

Farewell to Heidelberg Academy

By Dale McKee

A sad note to report as Heidelberg Academy shut their doors this week. My first game to cover as a sportswriter was a Rebel football game against Beason Academy (Hattiesburg) back in August of 1973. HA won that night, and for most of my sports writing career they won. It was always fun to cover the Rebels' games. They had great coaches who were always accommodating to a young sportswriter feeling his way through the wilderness of printed journalism. The first coach I met was Hall of Fame coach Buddy Sauls. Other future Hall of Famers from Heidelberg Academy that I had the pleasure of dealing with were Tom Lewis, who had four state titles, and, at the end, Mike Taylor. Heidelberg Academy attracted kids from Clarke and Jones County, along with their Jasper County native sons and daughters. It was a melting pot for many.

Other future Hall of Famers from Heidelberg Academy that I had the pleasure of dealing with were Tom Lewis, who had four state titles, and, at the end, Mike Taylor. Heidelberg Academy attracted kids from Clarke and Jones County, along with their Jasper County native sons and daughters. It was a melting pot for many.

About a decade ago, a sports enthusiast from Texas wrote me about winning teams in high school football in Mississippi. He wanted more information on Heidelberg Academy. He informed me that they were in his top ten of all-time football schools with a winning percentage of over 80 percent. The Rebels were actually ninth nationally and had won six football titles plus another 25 district titles since opening in 1970. They are also one of a handful in the state of Mississippi to win a state baseball and football state championship in the same school year. They did it twice during the 2000-01 and 2003-04 school years. The Rebels had two undefeated teams and won 35 straight games in football in the early 80s. The 1994 team also went undefeated (14-0). In baseball they were not that bad either, as the 2004 team blasted 69 home runs on their way to an undefeated season (29-0). Only a handful of teams in Mississippi high school history can say that. They also won 14 straight district titles in baseball. The Rebels had their high moments in softball and basketball as well.

Farewell, Heidelberg Academy. I enjoyed the many positive memories. Contact Dale at ddmckee18@yahoo.com

NURSERY AND GARDEN

By Kay Scarborough Danger!

Do you remember your last tetanus shot? If it's been ten years or more, you need to get a booster. Most of us don't realize how often we're exposed to this potentially serious disease when we're out "playing" in the yard. Tetanus bacteria can be present in potting soil, manure and plain old dirt. You can contract the disease via scratches, animal and insect bites, and splinters. All this time, I've just been worried about spiders and snakes!

After all the recent flooding in Mississippi, residents of affected counties can get free tetanus shots at the local Health Department. Jones Countians are eligible for the free shot! Please wear gloves when you're working in your garden; this is so difficult for me . . . I stick my hands anywhere!

One of my new favorite flowers is Gaura. This perennial produces beautiful flowers all summer. Last spring we planted "Crimson Butterflies," which has pink flowers floating on long slender stems above three foot reddish stalks. It has come back from winter dormancy and is already blooming – this one is a winner!

Speaking of butterflies, here are a few fast tips for attracting them to your yard. These flying flowers require a sunny, open location. They like warmth and need plenty of light to see. This is also perfect for the sun loving blooms that produce the nectar that adult butterflies prefer. The caterpillars need "host" plants to feed on. Many herbs make great hosts. Last year they ate all my dill, parsley and bronze fennel. I was pretty upset, until the mature butterflies started flying around. If you want to attract a particular species of butterfly, do a little research to determine what host plants they prefer.

Avoid pesticides and insecticides, as these can kill caterpillars and the adult butterflies. (Also a threat to other pollinators, such as bees). When butterflies first emerge, they like to rest on a handy rock to dry their wings. I put a shallow birdbath half-filled with moistened sand and soil, and a big rock in the middle, close to some of my irises. This offers a sheltered place for the butterflies to relax and sunbathe.

Water, Water, Everywhere!

The wonderful spring rains and mild weather have been a blessing for our plants. But too much water can be a curse. Molds, black spot and fungi thrive in the hot, humid climate of Jones County. Check your plants and apply fungicide as needed.

When supplemental watering does become necessary, water early in the morning so that surface water can evaporate. Watering at night promotes the growth of disease and rot, because the soil and plants stay wet all night. Drip irrigation is best; this gets the water close to the roots and the foliage stays dry. There is also less water loss through evaporation.

* With its victory over Florida Atlantic on Sunday, Southern Miss has won 15 league games in each of the last four seasons.
* In its Saturday loss at FAU, it marked the first time this season the Golden Eagles dropped a game when they clubbed at least three home runs in a contest in the five games that they have done it this season. Southern Miss had a string of five consecutive games in which they hit a homer snapped in the series finale against the Owls and now have 52 on the year as a team.

