Siebkens celebrates 100 years

Fourth generation owners prepare for 100 days of summer celebration events

By Mike Mathes
for the Depot Dispatch

Resort traditions have long been a part of the landscape in Elkhart Lake, and this year Siebkens Resort celebrates 100 years of its part in that community identity.

Sisters Laurie Stecker and Lisa Sadiq are fourth-generation owners of Siebkens Resort, which stands proudly at the south end of Lake Street.

They plan to mark their centennial observation with a huge “splash” of activities this summer, kicking off the events on Memorial Day Weekend through Labor Day.

“We are excited about kicking off 100 Days of Summer Fun to celebrate 100 years,” Stecker said.

The summer-long celebration will include live entertainment, food and beverage specials, customer appreciation events and nights, free gifts for children at meals, Sundae Fun Days at the ice cream shoppe and Root Beer Float Fridays.

Throwback Thursdays will feature Weeden Creek Coffee, available at Sissy’s for just 50 cents.

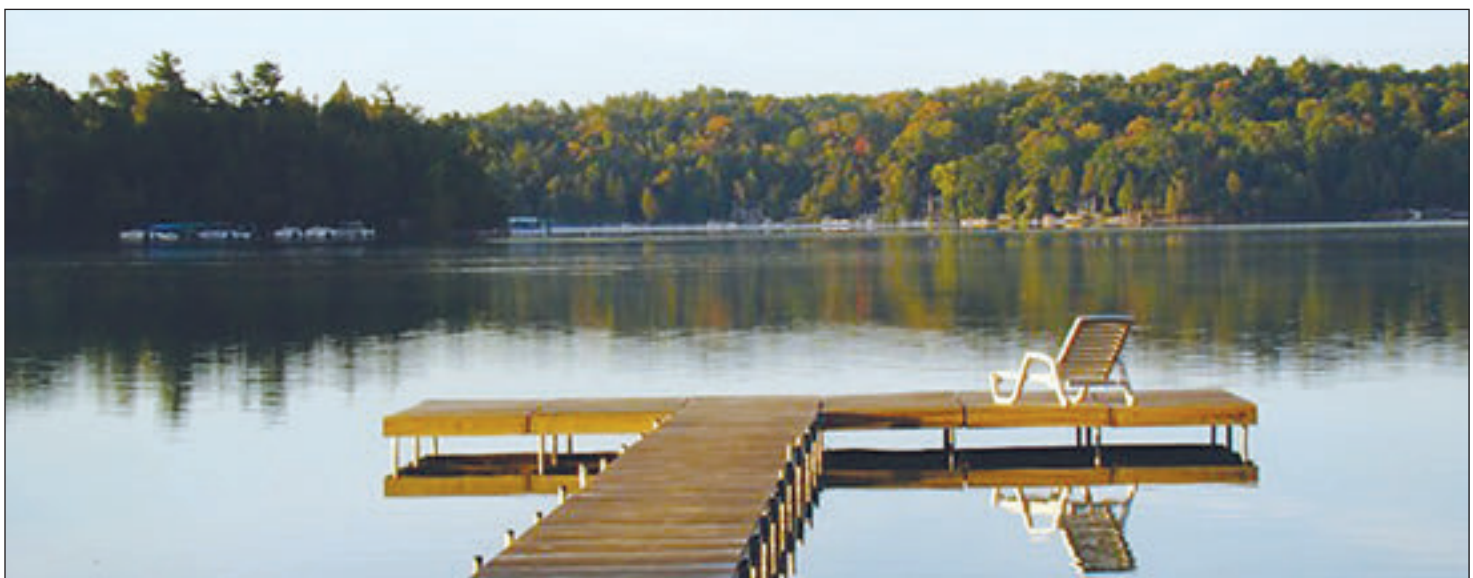

Siebkens will also be resurrecting Ollie’s Follies—the so-called “talent show” featuring staff performers and the time-honored bartender ballet and waitress kick line.

One of the major entertainment events of the summer will be the July 8 appearance of Copper Box, one of Wisconsin’s most loved bands.

Eating at home?

Last month this column looked at the pros and cons of "eating out" and it seemed only fair to also take a look at the advantages and disadvantages of eating at home. So, here we go. We might start by pointing out the obvious. It's just a lot cheaper to eat at home, no matter what kind of restaurant one chooses or what kind of "specials" it offers.

But there is the downside as well. No matter how well stocked your refrigerator might be, it's unlikely that you will find everything that your recipe calls for—or, you may have it, but not necessarily in the quantities specified. It's possible to substitute many ingredients, but not all. If you didn't already know, "dark" chocolate is not the same as cocoa, sour cream is not really similar to mayonnaise, and shoulder of pork is not a suitable substitute for pork loin!

Another problem that arises from eating at home is that you have to make the meal that you want to eat. This means not only baking, frying, or boiling the raw meat and/or vegetables, but actually timing how long each component must cook to be done when everything else is. This is not as easy as it sounds and can make the difference between a gourmet meal and tasteless disaster.

