Baroda community planning
‘Countdown on First Street’
December 31

If you’re looking for a good, family friendly way to spend New Year’s Eve, how about heading to Baroda?

Round Barn Brewery founder Matt Moersch tells us he’s helping to organize a new community event, the Countdown on First Street, with the intent of being fun for all ages. The celebration will run from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m on New Year’s Eve.

“All the hospitality businesses will be open,” Moersch said. “We’re going to have live ice carvings several times. We’ll have eight different sculptures. We’re going to have wagon rides provided by Fruitful Vine up and down the street. Each business has a special. We’re having a featured dinner, so is TJ’s.”

And they’ll have a bedazzled beer keg drop at 10 to mark the new year. That’s at 10 so people don’t have to stay up too late.

Moersch says this is all about attracting people to Baroda and injecting a little more life into the town.

“I had the idea to talk to our fellow entrepreneurs in Baroda, and everyone was so excited to open their arms up for the community to come in, have a good New Year’s safely and also have some things to look at.”

Round Barn itself will be holding “Brew Year’s Eve” that night, featuring fire pits and music, culminating in the keg drop. That’s meant to simulate a New Year’s Eve ball drop, and it’s been made possible by Bennit Construction.

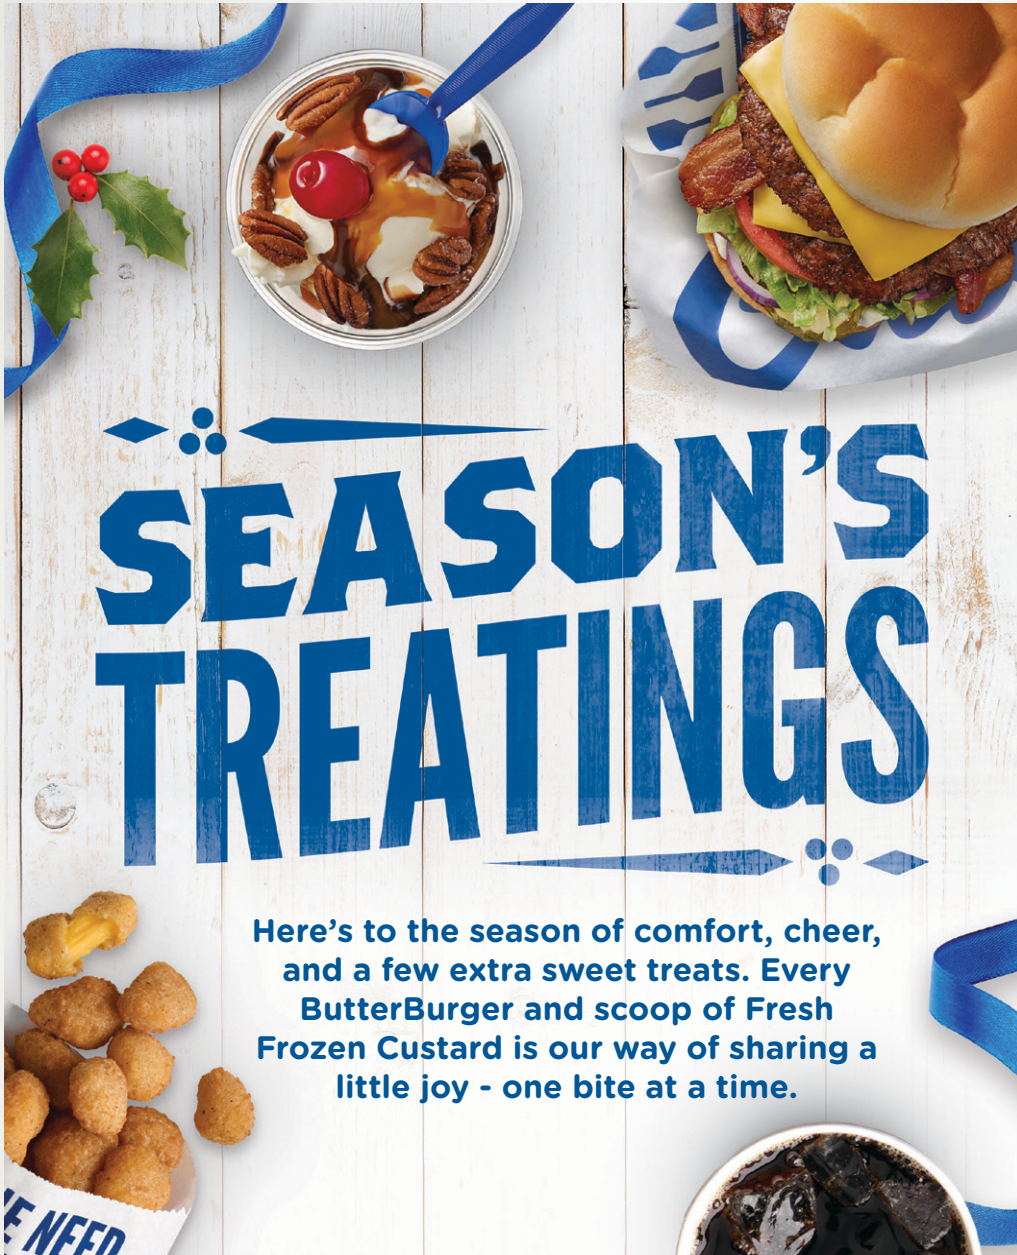

Moersch invites everyone to head to Baroda to ring in the new year.

Curious Kids launches capital campaign for construction at new location

The Curious Kids Museum in St. Joseph has announced a $9.2 million capital campaign to transform the former Heritage Museum and Cultural Center into its new permanent home.

Curious Kids Director Lori Marciniak tells us after a fire at the current Lake Boulevard location in 2022, leaders at Curious Kids really started to think about how it could better serve the community. Now with the move to the Heritage building, they’re planning a full redesign of the new structure on Main Street with a focus on accessibility, safety, and hands-on learning.

NYE in Baroda! Countdown on First Street!

