AMARILLO'S UKRAINE BAKERY

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

Glenda Moore of Amarillo went to Ukraine on a mission trip in 2013. “I just fell in love with the people,” she says, “especially the children over there. I came home and told my mom that I really wanted to help kids who were graduating out of an orphanage in Ukraine and they would go to college or trade school and I just wanted to help.” She has been back to Ukraine eighteen times. “We started working with people in that area to bring coal and medicine. We helped women who had glaucoma. We helped elderly people who have cancer with oncology equipment. We helped disabled people. So it started with orphans but it got bigger and bigger every year.” Back in Amarillo at age thirty-three she started a bakery even though she had never baked before and named it Kind House Ukraine Bakery. Her mother taught her how to bake. “I started baking in my house and did that for nine years. My mom and I both worked at schools and we would bring cinnamon rolls to sell to teachers. People would buy things from my porch.” Glenda taught elementary school six years and resigned to do the bakery full time. The bakery is non-profit and moved into a commercial building in 2022. The bakery runs completely by eighty volunteers. Funds from the bakery and donations go to Ukraine. “We raised one point four million dollars in the last three years. We’re just constantly in the business of delivering aid.” The best sellers at the bakery are cinnamon rolls and a variety of breads. A Ukraine meal is served in the fall each year. “We have a really great Ukrainian community here in Amarillo. Ukrainians come to the bakery and make all the authentic Ukrainian food and we serve it in a large building. We always run out of food no matter how much we make. It’s very sweet so many people from all over who are Ukrainian come to this banquet because they are very excited to meet other Ukrainians to get to speak their home language, to eat their home food you know and it kind of helps overcome their homesickness. We have different speakers that talk about Ukraine and what is happening there and what we can do to help.” Glenda’s daughter went to Ukraine the year before she went there. “If you had told me in 2013 that I was going to start a bakery and these things are going to happen I would have said no way.” She has run into dangerous situations but keeps working without fear.

A Salute To Our Veterans....

On the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of 1918, an armistice, or temporary cessation of hostilities, was declared between the Allied nations and Germany in the First World War, then known as "the Great War." Commemorated as Armistice Day beginning the following year, November 11th became a legal federal holiday in the United States in 1938. In the aftermath of World War II and the Korean War, Armistice Day became Veterans Day, a holiday dedicated to American veterans of all wars.

BUSINESS SERVICES

The business services industry is a very broad industry encompassing many different categories of business operations; all of them provide some sort of non-financial service to other companies. These services include advertising, marketing, consultation, logistics (including travel and facilities services), waste handling, staffing services, shipping, administration, and security services to name a few. Nearly every business in operation has need for at least one of the different kinds of service offered by the industry. Marketing companies are responsible for increasing the sales of a client company by helping the company gain new customers as well as keep current ones. Legal services are needed to deal with business transactions, as well as for litigation purposes. Logistics and shipping companies are responsible for connecting businesses to other businesses or consumers by collecting, storing, transporting, and delivering products. Staffing companies match people in need of jobs, temporary or permanent, with companies in need of qualified employees. Leasing companies fill a client's need for certain items without requiring full purchase. Security companies are responsible for keeping a company's assets secure. Consulting companies are in the business of fulfilling needs for expertise that clients cannot fulfill themselves. These companies may offer professional, scientific, or technical consulting, management or strategy consulting, or human resources consulting.