The physical and social aspects of eating at home must also be considered. Besides the dining date itself, there are also the preparations for it: cleaning the house, putting out some flowers or other decorations, and setting the table. As host or hostess, your hospitality extends beyond the "food" you offer to the entertainment of all.

You actually face "multiple tasking." The time you spend on preparing your entree cannot be used to fill the water glasses, to pour the wine, to get the finished fare from the stove and oven to the dining table, and/or to spend it with your guests.

Of course, to eat at home doesn't necessarily mean that you have to have a dinner party. The informality of current entertaining often results in supper barbecues or "Brat Frys" as well as mid-morning brunches, both of which end themselves to more casual dining.

Before concluding, however, we shouldn't omit the possibility of dining alone while "eating at home." Those are the times when you can set your own menu and dress as informally as you wish. As was mentioned in last month's article, you may even want to settle down in your most comfortable set of "jammies" and turn on that truly awful sitcom that you never would admit watching.

"Happy Eating" - Enjoying your home-cooked meal!

Summer School plans announced for EL-G

Summertime is a super time to engage in fun activities that encourage creativity, team building with friends, enrichment, and academic growth.

At Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah Elementary/Middle School, you can sharpen your skills and experience the job of learning through participation in five weeks of motivating classes.

Teachers are planning a wide range of unique opportunities that include CAD (computer aided drafting), Math Galore, Cooking from Scratch, Sports Trivia, Bowling, Archery, and good old-fashioned fun! Our summer school program will run for five weeks (Monday-Friday), June 13-July 15. There will not be any classes held on Monday, July 4. Classes will begin at 7:50 a.m. and will run until 11:55 a.m. The daily schedule will consist of four 50-minute time slots for courses with an additional 30 minute unstructured snack/break time mid-morning. If the starting time is too early for some students, the option is available to arrive later in the morning. Or you have the option of signing up less than the four classes a day-scheduling the students' start and stop times can be flexible. However, we do ask that once students arrive, they are to be scheduled in classes for the block of time that they are at summer school. This will be the 14th year for the program, which is available for all students who are currently in junior kindergarten through grade 8.

All summer school courses and registration forms can be found on our school website www.elgs.k12.wi.us, by stopping in the elementary/middle school office, or calling 920-876-3307.

Also for your information, Day Care will be available this summer for any parents and students who would like to take advantage of this opportunity. Students may go to Day Care from summer school or arrive from there at the beginning of the day. When utilizing Day Care, the normal fees for that program would apply, separate from the summer school fees. Arrangements for Day Care can be made with the director, Diane Schwaller at 920-876-3307.

Hope to see you in the summer!

Elkhart Inn offers unique dining concepts

Rich in history and rich in the tradition of serving classic dishes with modern flair to family and friends, old and new, just as it has for close to 100 years.

The Elkhart Inn opened in June of 2015 as a contemporary supper club with an emphasis on sourcing the very best ingredients available.

Chef and restaurant manager John Berge cut his culinary teeth in restaurants in Madison and Milwaukee. He then left the big city to be the sous chef at the highly-acclaimed Al Corso Restaurant in Collins, until he was asked to be at the helm of the new Elkhart Inn.

Coming up on the restaurant's one-year anniversary, Chef Berge's innovative cuisine has received rave reviews for cooking with unique products. He curates his ingredients with exceptional culinary knowledge and care. Some of the world's best and rarest game meat: Sika Venison, Blackbuck Antelope, and Axis Venison can be found on the menu or in weekly specials.

Dorper Lamb, Ora King Salmon, and Sushi-Grade Viking Village Scallops are just a few other ingredients that aren't typically found on menus in the area.

As for his current menu favorites, Berge noted, "I really enjoy making the Elk Chop and Scallops. It's a dish where every ingredient truly compliments each other, so every bite is balanced and really delicious."

Spring brings excitement

In the spring, Chef Berge requests which vegetables and herbs he'd like grown using organic practices on a local two-acre garden. As it is harvested, the produce is then worked into the menu and featured in specials to keep the menu continuously in-season.

"Spring is always an exciting time for a chef. I just harvested rhubarb, asparagus, chives, mixed greens, and tarragon from my parents' farm and those will be incorporated into my menu. Planting started in mid-May at The Osthoff's organic garden, so when summer hits we will have a bounty of fresh, organic produce right at our disposal."

Berge is a strong believer in local food sourcing, but knows some of the best ingredients must come from the right environment to produce the best meal.

"I know it's trendy to say that you only buy "local," but sometimes the best ingredients with the best flavor aren't local. Our Red Deer and Elk come from New Zealand and our Antelope is from Broken Arrow Farms in Texas. When you source ingredients from where they thrive, you can really taste it on the plate."

Dining Hours are Wednesday through Sunday, from 4-9 p.m.

Period decorum

Walking into The Elkhart Inn is like taking a step back in time. The restaurant is filled with old world charm, from the ornate wood work and hand-carved bar to the tin ceiling and roaring fireplace.

