Pioglitazone, a drug used for type 2 diabetes, may prevent recurrent stroke and heart attacks in people with insulin resistance but without diabetes. The results, published in the New England Journal of Medicine, suggest a potential new method to prevent stroke and heart attack in high-risk patients who have already had one stroke or transient ischemic attack.

The antidepressant escitalopram (Lexapro) also protects against compounds that can cause memory loss and dementia, a study published in the Journal of Psychiatric Research has found. The study found that blood levels of two neurotoxic compounds dropped significantly in depressed patients after they were treated with the commonly used medication. Stress and depression interact in a vicious cycle. Stress can lead to depression in susceptible individuals. In turn, depression, if not treated, causes stress. This stimulates the body's immune system to fight stress and depression, as it would a disease or infection. Revving up the immune system, which includes the inflammatory response, initially protects against stress. But over time, chronic inflammation can cause a range of health problems. In this vicious cycle, depression can trigger an inflammatory response, which in turn can exacerbate depression.

People who have peripheral artery disease (PAD), and take cholesterol-lowering drugs called statins have a lower risk of amputation and death than PAD patients who don't take statins. And the higher the dose of statins, the lower the risks, according to research presented at the American Heart Association's Arteriosclerosis, Thrombosis and Vascular Biology / Peripheral Vascular Disease 2016 Scientific Sessions. PAD is a narrowing of the peripheral arteries to the legs, stomach, arms and head.

Many so called Christian churches take away and add to The Holy Bible, (Rev 22:18-19) and call it Christian ways! Christ The Holy Truth (Jn 14:6) said unto Peter get behind Him Satan, when Peter sought to rebuke Him (Mt 16:22-24, Lk 4:8), for thou savourest not the things that be of Elohim, but those that be of men (Mt 15:9). The Holy Truth (Jn 14:6) is against man when he speaks any word against what Christ spoke. A few examples: man cannot do what Christ said, to sin no more (Jn 5:14, 8:11). Christians are not under law (Dan 7:25) and all their sins are forgiven by prayer (Heb 10:26-31), Christ gave a new covenant (Heb 13:8), not be perfect (Mt 5:48)! The Truth was sent to destroy sin, the devil's work (1Jn 3:1-24), not the law or the prophets (Mt 5:17-19), but He shall judge all (Mt 25:32, Jn 12:47-48, 2Cor 5:10, 2Tim 4:1). So Be It! Ron & Jeri