Southern Miss DB Kalan Reed taken as final pick in 2016 NFL Draft

Submitted
The Tennessee Titans made Southern Miss defensive back Kalan Reed the final player chosen in the 2016 National Football League Draft Saturday afternoon. Reed, who hails from Birmingham, Ala., was the 253rd overall and final pick of the seventh round. With teammate and wide receiver Mike Thomas going in the sixth round to the Los Angeles Rams, it marked the first time a pair of Golden Eagles were taken in the NFL Draft since both Shawn Nelson (Buffalo) and Gerald McRath (Tennessee) each went in the fourth round of the 2009 draft. McRath also marked the most recent Titan chosen by that organization prior to Reed's pick.
The Golden Eagle defensive back earned first-team All-Conference USA honors and earned selection in this past January's NFLPA Collegiate Bowl following his senior campaign as he started in all 14 games and has registered 56 tackles (50 solo), which was fourth-best on the team. He added four tackles for loss, two fumble recoveries and two forced fumbles, along with a single-season school record 19 pass breakup and four interceptions. One of his interceptions went for 76 yards and a touchdown against Austin Peay, while another was his third career pick for a score at Marshall. Perhaps his most exciting interception came at Charlotte when he swiped a 49er pass one-handed that was an ESPN Top 10 play of the day. His last career pick came against WKU starter Brandon Doughty in the C-USA championship game, which he returned 40 yards. In addition, he thwarted a late Texas State drive to help the Golden Eagles capture a 56-50 victory with a tackle at the goal line on fourth down.
In his four-year Golden Eagle career, Red played in 48 games and tallied 152 tackles (113 solos) with 8.5 tackles for loss, eight interceptions, 35 pass breakups, four fumble recoveries and three forced fumbles.

Southern Miss' Thomas taken in sixth round of NFL draft by Los Angeles Rams

Submitted
Southern Miss wide receiver Mike Thomas was chosen in the sixth round in the 2016 National Football League Draft by the Los Angeles Rams Saturday. Thomas earned the 206th overall pick by the Rams as it also marked the fifth consecutive year that Southern Miss had at least one player taken in the draft. Defensive lineman Rakeem Nunez-Roches earned a sixth-round selection by the Kansas City Chiefs last season.
In 2016, Thomas established single-season school records with 1,391 yards receiving and 14 touchdowns catches as he collected 71 catches. His totals included seven 100-yard receiving games, including 190 yards and a pair of touchdown catches in the Zaxby's Heart of Dallas Bowl against Washington. In his two seasons with the Golden Eagles, the Chicago, Ill., native posted 1,983 receiving yards in 25 career games at the school on 112 catches and 19 scoring grabs. Thomas is the first Southern Miss player taken by the Rams organization since center Barry Caudill got taken in the 12th round in 1977.

Walking out of a season of mourning

By Dr. Bill Myers
When your heart is breaking...look to Jesus, who cares. "Weeping may remain for a night, but rejoicing comes in the morning." Psalm 30:5

Each of us experiences a broken heart at some time in our lives. It could be the death of a loved one, a job loss, health problems, financial, divorce, hurt feelings, etc. But we all experience the pain. God tells us in this scripture in Psalm that there is a season to mourn and rest in comfort. Yes, it's not unchristian to mourn and be sad, and we shouldn't feel guilty for doing so. God doesn't expect us to dance around our homes or church singing joy hymns and choruses when we are emotionally broken. We need to take some time to grieve when we are fragile, to crawl into the arms of God and be comforted. It's okay to mourn. Our Father promises to comfort and console us when we're hurting. "I, even I, am He who comforts you," declares the Lord. Isaiah 51:12.

But after our season of grieving, we must at some point, decide to rise from the mourning and begin living our lives again with the joy of the Lord. Even in the midst of the worst storm, we will find something to be thankful for. God's plan for us after our time of mourning is to live again with joy (our strength) and use the pain we experienced to help others who are going through similar situations/storms. The more we reach out to those hurting, the more healing we receive for our own hearts. He gives His love and comfort in abundance. "Through Christ our comfort overflows." 2 Corinthians 1:5.

Friends, there is hope in Jesus; there is sunshine in Jesus; and there is joy in Jesus! If your heart is broken today, take time to grieve (it's okay). But after your season of mourning, please make a decision to begin taking small steps forward keeping your eyes on Jesus. It will seem painful at first, but each step will strengthen you to take another one. As Peter walked on water toward Jesus in the storm, we too should step out of our boat of pain and hurt and begin walking toward our Savior. If the pain gets too intense and we start sinking, He will reach out His hand and save us from drowning. "I will turn their mourning into gladness; I will give them comfort and joy instead of sorrow," declares the Lord. Jeremiah 31:13.

When your storm gets intense and your heart is breaking, remind yourself that Jesus loves and cares for you . . . He will never leave you!

Sideline View: Tunsil becomes main story at NFL draft

By Dale McKee

I figured the state of Mississippi was going to shine in the spotlight last weekend at the National Football League college player draft. It was to be a great weekend for the state. How wrong I was.