The classic décor lends itself to eating the way they did when the Inn first opened 100 years ago.

The Elkhart Inn is located at 91 S. Lincoln Street, Elkhart Lake. To make a reservation call 920-876-3133. You can also visit the website—www.elkhartinn.com

Ask about The Elkhart Inn private room located on the lower level featuring dining area, bar, and fireplace.

The facility is available for private parties up to 40 guests with advanced reservation.

RA elects two new directors to board

Road America recently announced that its board of directors elected two new members. Sarah Botham and Peter Cunningham joined Road America's board effectively on April 19 where they were elected at the company's 2016 annual meeting. The two new directors will replace current directors William Wuesthoff and Fred Stratton Jr., who have chosen to retire effective as of the annual meeting in accordance with company bylaws.

"A priority of ours has been to add exceptionally talented leaders to Road America's board to bolster the continued growth of this facility and our company. We've found two outstanding candidates who possess a deep understanding of our industry, Road America's business initiatives, and have each earned great success in their personal careers. We couldn't be more pleased to welcome them to our board and for their future contributions," said Jonathan Laun, Chairman of the Board for Road America. "I would also like to take this opportunity to thank both Bill and Fred for their incredible contributions to Road America which totals 82 years combined. Their solid leadership through several transitional periods, unwavering passion for the brand, immense character and integrity, intense vision for improving the experience, plus their selflessness and personal mentorship were instrumental in the growth and performance of the company during their time on the board. They will always be valued friends of Road America."

Sarah Botham is the owner and founder of Botham, ink., a marketing and public relations consulting firm that specializes in branding and strategic planning for businesses. She is also the vice president and director of marketing for her husband's business, Botham Vineyards & Winery, and president and founder of Acala Farms, a food products business launched in 2012. Additionally she serves as a faculty associate for the Department of Life Sciences Communication in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where she teaches marketing, advertising and design for the life sciences.

As advisor for the University of Wisconsin-Madison student chapter of the National Agri-Marketing Association (NAMA), Botham oversees the organization's activities and functions as competition coach for the NAMA student marketing team. She was recognized as Outstanding Student Advisor by the NAMA national organization in 2008 and has helped the team earn numerous awards. Under her guidance, the NAMA marketing team earned the National Championship in a field of 30 colleges from across the U.S. and Canada and brought home $5,500 in scholarships at the 2016 competition.

Botham is a second generation Road America shareholder with a lengthy family history at the track. Her parents, James and Eugenia Fletcher of Beaver Dam, were founding shareholders and her father raced at Road America in 1957 and never missed a season of racing until his death in 2003. Her mother, now 89, has owned shares for 61 years and has never missed a season of racing. Her husband, Peter, has raced at Road America since 1998.

Peter Cunningham is a decorated race-car driver and the founder, owner and driver for RealTime R&L, Inc., currently competing in the SCCA Pirelli World Challenge GT Championship. His name and his team, RealTime Racing, have become synonymous with the Honda and Acura brands. Since founding the team 29 years ago and through the 2016 season Cunningham had amassed 91 sports car victories in 10 professional series, a record unmatched by anybody in North American sports car racing history, as well as seven drivers' championships in the World Challenge series, and seven more from IIRA Ice Racing, SCCA PRO Rally, Escort Endurance and Shellzone Sport Trucks. As a team owner, he heads an effort which has won 86 individual events (by 12 of his drivers) in 23 years of SCCA Pirelli World Challenge racing, plus 14 drivers' championships and 14 manufacturers' championships for the Honda and Acura brands.

Although Cunningham is best known for his affiliation with Honda and Acura, he also drove for many other professional race teams, including those campaigning BMW (1998-2001), Chevrolet (1987-90), Nissan (1986, 2003-04), Toyota (1985), Porsche (2004) and Audi (2003).

Cunningham also founded RealTime Logistics (RTL) in 1993 to assist in the introduction of Bridgestone's Blizzak winter tire. Since then, RTL has been Bridgestone Americas' exclusive provider for organizing and implementing dynamic driving events across North America.

Cunningham was a founding shareholder of WC Vision LLC, owner of the Pirelli World Challenge Championships and is a current member of its Board of Directors. Cunningham is married to Rhainey Watts-Cunningham and along with their teenage daughter, Audrey, lives in Milwaukee.

ma Ollie's special German recipes will also be featured. Both are open to the public.

A German weekend is being planned, offering a German Buffet featuring traditional German recipes. Live music will take place both evenings, with Polka Potation featured as the Saturday band.

In August, a Duck Dinner is planned, again combined with traditional Siebkens recipes and live music.

An open welcome

As Siebkens Resort does every year, the resort is extending an open welcome not only to guests of the resort but to residents of the village and surrounding area to take part in the Siebkens experience.

Lunch and dinner are served in the Stop-Inn Tavern Tuesday through Sunday from 11:30 to 2 p.m. Dinner is served from 5 to 9:30 p.m. from Memorial Day through Labor Day Weekend.

