2016 Burrow Sculptors' Invitational

Plan to see "Rendezvous" at The Evelyn Burrow Museum

The work of more than a dozen artists - including that of world-renowned sculptor Frank Fleming - comes together at Wallace State's Evelyn Burrow Museum in "Rendezvous." The 2016 Burrow Sculptors' Invitational is the third installment of the annual summer event that shines a spotlight on the work of some of the most celebrated artists in the southern United States. The exhibit will run through October.

These are among the finest sculptors working today, with installations and work in collections across the country and around the world. Their artwork spans from figurative to abstract, from large-scale metal objects to smaller, more delicate works of glass and porcelain. All of it provokes thought and closer inspection, inviting visitors to return again and again.

This is Wallace State's third annual sculptors' invitational. Elements from the Evelyn Burrow collection of decorative arts also remain on display and a more extensive exhibition of that collection will be reinstalled this fall following the sculptor's invitational.

Located in the Burrow Center for the Fine & Performing Arts. Open Tues-Fri 9-5 & Sat 10-2. Free Admission. 256.352.8457. Visit us at burrowmuseum.org

The Evelyn Burrow Museum | 256.352.8457

Hours: Tuesday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Entertainment At Morningside Of Cullman

Last week residents had the pleasure of taking part in an Art Painting. Activity Signature Program for August is Poetry, so Mr. John Sachs came to help the residents and staff take part in a painting used in a poem by Robert Frost. The poem is, "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening". Mr. Sachs started the painting then each resident and staff member added a little touch to the painting. Now it will be framed and put on display at Morningside of Cullman. A special Thank You to Mr. Sachs from the residents and staff.

In a large-scale analysis of pain-relief medication for osteoarthritis, researchers found that paracetamol (acetaminophen, or Tylenol) does not meet the minimum standard of clinical effectiveness in reducing pain or improving physical function in patients with knee and hip osteoarthritis. Although paracetamol was slightly better than placebo, researchers conclude that, taken on its own, paracetamol has no role in the treatment of patients with osteoarthritis, irrespective of dose. The study, published recently in The Lancet, is the largest analysis of randomized trials of medical pain relief for osteoarthritis to date, and finds that diclofenac (common brands: Voltaren, Zipsor, Pennsaid) 150mg/day, a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID), is the most effective short-term pain relief. However, the authors caution against long-term use of NSAIDs because of known side effects. Worldwide, 9.6% of men and 18% of women over the age of 60 have osteoarthritis, Estimates suggest that 26.9 million adults in the USA have the disease, and 8.75 million in the UK. Osteoarthritis is the leading cause of pain in elderly people. It can impair physical activity, which increases patients' risk of obesity, cardiovascular disease, diabetes, and general ill-health. Paracetamol and NSAIDs are usually the first line treatment for mild to moderate pain management in osteoarthritis, but paracetamol is used more frequently in the long-term because of the cardiovascular and gastrointestinal side effects associated with long-term NSAID use.

The U.S Food and Drug Administration has approved Taltz (ixekizumab) to treat adults with moderate-to-severe plaque psoriasis. Psoriasis is a skin condition that causes patches of skin redness and flaking. Psoriasis is an autoimmune disorder that occurs more commonly in patients with a family history of the disease, and most often begins in people between the ages of 15 and 35. The most common form of psoriasis is plaque psoriasis, in which patients develop thick, red skin with flaky, silver-white scales.

There is so much difference between The Christ the devils knew (Lk 4:41), who said sin no more (Jn 5:14, 8:11), and the Christ most so called Christians claim to know and do not keep the commandments (1Jn 2:3-4). Scripture gives Jesus Christ is the truth (Jn 14:6), always the same (Heb 13:8), did not change the law (Mt 5:17-19), believe (hear) in Him or perish (Jn 3:16, Acts 3:23). Some churches speak out against the antichrist. Why should the transgressors of the law (1Jn 3:1-24), whose doctrines are the commandments of men (Mt 15:9), be worried after claiming to be saved? Most so called church Christians do not know their mother of the so called Christian church, is keeping images of pagan gods in her museum and cause pilgrims to kiss Jupiter's feet thinking they are Peter's. The Bible condemns idolatry (Ex 20:4, 23:24, Lev 26:1, 1Cor 10:7, etc) and Christ said beware of wolves in sheep clothing and their teachings (Mt 7:15-29). Even Paul warns of false apostles, Satan and his ministers (2Cor 11:13-15). So Be It! Ron & Jeri
