.
Starapalooza is a chance for everyone from curious kids to lifelong skywatchers to come together and experience the awe of the universe Long Lake Conservation Center, known for its commitment to youth environmental education, has made astronomy a key part of its outdoor school curriculum. Hosting the Star Party is a natural extension of its mission to connect people with nature.
For more information, visit longlakecc.org/starapalooza, email info@longlakecc.org, or call 218-768-4653.

Minnesota Star Tribune to close Minneapolis printing facility

The Minnesota Star Tribune today announced plans to stop operating its own printing facility effective December 27, 2025. The move is part of the Minnesota Star Tribune's ongoing transformation into a modern, digital-first media company while ensuring the long-term financial health of the organization.

This move will result in the closure and sale of the company's Heritage printing facility in Minneapolis, where the Minnesota Star Tribune has printed its daily newspaper for nearly four decades. Print delivery to subscribers will continue without interruption, with a Gannett printing facility in Des Moines, Iowa printing the newspapers and the Minnesota Star Tribune's distribution fleet handling delivery of the daily paper throughout Minnesota.

The company remains committed to providing a high-quality daily printed newspaper to customers who deeply value this medium and has laid the groundwork to ensure a smooth transition.

"This is a difficult but necessary decision to position the Minnesota Star Tribune for future growth," said Steve Grove, CEO and Publisher. "Our industry continues to evolve rapidly, and this change will help us preserve resources, invest in our digital transformation, and continue delivering the high-quality journalism Minnesotans count on. We are deeply grateful to the Heritage team for their decades of dedication and commitment to serving Minnesota readers, which has been vital to the success of the Midwest's largest news organization."

Approximately 125 employees will be affected by the closure of Heritage. The Minnesota Star Tribune will negotiate with impacted employees' unions to determine the suite of benefits and other resources available to impacted employees.

Declining print circulation and inefficiencies resulting from operating an underutilized print facility have made in-house production increasingly unsustainable. Given declines in print subscriptions, the Minnesota Star Tribune currently uses only 18 percent of the capacity at the Heritage printing facility. Most newspapers nationwide have already consolidated print operations, and the Minnesota Star Tribune is among the last major daily publications to make this kind of strategic move. Closing the Heritage facility will save the Strib several million dollars in expenses annually.

Cascade church harvest supper

Cascade United Methodist Church members are busy preparing for the church's annual Harvest Supper scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 17 from 5-6 p.m. Menu includes meatballs with gravy, mashed potatoes, rutabagas and dessert. A free will offering will be accepted. The church is located on Highway 6 between Crosby and Deerwood.

Sacred Festival of Tabernacles

Scripture obedient people are invited to attend the Almighty Yahuah's yearly commanded Sacred Festival Sukkot (of Tabernacles), Oct. 7-14. "Gather the men, women, children and stranger and read torah, so they can hear and learn and fear Yahuah, your eloheem and obey all the worlds of torah." (Deut. 31:10-12.) Call Proverbs 6:23 Ministry for directions or questions at 218-533-6029.

Crosby council gravely irresponsible

After the city of Crosby's council foolishly disregarded our mayor's advice and approved over four hundred grand for what was presented as emergency repairs and improvements to the Hallet Centers ice system before researching and then realizing there's no real grant money available, they now have the audacity to once again go beg the Hallet Trust to help bail them out!

If they don't come in and pay for this unbudgeted—yet much anticipated expense—our city may have to take a loan out and pay expenses, interest, etc. towards something ninety-nine percent of our residents won't ever use.

Even if the trust helps pay off a potential loan, etc. with generous annual payments, the taxpayers are still stuck paying for the continuous faulty management of this failing business and the other financial fiascoes, caused by four council members who don't understand basic math.

On top of this, as I have mentioned before, the beginning of the multiple, expensive building improvements is upon us with the center needing a new roof. This council, following decades of good ol' boy politics, continues to throw taxpayers resources towards a center whose paying client base consists of less than a third of actual Crosby residents. With the city's revenue down this year, and city reserves diminishing, it was gravely irresponsible for this council to protect their own interests and dump money they didn't even have into this dumpster fire. To invest further is just stupid. To think that our school district needs tax resources and yet our city council invests in a decaying, wanna be hockey camp disguised as a community center shows we didn't really elect well. Most disappointing is that the man who campaigned as the champion of the taxpayers spearheaded this motion. I hope the Hallet Trust just says no and holds everyone accountable. They also need to stop encouraging this. Crosby has become a great destination to visit and use the many resources our tax payers struggle to pay for.

Chris Ryan, Crosby

Food, fun, and fundraising at St. James Catholic Church Fall Festival

Get ready for a day filled with delicious food, exciting games, live entertainment, and a chance to support a great cause. St. James Catholic Church is hosting a Fall Festival on Sunday, Sept. 21, from 11:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at 299 Red Oak Drive in Aitkin. This year, all proceeds will go toward building a new Eucharistic Adoration Chapel—a peaceful space for prayer and reflection in the heart of the community. The festivities begin with a mouthwatering Baked Chicken Dinner, served from 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. in the Parish Dining Hall. Enjoy a delicious plateful of chicken, all the classic fixings, and homemade pie for dessert—the perfect way to fuel up before jumping into the fun. But the Fall Festival is more than just great food. Step outside to experience a wide range of activities, from cash bingo to a lively beer garden. Browse Grandma's Attic for unique garage sale finds, and don't miss the silent auction, featuring amazing gift baskets and handcrafted items. For the whole family, there's something for everyone: fun games, a Dunk the Deacon dunk tank, and free throw and corn hole tournaments. Plus, enjoy live music from the Diane Zilverberg Trio, playing the best of the 60s, 70s, 80s, and today's hits, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

The excitement peaks at 4:00 p.m. with a Live Auction led by Janzen Auctioneers, featuring incredible items like firearms, handmade quilts, tickets to Minnesota professional sports events, a walleye fishing launch trip on Mille Lacs Lake, signed sports prints, and more. It's the perfect chance to bid on unique items while supporting a meaningful project for the church.

This year's Fall Festival is not only a day of fun but a way to contribute to something special. All proceeds will go toward the construction of a new Eucharistic Adoration Chapel, providing a serene space for worship and personal reflection.

Don't miss this opportunity to come together, enjoy great food and entertainment, and help support the creation of a sacred space for all.

For more information, or to get involved, contact the church office at 218-927-6581 during office hours, which are Monday-Thursday 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. and Friday 9 a.m. - Noon or visit their website aitkincatholic.org.
