50th Wedding Anniversary

During their 50th anniversary wedding celebration at a banquet in their honor, my Dad was asked to give a brief account of the benefits achieved from being married for so long.

My father stood up, thought for a long moment, then said, "Well, I've learned that marriage is the best teacher of all. It teaches you loyalty, meekness, forbearance, self-restraint, forgiveness, and...." he paused.

"And?" someone cried out from the back of the room.

"...and a great many other qualities you wouldn't have needed if you'd stayed single!" my father exclaimed.

The room erupted in laughter.

NNY'S BODY SHOP

* If you're a cat lover who also enjoys imbibing alcohol from time to time, you might want to take note of this bit of international news: A Japanese company called B&H Lifes has come out with a new product. Nyan Nyan Nouveau is a wine made especially for the feline palate. The wine doesn't actually contain any alcohol, though; it's a mixture of catnip and the juice of cabernet grapes. (Note of interest: "Nyan" is the Japanese equivalent of "meow.")

Interestingly, fully half of the respondents said that they'd rather have a good night's sleep than be the recipient of a romantic gesture on what is generally regarded as the most romantic day of the year. And 64 percent said they cared more about getting at least 8 hours of sleep every night than they did about finding a life partner.

It's Easier to Find a Good Nursing Home

Medicare's Nursing Home Compare website now has the long-awaited star ratings. Announced months ago, the site has added six more quality measurements and has added the star features, making it easier to do home.

To find the nursing home ratings, go online to www. medicare.gov and put "nursing home compare" in the search box. Put in your ZIP code, and you can compare up to three at a time.

The devil is in the details, as always. Look for tiny items like the number of minutes of physical therapy per resident per day, dates of last inspections, residents rights deficiencies, any mistreatment complaints, pharmacy service deficiencies and any penalties and fines in the past three years. Be sure to click and read the actual inspection reports. You might find that cleaning materials and foods were comingled, or that food was left uncovered in the freezer.

What's concerning is that not all the inspection reports are there. You'll need to know if a facility has eight fire-code deficiencies, or that the ceiling over the foodprep area has peeling paint, or that insulin wasn't kept at the correct cold temperature or had expired.

One thing lacking in the ratings is that nowhere will you find resident or family satisfaction. The data is mostly selfreported by the nursing comparisons when the time homes themselves and the comes to pick out a nursing measures aren't necessarily comparable between facilities, especially the ratings that don't include full inspection reports. While the star rating is a good place to begin, it shouldn't be the end of your research into a good nursing home. Ask for recommendations from your doctor or people you know.

surprisingly supports a new initiative to put superpeople under government regulation. It takes one botched mission, plus a quick review of previous carnage that the Avengers have been involved in (our heroes have leveled some skylines over the past six movies) to make a pretty good case for oversight. Captain America (Chris Evans) leads a resistance to the new laws, and every supe from Ant-Man to Winter Soldier has to take a side for one really cool fight. The movie does a lot, and does it all shockingly well. A new Spiderman (Tom Holland) gets a snappy introduction, and Black Panther (Chadwick Boseman) makes a great first impression, setting up his 2018 solo movie. All of this corporate synergy doesn't get in the way of the movie's serious notes or the coherence of the rather jampacked plot.

"Popstar: Never Stop Never Stopping" (R) -- This mockumentary shows the rise and fall of a fictionalyet-plausible popstar named Connor4Real (Andy Samberg). His debut album put him straight to the top, to a celebrity lifestyle of idiotic excess. His second cinema. In this documentary, veteran director Brian De Palma ("Scarface," "Carrie," "Dressed to Kill," "Mission: Impossible," etc.) tells stories about his projects with the air of a guy ready to impart some truths from his decades in the industry. Indie directors Noah Baumbach and Jake Paltrow put the interview together into one long yarn that any cinephile would pull up a chair and listen to.

"The Fits" (NR) -- An inner-city tomboy (Royalty Hightower) finds herself drawn from the boxing ring to the part of the rec center where the older girls practice their dance teams. Mysterious seizures start hitting some of the dance girls, confusing or possibly symbolizing the transition that awaits the 11-year-old protagonist. This is a debut for the star as well as director Anna Rose Holmer, and a very strong entrance for both.

Labor Day is a bit of a misnomer. While it may seem like a day devoted to work, many workers in the United States and Canada don't work at all on Labor Day.

Labor Day is much more than the unofficial end to summer. Labor Day weekend tends to be the last big travel weekend before the holiday season, benefitting towns and businesses that cater to tourists. But while road trips and backyard barbecues are now staples of Labor Day, the origins of the holiday bear little resemblance to the celebrations of today. Labor Day in the United States dates back to the 19th century, though its origins are still debated by historians. According to the United States Department of Labor, recent research supports the idea that Labor Day was the brainchild of machinist Matthew Maguire, who supposedly devised the idea in 1882 while serving as secretary of the Central Labor Union in New York. Others attribute the holiday to Peter J. McGuire, a cofounder of the American Federation of Labor and general secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

Celebrate Working Men And Women

Historians say the first Labor Day was celebrated on Tuesday, September 5, 1882, in New York. This was based on plans from Maguire's Central Labor Union. Other states and cities would eventually adopt the first Monday in September as Labor Day. As labor unions grew, other cities started celebrating Labor Day, which McGuire suggested should be a day to honor those "who from rude nature have delved and carved all the grandeur we behold."