If you’re looking for a different way to enjoy the New Year holiday, consider attending a brand new event happening in downtown Baroda - “Countdown on First Street.” Geared as a family friendly celebration in the Village of Baroda, festivities will wrap up shortly after 10 p.m. (unless otherwise noted - looking at you TJ’s Baroda Tap!) making it an ideal destination for those with young families, or those like me who struggle to not be in bed before Midnight.

This inaugural celebration will bring neighbors, families, and visitors together for an evening of music, local flavors, winter activities, and a shared countdown as we welcome 2026 in true small- town style.

Tapping into the vibrancy and collaboration within Baroda’s downtown district, the

Preparing Your Vehicle for Winter Emergencies: The Essential Car Kit

Winter driving presents unique challenges, from icy roads and reduced visibility to unexpected breakdowns in freezing conditions. A well-stocked emergency kit in the trunk can make the difference between a minor inconvenience and a dangerous situation. Assembling one requires focusing on items that address warmth, visibility, vehicle recovery, sustenance, and basic medical needs.

Start with tools for dealing with ice and snow. An ice scraper and snow brush are fundamental for clearing windshields and windows quickly, ensuring safe visibility before driving. A collapsible shovel allows digging out tires stuck in snowdrifts. Including a bag of sand, kitty litter, or salt provides traction under wheels when roads turn slippery.

Vehicle maintenance items prove critical when cold weather drains batteries or causes mechanical issues. Jumper cables enable restarting a dead battery with help from another driver. A portable jump starter offers independence if no assistance arrives. Traction aids, such as mats or chains, help escape snowy ruts.

Staying warm ranks as a top priority if stranded for hours. Pack wool blankets or emergency mylar blankets that reflect body heat. Extra clothing, including hats, gloves, scarves, socks, and boots, prevents hypothermia. Chemical hand warmers provide quick heat without relying on the vehicle's systems.

Sustenance sustains energy and hydration during delays. Non-perishable high-energy snacks like granola bars, nuts, dried fruits, and protein bars avoid spoilage in cold temperatures. Bottled water remains essential, though it may freeze—store it insulated or replenish frequently.