The Stop-Inn tavern is open throughout the year. In the summer season, the tavern seating expands to the outdoor deck and screened in porch.

All entertainment is presented at the Stop-Inn Tavern and generally runs from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

On major race weekends, and the July 4th weekend, as well as for special events, the Main Dining Room is open for food service.

Sissy's Coffee and Ice Cream Shop is located on the grounds adjoining Lake Street. The coffee shop is open from 6:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. offering organic fair trade coffee and light breakfast items—along with the great tradition of Cedar Crest ice cream.

Sissy's offers beverages and sweets, traditional cones and root beer floats. "We have a lot of people who come by and grab a quick cup of coffee street side on their way to work, or the rest of their day."

Founded in 1916

Siebkens was founded in 1916 by Herman and Laura Siebken. Hotel owners in Germany, they came to America's east coast, then moved to Wisconsin, eventually buying the resort, which was known as the Elm Park Hotel.

For 25 years, the couple managed Siebkens until the resort was taken over by their daughter Ollie Siebken Moeller. Her tenure lasted for 36 years.

Lisa and Laurie's parents, Pam and Doug Lueck took the reins of the resort in 1977 and ran Siebkens for a period of 20 years. The two daughters began their tenure of ownership in 1996.

Elkhart Lake has many draws

Stecker said that the resort business has changed some with each passing generation. In days gone by, families from Chicago or Milwaukee would come to Siebkens to stay for a month at a time.

Today, that has changed as tourists come for the wider variety of reasons that makes Elkhart Lake an attractive destination.

"We get a real variety of customers here. We see a lot of destination weddings and family reunions," she said.

Stecker recalled the stories of how her grandmother played an instrumental role in helping to promote Road America. "She helped sell the shares of stock for the track and saw Road America as an opportunity to help revitalize the resort businesses," Stecker said.

The great racing legacy of Road America is just one of the many reasons that resorts like Siebkens have continued to attract patrons to Elkhart Lake.

Stecker cited the beauty of the lake and the quaintness of the village as drawing cards. Today, the lure has grown even stronger.

"People are really beginning to find out about Elkhart Lake. Once they get here and realize the beauty of the lake and see all the opportunities for biking, hiking, water sports and outdoor activities, they get hooked," she said.

At Siebkens along the shores of Elkhart Lake, they also find the pleasures of great dining and entertainment.

Once they find this treasure, families keep coming back to Siebkens. "We see lots of generations of families that keep coming back to Siebkens," Stecker said. "It's interesting to see people we may remember playing with as kids on the beach now bringing their families back. People just enjoy this area that much."

Generations of returnees

Siebkens offers year round hotel accommodations. The construction of a new building in 2008 helped open up the all-season possibilities. Likewise the Stop-Inn Tavern is also a year round feature at Siebkens.

Private parties are available throughout the year, although normal public dining remains seasonal.

Siebkens offers a variety of lodging options, including hotel rooms and 1-, 2- or 3-bedroom condominiums. The Elm Park and Lake Cottage Buildings offer a style of lodging patterned after bed and breakfast offerings.

Condominiums offer full open-concept kitchens and fireplaces, with expansive verandas and a built-in laundry.

Many rooms have a lake or pool view.

Maintaining the charm

For the sisters continuing the Siebkens Resort family tradition, the key to success lies in their ability to keep the old charm and feel.

"That's one of the great things about Elkhart Lake. The village has done a great job of maintaining and revitalizing the downtown area and keeping original structures," Stecker said.

That quaintness carries over to the great sense of community that visitors can feel.

"Elkhart Lake is just such a unique place, and Siebkens is proud to be part of that tradition. Together we all make Elkhart Lake the special place that it is," she added.

Both sisters raised their children in Elkhart Lake and were able to have them help in the resort business while growing up.

"It's almost like a fairy tale place to grow up in," Stecker said.

For the past century, Siebkens Resort has been part of that fairy tale story for tourists and locals alike.

Road America has major economic impact on area

Consistent facility improvements keep fans and enthusiasts returning year after year

Representatives from Lakeland College along with officials from Road America, recently released figures that highlight the racing venue's positive economic impact on the region. Entering its 61st season, Road America has actively been a driving force for tourism in Sheboygan County bringing hundreds of thousands of race fans to the area every season while supporting local businesses in the region.

According to the research, the direct economic impact of Road America totaled more than $74 million for 2014 through 2015. This figure was derived from racing and ancillary activities held on-site based on the incremental dollars spent in the area by non-county spectators, participants, support personnel and others as a direct result of Road America's business model. The indirect economic impact of the venue totaled more than $134 million moving through the regional economy.

George Bruggenthies, president and general manager of Road America commented on the results of the study conducted by Lakeland College.

