"Gratitude is the unseen ribbon that ties together loving hearts and faithful friends."

Times of Restitution of All Things

The world seeks peace and restitution from evil done to them, generation after generation. Yet neither force nor laws truly bring satisfaction to any yearning heart. However, the desire of all nations will be met by God in due time. (Acts 3:21 and Haggai 2:7)

"Ransom and Restitution", a topical Bible study, leads to an understanding of God's Plan for His timing and requirements for peace to come to all mankind. We invite you to use the links below to this study. You can email/write to us for details on obtaining the book The Divine Plan of the Ages for this and 15 other topical studies.

Here's what's Cookin'

By Phyllis Hays, #11 with Trixie

Extra Easy Pumpkin Cookies

cooking spray
1 (14 ounce) can 100% pure pumpkin
2 large eggs
½ cup applesauce
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 (15.25 ounce) package spice cake mix
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C). Lightly grease 2 baking sheets with cooking spray.

Beat pumpkin, eggs, applesauce, and vanilla together in a large bowl until well combined. Stir in cake mix, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves until well blended and creamy. Drop by spoonfuls onto the prepared baking sheets.

Bake in the preheated oven until the tops are firm when lightly touched, 8 to 10 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Enjoy!

Happy Thanksgiving!

Veterans

God bless our veterans, they've kept our country free
 First line of our defense, they've served for you and me
 It matters not what war, they served and battles fought
 They made it possible, for goals that then were sought
 The horrors of a war, only a vet can know
 Respect our veterans, for they deserve it so
 For those that have passed on, remember them with pride
 The rest of our great Vets, proudly stand by their side
 To honor our lost vets, monuments have been built
 To view their names in stone, emotions strong are felt
 Americans say thanks, a few days of each year
 When vets go marching by, we stand aside and cheer
 But thank them every day, for that's what they deserve
 Where would our nation be, had they chose not to serve
 Thanks to our Veterans, our flag flies high and free
 By good jobs they have done, for all the world to see

Gardening Tips

by Jackie Kubiak #12

10 Tips for October Gardening

1. In vegetable garden beds, be sure to remove old plants, as well as any foliage that has fallen on the soil.
2. Do a final weeding, and mulch the bed with straw, grass clippings, or chopped leaves. These mulch's can be turned into the soil next spring to help fertilize next year's crops.
3. Collect and store flower bulbs—such as gladiolus, freesia, calla, and canna bulbs—after their tops have frozen.
4. Mow the lawn one last time. Spread corn gluten meal if you have problems with crab grass.
5. Collect leaves to shred (with a shredder or mower) and compost.
6. Before you put away your mower, take it to the shop for any repairs and to have the blade sharpened.
7. Cut back tender roses to 10 to 12 inches, and remove all foliage so insects and diseases can't winter over.
8. Cover tender, hybrid roses with leaves or straw to protect against winter temperature changes.
9. Bring in any pots that can't take a freeze — terra-cotta, ceramic, and many plastic pots
10. Clean and oil garden tools before storing for winter

Outdoor Observations by Tom Berg

The Great Crested Flycatcher

There are more than 400 species of flycatcher birds in the world today, with most of them being found in Central and South America. But there are plenty of flycatchers in North America, too, since we have about 35 species occurring here. They are mainly insect-eaters, and all of them are more than agile enough to catch the insects "on the wing" while they are flying.

Flycatchers are not only swift and nimble, they are interesting birds, too. One such flycatcher is the beautiful Great Crested Flycatcher. This bird is slightly smaller than an American Robin, but larger than most other flycatchers. It is reddish-brown on its back, wings and tail, and has a gray throat and neck. Its belly is a bright yellow color, and it has a distinct feathered crest on top of its head that it can raise and lower depending on its mood.

As the name implies, great crested flycatchers specialize in catching flying insects to eat. They are experts at catching winged bugs like moths, butterflies, flies, dragonflies, bees and even wasps. They find a perch high in the trees to watch for flying insects, and then fly out and snatch them from mid-air. They also fly down to the ground to grab insects like beetles, ants and grasshoppers off the ground.

Great crested flycatchers usually nest in tree cavities, whether they are natural cavities or holes excavated by woodpeckers. The female fills the nest cavity with leaves, grass, small twigs, feathers and even fur plucked from animals. She usually lays 4-8 eggs and incubates them for about two weeks. In another two weeks the fledglings will be ready to leave the nest!