Visibility and signaling tools alert others to your position. A flashlight with extra batteries illuminates repairs or signals for help at night. Reflective triangles or flares warn approaching traffic, reducing collision risks. A whistle adds an audible alert.

A basic first-aid kit handles minor injuries from slips or accidents. Include bandages, antiseptic wipes, gauze, adhesive tape, pain relievers, and any personal medications.

Additional useful items enhance preparedness. A multi-tool or knife assists with various tasks. A phone charger or power bank keeps communication lines open for calling assistance. Candles and matches offer emergency light and limited warmth if used cautiously inside the vehicle.

Store the kit in a durable, accessible container in the trunk or back seat. Check contents seasonally, replacing expired food, dead batteries, or depleted supplies. Regular vehicle maintenance, such as ensuring good tire tread and a full gas tank, complements the kit.

By preparing this emergency kit, drivers gain confidence facing winter's unpredictability. These items address common hazards, allowing focus on safe arrival rather than survival worries.

Make the Most of Your Holiday Traditions with Better Hearing

The holidays are built on tradition—those familiar moments, sounds, and shared experiences that make this season so special. It's amazing how the "little" things we hear bring those traditions to life in big, meaningful ways.

Whether you're considering treatment for hearing loss or already grateful you did, this season is a perfect time to reflect on how hearing our best helps us enjoy our favorite traditions even more.

Carefree Communication

The heart of the holidays is connection. From sharing gratitude around the dinner table to swapping recipe secrets in the kitchen, being part of the conversation matters. Clear hearing helps us stay engaged, strengthen our relationships, and experience more joy in every moment.

Travel Without the Trouble
Holiday travel is a tradition all its own. And hearing aids—especially when they're in our ears—make it easier and safer. They help us catch important instructions, communicate with travel staff, and navigate the hustle and bustle with confidence. It's one small step that can make the journey far more enjoyable.

The Big Game, Even Bigger Enjoyment
For many families, gathering around to watch the big game is as much a tradition as the meal itself. Hearing your best makes every cheer, groan, and laugh more fun—especially if your team pulls off a win.

Giving Back Feels Even Better
The holidays are also a time to give thanks and give back. When we can hear clearly, we feel more empowered to volunteer, serve, and connect with our communities—whether we're helping at a holiday meal or delivering essentials to someone in need. Treating hearing loss helps prevent the loneliness and isolation that often hold people back, replacing it with purpose, connection, and fulfillment.

Rediscovering the gift of connection through better hearing can make every day feel a little brighter—and every tradition a little richer.

Here's to starting a new tradition: prioritizing your hearing health.

"Just turn all of the building into something that children can explore every inch of, and not always be told, 'no, don't go in there. No you can't do that,'" Marciniak said.

Marciniak says they're adding a freight elevator to move exhibits, restrooms on all three floors, a mezzanine level above the former ballroom balcony, a glassed-in front porch, and an accessible outdoor space with some exhibits.

Curious Kids has already raised $4.3 million and will begin construction in early 2026. From there, the project will be completed over 13 months.

"Hopefully in early 2027, first quarter, we would have the first two floors, the main floor and the second floor open with all the exhibits and all the construction complete. And then by summer of 2027, we would have the basement exhibits installed."

Marciniak says they'll be ready with all exhibits by the third quarter of 2027. In the meantime, the museum will be seeking additional grants, contributions from large donors, and support from the public. It's also secured a $500,000 matching grant from the Frederick S. Upton Foundation, meaning donations made now will be doubled.

Anyone can contribute to the "Building Curiosity — Play a Part, Fund the Fun" campaign now. Marciniak says she knows there's a lot of support for the Curious Kids Museum.

"We've been here for 36 years," Marciniak said. "We're now servicing our second generation of people. It's so heartwarming when a young mom comes in and says, 'You know, I was here when I was five and my favorite exhibit was...' They tell us all about it and then they bring their kids and they can't wait to share that."

Of the money raised from this campaign, Marciniak says $4.5 million will go into the building renovation, $1.1 million is being used to purchase the building, and the remainder will be used for exhibit design and installation. Already, they've completed one exhibit that's now on display at the Lake Boulevard location. Another is being fabricated, and two more are being designed.