"One of the greatest things about Road America is that we come in contact with hundreds of thousands of people every year," Bruggenthies said. "One of our favorite phrases at Road America is 'come for the experience and stay for the race' and for most of our fans, competitors and visitors, their trip to Road America isn't limited to their time inside our facility. Instead, it includes their interactions and experiences while staying in nearby hotels, dining at local restaurants, filling up at the gas station, shopping around the village of Elkhart Lake, visiting local points of interest, and much more. This area and Road America has so much to offer that our fans and visitors have a tendency to arrive before the event and stay longer just to enjoy the many experiences that are available. Quite simply, we are extremely fortunate to have such a supportive regional community and businesses that set the stage for this kind of impact."

Along with over 420 events held seasonally at the 640-acre facility, nine major weekends are open to the public, which include the Verizon IndyCar Series and Pirelli World Challenge, the MotoAmerica Superbike series, three vintage racing events, numerous Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) events, the IMSA WeatherTech SportsCar Championship, and the NASCAR XFINITY Series. Fans are encouraged to check out www.roadamerica.com for a season schedule and ticket information.

Developments for 2016

In an effort to consistently improve the facility Road America has added a new 15,000 square foot retail and visitor center inside the paddock, a completely new main gate near state highway 67 and a new winner's circle location in the paddock. All of the projects were designed to improve the overall fan experience and Road America executives collaborated with McMAHON and Associates and Quasius to integrate the look of the improvements with the traditional Road America architecture around the facility.

Built on the site of the previous Paddock Shop, the new 7,500 square foot new retail Paddock Shop on the upper level stretches 100 feet along the midway with easy access to the paddock and new winner's circle. Once inside, visitors will have the opportunity to experience an exciting mix of fan engagement features, retail items, historical displays and it will be open year round.

The new main gate will feature a prominent lighted monument guiding guests into the facility along with impressive stonework and information screens while allowing fans easy access. The new winner's circle will allow fans to get the rare opportunity to experience the all the victory festivities near a structure that honors the old Pagoda of earlier years.

Kiwanis Club makes plans to serve Plymouth, Elkhart

Kiwanis International is about to become known again to the communities of Plymouth and Elkhart Lake.

An all-out campaign to reorganize the premier service organization of the world is about to kick-off in the area.

Kiwanis International is a global community of volunteers dedicated to improving the world one child and one community at a time.

Founded in 1915 in Detroit, Michigan, Kiwanis International now comprises nearly 600,000 members of all ages, more than 15,000 clubs for adults and youth and have a presence in 80 nations and geographical areas.

The Kiwanis Club of Plymouth is part of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District of Kiwanis International. The decline in membership over the years has resulted in an ineffective service organization. A decision has been made to re-organize the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth to take advantage of the many opportunities in membership and community service in the near-by Elkhart Lake area by changing the name to "The Kiwanis Club of Plymouth-Elkhart Lake.

The Club Counselor, Division Lt Governor and any other district help available will be trying to meet with all the business and professional people and associates in the communities of Plymouth and Elkhart Lake to reintroduce 'KIWANIS'. This will be followed by an "RSVP" type event at which time a much more detailed presentation of Kiwanis will be given. "At the conclusion of this event, I am hoping that we have provided sufficient info and answered all questions regarding the need for a strong Kiwanis club in the Plymouth-Elkhart Lake community," says Division Club Counselor, Ken Irwin. A solicitation for membership commitment will follow immediately.

The exact date for the "Kick-Off" has not been set at this time. There will be more news and updates upcoming. Meanwhile, anyone with questions or membership interests please contact: Division Counselor, Ken Irwin (920) 827-2109 or Lt. Governor, Lynn Messer (920) 946-0652.

ConceptWorks keeps on innovating

Addition of Mekco helps company diversify, grow

By Mike Mathes

for the Depot Dispatch

An Elkhart Lake Chamber member business known for its innovative approaches is venturing into yet another series of unique and interesting projects.

ConceptWorks, honored by the chamber in 2014 as the Innovative Business of the Year, has since acquired a company known as Mekco, allowing it to diversify its product offerings and to continue the steady growth it has seen since the 2009 recession.

Known for its unique ability to produce creative solutions for customers, ConceptWorks blends its talents in working with wood-based solutions, along with the advantages of fiberglass-reinforced plastic fabrications learned through the acquisition of Mekco to broaden its productivity.

Adam Schneider, ConceptWorks president/CEO said Mekco's affinity for working with fiberglass has helped the newly acquired company make inroads to markets where materials must be anti-corrosive, lightweight, and robust. Originally headquartered out of Cleveland, Mekco has created fiberglass components for items such as small sand and salt boxes, calf hutches, silo caps and eventually growing into buildings used to house wastewater treatment equipment, nuclear power structures and instrument landing systems at airports. Mekco has constructed weather observatory shelters in Alaska, as well as radar sheltering devices for NASA.

"Mekco had learned to utilize the advantages of fiberglass to develop high quality products in niche markets. Mekco had a great attention to detail and a high level of skills, and that's what we thrive on at ConceptWorks," Schneider said.

