Carley McQueen Overcomes Disabilities To Earn WSCC Cosmetology Degree

Carley McQueen isn't sure which accomplishment means more – graduating from Wallace State with a cosmetology degree after overcoming hearing, speech and reading challenges throughout her life or becoming the first college graduate in her immediate family.

McQueen enrolled at the college in August 2013 after graduating from Springville High School in St. Clair County. She originally came to Hanceville seeking a diagnostic medical sonography degree, but shifted gears and joined the cosmetology program, which recently expanded to become the Salon and Spa Management program.

McQueen's journey to becoming a college graduate was filled with hurdles. She was born partially deaf and had multiple ear surgeries as a child. She also battled a speech impediment for the majority of her childhood and couldn't read until the sixth grade. "I was still on an elementary-reading level when I was in high school. My vocabulary has expanded since I've been in college, but I still deal with migraines and vertigo on a consistent basis. Both can hit any day. And I still have a ringing in my ear," McQueen said.

As she was growing up, McQueen attended the Burkett Center in Birmingham in the afternoons, receiving exclusive instruction with counselors as she hoped to improve her reading and speaking disabilities. Despite working hard to improve both her speech impediment and reading skills, McQueen couldn't escape the verbal attacks from her classmates. She changed school three times. "I was bullied all through school. I was picked on just because I couldn't talk correctly," McQueen said. "I always found a way to lean on the Lord through it all. That's what got me through everything."

Once she graduated high school, McQueen was ready for a fresh slate in college. "Even though I did receive special accommodations from Wallace State, I never asked for help when I first got here. I didn't want anyone to know because people treat you differently when they find out you have a learning disability. They don't want to hire you. They don't want to have anything to do with you," McQueen said. "Wallace State is the first place I've been able to be myself and feel comfortable."

Through Wallace State's ADA-Special Accommodations Office, McQueen was able to receive additional time to complete exams in classes and had classmates help write her notes. She also credits Wallace State Salon and Spa Management instructors Tracy Smith and Sabrina Flanigan and former Transitional Learning instructor Schenaye Hopper for their guidance during her Wallace State career.

While she still struggles to sound out certain words, McQueen said she also relies heavily on her Samsung Galaxy phone for assistance. "Using the microphone has definitely helped me learn how to spell certain words these last few years," McQueen said.

McQueen is proud to be the first college graduate in her family. Her parents and three set of grandparents, as well as her boyfriend and her best friend, were in attendance at graduation.

McQueen plans to continue to work at MiaBella Hair Salon in Cullman, but eventually wants to return to Wallace State to pursue her original goal of a diagnostic medial sonography degree. "One day I want to have my own salon but at the same time be a sonographer. Even though I've been through a lot, I have hopes and dreams and I want to prove to everybody I can do something," she said. "I hate being told I can't do something. It just makes me want to show you I can do it."

BBB ACCREDITATION

Many churches teach no one will go to heaven unless they go to church! Then salvation is by believing in a church (Jn 4:21), not Christ (Jn 14:6)! Commandments of men are their doctrines (Mt 15:9) and The Holy Living Word (Jn 1:14, 3:16) has little value. The so called Christian church ways are more acceptable in their eyes than The Almighty Father Elohim's Word and The Holy Bible is carried for appearance, not for righteous guidance! Many preachers (priests) will not teach The Biblical Doctrines of Christ (Rom 1:21-23), yet will take out of context of The Holy Bible, to make it appear they are preaching The Truth! So Be It! In Loving Memory Of
Sheree Filyaw Steele
Nov. 30, 1958 ~ April 10, 2016

We wish to express sincere thanks and appreciation to all who shared our grief through prayers, cards, flowers, donations, visits, calls, hugs and tears during this difficult time. Heaven gained another angel and she will be truly missed by everyone who knew her. But she will always live in our hearts forever. Thanks again to all of our family, friends, neighbors and Ebenezer Baptist Church for your kindness and support. May God bless you all.

The use of antidepressants, especially selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors, during the final two trimesters of pregnancy was associated with increased risk for autism spectrum disorder in children, according to an article published online by JAMA Pediatrics. Antidepressants (Ads) are widely used during pregnancy to treat depression. Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) is a neurodevelopmental syndrome characterized by altered communication, language and social interaction and by particular patterns of interests and behaviors.

Among patients undergoing major cancer operations, the preoperative use of blood-thinning drugs such as heparin does not increase rates of major bleeding or transfusions, and is associated with a decreased risk of blood clots, according to new study results published in the Journal of the American college of Surgeons. Venous thromboembolism (VTE) is a common occurrence in cancer patients. Those undergoing major operations are at higher risk of deep vein thrombosis (DVT), a condition that occurs when blood in the vein pools, usually in the calf or thigh, and forms a clot. The consequences can be serious because the blood clot can break loose from the leg vein, travel to the lungs and block the blood vessels that supply the lungs. This complication, called a pulmonary embolism, can be fatal.

Taking certain antidepressants for depression is linked to a heightened risk of subsequent mania and bipolar disorder, reveals research published in the online journal BMJ Open. The strongest association seemed to be for serotonin reuptake inhibitors, or SSRIs for short, and the dual action antidepressant venlafaxine, the analysis indicated.