Marciniak says once the Main Street home is finished, the location on Lake Boulevard will continue to operate as a field trip hub and after-school space. The Curious Kids Discovery Zone at Silver Beach Center will continue normal operations.

Berrien County Parks highlight major accomplishments in 2025

2025 was a busy year for the Berrien County Parks Department.

Parks Director Jill Adams provided a year-end report to the Berrien County Board of Commissioners this week, highlighting some of the department's biggest accomplishments throughout the year. She said completed projects have included a new pavilion at Love Creek County Park, the new and popular Silver Beach Playground, and concessions improvements at the beach.

"With an expanded retail area and some hard surface shaded seating area," Adams said. "And because of this, our concessionaire had an increase of 25% in her sales."

Adams said the department celebrated 40 years of disc golf at Madeline Bertrand County Park this year and launched a materials management survey that's still available to all residents of Berrien, Cass, and Van Buren counties. It will guide waste management policy across Southwest Michigan.

Adams also highlighted the sale of yearly parks passes.

"I just want to announce that our 2026 permits are available for purchase. We have an annual entrance permit that gets you into four of our county parks, but the sale of these entrance permits does help maintain all of our seven properties."

Adams noted the parks office will be open on Christmas Eve, for those seeking good gifts at the last minute. Also, she shared numbers from this year's recycling program.

"We had over 2,000 people participate, which was higher than last year. We collected over 82,000 pounds of household hazardous waste and liquids that were kept out of our area landfills. We recycled over 41,000 pounds of electronics through these events. We also collected and recycled 4,000 pounds of foam or Styrofoam, which is a lot considering it's mostly air."

Adams said the department also filled three semi-trailers with old tires at its tire recycling event. She added they could have collected more and may have four trailers on hand next year.

You can learn more about the county's recycling program at BerrienCounty.org/Recycle.

A Christmas Greeting from the MailMax Staff

As Christmas arrives, all of us at MailMax would like to extend our warmest wishes to you and your family. This season invites us to slow down, reflect, and appreciate the blessings that often show up in simple but meaningful ways—time together, kind words, shared meals, and the joy of community.

At Christmas, we are reminded of the hope, peace, and love that came into the world so many years ago—values that still matter deeply today. Whether you celebrate with church services, family traditions, or quiet moments at home, we hope your days are filled with light and encouragement.

We are grateful for the trust you place in MailMax and for the local businesses, organizations, and neighbors who make our community such a special place to live. It's a privilege to serve you and to help share the stories, events, and connections that bring us together each week.

From our families to yours, may your Christmas be filled with warmth, joy, and meaningful moments—and may the New Year ahead bring renewed hope and many reasons to smile.

Merry Christmas,

Financial Expert
The Ramsey Show

Dave Says
Broke People Can't Help Broke People

Dear Dave,

My wife and I have been married for less than a year, and we're already having disagreements over money. I love her, and one of the reasons I do is because she has such a giving heart. The problem is I feel like she's taking this too far. Often, she will give money to family and friends. Most of the time I wouldn't mind this, as long as the person really needed help. But often she will do this, and we end up short when it comes to taking care of our bills, paying off debt and saving. How can I approach her about this without causing more stress in our relationship?

Jacob

Dear Jacob,

Your wife's heart is in the right place. And generosity is a very attractive quality in a person. Still, that doesn't make what she's doing a good idea right now.

I'm going to be blunt with you, okay? This kind of behavior is financially irresponsible. Her intentions are admirable, but she's going overboard. If it's causing stress in your marriage, and you two are having trouble taking care of your own financial obligations, you have every right to be frustrated.

I want you to really hear this: Broke people can't help broke people. By this, I mean only the strong can help the weak. Right now, you two should be working together—as a team—to get your own financial house in order. And by that, I mean working hard to become debt-free, then saving up a fully loaded emergency fund. Once that's done, you should start setting something aside for retirement. Then, and only then, once all that has been taken care of, and you have a friend or family member who's truly in financial need, you can give whatever you both agree is a proper, affordable amount.