The acquisition has enabled crossover of skill sets and employees, as well as product lines and potential new product.

Additionally, the acquisition ties into growth marked by a continuing bump in the work force team—now 42 employees a six-fold increase in just seven years. Manufacturing facilities at the Sheboygan County location have expanded with the additional of 7,200 square feet of working space added last October.

Recession buffer

From an overall perspective, the addition of Mekco to the ConceptWorks family will make the company more robust and perhaps more recession resistant in the future, Schneider said.

"We talk a lot about what ConceptWorks and Mekco do well and how we can feed each other," Schneider said. "ConceptWorks is great at processing wood to meet very unique customer needs and Mekco is great at creating fiberglass components. There is a new synergy when we are able to blend these together.

Schneider said one big immediate impact has been the ability of ConceptWorks to use the fiberglass components for some of its innovative trade show displays. "It allows us to think bigger, better and bolder and match the pace of our customer's needs," he added.

New product lines

ConceptWorks' ever-searching vision for new products has begun to churn out unique product lines fed by new diversity of fiberglass fabrication.

"We started asking ourselves how we could use the Mekco advantages to produce more and more unique product lines," Schneider reflected. "The innovation engine is always churning here, and it didn't take long to come up with 40 or so new product ideas."

Since the ConceptWorks team has a lot of people with a passion for the outdoors, a new potential market and new products began to surface in the idea-shaping process. "We spun off a sub-set brand that became the hybrid of ConceptWorks and Mekco capabilities, known as Mekco Outdoors."

The Hunt Locker was the first such product, a Mekco Outdoors-produced fiberglass containment vessel with 75 gallons of storage capacity.

Outdoor enthusiasts can situate and secure these lockers in their favorite outdoor sports location to store all their gear near where they will use it in the woods.

Forget about rust, corrosion or water problems. Gear is stored safely in the lockable container.

"Why should hunters lug all their gear out to the woods and back. They can just store items like seats, backpacks, decoys and such in the Hunt Locker, and it's there for you every time you go back," Schneider said.

Boaters might use the Hunt Locker to store life jackets and other equipment.

Gardeners might be able to store tools, seeds and bulbs. For those that camp, firewood and charcoal can be kept safe and dry.

For areas where hunters are allowed to use bait, the Hunt Locker works as an in-the-field storage solution to avoid hauling bait into the woods on a daily basis.

What's more, the fiberglass product can be painted or hydro-dipped to match surrounding environments.

Other Fiberglass products

Mekco Outdoors unveils complete hunting blinds made with fiberglass components.

"They offer great creature comfort for the hunter and archer in the field, complete with windows that fold up and down," Schneider said. "You could almost take it camping if you wished." Several other products are in development mode – slated to be unveiled at the upcoming DeerFest tradeshow in August. All products will carry the common theme of providing a robust product for the outdoor enthusiast. Mekco Outdoors focus is on a long-lasting product-line – capable of being passed down like an heirloom. Mekco Outdoors' tag-line is: built for the next generation.

Water sport intrigue

Because of its connections with Elkhart Lake, Mekco Outdoors has also begun to dabble with fiberglass solutions for water sports.

One product that has moved from the drawing board toward production is a line of paddle boards. Calling them the "Jeep" of paddle boards, Schneider said these fiberglass models will have a dude-centric focus with a wider width. "Guys tend to have less balance, so we are looking widening the stance as well as changing the traditional look of a paddle board by having harder lines and moving away from the curved, feminine look.

The new paddle boards will also have bolt-on features to accommodate the boards for things guys like to do, like fishing, drinking a cold beverage or two or connecting mobile camera mounts.

"These won't be for racing. The concept is to make them serve utilitarian needs," Schneider said. The company's dream would be envisioned by seeing these products at major outdoor retailers within 3-4

Northern Moraine Arts Tour back for 2nd year

After a successful inaugural year, the Northern Moraine Spring Arts Tour presented by the Plymouth Arts Center and generously sponsored by our friends at Sargento returns.

The dates for this year's self-guided tour are June 3-5, with hours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 10-4 on Sunday.

The 2nd Annual Northern Moraine Spring Art Tour, a celebration of the visual arts and the creative process. This exciting new event will take visitors on a self-guided tour of area private studios, galleries, and boutiques, throughout Sheboygan County. It offers an unique opportunity for visitors to personally meet fine artists in their studios, some of which will only be open to the public during this event.

The Spring Art Tour will include: demonstrations; exhibitions; an opportunity to purchase fine artwork directly from the artists; and it's a great time to learn about the artistic process, artist techniques and their source of inspiration

Admission for the tour is free and open to the public.

The Northern Moraine Spring Art Tour was designed to increase the visibility of artists working and living in Sheboygan County and to encourage an appreciation for the role that artists play in the vitality of our communities.

The tour will feature the works of over 35 artists working as printmakers, painters, potters, furniture makers, fiber artists, photographers, leather artists, glass artists, ironworkers, and more. These artists reflect the amazing creative talent available right in our own communities.