The bizarre story of Ole Miss and La-remy Tunsil took the headlines about ten minutes before the draft started and has not died down since. A video of Tunsil was posted on his Twitter account showing him inhaling marijuana through a bong with a gas mask attached. The video hack cost Tunsil millions and Ole Miss some very bad publicity. The difference between being picked first overall and 13th is a pay cut from $25 million to $12 million. That was a personal blow to the Rebel player, but what happened next was a PR killer for Ole Miss.

Right after Tunsil was drafted, another set of text messages was posted to his Instagram account revealing that he was asking certain Ole Miss staff members for money to pay for his rent and his mom's power bill. The NCAA does have a Student Assistance Fund from which players who come from low-income families can request aid. Tunsil later answered questions at a press conference that he did in fact take money from Ole Miss coaches. No matter how Ole Miss handles this situation, it will be difficult to rid themselves of speculation that the only way they can sign these great players is to buy them.

There will always be those who wish to think the worst, and many from outside have wondered how Ole Miss can sign players like Tunsil, Robert Nkeddiche and Laquon Treadwell without buying them. Florida sportswriter Mike Bianchi of the Orlando Sentinel took a shot at Ole Miss coach Hugh Freeze this past weekend and fueled that fire. Bianchi, who is not a fan of Mississippi teams, has written past columns that have not been kind to our state. He has even suggested in the past that the SEC should drop Ole Miss and Mississippi State from the conference. His shot at Freeze was not right and may not be factual. Bianchi writes that when Florida fired Will Mushchamp, there was speculation in some circles that Freeze was Florida's number one choice. He says, however, that Florida officials knew then of NCAA infractions against Ole Miss and never really considered Freeze for the job. Bianchi also says that Florida did not hire Freeze because of "character issues."

That is pretty damaging. The story I heard from close friends of Freeze was his agent was in contact with Florida officials, but in the end Freeze felt like his place was to stay at Ole Miss. The problem with Bianchi's column is that lots of folks in Florida will believe what they read, and the disparaging remarks will shape their opinion of Ole Miss and Freeze forever. Every national newscast last Friday had something negative to say about Tunsil and Ole Miss. I can say most of Tunsil's troubles at Ole Miss involved agents fighting over him. He had family problems, and he made the bad decisions that got him suspended for seven games. The mother (Jennifer Coney) of the former number one high school recruit in the nation, New Jersey's Rashan Gary, said last weekend that Ole Miss never offered her son money – per Internet sources. She said they were offered money, but not by Ole Miss. Gary signed with Michigan. Coney also said Greg Little of Allen, Texas, who signed with Ole Miss, was not offered money either. Coney said she talked to Little's mother. Little was the top-rated offensive lineman in the country last fall. Coney went on to say she could not say anything bad about Ole Miss in her year and a half dealing with Rebel coaches.

Robert Nkeddiche, who was the first round draft choice of the Arizona Cardinals, stated that he did not receive any money from Ole Miss during his career as well. One thing is certain: no one should judge Ole Miss until all the facts are in

South Central Regional Medical Center recognized for organ donation practices

Submitted

Currently, more than 124,000 people in America are waiting for organ transplants. Each day nearly 22 people die waiting for an organ transplant that would have given them a second chance at life. In addition, each year hundreds of thousands of people benefit from donated tissue and corneal grafts that are used for life-saving, sight restoring and reconstructive purposes. South Central Regional Medical Center (SCRMC) is pleased to be named a Hospital of Excellence by the Mississippi Organ Recovery Agency (MORA).

“SCRMC has received numerous awards for its work in organ donation with MORA,” said Roger Wynne, RN, director of Intensive Care at SCRMC. “We have received awards for the most supportive organ and tissue hospital award, as well as a national recognition for achieving national organ donation performance standards. South Central is one of ten hospitals in the state that received this honor.”

According to the United Network for Organ Sharing (UNOS), more than 500,000 people have received transplants in the United States, with over 28,000 receiving the gift of life each year. Local community leader Judi Holifield recently discussed the impact of organ donation.

“My husband passed away several months ago. He worked in the medical community for several years and was a registered organ donor. He knew the importance of being an organ donor, so because he was registered, we were prepared at his passing. Through his donation, two people were granted the gift of sight, and others received tissue and skin donations.”

Wynne continued by stating that one donor can have a significant impact on the lives of others. “When a person registers as an organ donor, their donation can help to save the lives of up to eight people. Then, through tissue donation, they can touch another 100 people. Through one person, 108 people’s lives can be drastically changed. Organ donation saves lives.”

SCRMC and MORA encourage all family members to have conversations about end-of-life decisions. “It is important to discuss your loved ones wants, because you never know whose life you may touch in the future,” stated Wynne.

“Death is a subject that many do not like to discuss, but we all will face death,” added Holifield. “It is important for potential donors to know they are treated as respectfully as possible.”

South Central Regional Medical Center and MORA encourages everyone to register as organ, eye and tissue donors and to celebrate those that have saved lives through the gift of donation. To register as a donor, please visit DonateLifeMS.org.