Look, I'm a big giver at my business and in my personal life. But you two need to take care of yourselves right now. Sit down with your wife, and gently explain this to her. She's a good lady, Jacob. Praise her for her giving heart. But at the same time, show her what's happening with your own finances and how you'll be better able to help the people around you once you pay off your debt, and start saving money.

God bless you both.

— Dave

A Special Christmas

What do you do to make Christmas special? You may have a particularly unique gift to give to someone you love this year, and because of it, you believe that this will be a Christmas to remember. Or you may be planning a special meal for all those who will feast at your table. Your work may have allotted you extra time off, so you are able to dedicate greater attention to making the time special. Houses and businesses are decorated inside and out, signaling the special time of year. There is special music, special desserts, special services at church. There is so much to do to make Christmas special.

With all that comes the burden of doing it. Do you ever feel exhausted trying to make Christmas special? Even if you don't, it is hard to get over the fact that there is so much to do around Christmas. There are so many things on the "to do" list.

Do you ever feel like you must do so much for God to make yourself special? Maybe you don't want to go to church because you don't think you are special enough. You may feel like you've messed up.

Or you've been trying to keep up with all the things you are supposed to do for God to be special, and it is overbearing. You may be trying to keep up the appearance that you have everything put together, and you can't let anything drop. This façade for those around you can feel like you must do the same before God. It's never enough.

In both cases—either you know you aren't good enough or you keep trying to be good enough—you make yourself the center of Christmas rather than God.

You don't need to make yourself special to come to God. God came to you to make you special. "Look, the virgin will be with child and will give birth to a son. And they will name him Immanuel, which means, 'God with us.'" (Matthew 1:23, quoting Isaiah 7:14). The once-in-a-lifetime gift that was given to you is God himself in Jesus.

Just look at Jesus' "done" list of everything he accomplished to make you special. Jesus, who is God, wrapped himself in human muscle and tissue to make Christmas special. Jesus lived up to all of God's expectations and applied his clean record to your account to make you special. Jesus allowed his hands and feet to be pierced by Roman nails to undo all you do to mess life up.

You don't have to do anything for God to make yourself special before he loves you. His love makes you special. His gift of Jesus—Immanuel, God with us—makes Christmas special. So all we do around Christmas to help everyone else feel special is simply a reflection of his love.

What can you drop from your Christmas "to do" list so you can concentrate more on Jesus' "done" list?

Prayer: Jesus, the way you give yourself for me is an amazing gift. You clear my conscience and relieve my burdens, so I am yours by your grace alone. Amen.

Reflections, Resolutions, and Responsible Revelry

As the final days of 2025 tick away, it's only natural to pause and reflect on the year that's been. What a ride it's been. There were moments worth celebrating, moments that tested us, and plenty of memories in between—but here we are, ready to welcome 2026 with open arms and maybe just a little bit of bubbly.

New Year's Eve is a time for celebration, and Southwest Michigan knows how to do it right. From renowned local restaurants to lively nightlife spots, our area offers no shortage of ways to ring in the new year—many of them highlighted in this New Year's Eve Guide. Whether you're dressing to the nines for an elegant dinner, gathering with friends for a laid-back game night, or cozying up on the couch to watch the ball drop, there's something special about a night filled with fresh beginnings.

Before we get caught up in the glitter and confetti, though, it's worth taking a moment to think about celebrating safely and responsibly.

1. Plan Your Ride — or Your Pillow

It's a familiar reminder, but it never goes out of style: if you're heading out to celebrate, make sure you have a safe way home. Whether that means designating a driver, booking a nearby hotel, or staying the night with friends, having a plan in place before the evening begins lets you enjoy the night worry-free. Trust me—you don't want to be scrambling for a ride at 12:15 a.m. here in Southwest Michigan.

2. Eat, Hydrate, Repeat

By all means, raise a glass—but raise a sandwich, too. With all the excitement, it's easy to forget your body still needs fuel. Eating before and during the festivities can help keep things balanced, and alternating those celebratory drinks with water goes a long way. When it comes to adult beverages, moderation is always the best plan. Your January 1st self will be very grateful.