The Plymouth Arts Center, located at 520 East Mill Street, Downtown Plymouth is the presenting organization of the Spring Art Tour and is serving as the host site for the event. Look for brightly colored signs marking each Art Tour site.

The PAC is publishing a free map booklet with directions to participating sites. It will also be available on our website: www.plymoutharts.org, or by calling 920-892-8409.

A complete list of sites and artists is located adjacent to this article.

"We want to produce durable goods that will last 30, 40 or 50 years, and the fiberglass components allow us to do just that," Schneider added.

Recently, the company launched a new website www.MekcoOutdoors.com to serve this new product line.

New life is continually being added to that site, with options for customers to purchase and pick up outdoor products from the Osman location.

"It's our first real true product line, our first effort to put a product out there with a price tag on it," Schneider said.

"And it's all possible because of the great, talented staff we have here in Sheboygan and Manitowoc County."

Like the Marine Corps, ConceptWorks embraces the philosophy that they will improvise, adapt and overcome. It's a philosophy that has helped Schneider earn recent honors from the Sheboygan County Chamber of Commerce as Entrepreneur of the Year.

For ConceptWorks, the results are stunning new opportunities for the growing business.

Wade House hosts Dairy Day

On Saturday, June 25 and Sunday, June 26, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., in celebration of National Dairy Month, visitors to Wade House will have the opportunity to help make ice cream and butter in 1860s fashion as well as learn about the process of making cheese. Hands-on activities will include hand cranking an ice cream maker and plunging a dash up and down to churn butter.

The Wade House kitchen will be busy as staff and guests alike take turns working dashes and cranks until their arms get weary. Butter will be made from fresh cream by moving a dash (staff) up and down within a stoneware plunge churn. Homemade ice cream will be made using a hand crank ice cream maker, comprised of an outer bowl and smaller inner bowl with a paddle for stirring. Guests will be rewarded for their hard work with a sample of the dairy products that they helped to make. There will also be ice cream from Kelley Country Creamery in Eden for sale that day at the site's Butternut Café.

Besides making butter and ice cream, Wade House staff will demonstrate the craft of cheese making following a detailed recipe of Miss Catharine Beecher, a 19th century pioneer educator and home economist. Visitors will see milk being strained, heated, and stirred until curd is formed. Interpreters will break and press the curd to separate and remove whey. Then they will immerse the curd in a kettle of warm water and stir. Next, the curd will be drained and placed into cheese hoops and put into a press. Once taken from the press, the cheese will be placed on a shelf in a dark, cool room for approximately six months until firm.

Dairy Day will take place at the Wade House Historic Site in Greenbush. Visitors will begin the special experience at the new Wade House Visitor Center and Wesley W. Jung Carriage Museum located at W7965 State Highway 23. Admission is as follows: adults $11; students/seniors $9.25; Children (5-17) $5.50; family (up to two adults and two or more dependent children 5-17) $30. For more information about the event, please call (920) 526-3271.

Besides making butter and ice cream at Dairy Days, Wade House staff will demonstrate the craft of cheese making following a detailed recipe of Miss Catharine Beecher, a 19th century pioneer educator and home economist, depicted above. Plantar Fasciitis Causes and Treatment Options

It's been a great stretch of weather, and it's great to see more and more people outside. Whether it's going on a walk, golfing, or working in the yard, take advantage of this weather for in just a few short weeks, the Summer Solstice will arrive and we will begin that slow drift back to shorter days.

Time is of the essence. Don't let your feet slow you down!

Chronic foot pain is no fun, and can spoil your enjoyment of life. One of the most common causes of pain in the feet—one that affects nearly two million people yearly in the U.S. is plantar fasciitis, which is an inflammation of the plantar fascia ligament that connects the heel bone and the toes. This ligament is composed of fibrous bands of tissue, and runs along the entire bottom of the foot. It stretches and contracts with every step or movement, and may become inflamed when tiny tears occur in the tissue.

The most common symptom of plantar fasciitis is a burning or aching pain on the bottom of the foot, often near the heel, where this ligament attaches to the heel bone. It is often experienced in the mornings, because the ligament has had time to rest and relax during the evening, but then tightens up and becomes painful again when we put pressure on it by standing or walking. The pain tends to decrease with activity, but may recur after periods of walking or standing. Half of people diagnosed with plantar fasciitis say that their pain is constant; 90 percent say that it hurts when they press on the area around the heel.

There are many potential causes of plantar fasciitis. Overuse during exercise or physical activity is one of the most common, and athletes who run, jump, or perform other repetitive movements that put pressure on the feet are prone to this condition. It may also be caused or aggravated by arthritis and diabetes, especially in the elderly. Interestingly enough, one of the most common causes of plantar fasciitis is wearing the wrong shoes. A poor shoe one someone with flat feet, high arches, overpronation, or underpronation will likely stress and irritate the ligaments and muscles of the foot and cause an overuse injury like plantar fasciitis. Being overweight also places additional strain on your feet that can lead to this condition.