Soon the popularity of Labor Day grew and recognition by the government followed. By 1885, municipal ordinances recognizing Labor Day had been passed, and they inspired state legislation. While Labor Day was first celebrated in New York, in 1887 the state of Oregon became the first state to officially pass a law recognizing the first Monday of September as Labor Day. New York, along with Colorado, Massachusetts and New Jersey, implemented Labor Day observations soon after.

On June 28, 1894, Congress officially passed an act that declared the first Monday in September of each year a legal holiday. This applied to all states as well as the District of Columbia. Labour Day also is celebrated on the first Monday of September in Canada, where the day celebrates workers and the labor union movement.

It's important for people living in North America to recognize both the significance and the history of Labor Day, which is about far more than backyard barbecues and the last of summer jaunts to the beach.

BBQ Pulled Pork Sandwiches

Ingredients

5 pounds boneless pork butt, cut into 2-inch chunks 2 large onions, sliced

1 jar (16 ounces) Pace Chunky Salsa, or pineapplemango or similar salsa

- 11/2 cups water
- 1 bottle (16 ounces) barbecue sauce
- 1/4 cup apple-cider vinegar
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 24 hamburger buns

Instructions

1. Place half the onions in the crockpot. Add the meat and then the rest of the onions. Pour the salsa and the water over the pork and the onions.

2. Turn the crockpot to the HIGH setting for 4 to 5 hours or on the LOW setting for 7 to 9 hours or until the pork is tender and can be shredded easily with a fork.

3. Remove the pork and onions from the crockpot and discard any of the remaining liquid and accumulated fat. Let the meat cool slightly. Shred the pork, using two forks. Mix together the barbeque sauce, vinegar, mustard, brown sugar and salt until well-combined. 4. Mix the shredded pork and onions with the barbeque sauce. Return the barbequed pork to the crockpot and cook on HIGH for another hour. Serve about 1/2 cup shredded pork in each roll. Top with coleslaw, if desired. Serves 24.

DIVIDE AND CONQUER! Draw a square on a sheet of paper and challenge your friends to divide it into six smaller squares using four straight lines. When they give up, finish the puzzle as shown above.

A TRICKY TEST! See if you can arrange the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 into a math expression where, by mulitplying two of these digits by one of the other digits, you will get a product that is equal to the remaining two digits.

Answer: 13 x 4 = 52.

Dolls, Dolls, Dolls

Q: I am the executor of the estate of a woman who collected dolls for more than 50 years. I am overwhelmed by more than a thousand dolls, mostly stored in 10 glass-front china cabinets. Should I get them insured? Regular homeowners insurance will cover the collection for only $1,500, and I am certain it is worth many times that amount. How I can determine current values and find a way to liquidate the collection. -- Ellen, Palos Hills, Illinois A: There are three references that might be helpful: "The 16th Blue Book: Dolls and Values" by Jan Foulke; "200 Years of Dolls" by Dawn Herlocher; and "The Official Price Guide to Dolls" by Denise Van Patten. All are available at www. amazon.com. Contact your homeowners insurance agent and request a quote to expand the coverage for the collection. Since you want to liquidate the dolls, I recommend you investigate the excellent auction houses in Chicago. Three include Direct Auction Galleries, Inc., 7232 North Western Ave., Chicago, IL 60645; Susanin's Auction House, 900 South Clinton St., Chicago, IL 60607; and Leonard Auctions, 1765 Courtland Court, Suite D, Addison, IL 60101.

Q: I have a copy of "The Fine Art of Walt Disney's Donald Duck" by Carl Barks. It is a signed copy, No. 446 out of a press run of 1,875. What is my book worth, and where can I sell it? -- Nancy, Rio Rancho, New Mexico A: The book retails for about $1,200, according to information I found at www.abe.com. It was published by Another Rainbow of Scottsdale, Arizona, in 1981. You might begin your quest to sell it by contacting used- and rare-book dealers in Albuquerque. Do not expect to be offered $1,200 for it, however, since that is the retail selling price.

Q: I have three pieces of Roseville pottery. ---Patricia, Fiskeville, Rhode Island

A: Without seeing your Roseville pieces, I can't identify the pattern. What I can do is recommend one of the better references, "Warman's Roseville Pottery: Identification and Price Guide" by Denise Rago and published by Krause Books. This reference is $24.99 and will help you identify the pattern of your three pieces along with current values.

Besides being found almost everywhere as a wild plant, goldenrod can also be used in landscaping. Rock gardens, wildflower gardens or herb gardens that get full sun and have well-drained soil suit this plant very well. Mature goldenrod plants will be tall, so they need an area that is sheltered from the wind if possible. If not, they may need staking. Divide the goldenrod every few years to prevent overcrowding.