3. Make Resolutions You Actually Enjoy

Ah yes—resolutions. Some stick (cheers to drinking more water), while others quietly disappear by mid-January. Instead of setting goals you'll dread, choose ones that genuinely excite you. Maybe it's trying a new recipe each month, attending church more consistently, spending more time outdoors, or finally reading that book that's been sitting on your nightstand for years. If it brings you joy, you're far more likely to follow through.

4. Be Present

In a world that's always racing toward the next thing, New Year's Eve is a perfect opportunity to slow down and stay in the moment. Put the phone down—except for that midnight photo—soak in the laughter, and appreciate the people around you. It doesn't have to be perfect to be meaningful. Connection is what matters most.

Here's to 2026. When the clock strikes midnight, take a deep breath and remember that every New Year's Day is a fresh page. You don't need to reinvent yourself—just keep growing, learning, and laughing.

So, Southwest Michigan, whether you're clinking champagne glasses or mugs of hot cocoa, may your celebration be joyful, safe, and filled with gratitude. Here's to fresh starts, fond memories, and a blessed 2026 ahead.

NEW YEAR'S EVE CELEBRATIONS

Bud Distributing Stands with Budweiser to Promote Safe Drinking

Budweiser and Anheuser-Busch have a long history of promoting responsible drinking, including a variety of campaigns and initiatives:

DRINK WISER

Anheuser-Busch's message to consumers to enjoy their beers responsibly

BUDWEISER MEANS MODERATION

The company's first responsible drinking message, which dates back over 100 years

KNOW WHEN TO SAY WHEN

Anheuser-Busch's first major responsible drinking campaign, launched over 35 years ago

DECIDE TO RIDE

A campaign that encourages consumers to plan ahead and decide to ride instead of driving after drinking

Join Bud Distributing and Budweiser and Anheuser-Bush to promote these programs aimed to prevent underage drinking, impaired driving, and other harmful use of alcohol.

A graphic for a New Year's Eve celebration. It features a clock face with Roman numerals from I to XII. The hands of the clock are positioned at 12:00. The text "New Year's Eve" is written in a large, stylized, pink cursive font, and "Celebration" is written below it in a smaller, dark blue, bold, sans-serif font. The background is white with a red border at the top. There are colorful confetti and streamer-like elements around the clock and text.

The Pet Corner

We haven't seen the winter solstice yet, but winter has certainly arrived. While temperatures are vacillating between bitter cold and relatively mild, one thing is for certain: we need to take precautions with our pets to make sure they're safe during the next few months. Protecting them from the elements and making sure they're comfortable is as important now as during the hot summer months. Proper shelter, enough food, and fresh water are priorities at home, but keeping them safe when away from home is also a consideration. A sad story in the news recently told of a man who tried to save his dog when it fell through the ice on a pond. Tragically, the man died. I don't know the circumstances or if the dog survived, but it's a terrible choice no one wants to have to make. Accidents happen, and some have very distressing outcomes, but keeping a dog on a leash while away from home is always the best policy. Dogs love to run free. We love to let them. But keeping them safe often does the same for us. I hope everyone who walks their dogs near bodies of water this time of year has them leashed. The weather and temperatures and a dog's actions are just too unpredictable to do less.

Animal Aid and the Signature Dealer Group in Benton Harbor will hold a Holiday Adoption Event this Saturday, December 20, from 8 am to noon at 680 E. Napier. Cats, kittens, and dogs available for adoption will be present, and Signature is graciously covering all adoption fees for pets adopted that day from pre-approved applications or adopted soon after a meet and greet that day. To be pre-approved, fill out an application at www.animalaidswmi.org/adoptions and email to infoanimalaidswmi@gmail.com. You may fill out an application the day of the event, but you will not be able to take the pet home that day. View the adoptable pets on their website.

Many thanks to Signature Dealer Group for holding this event and for their generosity in helping the pets looking for a new family. Let's hope they all go home for the holidays.