Whatever the cause, plantar fasciitis can take all the fun out of walking or even moving around easily. More important, it is a condition that should be diagnosed and, if present, treated early, before it becomes more serious. The longer you ignore it, the worse it's gonna get!

Traditional medical treatment of plantar fasciitis tends to focus on reducing the pain (via anti-inflammatory medications such as Ibuprofen or more serious pain relievers) and alleviating pressure on the heel. Sometimes, even surgery is suggested. Unfortunately, this regimen does not address the potential causes of the disorder. For many, chiropractic manipulation of the feet and related joints (in addition to traditional approaches such as the use of ice packs and avoiding for a time the movements that seem to exacerbate the pain) may help to restore a proper range of motion, and thus remove the cause of the problem. Personally, I've found Active Release Technique INVALUABLE when addressing plantar fasciitis. I also always suggest some home care activities, like rolling a tennis ball under the foot or strengthening the foot muscles by pulling a towel under their foot with their toes.

In addition to all that (much more than a "take some Advil" approach!) it's important to analyze patients' gait (how they walk or run) and thus prescribe better footwear (or orthotics to wear inside their current shoes) that will help both to relieve pain and prevent future occurrences of it. Often relief is found within one or two visits.

How quickly these therapies may provide relief depends of course on each individual case, but relief can be found.

Veterans Memorial program set May 28

The Village's annual Veterans Memorial Tribute program, sponsored by the Village of Elkhart Lake and the Elkhart Lake Lions Club, will be held Saturday, May 28, at 11 a.m. I Memorial Park at the corner of Chicago Street and State 67.

SFC (R) Steward (Stu) Kuehl will be the featured speaker. Stu grew up in Glenbeulah and graduated from Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah High School in 1979. He enlisted in the U.S. Army as a combat engineer in January of 1980.

In 1991 Stu's unit, the 2nd Armed Cavalry Unit was mobilized to Saudi Arabia in support of Desert Storm/Desert Shield. This unit was the lead element into Iraq for Gen. Schwatzkopf's End Around maneuver, which resulted in decisive victories against two of Saddam Hussein's Republican Guard Regiments.

In July of 2006, while executing a reconnaissance mission on a road project in Eastern Afghanistan, Stu was injured when the armored vehicle he was in was hit by two roadside bombs. Stu received extensive care for the next 18 months at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C. and at the Minneapolis V.A. Hospital Traumatic Brain Injury Center.

For his actions in Afghanistan, Stu was awarded the Combat Action Badge, the Purple Heart, and the Bronze Star.

Stu now lives in the Kiel area, enjoying his favorite pastimes of hunting, fishing, and spending time with family and friends.

The program will feature Sara Schoenborn playing Taps, the Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah chorus under the direction of Holly Hellmer singing the National Anthem, the EL-GHS band under the direction of Jodi Voss playing patriotic songs, the Sheboygan County squadron of Civil Air Patrol cadets performing the raising of the flag ceremony, the American Legion Post 261 performing the ceremonial rifle volley and Rev. Deborah Tyler delivering the invocation and benediction.

The ceremony will be followed by a brat fry and refreshments by the Elkhart Lake Lions Club from 10 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Proceeds will go toward upkeep of the memorial and park grounds.

The public is invited to attend and should bring lawn chairs or blankets. Parking is allowed along State 67 and additional parking will be provided by Kees Corp. and Plyco Inc. in their parking lots.

In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will be held in the Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah High School.

Pickleball is coming to Elkhart Lake in June

Pickleball is the nation's fastest growing game. It is a fun game that is played on a badminton-sized court. It is played with a perforated plastic ball (similar to a whiffle ball) and wood or composite paddles. It is easy for beginners to learn, but can develop into a quick, fast-paced, competitive game for experienced players.

There are over 85 active adult players in Sheboygan County and now it will be available in Elkhart Lake. The Elkhart Lake School system has graciously reserved the four tennis courts (located just north of the high school) on Mondays from 9-11 a.m. beginning on Monday, June 3.

Depending on the level of interest, the plan is to have one court devoted to teaching the rules and strategies to new players, ages 12 and up. Three courts will be devoted to open play for adults. Balls and a few paddles will be available for those who want to come and check the game out. We think you will find it a great pastime. Hope to see you on the courts.

The Village Board is in the process of passing the final version of the revised Liquor License Ordinance. It now conforms to State Statute. Once enacted, the moratorium on liquor & fermented beverage licenses will be lifted.

Victory Lane

Victory Lane is scheduled to be finished near the end of June. This new road was constructed to accommodate commercial development. The Vet Clinic opened in February and Victory Auto is scheduled to start construction in early June. There are lots available for 2 to 3 additional projects. In addition, the Village decided to extend Garfield Street east along the Catholic Church connecting to Victory Lane. It will provide more street parking and an additional entrance/exit to the church.