Animal Aid will hold adoption events on Sunday, December 28 and January 4 at Fuzzybutz Pet Bakery from 1-3 pm in downtown St. Joseph. Be sure to fill out the adoption application ahead of time, as same-day adoptions require prior approval.

Berrien County Animal Services is looking for new volunteers who can take dogs for the day on Doggy Day Outs. Fill out an application at www.berriencounty.org/1328/Volunteer and take a doggy for a day-long adventure or just to ride along with you while you run errands. Time spent out of the kennels helps improve their social skills and gives them a break from the noise and commotion of the shelter. Volunteering is perfect for folks who aren't able to have a dog in their home, but who would still like to interact with them and spend the day showering them with love and attention.

Thanks to all those who came out for the Animal Aid Christmas Open House and the Reindog Parade. A fun time was had by all, especially our granddog, Elliot, who came dressed as the Grinch, accompanied by his dad, dressed as Max the dog.

From all the pets at our house, Gracie the Beagle, Elliot, and Sandwich Kitty, a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

The Names That Play the Games (Part Uno)

Here I am, with the rest of the house fast asleep, figuring out how to record, watch and savor every one of this year's college football bowl games.

Shouldn't be too hard – there are only 47 of them. 47 games times roughly three hours each will only eat up, let's see, about 141 hours, which, heck, is less than six days.

Honestly, it isn't demanding too much of my family to buck up and do a few extra holiday chores, is it? Heck, they managed to buy their own Christmas presents, and all that's left now is feeding and occasionally sponge-bathing me in front of the TV so I can watch players who will forever be in my personal "Interesting College Football Names Hall of Fame." Players such as:

Boise State has a wide receiver who is absolutely destined to play in the NFL for Green Bay!: Gavin Packer.

I heard that this season the University of Washington promised fans the moon. And they delivered!...with running back Ryken Moon.

Boise State will play Washington in the I Don't Recall The Name But It's A VERY Important Game I Can't Miss Watching Bowl. Boise will field the Steele brothers, who go 6'4", 300 pounds and 6'4", 302 pounds. Washington will counter with the Haatchet bros, who run 6'2"/306 and 6'4"/315. So, I guess we'll find out which wreaks more havoc! – loads of steele or massive haatchets!

The 2025 All-Sounds Like Members Of The Order Of Masters From Game Of Thrones Team: Washington defensive back Ephesians Prysock;

Troy University running back Dakarai Shanks; Jacksonville State offensive lineman Storm Fain;

University of South Florida defensive lineman Dinnelson Exume;

Old Dominion defensive back Botros Alisandro;

Kennesaw State offensive lineman Elijah Zollicoffer;

Toledo defensive lineman Laith Shamma.

Troy has a quarterback whose name seems

www.MailMaxOnline.com

pretty notable to me – Ui Ale. Why? His entire name has just one consonant. (I'm consonantly on the lookout for names like this!)

Which Troy Trojans offensive lineman would you rather have bowl you over: 6'4", 315-pound Paul Bowling...or 6'6", 320-pound Gavin Bowlin?

If you had a closet full of shoe racks laden with football footwear you'd have something you could name the same as a Jacksonville State kicker -- Cleat Forrest.

After wrasslin' at the line of scrimmage with James Madison University defensive linemen Immanuel Bush – 348 pounds – and Kells Bush – 311 pounds – opponents are really...wait for it...Bushed!

Every loyal James Madison fan chants "Harley" when a good play is made by defensive back Chantz Harley.

This Utah state defensive back simply MUST play in the NFL someday with...well, I'll let you guess which Los Angeles team I have in mind: Charger Doty.

The Kennesaw State coaching staff all agree that when the offense needs a key game-breaking block, they know exactly who would get it: 302-pound ZaMario Woodgett. (Bit of subtlety in that one, but I thought you woodgett it!)

I don't know if I'm the only dopey weekly columnist who indulges in this kind of wordplay with names, and some of you may be saying "I think this sort of column has been done." Well today, you'd be 100% keeeee-rect, because I'm name-checking a certain Kennesaw State defensive lineman, which means this column has Ben Dunn.
